YOUNG MENS REPUBLICAN LEAGUE IS TO BE FORMED

Mass Meeting Is Planned To Be Held In Montgomery In February

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 26—Plans were completed Thursday for calling a state-wide mass meeting here early in February for the pupose of organizing the Young Men's Republican League of Alabama. Announcement to this effect was made Thursday night by Edward A. Fisher, Jr., of Gadsden, who is the chairman of the organization committee.

It is announced by Fisher that a State committee will be elected and plans perfected for an organization in every Alabama county. These plans will be shaped at the Montgomery meeting, Fisher said. He announced that every young man in Alabama is invited to affiliate with the organization, the only qualification being belief in the principles of the Republican party, and a desire to see Alabama become a two-party state.

Fisher, in discussing the organization, said, "We must change the economic thought in Alabama if we are to take our place as one of the leading industrial and manufacturing states of the union. Alabama today is a running competitor of the great manufacturing state of Pennsylvania. We are manufacturing today every thing that Pennsylvania does. A protective tariff that will afford protection to the industries of Pennsylvania will at the same time afford protection to Alabama industries.

While the Pennsylvania delegation in the National Senate and house are fighting for a higher tariff on pig iron and manufactured steel products against the ruinous competition of Germany, we find one of our Alabama senators working to reduce the tariff on pig iron and the solid delegation in the house voting for a tariff that would be destructive and hurtful to wide diversification of industry in Alabama.

Continuing his statement, Fisher said: "We cannot continue to invite Northern and Eastern money to come into Alabama and then, on the other hand, have the delegation from Alabama in the senate and house vote for a free trade policy. The league is not being organized in opposition to the present state Republican organization, but for the sole purpose of working for the Republican party. The league will at no time discuss patronage or become engaged in controversies regarding patronage."

CAR OF GOVERNOR GRAVES FREED FROM A FIVE-DAY IMPRISONMENT IN THE MUD

Selma, Ala., Dec. 28.—After being immovably mired for five days in the sticky mud of the Selma-Mobile Highway at Catherine, Gov. Bibb Graves's automobile was pulled out and sent back to Montgomery today.

The governor's car became 'stuck' Dec. 22, while he was en route to Montgomery from a Washington County hunt. Unable to move the machane, the State's Chief Executive spent the night at a Catherine hotel. While there he recieved a delegation of residents and respondedto their request with a promise for immediate repair of the roads.

The road is in such condition that traffic from here to Mobile via the highway is being diverted to Meridian, Miss.

Lowndesboro, Ala., Dec. 25, 1929.
Editor Union-Banner:

Here is hoping you had a grand Christmas and may have a great New year, and please change my address to the above.

I and several of my friends were together last Sunday and one of the party ask me what my politics was; I answered I was a thoroughbred Republican, and although I had come down here, I had left my citizenship in Chilton County as I did not want it in bad company. Well, I want you boys—all of you—in Chilton County to write to me some times—you who are truly my friends. I shall always be interested in all your doings, and I assure you I will be glad at any time to hear from you.

I am as I have always been—grateful for my friends. I am going to visit Chilton County during your next campaign, as there are several of the boys I cannot forget.

LYNCHINGS DECREASE ONE IN 1929, OVER PREVIOUS YEAR

According to the records compiled in the Department of Records and Research of the Tuskegee Institute, there were 10 persons lynched in 1929. This is one less than the number, 11, for 1928; 6 less than the number, 16, for 1927; 9 less than the number, 19, for 1926; and 7 less than the number, 17, for 1925. Six of the persons lynched were taken from the hands of the law, five from jail and one from officers of the law outside of jails.

There were 27 instances in which officers of the law prevented lynchings. Three of these were in Northern States and 24 in Southern States and in 24 of the cases the prisoners were removed or the guards augmented or other precautions taken. In three other instances, armed force was used to repel the would be lynchers. 12 white men, 20 Negro men and 2 Negro women were thus saved from death at the hands of the mobs.

Of the ten persons lynched, 7 were Negroes and 3 were white people. The offenses charged were: rape, 3; writing insulting notes, 2; murder, 1; wounding man in altercation, 1; wounding officers of the law, 2; charge not reported, 1.

The States in which lynchings occurred and the number in each of the States are as follows: Florida, 4; Kentucky, 1; Mississippi, 1; Tennessee, 1; Texas, 3.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR REPUBLICAN PRIMARY HERE

Executive Committee Met Last Saturday and Prescribed Rules and Regulations For County Candidates

The Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County met last Saturday afternoon in response to the call of Chairman, J. N. Dennis. Twenty-four of the forty members of the committee answered to the roll call. Every beat in the County was represented by one or more committee members.

The main business of the committee was to prescribe arrangements for holding a Republican primary election in Chilton County in 1930, which business was done in due form.

The date of the primary was set for August 12, the same time at which the regular primary will be held in the State under the primary election laws.

The limit of time for the announcement of candidates in the Republican primary was set for May the first, 1930.

Mr. W. T. Bean, Secretary of the Committee, resigned, and the committtee elected J. Z. Mims to take his place.

The business transacted by the committee is summarized in the following resolutions which were adopted:

We, the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County, Alabama, in session assembled on this 28th day of December, 1929, hereby pass and adopt the following resolutions:

We again pledge our in, and endorse the Hoover Administration and renew our faith in the principles of the Republican party.

We also take this occasion to commend the record of our county officials for the reports published recently of the exemination of several offices, and the action of the Commissioners Court in retiring $86,000.00 of the bonds which come due in 1947, and we trust that they will retire the balance of the $114,000.00 just as soon as possible and thus wipe out the entire indebtedness of Chilton County.

We hereby call and order the primary election to be held with the state primary election on August 12, 1930, and hereby authorize and direct the chairman to appoint a committee of three to have full charge of the duties of the Executive Committee in doing all things appertaining to said primary election, and do hereby give said Committee appointed full power and authority to do all things necessary to comply with all laws appertaining to the arrangement and holding of said primary election, and this Committee in that behalf hereby ratifies and endorses the action of that said Committee.

We invite all qualified voters, regardless of their past party affiliations, who believe in the principles and traditions of the Republican party, and who pledge their sacred honor to support the nominees of such party in the primary, to come into our party and be one of us. However, we take this occasion to condemn, as unethical and dishonorable, the action of any voter in coming into our primary and then voting for or supporting the nominees of election. We believe that a voter the opposing party in the general entering a primary of our party and thereby pledging his honor should support the nominees of the party.

Be it further resolved that all candidates for office in the Republican party be qualified legal voters, as provided by law, and be it further provided that any voter desiring to become a candidate must state under oath how he or she voted in the last general election of 1928, that is, whether said proposed candidate supported the Republican ticket or the Democratic ticket, or voted a split ticket, and this oath must be filed with the Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County when they file for nomination, said affidavit to be kept on file by said Chairman and subject to inspection of any qualified voter, and said oath must be published in a newspaper published in Chilton County by said Chairman at the expense of such candidate within fifteen days after the time for filing nominations has expired. It is further provided that the name of no candidate shall be placed upon the Republican primary ballot or be certified to the Judge of Probate, as provided by law, unless said oath is taken as above detailed.

It is further provided that all announcements must be filed with said Chairman on or before the first day of May 1930.

We appeal to all voters in this district to help elect a Congressman who will represent the people of the district, as we feel like the election of a Republican Congressman will greatly aid the material and political wellbeing of our district, and we further believe that a Republican will have more prestige at Washington and will be of greater benefit to us than our present Democrat member.

We wish at this time to condemn the practice that was indulged in, in this County, during the last campaign of issuing pardons and paroles for the voters of those unfortunate ones confined in the penitentiary. We believe it unworthy for any candidate or person to take advantage of any unfortunate in this manner for his vote.

We endorse the Honorable O. D. Street to be United States District Judge for the Middle District of Alabama to succeed the late Honorable Henry D. Clayton. We also endorse Honorable Grady Reynolds for the Office of United States District Attorney for the Middle District of Alabama to succeed himself, as we believe both of these gentlemen are well qualified for the positions and will fill the place with credit to the government and honor to themselves.

In conclusion, we believe it is fitting to express our opposition to the ever increasing tax burdens which the people of our state are caused to bear. About twenty-five years ago the common people commenced to complain of high taxes and practically every candidate for Governor since has promised retrenchment and reduction of taxes, and from that time taxes have increased from approximately two and one-half mollion to about fifty mollion, notwithstanding the reduction platform of practically every candidate for Governor. As a contrast, the United States Government since the World War has continously reduced taxes. We believe our state needs an adminstration or two to reduce taxes, abolish useless offices and reduce expenses at every opportunity. It seems that our state will never pursue this course until two strong parties are operating and extisting in Alabama, and we believe the time is right and the opportunity is here to build a strong opposition to the Democratic party in order that the best candidate offered and the best qualified might be placed in office.

PLACE CHECK ON DROPPING PROHIBITION CASES

Washington, Dec. 28.—Federal district attorneys have been instructed to comply with an order of 1922 which required that department permission must be asked before any cases, including prohibition prosecutions, are nolle prossed.

The move was looked upon as the government's latest step in its announced intention to tighten up enforcement of the dry laws.

The instructions to the district attorneys, sent out in the form of a letter, pointed out that all applications for permission to nolle prosse prohibition cases must be accompanied by the views of the representative of the prohibition department who is attached to the district attorney's office which makes the application.

Prohi Move

While the letter to district attorneys warning them against dismissal of cases without permission from the department of justice went out over the name of Attorney General Mitchel, it was said at the department to day that the document had originated in the prohibition section of the department.

G. A. Youngquist, assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition enforcement, was said to have asked the attorney general to take action on the subject, after looking over the records of recent and pending prosecutions.

It was further stated at the department that the order would relate to all forms of criminal procedure though it was conceded that prosecutions in enforcement of the Volstead act were the most numerous to come under its provisions.

Under the procedure now being followed, district attorneys who desire to drop prosecution in any case must request authority from Youngquist or his representatives in the department of justice before so doing. The prohibition enforcement section of the department of justice when such requests for the dropping of a prohibition prosecution is presented, invaribly asks the opinion of the prohibition unit of the treasury department.

It was declared, however, that the final decision as to the maintenance or vacation of a given prohibition prosecution would be kept entirely in the department of justice.

TIME TO PAY ROAD TAX AGAIN

The Probate office is ready to receive road tax again. Payments were due by all subjects of road duty on the first of January. The sum of $5.50 may be paid in lieu of five days labor on the public roads of the county, which payment will exempt the subject from further public road duty for the year 1930. Payment of this tax is supposed to be made before April 1st. All road tax receipts after April 1st must be countersigned by the road overseer in the precinct of the tax payer before the payer is exempt from road duty.

The necessary receipts are already in the hands of the Probate Judge, and the tax may be paid now.

ALRED DRUG CO. GIVES TO CHEST FUND

For some reason unknown to us, the name of Alred Drug Company was omitted from the list of contributors to the Chest Fund in last week's Union-Banner. This was an oversight on the part of the printers, and the only excuse we can offer is that it was Christmas time.

We are sorry this omission occured. Alred Drug Company should have appeared in the list of those who gave $25 to the Chest Fund.

W. T. BAKER MOVING BACK TO OLD PLACE IN TEXAS

Mr. W. T. Baker and his family are this week moving back to Texas, where they came from when they located in Clanton a few years ago.

We understand that Mr. Baker is entering the mercantile business in the Lone Star State.

OLD LANDMARK GONE

The town has removed one of the ancient landmarks of Clanton—the old elm tree in the street in front of Dr. J. P. Crumpton's residence. While its removal is a benefit to the public, yet it carries with it a certain attachment that can never be replaced.

Many years ago that part of Clanton's residence section, known as the P. D. Wilson addition, was a big cotton farm. The old elm tree stood beside the gate which afforded entrance to the farm. When the farm was cut up into lots and added to the city, the old tree was left standing in the side of Eighth Street.

As traffic increased with the coming of more and more automobiles, it became apparent that the old tree was a danger to the public. Now it is gone, and the place round about looks strangely odd.

CLANTON WILL TRY TO GET THE U. S. HOSPITAL

Committee of Citizens Stand Ready To Submit Appeal To Veterans Bureau

Acting on behalf of the citizens of Clanton and Chilton County, the Kiwanis Club of Clanton has instituted a movement looking to the matter of placing Clanton in the list of Alabama cities which are asking for the location of the United States Veterans Hospital which is to be built some where in the State, under provisions of a bill recently enacted by the Congress of the U. S.

A committee was appointed by the Club to take the matter in hand. Through efforts of this committee, Congressman Jeffers came here on Monday and met with a group of citizens to discuss the matter. Mr. Jeffers, while not sponsoring the application of any particular community, expressed a willingness to help all applicants to get their claims properly submitted to the authorities that will have the location of the hospital in hand.

The committee of the Kiwanis Club has communicated with General Hines, director of the Veterans Bureau, stating to him that Clanton will be a serious contender for the location of the hospital here. After a reply has been received from General Hines, it is expected by the committee that work on the gathering data in support of Clanton's claim will be pushed rapidly.

LITTLE CHILD INSTANTLY KILLED WHEN HOUSE FALLS

When an old partly wrecked frame house at Shaw's Mill collapsed last Sunday, one of the three children who were playing in the old house was instantly killed. The dead child is Louvine Kirkland, seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mat Kirkland of Shaw's Mill.

Reports say that the children were playing in the old house near the Kirkland home, from which most of the boxing had been torn. The old house started to fall and the two largest children ran out. On getting out Louvine noticed that the baby was still in the house; so she ran back and got the baby. As she got near the door she saw that she was trapped, so she threw the baby out and was herself caught in the timbers and instantly crusned to death.

The other two children, Curtis Mink and Estelle Kirkland, were brought to Johnson,s Infirmary in Clanton, where examination proved that their injuries were not serious.

The remains of the little girl were buried at Cane Creek Monday of this week.

VERBENA BAPTIST CHURCH

Program for Sunday, January 5, 1930.

10:00 a. m. Sunday School.

Subjects for Sunday

11:00 a. m. "The way, The truth, and The Life."
7:30 p. m. "Jesus wept".

It was indeed gratifying to have the large crowd with us last preaching day. Especially are we grateful for the ones who came from the five different towns and communities out side of Verbena. We extend a hearty welcome to all who will attend our services next Sunday.

FAITHFUL WORKERS S. S. CLASS

The Faithful Workers Sunday School Class of the Clanton Baptist Church will hold their regular monthly business meeting at the home of Mrs. Burdette, on Tuesday, January 7, at 3 o'clock, with Mrs. J. P. Crumpton and Mrs. Turner Dennis, joint hostesses. Every member is urged to be present.—Mrs. A. L. Taylor.

HOSEA DOWNS SOLD OUT TO TAYLOR BROTHERS

Dr. Hosea F. Downs has sold his interest in the Downs Grocery Company to Tom and Roland Taylor, and will retire from the business within the next few days.

The business will be continued under the ownership and management of Tom and Roland Taylor. Associated with them will be Jimmie Taylor and Aaron Dennis.

Dr. Downs has not made any announcement as to his future plans. He has a large chicken farm at his place south of Clanton which will doubtless take up all the spare time he will have while resting up. Before he gets back into active business connections, he may make an extended visit to Mr. and Mrs J. J. Pickens in the West.

SARGON'S FAME IS NATION-WIDE

Big New York Firm, with Branches in Leading Cities, Selling at Rate of Over Million Bottles Yearly. California Also Using at Rate of Million Bottles a Year.

When Sargon was first given to the world, well-known authorites predicted it would become one of the great outstanding health-giving remedies of the age, but the men of science who labored for years to perfect it little dreamed it would become a household word in so short a time.

According to the statements of people everywhere who have actually put it to the test, it is restoring literally hundreds of thousands of weak, rundown, half-sick, discouraged men and women by some of the latest and most advanced methods known to medical science.

The demand for Sargon is probably without parellel in the history of the drug trade. In the State of California alone, it will require over one million bottles to supply the people of California during the first 12 months after it was placed on sale.

One big New York firm, with the wholesale houses in leading cities, have sold and distributed 908,184 bottles in the past eight months, or at the rate of one million and a quarter bottles per year.

Kansas City wholesale and retail firms have sold and distributed over 300,000 bottles within 12 months, or an average of almost one bottle for every family in the State of Kansas.

Texas dealers required nine car loads the first four months. In the Northwest, the Twin Cities of Minneapols and St. Paul have been selling at the rate of over $100,000 per year, to say nothing of the immense wholesale distribution. Sales in other sections have been correspondingly large.

Back of Sargon's triumph in the drug stores is Sargon's triumph in the homes. When a suffering man or woman finds a medicine that helps them, they invariably tell their friends about it, and in this way the fame of Sargon is spreading from coast to coast, sweeping the country like a great tidal wave.

No matter where you go—north, east, south, or west — Sargon is bringing health to thousands, and many foreign countries are now clamoring for it.

Bro. Bryan's Weekly Message

(Written for The Union-Banner by REV. J. A. BRYAN, Pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, Alabama)

THOU BETHLEHEM, EPHRATAH

Nestling on the side of the oldest highway in the world about four miles from Jerusalem, about seven from Hebron, about two from Arian-Kurian where John the Baptist was chel's tomb, one-fourth a mile from chel'stomb, one fourth a mile from the well of Bethlehem you find this city called first Ephratah in the record of the death of Rachel at the birth of Benjamin near there. (Gen 35:1-20). I saw the tomb of Rachel there as her husband busied her. Then we also read that this Bethlehem is called the city of David.

I am compelled to say that we are studying now the city of the most important event in all the history of the world, sacred or profane. That is the birth of Jesus Christ, the virgin birth, the prophetical birth, the supernatural birth, the miraculous birth of a virgin, a peasant of Galilee. In God's time when everything was ready God sent His only Son into the world to seek and to save that which was lost.

The people had tried everything for happiness and peace except Jesus. Today men are trying everything in the world except the Lord Jesus Christ. Hundreds of churches have even closed their doors to prayer meetings and evening service. Hundreds make no effort whatsoever to give for the poor and to help a weak or discouraged, disheartened brother, just exactly like they were before Christ was born. Men are trying philosophy, history, prosperity, yet they are not trying Christ. Some people however, at the time of the birth of Christ in Bethlehem were looking for the long-promised Messiah of prophecy. They had long been looking forward to His coming and they had not grown doubtful as to this greatest of all events.

All the world recognized the coming of the Messiah of the ages that cold December night. And remember that it is a great deal colder here in December than some of us think. The wise men came to Bethlehem from near Babylon in Syria somewhere between the Euphrates and Tigris Rivers near the Garden of Eden. So these wise men came from near Babylon and Ninevah, the country from which all Assyrians came to be represented at the sinless birth of Christ.

First, we would say God was there. He it was who sent His son, Jesus to be the Saviour of a lost world, and He is was above all others who were present in Bethlehem of Judea that memorable night. That night was a fulfillment of Micah's prophecy: "Thou Bethlehe,m Ephratah, art not least of all the Judean villages, for out of thee shall He come forth, the Good Shepherd of all Israel, the Saviour of a lost world."

Again we think of the angels on that holy nght. Shepherds were all keeping their flocks on those breezy hills of Bethlehem. Then we would say the shepherds were represented on that holy night. God gave Him the stable to be born in, and afterwards a room in the house of some friends. The next character we will study in connection with the lowly, humble birth of Christ is the devil. He was represented at the birth of Christ in the person of Herod. The devil made the proprietor of the inn refuse a room for Him to be born in, sending Mary and Joseph away to Bethlehem's stable, and Christ consented to it because He wanted to be born lowly. What could be more lowly than his being born in a stable among the lowing of cattle?

You remember that the devil had Herod to sign a decree that all the boy babies under two years old be killed in order to do away wth the Christ. We see Mary and Joseph there. The angel speaks to Mary and says, "Who are you?" She courteously replies: "I am a descendant of David who was king of Israel, a great grand son of Boaz and Ruth." Then the angel says to her, "I am the one who appeared to you in the hill country of Galilee and told you that you would become the mother of Jesus who would save His people from their sins. I also told you about the fact that your cousin, Elizabeth, would become the mother of John. And after this revelation to you, you went to the home of your cousin and there rejoicing with her sang beautiful words of praise to God."

Mary was only a poor peasant virgin of Galilee, but she was a pure, good Gentile woman and became the pure, good Gentile mother of the greatest gift the world has ever possessed — the Savious of the world, who came to Bethlehem that holy night. Gabriel, the heavenly messenger not only appeared to Mary in the hill country of Galilee, Zacharias in the temple, but He also appeared to the frightened shepherds that night of the birth of Christ. God always sends Gabriel on the mos important messages which He reveals to earthly beings. Gabriel said "Fear not, for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour who is Christ the Lord." Notice that He had given Him the name of Jesus to Mary and now to the shepherds he gives Him the name—Christ, the Lord.

The shepherds saw also a heavenly host encircling those hills and singing "Peace on earth, good will to men. Glory to God in the highest." They immedately went to Bethlehem and found Christ as the angel had said. There He lay wrapped in swaddling clothes in a manger with Mary, His mother. Just think about the fact that our Saviour was born that cold, moonlight light in Bethlehem without even a place to lay His head. He was born in a cold uncomfortable stable, and yet all the comforts of life belonged to Him.

Jesus Christ came as the missonary to earth and the shepherds were the next missionaries. Jesus Christ, the first missionary, was placed in a donkey's stable in a manger. No doubt His mother did not have a mouthul to eat that evening. The shepherds returned to their flocks, and no doubt told all they saw of the Messiah's birth in Bethlehem, saying, "We have seen Hm who was to be born of the Jews. He is not in Bethlehem."

I am now in Jerusalem about forty days after Christ's birth. The wise men stopped there to enquire of Herod where the Messiah would be born, saying: "We have seen His star in the East and are come to worship Him." Here I wish you to think of the awfulness of a lie. Herod told a lie by expressing a desire to worship Him in a desire to kill him. The star stopped and stood still until the priests and scribes told the wise men where He was to be born. Then the star guided them safely along to the city of Bethlehem-Judea, ending the eager search. I am looking for this Christ to-day in my home, in this church. Are you?

That mraculous star appeared for its first time, and it never has and never will appear again. When the star stood still in Bethlehem they went into the house and worshipped the Christ babe in the mother's arms. They worshipped and adored Him. But first of all they gave their hearts to Him. Then they presented Him with gold and frankinsecnes and myrrh. The gold, no doubt, came from a gold mine near the River of Havilah near Babylon and Ninevah in Syria.

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw— and Some He Saw Not.

If you are one of the old timers in The Banner family of readers, you will doubtless remember the days of long ago when "Then Man on the Corner" was a regular feature of the paper every week. To those of my readers who did not know and read "The Man on the Corner" of other days, I will say that it is to be a weekly chronicle of sights seen and unseen, as I go about among the folks of Clanton and Chilton County.

The man who used to write this column is no more. He has long since joined the hosts of the unknown world that awaits us after this fitful fever we call life. My love and respect for him was most profound. He was my friend, both of mystery and simplicity. He baptized me in printer's ink, so to speak. He showed me type lice and introduced me to many of the mysteries that went with the old school of the printing trade.

I expect to write "The Man on the Corner" from now on. I dedicate it to him who originated the idea and carried it on faithfully and brilliantly for many many years. I have an abiding hope that my effort shall be a worthy sequel to his.

"The Man on the Corner" last appeared in The Banner about the first of the year 1912. That was eighteen years ago. I wonder what he would think and say now if he could emerge from his resting place at our none-to-well-kept cemetery, and stroll along our streets once more.

Now, I think that is enough for me to give as my "excuse" for writing "The Man on the Corner." I want you to come with me every week, and let's see if we can't make this column profitable. I will perhaps see some things that look good, and some that look bad. I shall not promise you that I will tell you about all of them.

In 1912 "The Man on the Corner" got his watch fixed by Doctor J. V. Higgins, the reliable watch and eye man. He got his shaves at the shop of Walter Sanford and Ed Driver, the only white barber shop in Clanton. That is if he didn't happen to patronize Tom and Will now and then. Do you know how many barbers there are in Clanton now?

If I should tell all that I know and see, I don't know what would happen. I will not risk it, anyway. Don't get excited when you see me. This is not the first writing I have ever done. I expect to be charitable, and temper the things I see with a very generous degree of consideration for the other fellow's circumstances.

When I mentioned our cemetery a while ago, I thought what a bad advertisement the same is for our community. I have seen many expressions about that in years past, but nothing has come of them. The cemetery is still a most desolate place.

Another thing which the cemetery has recently impressed upon my mind. The other day Judge Adams brought his wife back here to lay her to rest. Many of his friends were touched when they beheld his own feeble appearance. There is another good man who will soon come to the end of a most varied and useful career. I sympathize and rejoice with him in his evening shadows. I know that he is restless to get across the last lap of a long journey to the land of peace and joy and eternal happiness.

Pardon me for mentioning the serious things suggested by my mental visit to the cemetery. I had to go there to connect up with "The Man on the Corner". As it is my habit to see things whereever I go, I could not aviod a few cemetery glances. But I make no apology for mentioning the serious side of life now and then. I think the whole world of us would do well to give a bit more thought to such.

Have you got on to the racket about the million dollar soldiers hospital that is to be built in Alabama? That thing may be located in Clanton. A number of our wide-awake citizens are getting things in shape to go after it. Congressman Jeffers stopped off here Monday and conferred with the committee of the Kiwanis Club about the matter.

In order to keep the record straight, I will say just here that Mr. Jeffers is not making any pull for locating the hospital in any particular place. He would of course like to see it come to his district; and he expressed a willingnessto help any prospective location to get its claims properly shaped up to present to the authorities at Washington.

Do you suppose Clanton has a chance at it? This is the first question everyone asks about it. Why, of course we have a chance at it; and I believe a good chance too. I believe Clanton is the best location for it in the whole state of Alabama. I believe the officials at Washington will say so too when they come down here and see what we have. I am in favor of getting them down here and showing them around in spite of everything.

Clanton has everything to make a suitable location for a soldiers hospital. We are going to get 'em told about it too. That besides showing them. If we can get the federal authorities in charge of this matter to come down here about next May, we will arrange to take them on a boat trip from Mitchell Dam to Lay Dam, and over the hills in automobiles. After they have seen the beauties of such a trip in the merry month of May, we wouldn't be surprised if they give us the soldiers hospital, and throw in the whole army and navy for good measure.

I saw my old friend, William Elijah Robinson, of Birmingham, last Saturday. There is a sample of determination and grit that makes real men. Old Bill, as we call him, used to tell me when we were lads, all about how he was going to have a college education some day, and he hinted that he might be a preacher. Now, bless my soul, he is both of 'em, besides being a regular employee of the Birmingham postoffice, and the daddy of five children.

Bill is the son of Mrs. Sarah Jane Robinson of Providence, Beat 16. His father was Jeff Robinson, who died some years ago, in fact when Bill was just a kid. There is a younger boy, Euell Robinson, who I think is now Superintendent of Education in a county in northeast Alabama. He is the boy who came to my school in 1911 for his first effort at learning. When I asked him if he knew his letters, he very formally told me he didn't know B from bull's foot.

Back to Bill for another word. He preached at Concord Sunday morning. Wish I could have heard him. He puts in eight hours a day at his job in the Birmingham postoffice, is doing his senior year at Howard College, preaches regularly at two churches in the Birmingham district, and supports his family, consisting of a wife and five children. He says he expects to make it through the Baptist Seminary at Louisville before he turns loose his grasp on determination.

Now and then I hear a yong man say he would like to have an education, but is not able to get it for some frivolous reason or other. The next one who says that to me, I am going to carry him for a long interview with my old friend, "Bill Ligie".

When "The man on the Corner" used to relate the sights he saw and saw not, some of his observations were about politics. That will be my misfortune also. There is much politics right now, and more in the offin

In 1912 "The Man on the Corner" saw Judge Deason in the office of Probate Judge. It was then that the famous county road debt was created, and about $3),000 of interest bearing warrants issued. You have heard lots about that in political campaigns.

Since that time the roads which were built have worn out. The Republicans put Judge Reynolds back in office. He has about worn out the county debt also By issuing bonds to replace the warrants, many thousands of dollars in interest have been saved. Then a drive was started by Uncle Jim Mims when he was Comissioner, to pay off the bonds before they were du

The net result at this time is that the bonded debt of the county is only $114,000. That will be paid before it is due in 1947 if the people who hold the bonds can be induced to give them up.

A traveling man came into my office Monday. After he had completed his business mission he said: "I see by the papers Sunday that this county is paying off bonds that are not due until 1947. What does that mean? Is it possible that a county in Alabama is in such fine condition as to be able to do such an unheard of thing?"

The year 1930 is going to show us some of the hottest politics in history. The Democratic party in the State is in a terrible fix having to deal with the bolter It seems like the Republicans in Chilton County also have some intentions of digging into he bolting suject. Wonder if they got their idea from the Democratic State Committee. The resolution of the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County last Saturday was designed to clear away some of the cloud of uncertainty which has been hovering about some of our prominent county Republicans.

The action of the Republican committee did not bar anybody from running in the Republican primary. They said, though, that all who would run must make a declaration of how he voted in 1928. That will be interesting, I think. I conclude that the suspicion must therefore exist that some Republicans in 1928 did for the county Republican ticket what some Democrats did for the national ticket—bolted.

As I saw it from the corner where I was standing, my view of the matter is that a man may bolt if he wants to. Then he ought not to be ashamed or afraid of the world to know that he bolted. The man who voted in 1928 can not honestly come back in 1930 and ask to be elected to office without telling the voters the truth about where he was when the racket of 1928 was going on.

Anything else would be unfair to the voters. Let the bolters come back if they want to, and run for office, if they will agree to make an open breast of their political past. Then it will be up to the people to dispose of them as they see fit, which I consider is right principle in politics.

But the funny part of the picture is that the bolters on either side are not going to pay much attention to the resoluting of party committees. They have a streak of political independence which will not be easily put down.

Then, furthermore, political strategists know that politics must keep straight. Parties must be parties, or nothing. We will have political parties in 1930, just as rigid and uncompromising as ever. The argument will not jibe with bolting Democrats and Republicans. My conclusion is, therefore, that of all the sights ever seen or unseen, the political sights of 1930 will put everything else in total eclipse.

The main difference which I see in the action of the Republicans and Democrats concerning the bolters is that the Republicans are willing to let them come back into the party and run for office and trust the people to give them what they deserve on election day. The Democratic Committee seem to be afraid to risk the verdict of the people of Alabama on election day, and so to nip the trouble in the bud by keeping the bolters out of the running.

If the majority of the Democrats of Alabama are voting for Tom Heflin to go back to the Senate and for Hugh Locke to be Governor, notwithstanding they were bolters in 1928, why not everybody be satisfied with the result? Here is the trouble. Alabama's infamal election laws which have been patched up by conniving Democrats, some of whom are among the bolters, are so crazy that they permit men to be elected to office without getting a majority of the votes.

Our government is intended to be run on the principle of majority rule. When we have curious laws that nullify that principle, it will always cause trouble and discord.

MRS. HARRIETT BICE BURIED AT SHILOH

Mrs. Harriet Bice, age 79 years, died last Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. W. Billingsley, near Shiloh. She was the wife of Rev. I. Bice, a Missionary Baptist preacher, who died about eight years ago.

Mrs. Bice was a daughter of Caleb Bailey of Talladega County where she was born and reared. She lived in Shiloh community for 32 years.

Surviving her are the following sons and daughters: Mrs. John Billingsley, of Thorsby; Mrs. Sim Glenn, of White City; J. L. Bice, of Shiloh; Mrs. T. W. Billingsley, of Shiloh; and a great host of grandchildren.

The body was buried Friday at Shiloh cemetery. The funeral was conducted by Rev. T. J. Deason.

Telephone plant extensions, additions and betterments in 1930 will represent an expenditure of $700,000,000, according to announcement of American Telephons and Telegraph Company.

A new record in speed which freight traffic is handled was established by railroads in October, when average movement per day was 36.3 miles, says Bureau of Railway Economics.

Miss Madge Scarborough, supervisor of the elementary schools of Chilton County, spent the Christmas holidays with her father and mother at Blue Springs, in Barbour County. She has returned to her duties at the office of the Superintendent of Education.

PAINS Went Away

"I WAS very much run-down in health. I had a dreadful ache across the middle of my back. I had a dull, tired feeling, and I dreaded the thought of having to do my household tasks. I was tired when I got up in the morning. I got no rest from my sleep, and I was sleepy all day long.

"My husband got a bottle of Cardui for me. It was not long before I began to show a decided improvement. My strength began to return and I felt much more like myself. The sleepy spells gradually quit and the pains in my back and sides disappeared.

"Cardui is a splendid tonic for women. I proved it for myself."—Mrs. J. E. Shelley, Box 22, R. F. D. 1, Electra, Texas.

Thanks and Best Wishes

On July 1st I came to Thorsby to open up an old run down drug store. It has been a hard job, yet pleasant, because I think the people of Thorsby appreciate a druggist they have confidence in. I appreciate the confidence the people have shown in me, and have tried to be deserving of this confidence by using the best medicines obtainable in all prescriptions, and the utmost care in compounding them. My business has grown each month since July, and I appreciate every customer I have, large or small, child or old person.

It Never Rains But It Pours

We never intended to listen, really we didn't but we heard a young lady who had lost her garter say to her sister; "It isn't the cost of stockings, but the upkeep that worries me." The thing that worries us mostly is to get you to drop in to inspect our used cars. You will admit that seeing is believing, that our car values certainly lead quality. Every used car on our floor has been selected for its mechanical perfection as well as its attractiveness.

CHILTON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Chilton County High School resumed its work Monday morning, December 30th, after a vacation of ten days for the Christmas holidays. All teachers and pupils reported promptly and everything resumed its normal condition without delay.

The teachers spent the holidays at their respective homes, as follows: Mr. Horton T. Walker, Maplesville, Ala.; Miss Virginia Murphy, Aliceville, Ala.; Miss Bernice Williams, Luverne, Ala.; Miss Annie Clay, Fulton, Ala.; Miss Edna Coefield, Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Inez Perry, Red Level, Ala.; Miss Nell E. Wells, Jemison, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Warr, Eufala and Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Louise Jackson, Bessemer, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Green, Eclectic, Ala.

The faculty and student body and friends in general regret very deeply to learn of the untimely death of Mr. and Mrs. Green's infant daughter, Joyce Green. We extend to them our kind and heartfelt sympathy.

The school takes pleasure in announcing the additon of Mrs. Percy Pitts to our faculty as music teacher. Mrs. Pitts is one of our own and needs no introduction to the school or the town. We feel fortunate in securing her services. She comes to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Mrs. Maggie F. Washington, who has been ill for some time.

The Birmingham papers have contained interesting articles during the past week concerning the marriage of one of our most popular teachers. On Monday, December 23rd, Miss Louise Jackson of the history department became the bride of Rev. Henry Lyon of Bessemer, Ala. We are glad indeed to have Mrs. Lyon remain as a member of our faculty and continue her most excellent services as a teacher.

Perhaps the nicest Christmas present presented in the city of Clanton, and the one which afforded the most pleasant surprise, was the high school auditorium of new opera chairs which greeted the faculty and students when they returned on Monday morning. We are indebted to the patrons in general who made their contributions through the incidental fees paid by the students, and to the Commissioners Court who made a generous donation. This is a handsome gift, and of course will be appreciated more and more each day as they serve the school.

We are planning to celebrate the occasion of the addition of our new opera chairs on January 24, when we will present to the public a first class, up to date minstrel. This is Wayne P. Sewell's "Dixie Blackbirds." The public is cordially invited to attend our play at this time.

BETHSALEM

Bethsalem Sunday School met Sunday morning. A large number of the members were present.

After the lesson was through with the whole student body gathered together and each one told how he would like the Sunday School to be this coming year.

A present of $5 was given to little Hopson Wright.

We are hoping that every member of our Sunday School will resolve to come and to make our school one of interest as the new year rolls in.

MT. PLEASANT NEWS

Everyone was back at school Monday morning, ready to do some good work this year.

Eunice Holley, one of our pupils at Mt. Pleasant School, has moved to Georgia.

We have enrolled several new pupils since the Christmas holidays. Eula Mae Riggins started Monday. She is taking Jr. 2 wark.

Miss Helen Hall spent the Christmas holidays with her parents at Marble Velley Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Massey of Birmingham spent Sunday with their mother, Mrs. S. H. Massey.

Mr. Maurice Foshee of Mt. Pleasant is visiting his sister in Atlanta, Georgia.

Misses Myrtle Littlejohn, Gertie Mae Hayes and Jewel Wilson spent Thursday with Misses Bertie, Mamie and Myrtice Logan.

Miss Ethel Gentry spent Christmas with her parents at Mountain Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Mosie Bates from Coopers, Ala., returned home last Sunday evening, after spendng the Christmas holidoys with relatives and friends in Walker County.

TO OUR FRIENDS, old and new, we wish to express a feeling of thanks and gratitude for the great part they have played in making last year, 1929, a happy one.

And now at the starting of a new year we wish for you joy and happiness, health and prosperity. With this expression, we remain,

Yours Sincerely,

NEW BODIES BUT NO MECHANICAL CHANGE IN FORD

A showing of new bodies for the Model A Ford, each one of which will soon be available in a variety of new colors, was announced today by Clanton Motors, local Ford dealers.

Emphasis was placed on the fact that the car is unchanged mechanically; that nearly 3,000,000 Model A type Fords are now on the highways proving that they are thoroughly dependable.

The policy of the Ford Motor Company in this respect has been to make minor alterations whenever a new device has shown itself worthy to be included in the mechanical plan of the car, but not to bring out a new car as a whole.

Beautiful New Bodies

"The new body types will have a distinctly refreshing appearance," said Mr. Tom Littlejohn. "They have all the beauty and charm of contour, line and proportion usually associated with the large cars.

"As one looks at them, the first thing that catches the eye is the new radiator. Still retaining the Ford individuality, it is high and narrow, and in excellent style. This, with the higher and longer hood and the shorter cowl, give the front of the car a distinctly new and pleasing appearance, to which an added touch of brightness comes from the finish strip at the juncture of the hood and cowl.

Fenders Are Fuller

"The fenders, much fuller than heretofore, contribute a great deal to the improved appearance of the car. Higher at the front, with high crown and sweeping well down over the wheels, the new front fenders flow back in graceful curves to the running boards. The rear fenders, which also have high crowns, sweep down over the rear wreels to a point lower than formerly.

"The head lamps, set higher on a new arched tie rod, also contribute to better appearance.

"A new atmosphere of stability is produced by the smaller steel spoke wheels and large tires, which bring the bodies closer to the ground, resulting in a lower center of gravity and consequent increased safety on the road, especially in rounding turns at high speed. Riding quality also is improved.

"The most notable changes in the body types have been made in the Tudor Sedan, the Coupes and the open cars".

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kind sympathy and splendid service shown us during the lingered illness and death of our dear mother. Also Dr. Napoleon Johnson for his able service rendered her in her afflictions. May your kind deeds of service be crowned with the richest of God's blessings.—T. W. Billingsley and family.

Mrs. A. C. Harper is spending the winter with her son, Clark Harper, in Florida. While she is away Mr. and Mrs. Cohen Stapp are living at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Sam Johnson, which is occupied by Mrs. Harper when she is here.

In addition to state highway programs which cost in excess of one billion dollars annually, counties and cities together are spending more than a billion dollars annually on highway construction and maintenance.

Mrs. C. E. Stapp, Child Welfare Worker of Chilton County, has returned from a visit of several days with her father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. Seay, at Fernbank, in Lamar County.

Mr. Marion S. Smith of Collinsville spent a few days with friends in Thorsby during Christmas.

SAMARIA

It has been some time since we sent a piece in to the paper. We sure do miss the Samaria News if it is not in The Union-Banner.

Our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. have been rather small for the last few Sundays, on account of the bad weather and roads being so muddy. We are not discouraged for Jesus said: "Where there are a few gathered together in my name, there will I be in the midst."

We start a new quarter next Sunday, and we want to see a real large crowd there to start off the new year like they want all the rest of 1930 to be.

Christmas has come and gone; and everybody in our community seemed to have enjoyed the holidays fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Vinson of Birmingham spent the Christmas holidays with Mr. John Vinson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Whitfield spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Holley.

Mr. Joe Holley and family spent several days last week in Georgia.

Rev. Wm. E. Robinson, of Howard College preached here last Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Boockholdt have moved to the Enterprise community.

Misses Lena and Pearl Vinson spent Sunday afternoon with Misses Georgia, Nora and Sallie B. Ward.

Misses Eunice and Julia Edwards spent the week end with their grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Edwards.

Miss Jenie Foshee of Birmingham spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Foshee. Miss Foshee is attending the Alverson Business College.

Messrs. Buster Foshee and Raymond Mims of the University of Alabama, spent the Christmas holidays with their parents near here.

Last Friday afternoon Misses Sallie B., Georgia and Nora Wood entertained the members of the Sunday school clases of G. F. Harris and J. F. Armstrong, at a party given at their home. Games and stunts were enjoyed until a late hour; then the guests were invited into the dining room where they were served with salad and cake. Everyone present seemed to have enjoyed the evening fine, and wished that someone would give them a party every Friday night.

Dr. G. W. Leslie of Thorsby was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday. Dr. Leslie lives on the old Judge Adams farm which he recently bought. He has remodeled the home and is preparing to make a large poultry plant on the place. "I like Thorsby," said Dr. Leslie, "and am proud of my place. In a few years I hope to have one of the most ideal little farms in the county."

WEST CHILTON

Happy New Year to all!

Christmas over here was unusually dull.

So, now we enter the untried way of the new year. The old year is gone, and no need to regret its passing. But as the new year comes in we will be wise not to defer longer the good things we had intended doing. That letter to some loved one, the procrastinated visit to father and mother back in the old home, and many other things that we have contemplated. Now the earlier in the new year we attend to these things, only the better for us. Thus, keeping the new leaf unsoiled.

A Mr. Patterson will live on the Braswell farm this year.

Miss Bevie Smith of Birmingham visited her mother, Mrs. Hubbard, during the holidays. She was accompanied by Mr. Pat Lowery.

Jim Cummings of Gorgas visited at W. R. Redding's at Christmas.

The recent snow and big freeze seemed like old time winters had returned.

Miss Bevie Smith returned to Birmingham Friday, via, the Southern.

Mr. John S. Waldrop reports a nice holiday trade.

Hardy Waldrop and family came down for Christmas.

We have a nice crop of candidates in sight. We hope the best man wins, and the vanquished ones render 100 per cent loyalty. That is what we expect.

Mexico has had several years of socialistic government. The schemes look well on paper, aand are supposed to be in the interests of the common people, but as a result there has been an almost complete paralysis of production and consequent widespread unemployment. The market value of Mexican national and railway securities is six and a half per cent of their par value.

The New York Times suggests that a special place be set aside for assemblages of communists who wish to publicly advocate the overthrow by violence of the government of the United States. That place ought to be somewhere within the confines of Soviet Russia, the land of free speech —for communists.

The French newspapers are denouncing Uucle Sam as an imperialist because our marines are trying to keep a few rioters from destroying the civilization which has been built up in Haiti during the past few years. Of course when the French go into Africa to conquer Mexico, that isn't imperialism—it is merely assuming the white man's burden.

MITIGATED AND BENIGN

Harry Elmer Barnes, whose presence on the Smith College faculty doubtless helps to convince the Smith girls of the truth of the old saying that "it takes all kinds of men to make a world," has now decided on a plan for making over that part of the world called "the United States of America."

In a talk before a New York audience a few days since, he delivered the dictum that democracy must give way to some "mitigated and benign form of dictatorship." Now, if the trustees of Smith College were to propose putting a dictator over the faculty, however mitigated and benign he might seem to be at the outset, Prof. Harry Elmer Barnes would be one of the first to insist that no man is fit to be a real dictator over a college faculty.

Those who believe in the present government of Itlay insist that Mussolini's dictatorship is preeminently "mitigated and benign," but if Prof. Barnes had been on the faculty of a girls' school in Naples, instead of Northampton, his professorial head would have been in Mussolini's waste basket long ago.

Most of our American critics who find our democracy an absolute failure would find themselves insufferably hobbled under any other form of government. — Columbus, Ohio, Dispatch.

UNCLE SAM IN NICARAGUA

Vigorous denial that there has been American aggression or any tendency toward imperialism in Nicaraugua was made recently by President Moncada of that country in his address to the Nicaraguan parliament. The president called attention to the fact that banditry is still existent in North Nicaragua and he declared that many of the bandits are not natives of the country and that their pretence to be fighting for Nicaraguan freedom was mere subteruge. Continuing, President Moncada said:

"Had the United States wished to seize Nicaragua they would not have sponsored the Tipitapa peace, free elections and other such democratic institutions, but would have encouraged the fratricidal revolution of 1927 in order to conquer the country the more easily."

"If the marines are still here they are not here as enemies but are laboring for peace and order and are desirous of seeing Nicaragua, which for the first time in its history is tranquil, become law-abiding, industrious and progressive. These are the marines who have been so bitterly attacked by Latin America.

"I consider my country independent and sovereign and I've perefet confidence that the United States government desires to and will withdraw its marines when peace is firmly established here."

Here is something for our own liberals and our European critics to ponder over. If we wanted to swallow Nicaragua whole it could easily be done. The same has been true for the past fifty years so far as any Caribbean country is concerned, and the fact that we have not acquired any territory there at the expense of any nation's liberty is the best answer to the charge of imperialism.

The Jack Pot

BY "JACK" HIMSELF

'Way up north it is a common sight to see a crowd out on the ice, skimming around on skates. In places the ice is rather thin, and every once in a while somebody breaks through and splashes into the cold waters beneath. This sight is not so common down in Chilton County, but we have a pretty good parallel.

* * * * *

In those natural skating places in the north, dangerous places are marked by danger signals. Then, if a skater deliberately skates too close to the danger signal it is considered his own fault, and, instead of his accident exciting people and causing them to rush to his assistance, they just stand back and laugh at his foolhardiness.

* * * * *

The parallel mentioned above, as being present in our County is in the form of a political one. And before many more days we may expect many office aspirants to deliberately skate out to the thin place in the ice where they KNOW they will break through.

* * * * *

And then comes the fun of seeing this bunch scrambling around trying to get out of the hole without getting all wet and everything, politically. Of course, not all of them can do that little thing. Just a select few will be able to scramble back to safety, and the others—poor fish—will be submerged and will have to wait four years or more before they can try another plunge.

* * * * *

It must be a great game, or, at least, an enticing one, for every election year sees several plunge into the pond. And, unlike the northern version of the game, lots of the time they COME BACK FOR MORE.

* * * * *

It's funny to watch these fellows scrambling around, too. It seems their eyes take on an unwanted sharpness. People they never seemed to know before are greeted as warm, bosom friends. Funny, too, how they can remember lots of folks FRONT names. Either that or it's MISTER so-and-so. In off-election years a voter may have to be content with being called John Doe, but, boy, just let election year come around. He isn't John Doe any more.

* * * * *

No sir-ee! He's either "good old John", or MISTER Doe, or both, and "how's the Missus and kiddies", and the like. Maybe that candidate wasn't so sure just a few months ago as to just where John Doe lived and worked for his daily bread, but after his announcement you can trust him to find out right pronto.

And, if a candidate happens to spot MISTER Doe in town—maybe he's on the other side of the street, no difference—"good old John" is hauled up to a soda fount or a "dope" dispenser, and then, over a bottle of "pop" the business at hand is dug into. A little bzzz-bzzz-bzzz session is held, after which another hearty handshake, very much resembling an old-time pump in action, much nodding of the head, and each goes on his way.

* * * * *

It's funny to watch them AFTER this meeting, too. Mr. Candidate soon finds another "good old John" and goes through his act again. And Mr. Doe? He eases up to a friend, screws his mouth up into a big smile, whispers something in his friend's ear, nods toward the late-departed candidate, and both get a good, hearty laugh out of how the old boy is burning the woods for votes.

* * * * *

The only parallel for this little picture is when Mr. Candidate takes to the tall timber to "find 'em where they are", bogs in plowed ground for about a half a mile, only to find that the object of his search is on the other side of the political fence. No foolin', folks, that IS a pitiful scene.

* * * * *

Happily, Mr. Candidate doesn't get an adverse answer very often, though. It don't make much differenct who Mr. Candidate is, the voter generally was "for ye all the time", just to get the candidate on his way so Mr. Voter can get going with his work again. If he says "yes" he can go right ahead, for Mr. Candidate "didn't want to hinder ye any", but if "no" should be the answer, then Mr. Candidate would like to present all his claims and good points, which would take time. So Mr. Voter just learns, after a few visits, to just nod his head when he sees a candidate climbing over the fence—then goes ahead with his work. All minds are satisfied—Mr. Candidate is happy because Mr. Voter assures him of his vote on sight, and Mr. Voter smiles to himself on getting rid of one more pest so easily.

* * * * *

Yes, sir! It IS a great game for all. Great all the way around. All the candidates (to hear them tell it) meet many of their OLD friends, the voters get all their drinks free for quite a spell, the cold drink dispensers and soda fount operators do a land-office business, and—Uncle Sam?—your Uncle Sammy just waits and dotes on election years to sell enough stamps and envelopes to pay off another installment on the national debt.

* * * * *

To tell the truth, if elections were held every year, before long Uncle Sam could pay off clean and the national debt would be no more. So, after all, we all have a great time of it. And if you don't believe the description we have given, just wait and watch with us this coming year when the boys really get all het up, and going good. Funny? You'd be surprised!—"Jack".

"ABSOLUTELY THE BEST"

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Written for The Union-Banner by
FRANK P. LITSCHERT

The present American standard of living, surpassing anything in the history of civilization, is now so generally applied in our country that the average citizen of the United States accepts it as a matter of course. Many causes have been asigned for superior living standards in America. The youth of our country, and its boundless resources are given as reasons why we have progressed so rapidly. These are undobtedly contributing factors. Our constitutional government with its facilities for leaving as much of the progress of the individual as possible to individual effort and capabilities. has played a big part in our progress.

Our wage standards, enabling our workers to purchase and enjoy so many of the supposed luxuries of life, but at the same time permitting us to compete in the world's markets for our share of the world's business, are the marvel of other countries. Wages in America were higher than in Europe, even in the early days when there was a scarcity of labor, and they are high now because good wages have become an integral part of our economic system. As a result, when the recent deflation of values in the stock market and slowing down of business was encountered, among the first efforts were those of the President to see that there was no reduction in the standard of living through reduced wages.

In a recent address before the World Engineering Congress at Tokyo, Magnus W. Alexander, president of the National Industrial Conference Board of New York City, in touching on this phase of American life, well said:

"High wage levels, while orignally an incidence of labor scarcity and later of war-time demands and inflation, have become a distinct element of Amercan economic life. In fact, a definite philosophy has arisen from the relationships of high wages, intensive productivity and national purchasing power. It may be said that the trend of American business policy today is toward creation of widespread consumer purchasing power by proving high wages and wage values which, in turn, tend to raise the standerds of living among the masses. Thus, there is being established a 'benevolent circle' in place of the 'vicious circle,' extending from high wages to high consumer purchasing power, to increased demand for manufactured goods and services, and to still greater industrial production, all of which makes possible intensified mass production metods resulting in still lower unit costs. These, in turn, lead to lower prices and thereby again raise the purchasing power of wages. While it is true that the United States is constantly seeking to expand its export markets, it is also a part of the modern American business creed that America nindustry's greatest potential expansion for the present lies in an expanding domestic consumption."

Here is the present American economic system in a nutshell. Our effort of recent years has been to develop this benevolent economic circle, and it might be well said in passing that in this development our tariff system has played a big part by protecting the big home market against the products of cheap European labor and permitting the American producer to use his tremendous output to lower production costs by increased volume and so compete in the markets of the world, with his surplus.

The results of the date have certainly been of such a nature as to justify this new American system. Quoting from Mr. Alexander again:

"The rising scale of living standards resulting from the higher 'real' wages is reflected in greater leisure for the people at large. This is truly a gift of the machine. Greater wage income and leisure manifest themselves significantly in a vastly increased enrollment in secondary or high schools and in colleges and universities, reflecting the increased amount of parental support of higher education, and also in the extensive study work in evening schools on the part of adult persons who must support themselves." Our system is not perfect but it is better than anything else which has been proposed for our consideration.

ADULTS CONTRACT CHILDREN'S DISEASES

Adults can, and do, contract many children's diseases. And, usually, they suffer from them much more than children do. For instance, many adults contract worms, an ailment usually associated with children. Sometimes they suffer intensely and take expensive medical treatments, without realizing that worms are the cause of their troubles. Yet, the symptoms are the same as in children, loss of appetite and weight, grinding the teeth and restless sleep, itching of the nose and anus, and abdominal pains. And, the same medicine that surely and harmlessly expels round and pin worms from children will do the same for adults—White's Cream Vermifuge, which you can get at Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

Lesson for January 5

THE CHILDHOOD OF JESUS

GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt call His name Jesus for He shall save His people from their sins.

PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Care of Jesus When a Child.

JUNIOR TOPIC—God's Care of Jesus When a Child.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How the Child-King Was Received.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Childhood of the Saviour-King.

The central theme of Matthew is Jesus Christ the King, the fulfiller of the Messianic hope. In harmony with this pre-eminent theme, Matthew first deals with the all important question of His genealogy, for His right to occupy the throne of David must be established.

The royal covenant was made to David (II Sam. 7:8-16, cf. Acts 2:30-32). In harmony with this, the first verse of Matthew's record constitutes a key to the book.

I. The Birth of Jesus, the King (1:18-25).

1. The Saviour was to be the seed of a woman (Gen. 3:15), the son of a virgin (Is. 7:14). This was fulfilled in the birth of Jesus. The genealogy (Matt. 1:1-17) shows His legal right to the throne, but something more is required in order to be the Saviour from sin. He must be both human and divine (Is. 9:7). The Saviour was begotten by the Holy Ghost and born of the Virgin Mary, thus becoming Immanuel, which in its fullness means, "God with us, God for us, and God in us."

II. The Childhood of Jesus, the King (2:1-23).

1. Wise men from the East seeking Israel's King (vv. 1, 2).

The King's reception was most heartless. His own nation received Him not. His advent was heralded by a star which guided men of a foreign nation to seek and worship Him, pouring out their gifts to Him. These men were Persian or Arabian astrologers—students of the stars. Their attention was attracted by the appearance of an unusual star. Through the influence of the Jews who remained in Chaldea, or the direct influence of Daniel extending to this time, they had become acquainted with Israel's hope as to the Messiah.

2. Herod seeking to kill the King (vv. 3-8; 16-18).

The news brought by the wise men struck terror to Herod's heart. He was not alone in this, for all Jerusalem was troubled with him. The news ought to have brought joy, but a glimpse at the social customs in and about Jerusalem of that day enables us to understand why this news brought uneasiness to the people. They were living in the greatest luxury. Fine dress, sumptuous feasts, fine houses and other luxuries led to gross immoralities. This is why Herod and Jerusalem were troubled. A Saviour who would save them from their sins was not wanted. Their desire was to continue in them. Herod demanded of the priests and scribes information as to where Christ should be born. The fact that they were able to tell him so promptly shows that they had a technical knowledge of the Scriptures, but not a heart for the Saviour set forth therein. We face similar conditions today. This all occurred in Jerusalem, the city of the King, the place of all places where He should have been welcome. When the wise men returned to their country by another way, Herod slew all the male children two years of age and under in Bethlehem and its coasts.

3. The King found by the wise men (vv. 9-12).

The wise men having obtained the desired information, started immediately to find the King. As soon as they left the city, the star as it guided them in the East, appeared again to lead them on. Not that it had disappeared from the sky, but the dwellings of the city no doubt shut out the sight of it. Frequently, spiritual vision is obscured by the things of this world.

4. The King protected (vv. 13-23).

(1) Flight to Egypt (vv. 13-15).

To escape Herod's wicked aim, God directed Joseph to take Mary and the child Jesus and flee to Egypt. In obedience to the heavenly vision, he went and remained there till Herod's death.

(2) Return to Nazareth (vv. 19-23).

Upon the death of Herod, the angel of the Lord directed Joseph to take Jesus and His mother and go into the land of Israel. By divine direction, he returned to Galilee and dwelt at Nazareth.

The United Singing Society will meeting at Union Grove tonight (Thursday, Jan 2) program to began at 6:30 o'clock. Everyone is invited. This announcement is made at the request of Akins Collins.

UNINTENTIONAL SUICIDE

Many people are slowly poisoning themselves just as surely as if they drank iodine every morning for breakfast. They are daily absorbing the toxins, or poisons, created by accumulated waste matter in their constipated digestive systems. Sooner or later disease will conquer their weakened bodies.

If you have dizzy spells, headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, insomnia, no appetite, bilious attacks or pains in back and limbs, you are probably suffering from self poisoning caused by constipation. The surest and most pleasant relief for this condition is Herbine, the vegetable cathartic which acts in the natural way. Get a bottle today from Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama.

John W. Henley of Union Springs was a vistor to Clanton last week. We had lost track of this old friend. He walked in on us unexpectedly last Friday and demanded The Union-Banner for a year. So, here it comes, Uncle John, together with a good wish to you and your folks every week from your old home-town paper.

FIREWOOD IMPORTANT FOREST PRODUCT

Montgomery, Dec. 30.—The people of the U. S. use approximately 9 and one-half billion cubic feet of fireeach year, says the Alabama Commission of Forestry. Southern trees contribute a very large proportion of this amount. The wood of all pines, oaks, hickories, and gums as well as that of many other trees furnishes a bountiful supply of fuel for stoves and fireplaces. The stumps and others parts of the Long-leaf Pine saturated with resin and known as lightwood comprise a large portion of the material used.

The cutting and hauling of wood for home uses furnish full or part time employment for many. The farmer can spend some of his time to good advantage in supplying fuel wood to the pulic and at the same time improve his timber stand. Only defective and undesirable trees should be used for such low grade purposes as firewood, and under no consideration should wood suitable for lumber, piling, or crossties be used for fuel.

MINERAL SPRINGS

Next Sunday evening is time for our singing, and we are expecting some good singing. We invite all singers to be with us; and those who like to hear good singing come along too. The chairman, Mr. Akins Collins, has promised some music, and you know when it comes to singing he can do that thing.

Rev. Malcolm Lockhart will preach at this place Saturday night at 7 o'clock and on Sunday at 11 o'clock. As next Sunday is the first Sunday in the new year, we want to start off our Sunday school in the right way. So we invite all who are interested to come out next Sunday, for we are going to elect new officers and teachers. We all ought to be interested in that election; so everyone try and come.

According to what the president of the singing society announced, there will be singing at this place Thursday night for practice. He said they would sing on Thursday night before their regular singing at each place which they are to meet the following Sunday.—M. Gore.

PLEASANT GROVE—JEMISON

Christmas was celebrated around here very quietly. All that came to the Christmas tree seemed to enjoy it very much as Santa Claus was quite entertaining especially to the children.

Mr. Monroe Smith and family are moving to Baker Hill. We hate to see this family leave this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Champion will occupy the house Mr. Smith is vacating.

Mr. O. C. Rogers has moved on Mr. Childress place where Mr. Lawrence lived last year.

Mrs. Dovie Dawson and son, Carl are moving back to their place. Mr. Atchinson having moved to Collins Chapel.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Franklin have moved to his fathers place on Thorsby Route 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Volley Glass and baby of Wylam spent the Christmas holidays with Mrs. Glass' mother Mrs. Emma Waldrop.

Mr. and Mrs. Hennie Hodgens and children spent last Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Miskelley.

Mrs. Wright of Thorsby has been visiting her son Mr. Jim Wright and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Davenport had as their guest during the holidays their daughter, Mrs. Sallie Peoples and children of Bessemer and Mr. Bill Davenport and son Robert of Macedonia. Mrs. Davenport and daughters visited her relatives at Saginaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Miskelley spent the holidays in Birmingham.

Mrs. Theda Gibson continues critically ill. The following relatives visited her last week; Mr. and Mrs. Oden and cheildren, Mr. Bob Veazey and family of Mulberry, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Davenport and Mr. Bob Davenport, and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Spivey of Thorsby.

O. D. Grooms and son, T. J., of Valdosta, Ga., were here this week. Mr. Grooms was here helping look after the settlement of the estate of his father, the late H. J. Grooms of Mulberry.

Circuit Clerk, J. Z. Mims has bought the John Vinson farm south of Clanton and will live there in the future. The place is located just east of the Bob Smith place.

A painting less than two feet wide by Fra Lippe Lippi was sold the other day in Paris for nearly $87,000. Which proves, girls, that it does pay to paint, if you can put it over.

Mr. T. W. Billingsley of Shiloh, was here Tuesday. He gave us a report of the death of his mother in law, Mrs. Harriett Bice, who was buried at Shiloh last Friday.

greetings for the new year:

We wish to thank our many friends for the business given us in 1929, and extend to you an invitation to always visit us when in Clanton, where we have two stores side by side.

In our grocery department we are members of the (I. G. A.) International Grocers Alliance, a combination of over twelve thuosand stores in buying power, but each store is home owned by home folks. We guarantee every article to give perfect satisfaction or money will be refunded.

In our Dry Goods Department we are so arranged as to have a large buying power which enables us to obtain the best possible prices. These we pass on to our customers. Don't fail to visit this department and watch our bargain counters, where you will always find attractive values.

We wish for every one a happy and prosperous year through 1930.

COMMISSIONERS INVITE LOCATION OF U. S. HOSPITAL

Advantages of Chilton County Set Out In Petition To Veterans Bureau

We, the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama, hereby invite, and respectfully petition the United States Veteran's Bureau, to locate the proposed veterans hospital for Alabama in Chilton County, and we respectfully request the people of the County to whole-heartedly get behind this movement, as we believe it to be beneficial to the County. Chilton County is geographically the center of Alabama and accessible by railroad and highways to every part of the country. We have three railroads in our County, we have a cement highway running entirely through our Countp from North to South, being practically throught the central part of our County, and one graveled highway, which is now under construction, East and West, three of these highways all joining at Clanton. We also have aeroplane landing fields, whch are now being used by the government.

We have splendid soil, suitable for raising most any plant or vegetable that grows in Alabama. We are from four hundred to six hundred feet in elevation and can furnish splendid location for the hospital at a six hundred foot elevation, and our climate is suitable for growing vegetables the entire year round. We have good schools, good roads, good water and cheap electricty, splendid climate and our population is largely white and law-abiding Anglo - Saxon citizens.

Statistics show that we have one of the healthiest Counties in Alabama our death rate being considerably below the average in Alabama, which is 10.6, and our County is 7.8 to the 1,000 population in 1927, and our County stands about 13 in ad valorem taxation.

The Commissioners Court pledges itself to do all things necessary that may be legally done, such as building roads or improving roads to the hospital site, and we will also put on an all time health unit if the Veterans Burau requires this to be done. We pledge ourselves here with the United States Veterans' Bureau to do anything and everything that we can legally do, in order to make this County qualified, if the Government decides to locate the hospital in this County.

Judge of Probate.

NEWS OF ATWATER-KENT RADIO ACTIVITIES, ETC.

Confronted with the greatest midwinter demand in radio history, the Atwater Kent Manufacturing Company has been unable to close down over the holidays for the usual January 1st inventory.

Announcement to this effect, coming as a new year's greeting and a forecast of increasing prosperity for 1930, was received this week by the Carter Electric Shop, distributors for Atwater Kent for this teritory.

"The shortage of Atwater Kent sets during the past thirty days," the announcement stated, "has been general. All during December our production has been speeded up to man-pawer capacity in an earnest endeavor to catch up with a demand unprecedented in the annals of radio history and merchandising.

Ordinarily our factories close during the holiday season for inventory taking, but not so this year. Wheels are turning as rapidly during these days as they turn at peak production seasons."

KILLED A BIG RATTLER JAN. 2

Henry Clackler, a log cutter for H. S. Shaw, killed a big rattlesnake near the old Franklin place at the Cove on Coosa River last Thursday, January the second. The big reptile was found coiled in a trail, and when disturbed showed the usual disposition to fight.

Considering the great amount of cold and freezing weather of recent weeks, it is strange that a big snake of this kind could remain in the open and continue to navigate.

We place this incident in the same class with the one of a few years ago when Monroe Parrish got a watermelon off of the Christmas tree at Providence.

SHERIFF COLLINS IN THE HAT SWAPPING BUSINESS

Not of his own accord, but of a fact, just the same, Sheriff Collins seems to be in the hat swapping business. All he knows about it is that he swaps hats now and then. He does not even know who he swaps with, nor exactly when.

Some time yast year during a certain court trial, somebody took the Sheriff's fine Stetson hat from his office, and left in its stead an old hat that was fairly spent. The Sheriff's name was in his hat. He thought it was a mistake somebody made, and that his hat would come back in due time.

It did come back last Saturday. But the fellow who brought it back made another swap, and took with him another new Stetson which the Sheriff had recently bought. He left the same hat that was taken last year.

The new hat which was taken Saturday also has the name of Mr. Collins in it. He says if the man who took his hat will bring it back, he will know that it was simply an honest mistake. And if any person other than the man who took it, or a member of his family, will bring him his hat, he will pay a reward of $2.00.

ARMSTRONG MOVING SHOE SHOP THIS WEEK

Mr. I. D. Armstrong has moved the Clanton Shoe Shop to the new Popwell Building, next to W. Z. Hodges store, on main street.

In his new location Mr. Armstrong will be able to have a much improved arrangement for his business. In addition to his shoe repairing department, he will carry a stock of everything that goes with the shoe repair business.

The friends and patrons of this business are invited to take notice of the change of location, and the proprietor will be glad to have a visit from you at his new place.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH TO HAVE SERVICES NEXT SUN.

Church services will be held at the Clanton Presbytrian Church on next Sunday, January 12. Two services will be held, one at 11:00 a.m., and one at 5:00 p.m. Dr. G. S. Frazer will conduct the services. Dr. Frazer was for some years pastor of the Idlewild Presbyterian Church at Memphis, Tenn. During the 4 years of his pastorate there the membership increased from 1,000 to 1,500, and a church building costing $850,000.00 was built. We understand that Dr. Frazer is a very able man and that it is contemplated that while doing temporary supply work in the East Alabama Presbytery will give half time to the Clanton Presbyterian Church for the next few months. Everyone is cordially invited, especially to the 5:00 o'clock Vesper service.

CHILTON B. Y. P. U. TO MEET

The quarterly meeting of the Chilton Associatonal B. Y. P. U. will be held at Jemison Baptist church, January 12th, at 2 o'clock. Every B. Y. P. U. member is urged to attend, and everyone else is cordially invited. You will enjoy it and you will get some pointers for your union too.

Don't forget the place and time.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. H. BICE

On Thursday, December 26th at 11:30 a.m., the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Billingsley and took from their midst their beloved mother, Mrs. Harriett Bice, wife of the late Rev. I. Bice.

The remains were laid to rest in Shiloh cemetery Friday p.m.

Mrs. Bice had been in declining health for the last few years; she was 79 years of age. She suffered greatly for many months, but at last death came to her relief, and we can rest secure in the knowledge that she has only gone to reap her reward for her long life of service and devotion to her family and to her God.

She was born in Coosa County near Rockford in 1851. At an early age she united with the church and devoted the remainder of her life to the service of her Master. She was a true Christian and was loved by all who knew her.

She leaves behind her four children—Mrs. J. G. Billingsley, Thorsby; Mrs. S. G. Glenn of White City; J. I. Bice and Mrs. T. W. Billingsley both of Shiloh; also two stepchildren—Mrs. J. B. Gray of Mt. Creek and Mrs. W. F. Gray of Deatsville.

She had fourteen grand children and fourteen great grand children. She is the mother of the late Rev. Frank Bice.

We should try as much as possible to make our lives like hers, so that when death calls us we shall meet her in the Beautiful City where there is no more pain or sorrow.—Mrs. C. M. Billingsley.

J. E. Easterling For Tax Assessor

Mr. Johnnie Easterling, farmer, who lives in District 1, of Beat 4, in the Refuge community, has announced himself as a candidate for Tax Assessor of Chilton County, in the Republican primary to be held August 12, 1930.

This is the first splash for Mr. Easterling into the political waters. However, he is a well-known and well-liked young man. He is prominently identified with things in his community. Heretofore he has always taken a keen interest in political affairs, always being among the loyal and steadfast supporters of the Republican party.

In making his announcement, Mr. Easterling issues the following brief statement to the voters:

"At this time I wish to place before the voters of the Republican party of Chilton County my announcement as a candidate for Tax Assessor of Chilton County, in the coming primary of Auguse 12, 1930.

"I wish to say further that I will appreciate the votes and support of every person who can help me. As the campaign progresses, I shall see as nearly all the voters as I possibly can, and I hope you will reserve your pledge of support until I can get around to see you."

Mrs. Sanford Died Last Wednesday

Mrs. Mattie Jane Sanford, age 32, wife of Mr. Walter Sanford, died last Wednesday, January the first, at the family home in Clanton. She had been seriously ill for several months.

The body was carried to Isabella Thursday and buried by J. Mell Martin. The funeral was conducted by Rev. E. A. Childs.

Mrs. Sanford was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Mooney, of Mulberry community. She is survived by her husband and three small children.

Jones - Hasselman Wedding Announced

Mr. and Ms. Anthony Hasselman, of Dayton, Ohio, announce the marriage of their daughter, Ann Ross to Mr. L. Wallace Jones, of Birmingham, on December 21st, in Dayton, Ohio. Mrs. Jones was formerly connected with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, at Mansfield, Ohio. Mr. Jones, for a number of years, has been affiliated with Moore-Handley Hardware Company, of Birmingham. After March 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Jones will reside in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones were in Clanton this week on a visit to his mother, Mrs. Willie Philips Jones.

Verbena Baptist Pastor Resigns

At the morning service last Sunday at the Verbena Baptist Church, Rev. Arthur Deloach, who has been pastor for three years, tendered his resignation. Rev. Deloach has been living in Montgomery for the past several months and has been connected with the Highlands Ave. Baptist church, and it is understood that his work in Montgomery has caused him to leave the Verbena church.

Rev. Deloach has made hosts of friends in Verbena as well as in other sections of the county. Besides having taught in the Verbena high school three years, Rev. Deloach has been active in B. Y. P. U. and Sunday school work of his association, which has carried him to all parts of Chilton County. He preached at the summer revival at Friendship church in 1927.

We regret to learn that Rev. Deloach is to leave Chilton County, but at the same time we are more than pleased to see him rise higher and higher in his lofty calling of preaching the gospel of the Nazarene.

Get One Of These Almanacs

Mr. J. N. Dennis has a number of Armours Farm Almanacs for 1930 which he will distribute as long as they last. Upon looking over this little book, we are convinced that it is a most valuable piece of literature for the farmer. Besides having the usual Almanac information, it contains some most worthy articles written by farm experts and specialist on different subjects of interest to farmers.

If you want a copy of this book, you can get it by applying to Mr. Dennis.

Mr. O. J. Eiland of Montgomery was in Clanton last Friday attending Justice court.

Maplesville Citizens Hold Meeting

A meeting of the citizens of Maplesville and Stanton was held at the office of Dr. H. M. Nix Monday night for the purpose of appointing a committee to confer with the Federal Bureau, Washington, D. C., and present claim for the location of The Veterans Hospital for the State of Alabama to be located near Maplesville or Stanton. The following committee was appointed: Mr. C. E. Cagle, Chairman, J. P. Payne, Dr. C. N. Parnell, E. L. Stringfellow, Dr. H. M. Nix. The committee and the citizens of this section think, without any equivocation they have the best location for the Veterans Hospital that can be found in the State, being geographically located in the center portion of the State, and at the intersection of two trunk lines of rail roads, the Mobile and Ohio, and the Southern Railroad, and No. 22 state highway, and on the federal highway from Tuscaloosa to Montgomery, which is under construction. A healthy locality, abundance of pure water. Anyone in this section having a prospective site to offer may confer with Mr. Cagle or Dr. H. M. Nix. Several are already available.—W. E. Northrup, Secy.

Edward Eiland Hurt By Engine

Edward Eiland, second son of the late Jake Eiland, of Montgomery, was injured last Sunday morning while on duty at his job as call boy in the L. & N. yards at Montgomery.

A switch engine struck the young man as he was walking along the tracks. He was thrown under the wheels when his left foot was crushed so badly it had to be amputated. His right foot was also hurt, but not so bad as the left.

Edward is about 20 years old and lives with his mother, Mrs. Sallie Eiland, in Montgomery. His father, Jake Eiland, died a few years ago. Before going to Montgomery the family lived near Clanton. Edward was here during Christmas visiting the family of his aunt, Mrs. M. D. Foshee.

Dr. Marcus Moving His Office

Dr. T. J. Marcus is this week moving his offices from the Gore Building on the corner of Second Avenue and Sixth Street to the Hayes Building over Lowci's Preessing Shop on Seventh Street between First and Second Avenues.

Omar Reynolds is taking over the former Dr. Marcus office space and in the future will use it for his law offices, thereby occupping the whole upper floor of the Gore Building.

Chilton High Tied With Thompson

The Chilton County High School basket ball quintet took on the Thompson High from Siluria last Monday night, the game resulting in a tie, 10 and 10. The game was a good one throughout, as denoted by the score. The low scoring also shows the tight defense put up by both teams, as well as showing that both could stand quite a bit of practice in finding hoops.

Coach Green has a good looking bunch to put on the court this time, and with a bit more "shooting" practice they may be expected to make somebody sit up and take notice. Chilton's team Monday night consisted of Simms, Melton, Cox, Robinson and Johnston. Only one substitution was made.

Taylor Wholesale Grocery Company

Since Tom and Roland Taylor have bought the interest of Hosea Downs in the Downs Grocery Company, the name of the business will be changed to the Taylor Wholesale Grocery Company. Location of the business will continue at the same place as before.

Lee Smith Elected To Town Council

At a regular meeting of the Town Council Tuesday night, Mr. J. Lee Smith was elected to membership on the Council, to fill the place of Mr. W. T. Baker, who recently moved to Texas.

Mr. Smith is a prominent wholesale merchant of Clanton. He is in such intimate touch with all the interests of the city and communty as to make him a very valuable member of the town's governing body.

1930 HIGHWAY PROGRAM CUT TO $3,000,000

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 31. Construction program of the state highway department will be curtailed considerably next year by lack of funds.

Col. Woolsey Finnell, highway director, has announced that only about $3,000,000 will be avialable for new work in 1930 as compard with more than $11,000,000 spent in 1929.

Nearly all of the proceeds from the last bond isssue, he said, have been obligated by contracts and only a small amount will be available. Approximately $6,000,000 in uncompletly contracts, he added, will be carried over by the department into 1930.

However, the state bridge corporation will go forward with its bridge porgram, Col. Finnell said. An extoll bridgeodar dolnrrad rortdth rol penditure of $2,000,000 in completing toll bridges now under construction is contemplated. The corporation spent $2,500,000 in 1929.

In addition to new construction, the department spent $1,650,000 in maintenance of the state system during the year just ending, Col. Finnell stated.

At present, the department has completed or has under construction:

Grading and draining, 830 miles.

Temporary surface such as sandclay, gravel or chirt, 2,547 miles.

Hard surfaced, 775 miles.

MANY ARE STARTING OFF THE NEW YEAR JUST RIGHT

A great many people of Chilton County have already done much toward starting off the year, 1930, right—they have enlisted with the already large number who are enthusiastic readers of The Union-Banner. Since the first of this year the following have either subscribed new or renewed their paper:

Mule Killed South of Clanton

A fine mule, property of Mr. Jimmie Jones of Jackson Chapel community was killed about five o'clock last Monday morning about a mile south of Clanton on the paved highway. Mr. Jones bought the mule in Montgomery one day last week and drove it to his home near Clanton. It is supposed that the mule had gotten loose in some way and was making his way back to Montgomery. About a mile south of Clanton a Hupmobile automobile, said to be driven by a Birmingham woman, hit the mule, killing him almost instantly. We could not get the name of the driver of the car.

"GO SLOW, MARY" TO BE PRESENTED AT CONCORD

The pupils and teachers of Vermont Junior High School, will prdsent a play at Concord Junior High School, east of Clanton, Saturday night, January 11, 1930, at 7:30.

Admission 15c and 25c. Both schools will share the proceeds.

Everyone will enjoy the play. So don't miss the fun.—Hixie Mae Golden.

One means of preventing colds is to build up a resistance against them by a diet which includes foods rich in vitamin A, such as milk, cream, butter, cheese, leafy vegetables, eggs and cod liver oil.

SCHOOL PEOPLE URGE PAYMENT OF POLL TAXES

Concerted Effort Will Be Made From Now To February 1st

Plans for a concerted effort of school leaders to have the voters of Alabama pay their poll taxes before February 1 were laid at a recent meeting of a committe appointed for that purpose by certain groups of the Alabama Education Association. Educational forces of the state are concerned in the payment of the poll tax because it is a measure of good citizenship, and because receipts from this source swell the revenue for schools. According to the law all poll tax receipts must be spent to improve the schools of the county in which the tax is paid. Members of the committee point out the fact that such receipts are particularly needed in the counties that do not participate in the equalization fund. Even in counties that receive aid from this source they explain that the poll tax seceipts release certain other monies that may be used to swell the equalization fund.

The committee on poll tax payment is urging women voters as well as men to pay the tax before February 1. It is the belief of the members of this committee that many women in Alabama are not using their suffrage privilege. They are suggesting, therefore, that members of women's clubs, parent-teacher associations, and other organizations of special interest to women stress the payment of the poll tax in their respective communities. Similar plans will be followed in reaching large groups of men.

The members composing the committee on poll tax payments are: H. G. Dowling, Tuscaloosa and G. M. Barnett, LaFayette, representing the county superintendents of the state; C. C. Moseley, Dothan, and W. R. Harrison, Montgomery, representing the city superintendents; Dr. J. M. Mills, Ozark, president of the Alabama association of County Board members; A. F. Harmon, state superintendent of education; and Frank L. Grove, secretary of the Alabama Educational Association.

CLANTON QUINTET NOSES OUT WETUMPKA

The Chilton County High Cagers defeated the fast Wetumpka five on the opponents floor at Wetumpka, Friday night, January 3, by a score of 13 to 10. This marks the third straight victory for the locals.

The opponents scored early in the game, but the locals threatened continuously giving the opponents no chance to advance the lead more than three points.

The game was a hard fought one from the beginning to the end. Paul Cox, the local's captain, proved a real threat, often getting away. Rufus Brown, forward and Harvey Melton, center, were the contributors to Clanton's 13 points. Benson Simms and Robinson turned in an exceptionally good defensive game. While Ralph Johnston played a good game, counting 2 points while in the game.

The locals are rapidly rounding into form. Coach Green is whipping into a unit the varsity quintet which is to represent the High School during the coming season. The boys are showing signs of developing into a fast and sharp-shooting bunch.

STUDENTS BUSY AGAIN WITH WORK AT AUBURN

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 6—Class work is again under way at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute after more than two weeks of Christmas holidays which students spent at home with their parents and friends. Students returned January 3, and immediately buckled down to hard work after their vacation, as only 15 dadys remained before first-term examinations begin Januarry 23.

That the 1929-30 session gives promise of being the best in the history of the institution was an opinion expressed by Dr. Bradford Knapp, president, as college reopened. He mentioned the increased enrollmnt, splendid interest taken by students in their classes, and the enlargement of the physical plant as evidence supporting this opinion.

REPORT OF COUNTY TREASURER WILL BE NEXT WEEK

There has been filed with The Union-Banner by Mrs. Gertrude P. Calloway, treasurer of Chilton County, her certified report of the financial receipts and expenditures of the county for the last half of 1929. This report will appear in full in next week's issue of The Union-Banner.

WEST CHILTON

After the passing of the holidays and ushering in of the new year every thing seems to be about normal again.

Now we have the "Man on the Corner," a welcome feature in the Columns of the Banner.

We learn that Anut Tinsy Smith is very low. Mrs. Smith is a very old lady, and has been confined to her bed for some years. She lives with her son near the line of Bibb.

John S. Waldrop has added a new feature to his line of business, in the form of a rest room and resturant. It looks very attractive

We learn that Mr. Grundy Merchant, postmaster at Randolph, will convert the front part of the old W. H. Mahan Store house into a Post office and store building. Mr. Merchant has been keeping the post office in one of the buildings on the lot that once belonged to the Farmers Alliance.

Rabie Crumpton has moved to the H. H. Armstrong farm.

This section was very much shocked to learn that Mrs. Henrietta Nix at Jemison died Thursday afternoon. She was sick for a few days when pneumonia set up, which proved fatal. Her remains were brought to Macedonia Friday afternoon and buried. The funeral was conducted by Rev. R. M. Honeycutt.

Mrs. Nix lived to old age, nearly all her life was spent in this community, where she was loved and respected by all. She was a noble lady.

She was the wife of the late E. Z. Nix, a daughter of D. H. Davenport. She is survived by two sons, Grady and Floyd, and one daughter, Mrs. C. G. Glass at Jemison, and one daughter, Mrs. Abner Ross in Florida. She was baptized about 1885 by Rev. A. E. Burris.

Thus our friends are going; but the bow of hope spans the grave. Deliverance draws nearer day by day.

UNION GROVE

The United Singing Society will meet at this place next Sunday p. m, January, 12 at 2 O'clock, and will meet at Jemison on Thursday night Jan, 9. Every body invited. We will also have preaching at Union Grove on Saturday night; Sunday school at 10 o'clock, preaching at 11:00; singing at 2:00 o'clock, B. Y. P. D. at 6:30, and preaching again at 7 on Sunday night.

MINERAL SPRINGS

Rev. Malcolm Lockhart preached here Saturday night and Sunday.

Our Sunday school is fairly good and is improving.

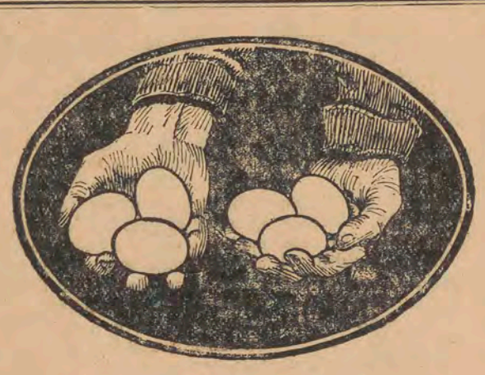
Last Sunday afternoon was our regular singing time, and the United Singing Society met with us. The house was called to order at 2 o'clock by the president, Mr. Akins Collins, who sang the opening song. Prayer was offered by Mr. J. P. Bean. The following directors sung from one to four songs each: Arch Glasscock, E. L. Glasscock, Rev. M. Lockhart, John Miner, Mr. Powell, H. H. Hayes, W. L. Sanders

The organists were Mrs. Akins Collins, Miss Genie Collins, Mrs. Belle Dorminey.

The crowd was large and all in time for the singing. It was fine and it seemed that everyone enjoyed it. We hope everybody felt welcome, for we try to make everybody feel that way.

We invite each and everyone to come back on our next regular singing evening, though I feel like we will have more visitors by the next singing, for I think there will be several candidates out by that time, and you know they are mighty loving people and they like to be in large crowds; so we invite them to come along and be with us.

Wishing good luck to The Union-Banner.—M. Gore, Sec'y.



A negro woman walked into an insurance office and asked whether they dealt in fire insurance.

"We do," a clerk replied. "What do you want insured?"

"Mah husband."

"Then you don't want fire insurance," smiled the clerk, as he reached for another application form. What you want is a life insurance policy."

"No, Ah don't," exclaimed the woman, "Ah wants fire insurance. Mah husband's been fired fo' times in de last two weeks."

Bro. Bryan's Weekly Message

(Written for The Union-Banner by REV. J. A. BRYAN, Pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, Alabama)

CROSSING OVER THE JORDAN

We are standing on the western bank of the Jordan an August morning. The waters look like black ink, a little muddy, coffee colored. As we stand there we look out at a number of places of both Old and New Testament history. We look up to the top of Mt. Pisgah of which the poet there writes "Nebo's lonely mount." It was there Moses resorted to pray and died and his soul went to heaven and God buried him.

We look over to the land of Moab, the home of the lovely character who is called Ruth. She was a beautiful, devoted woman and wife who there at one time in her life made the decision which meant everything to her, a decision which every woman should make, when she turned and looked her mother-in-law, Naomi, in the face and said, "Thy God shall be my God; and thy people my people."

Then we look over the eastern side of the Jordan and see the mountains of Gilead, the home of Elijah, the man who trusted God and was fed by ravens from heaven. Have you ever been fed by ravens from heaven? I have these many years. God has graciously supplied all my needs according to his riches in glory in Christ Jesus

We see the memorable plain of Shittim, the encamping place of the Israelites after many years of wandering in the wilderness. If you have wandered during the year 1929 will you please pause at Shittim and listen for God to speak to you? Moses was to lead the Israelites into the promised land, but God had called him to his heavenly reward and placed Joshua, who was born in a brick yard in Egypt to capture with the Israelites the land of Canaan for God and right and truth.

But before they go over the Jordan God has something to tell them through his servant, Joshua, who is spoken of simply and honestly as the son of Nun, and as Moses' minister. No doubt these two heroes of Christ had spent many hours and days together in prayer. I, of you and I would do that before the ringing out of the old and in of the new, the false into the true.

We are on the most sacred of all rivers. The word Jordan means a descender. But I am just telling my experiences there as true to a truse given me by God through my friends. As Joshua stood there perplexed, yet trusting God, God said to him, "Fear not, for there shall be no man before thee. As I was with Moses so will I be with thee. I will not fail thee nor forsake thee." God says to us as we stand looking forward to the approaching year as he did to Joshua, "Fear not, for I will go with thee. I will not fail thee nor forsake thee."

God said to the Israelites, "Now you must sanctify yourselves." So there on the plain of Shittim which is about thirty or maybe forty acres occured one of the greatest events in all history, in the revelation to his children the manner in which they might cross over into the promised land. O my friends, I want to bring God's call before your mind's eye and heart's realization today as you stand before the coming year. Get ready for the new and untried by taking Christ with you. God said to Joshua, "Get the people ready, have them get their hearts right." Then he turned and said, "You have not passed this way before."

O how God speaks to you and me in the silence this morning and says, "Get ready, let me cleanse your hearts for the new year. You have not passed this way before." The Jordan had overflowed its banks as a result of Hermon's snows which had melted and flowed down into Lake Merom on down by the great Jordan and at this memorable crossing it was at high flood. Certainly they could not cross over without God's help. Without God we can do nothing. You and I cannot cross over into the new year without being linked to God.

I saw this morning when I was in the Holy Land, when the priests came down there at the water's edge carrying the ark of the covenant it was not their footsteps nor the ark of the covenant which caused the waters to divide. It was their union with God in the task before them. The ark and their going forward were only representations of God in their viles. There was not a battoe nor boat of any description. They just went forward in the name of the Lord, in obedience to his command. When I was there I saw a poor old Arab with his poor half-naked family cros over in a battoe boat. O dear Lord, I cannot cross over into the new year unles you go with me.

The next event of this place was the dipping of Naaman the Syrian, who was told by Elisha God's servant to dip seven times for a cleansing of leprosy. Naaman, after persuasion on the part of his servant, went down and dipped seven times in those ink colered waters and his flesh became like unto the flesh of a child. Another event there was the dividing of the waters for Elijah when he cast forth his cloak. There was nothing in the cloak nor the performance of Elijah except the fact that his life was linked with God.

Crossing over into the new year I beg God to help you and me to fight for Christ in the days before us as we have never done before. O God help us to walk quietly and calmly these closing years. Few and evil have been the days of my pilgrimage. We spend our years as a tale that is told. You look to the southwest and see the wilderness of Judea, and up just a little farther is Mount Quarantinia where Jesus was led by the spirit and tempted of the devil. O how we are tempted, and we are being led into the new year full of temptations. It brings to us a realization that life is not a vision, not a painting, not a poem, but it is real.

I see Joshua after he has crossed over the Jordan looking upon a wicked, idolatrous city occupied by the Jebusites, the Hittites, and the Amakelites.. It is Jericho, the fortress of entry into, and capture of the land of Canaan. He realizes a great task is before him. Presently he sees someone standing beside him. It is the angel, the messenger of the covenant, but Joshua does not know it. He turns and says: "Are you for us or for our adversaries in this great fight? O my friends, are you for us in this great fight for Jesus Christ? The messenger of the covenant who was Jesus Christ, who was with the Heavenly Father in the creation of the world, said unto him, "As captain of the hosts of the Lord I am come." Then he again gives Joshua the minutest direction how to capture the city.

I hear the noise of riotous music, drinking and swearing and cursing. I see extravagantly clad people dancing and carousing to their heart's content. I hear the clatter of the wine glasses and the beating of drums. I see the poor outcast and turned away from homes of means without a bite to eat or a warm garb in which to face the gale. But Joshua goes forth to fight them without a trained army or a weapon of warfare except the rams' horn and pitchers. O how the people in Jericho scorn such an approach in the most awful ridicule they can think of. But God with whom nothing is impossible was with Joshua as he obeyed his command: "Shout, for the Lord hath given us the city." Let us, upon entering the new year take Christ with us and obey what he tells us to do, and by so doing the victory will be ours.

MADDOXES THANK CHILDREN

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to express our thanks for the kindness shown us during Christmas. We especially thank our two sons, Bennie Maddox of Pelham and Johnnie Maddox of Calera for the nice box of fruit. Also thank our oldest daughter, Dora Collins, of Thorsby, for the nice box of cakes and other edibles.

We would not overlook thanking our grand daughter, Mrs. Estell Martin of Shelby County, for her kindness shown us for the past three years, for the nice cakes she has cooked and brought us. May the Lord be with you for your kindness.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Maddox.

"Eliza," said a friend of the family to the old colored washerwoman, "have you seen Miss Edith's fiance?"

Eliza pondered for a moment, then bent over the laundry tubs once more. "No, Ma'am," she said, "it ain't been in the wash yet."

PAINFUL INDIGESTION

"I SUFFERED from indigestion — everything I ate gave me heartburn," says Mrs. Mattie Mullins, of Pound, Va.

"For months, I did not see a well day. I worried along, but never felt well.

"I got a package of Thedford's Black-Draught at the store and began taking it—a dose every night before going to bed. I had been having an awful pain. After I had taken Black-Draught, this pain entirely stopped. I began to gain in weight, and rested well at night. In a few months I was feeling fine. My health was better than it had been in years.

"I keep Black-Draught in our home, and we all take it for constipation and upset stomach."

Childbirth

"Mother's Friend relieved me of the strain and the pain that came from the stretching of the skin and tissues," writes a young mother. "I did not suffer as I have heard other women say they did. My doctor recommended Mother's Friend to me."

Countless thousands of expectant mothers have had the same experience with "Mother's Friend." Naturally, mothers have recommended it to their daughters.

"Mother's Friend" is a scientifically-prepared skin lubricant and pain-reliever. It originated in the prescription of an eminent obstetrician, and has been in use for 60 years.

You owe yourself the comfort "Mother's Friend" gives. It is so soothing and relaxing! It is used externally only—gently rubbed into the skin. Brings relief promptly. Very valuable in keeping the breasts in good condition. Also puts you in fine shape for the approaching ordeal.

CHEVROLET

Today

- Chevrolet announces

THE GREATEST CHEVROLET
IN CHEVROLET HISTORY

Today, Chevrolet presents the Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History—a smoother, faster, better Six—with beautiful new bodies by Fisher.

Basically, it is the same sturdy, substantial Six which won such tremendous popularity in 1929. But it is a greater car in every way—for there are scores of vital improvements which contribute to comfort, performance, endurance and safety!

An improved six-cylinder valve-in-head motor, with its capacity increased to 50 horsepower; four Delco-Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers; fully-enclosed internal-expanding weather-proof brakes; a new dash gasoline gauge; heavier and stronger rear axle; new Fisher non-glare windshield; larger tires—

—these are typical of the many improvements which make this car the Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History.

But most impressive of all—this smoother, faster, better Six has been made available—

-at greatly reduced prices!

During 1929, more than a million three hundred thousand persons bought six-cylinder Chevrolets. This enormous volume has made possible many savings in the Chevrolet factories—and, in keeping with its long-established policy, Chevrolet is sharing these savings with the public. No written description can do justice to the extra value and quality provided in this new car. Visit your Chevrolet dealer—see this car—ride in it—and judge for yourself its sensational value.

ALABAMA FARM POCKETBOOK BULGES

Farm pocketbooks in Alabama are bulging better than ever, especially since the cotton is worth ten millions more than last year, according to a report issued by F. W. Gist, federal and state statistician, with the Alabama Department of Agriculture. The following features are gleaned from this interesting and valuable report:

"Alabama farmers raised 7,530,000 acres of crops in 1929, compared with 7,423,000 in 1928. This increase amounts to 107,000 acres."

"Cotton leads with a crop of lint and seed worth about 129 million dollars. The other 16 crops for which estimates and values are made are for the most part worth more than in 1928. This record looks much better than early in the harvest season when prospects were not so good."

The satsuma crop, worth about a half million dollars, is about 4 times more valuable than 1928, although other fruits are markedly reduced in value. Apples, peaches, and pecans were all markedly less in value.

Increases in crop yields per acre were noted in the case of cotton, corn, oats, both kinds of potatoes, cowpeas, and sugarcane sirup. Decreased acre yields were reported in peanuts, sorghum, sirup, and soybeans. In the case of peanuts, there was an increase of acreage in 1929, but decrease in yield and many fields were lost on account of wet weather.

Alabama produced a million bushels more of sweet potatoes this year. There was more sugarcane sirup, but less sorghum. There will be enough for farm needs and some to sell.

The Alabama oat crop was nearly double that of last year. Aside from the value of the crop, this shows a decided advance in growing winter crops, a sign of progressive farming, and a needed addition to feed crops.

Alabama made peanuts at the rate of 2 bushels and 2 gallons for each of its inhabitants in 1929. This is at the rate of a pound for every person in the United States. Have you had your share? If not, the baseball season will open before many months.

Alabama exceeded last year's corn crop by 7 million bushels. In north Alabama, the yield was cut by drought, elsewhere the crop was above the average yield. There is barely enough for state use unless carefully saved.

EARLY PROFITS MAY BE GOTTEN FROM SLASH PINE

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 6—Slash pine is one of the most desirable and valuable trees in Alabama in spite of its name, says the Alabama Commission of Forestry. When it reproduces itself or is planted thickly, thinnings may be made when the trees are from ten to fifteen years old. These thinning usually should include only every other tree and, when properly utilized, they yield turpentine, rosin, paper wood, posts, or small poles. When the trees are twenty-five or thirty years of age another thinning may be made which will yield crossties, piling, poles and lumber in addition to the products already mentioned.

The final cutting may be made when the trees are from thirty-five to sixty years old and will yield a large amount of high grade saw timber which is just as much in demand as the famous long-leaf pine. In fact, slash and long-leaf pine lumber, piling, poles and timbers are not separated, but go on the market as southern yellow pine and command the same prices.

Slash pine grows very rapidly in wet places but will do well on dry sandy soil. It is one of the best trees for forest planting, and gives the landowner quick returns on his invesement.

The State Commission of Forestry has a large number of slash pine seedlings available for forest planting. These trees may be had at low cost by application to the State Commission of Forestry at Montgomery. Application should be sent in promptly since the supply is rapidly diminishing.

Starting with 16 reindeer in 1891, Alaska today has more than 1,000,000 of these animals, which furnish food, clothing and transportation. The original shipment came from Siberia across a thousand miles of sea, reindeer were unknown in Alaska at that time. They have revolutionized the lives of Alaskans, giving them an industry which forms a permanent link with the outside world.

County Farm Agent's Notes

CO-OP BUSINESS INCREASED IN 1929

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 6—Co-operation among Alabama farmers continued to increase during 1929 and statistics compiled in the Alabama Farm Bureau office show that they bought and sold co-operatively $5,791,000.00 of material and products through the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association and borrowed approximately $400,000.00 from the Alabama Farm Bureau Credit Corporation says Edward A. O'Neal, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau.

A. N. Culver, secretary-treasurer of the Mutual Supply Association reports that fertilizer material, mixed feeds, hairy vetch, Austrian winter peas, cotton seed, explosives, fruit trees, shrubbery, grain drills, innoculation materials, soy beans, spray materials, tankage, drain tile, windmills, calcium arsenate, dusting machines, oats and various other grains are some of the materials which farmers purchased co-operatively. They marketed poultry, turkeys, hogs, cattle, lambs, wool, cotton and other miscellaneous products.

During the past harvest season Alabama farmers have pooled 88,523 bales of cotton with the Cotton Association and are still pooling several hundred bales each day, says Allen Northington, general manager. Reviewing the work of the Association prior to 1929, Mr. O'Neal said that the Cotton Association had handled 557,204 bales of cotton worth approximately $55,000,000.00.

N. Eric Bell, general manager of the Credit Corporation, reported a business of approximately $400,000.00 during 1929. Mr. Bell said that, "This finance coporation is a great factor in our agricultural production and marketing, enabling the farmer to control his own credit, produce on a safe basis, and market the same way. We form a program for our borrower on a scientific and economical basis. We are trying to encourage diversification by making loans on beef cattle, poultry and eggs in storage, as well as cotton, and for production purposes."

Another outstanding work of the farm bureau is the issuance of 5,700 life insurance policies during the last two months of 1929. It is at present issuing policies to each one who becomes a member of the organization. Several hundred are being issued each week.

CO-OP POULTRY SALE IS HIGH

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 6—Poultry sales, including turkeys sold at Christmas and Thanksgiving time, returned $475,223.20 to farmers of 53 counties in Alabama in 1929, J. B. Sylvest, marketing expert of the Alabama farm extension service reports, says the Associated Press.

The report stated that 42,000 farmers of the state participated in the co-operative sales conducted by the extension service in co-operation with the farm bureau with the poultry season, held during the first six months of the year, showing unusual expansion. During the year, Sylvest reported, poultry cars were run on schedule in 42 counties with the producers selling their poultry at the car doors. One hundred carloads of live poultry were shipped, weighing a total of 1,391,042 pounds and returning $553,888.20 to 35,000 farmers.

"The good that this work has done," Sylvest stated, "can hardly be estimated due to the far reaching influence it has had on improving the quality of the poultry, increasing flocks and better care. However, in the monetary sense of the word, a careful check through the entire season indicated a saving of six cents a pound, amounting to $83,462.52."

During the current season Sylvest said 35 cars were loaded in 17 counties for Thanksgiving and Christmas sales. These cars weighed 475,000 pounds for which 7,000 farmers were paid $121,335.

My Favorite Stories by Irvin S. Cobb

Appertaining to a Couple of Shipwrecks

ONE of the oldest stories in the world and deservedly, I think, one of the most popular, has to do with a shipwreck. Two hardy mariners escape from a sinking craft on an improvised raft. So far as they know, they are the only survivors of the crew. They are in perilous plight. The angry waves threaten to engulf their flimsy raft and a pair of huge triangular fins, circling in the water, give proof that at least a brace of hungry sharks are waiting for dinner to be served.

Says one:

"It looks to me like we're in the middle of a mighty bad fix. Do you know a prayer?"

His drenched companion shakes a forlorn head.

"Well, can you remember a hymn? Maybe it would help if we sang a hymn tune."

"Well," states Number One, "we certainly ought to be doing something religious. Let's pass the hat!"

I can parallel this with a small experience out of real life. A friend of mine, formerly active in politics in the South, was on his way to a settlement up in the mountains of Virginia to fill a speaking engagement. He left the railroad station at the end of the line. From this point he had to depend on horse power to get him over the knobs. He hired a native who owned a buckboard and team to carry him on the last lap of his journey.

As they rode along it developed that his guide was an itinerant Methodist preacher, and, naturally, of an exceedingly religious turn of mind. When, by questioning, he discovered that the visiting campaigner belonged to no recognized faith he was greatly shocked and said as much.

Presently they came to where they must cross a mountain stream. There had been a freshet up above somewhere and the stream was out of its banks. They were midway of the ford when a small tidal wave came rolling down on them. The rig was caught and swept down the current to catch, finally, on an upjutting bowlder in the middle of the channel. There it hung temporarily.

The struggling team snapped the harness and were swept away. White as a sheet, the native cast a rolling eye upon the raging torrent. It was a good hundred yards to either shore. He turned his haggard face to his traveling companion.

"My friend," he quoth in quavering accents, "can you pray?"

"No," stated the politician, as he prepared to go overboard, "but it so happens I can swim fairly well."

50-GALLON STILL DESTROYED NEAR CALERA WEDNESDAY

Wednesday morning the Sheriff's force destroyed a 50-gallon liquor still about seven miles southwest of Calera, near what is known as the Providence community. No one appeared at the still, and so no arrests were made. After waiting for some time the officers destroyed the still, and four barrels of beer and a gallon of whiskey found nearby.

Semester Examinations In Full Progress now

If anyone should question the earnestness in which most pupils in Chilton County High School entered into the review of the work for semester examinations since school began after the Christmas holidays, we invite them to visit the various rooms and observe things in operation. We feel the importance of a higher quality of work has been made manifest, and that each one really wants to earn his half unit of credit

The regular semster examinations began Wednesday morning, and will continue through Friday. We very urgently request that every one take these examinations. Of course, if a pupil should be ill, he will be given a chance to take them when he is able to return to school. We plan to publish the percentage of the various classes that pass in next week's paper.

The next semester will begin January 13, at which time incidental fees will be due again. Please send the $5.00 by your pupils Monday morning, and let's straighten out our indebtedness. The roof of the building is in bad shape, and will take quite a bit to put it in proper repair.

Wayne P. Sewell's Dixie Blackbirds here January 24.

We have a regulation that all pupils whose deportment is good, who have attended school every day, and whose scholarship averages ninety per cent, do not have to write the semester examinations. We are glad to announce that the following are exempted: Junior I Social Studies; Ruth Jones, Helen Roberts and Rossell Gentry. Junior I English; Ruth Jones, Helen Roberts. A SURPRISE PARTY

On the past Saturday evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Pinson was thrown opened to their many friends. They gave a pounding for Rev. Nichols, their pastor.

The guests were met at the door by Mr. Pinson and invited in. The older people were entertained by the radio, the younger ones by playing the Victrola and games.

Hot cocoa and cakes was served during the evening.

When the guests had arrived with their groceries they brought them and placed them upon a table. They tied a note telling Rev. Nichols of the things given him to the table and unwound it around his many friends and gave him the end to wind up. He did not want it to begin with. As he would go along he would wonder where it was carrying him to. As he came up to the groceries he was astonished and asked himself whether he was worthy or not.

They all enjoyed themselves and returned home proud of what they had done, and the appreciation shown for what they had given.—Mrs. Jannie Moore.

On February 3, Frank McCoy, negro, will be tried in Circuit Court at Bay Minette on a charge of attacking a white woman near Stapleton, Ala.

The Bessemer Lions' Club voted to go after the proposed United States Veterans' Hospital for the Bessemer district at a recent luncheon meeting.

Miss Vera Frances Pruitt and James Orr have been declared the two best students in the Opelika High School and each has been given a gold watch.

Four Elmore County prisoners were at liberty following a daring break in which seven prisoners went over the wall at the county jail at Wetmupka.

Three men were injured, one of them seriously, when a small boiler of a crane in operation in the Fairfield Plant yard of the T. C. I. Company exploded.

Gas rates in Bessemer after January 1 will be reduced, a new schedule having been accepted by city officials providing for a reduction of nearly 40 per cent.

Prof. P. K. Platts, member of the faculty of the Florence State Teachers College, has been declared "Champion Prevaricator" of the Florence Civitan Club, in that organization's "Lyin' Contest," held at the weekly meeting in Hotel Reeder.

The annual report of vocational farm work at Gorgas High School shows that 29 boys and 19 men, taught by H. E. Cooke, completed 47 individual projects yielding a gross return of $10,202.70 and a net profit of $4,614.59.

Allison Alford, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Alford, of Dothan, has received notification that he has been awarded third prize in a contest sponsored by the National Highway Education Board at Washington, D. C. The youth will receive a medal and $5 in gold as a reward.

LOSS ROBINSON NO LONGER ON CLANTON POLICE FORCE

Night policean Loss Robnson turned in his resignaton to the Town Council, and his services with the city were terminated Tuesday morning. No one has been selected to take his place yet. At present Mr. Milton Smith is acting as night policeman, while Earle Gore is looking after the duties of Mr. Smith as superintendent of the city water works system.

There is little more money or satisfaction in milking a cow which returns only a dollar's worth of milk for a dollar's worth of fed. However, some farmers do this and never know it, because they do not keep records.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank James will be in Birmingham Tuesday and Wednesday of next week attending a convention of sign contractors.

Frank James and Rev. S. J. Ezell went to Birmingham Wednesday.

Candy Eating Champion of Clanton Found

In this day and time, any sport, vocation or the like is not considered complete without a recognized champion in that particular line. We haven't heard of a candy eating champion being crowned yet, but so far as the Union-Banner force is concerned, that honor rightfully belongs to a rat.

Tuesday afternoon the Union-Banner force decided to satisfy a sweet tooth, so bought a 5-pound box of chcocolates to do it with. Everybody being satisfied for the time after about a pound had been eaten, the other four pounds were shut up in the box again and placed away for future reference. During the night, however, a rat gnawed through the box and made a clean shucking of the candy. That rat must have made a New Year's resolution to do his work well, too, for he left not even one piece.

The force, deciding that a rat couldn't possibly eat that much candy, began a search for it. One storage place was found, where the rodent had stored about half a pound of the candy along with a general assortment of apples, sugar cane, "Tom's" peanuts, nuts of all kinds, and the like.

Friday night the big rat carried into his quarters a quart of fine fresh hog chitterlings and a pound of souse which was unintentionally left in the shop. So when the "force" found this out Saturday morning, they began to move tables, type cases, paper and the like, and after a thirty minute chase all over the shop, the monster rat had to give up in defeat. He was certainly in fine order too. Bet he would have made excellent stew—that is if he hadn't been bruised up so, after getting so many licks.

Pershing Declines To Run For Senate

Washington, Jan. 7.—John J. Pershing Tuesday announced that he would not seek to enter the Senate from Nebraska.

In a telegram to his supporters in Nebraska, Gen. Pershing said he never had and did not now seek public office, and that while he regarded the senatorship as an honor, his decision was final.

"Confirming what I said in our telephone conversation Monday," he wired. "I do not desire nor have I desired at any time to seek public office. While it would be a distinct honor for any man to represent the great State of Nebraska in the United States Senate, my decision must be regarded as final. Will you please advise my good friends in Nebraska to this effect?"

Gen. Pershing's telegram was addressed to Mark Woods, of Lincoln, Neb., who recently started a movement in favor of the general for next year's senatorial race for the seat now held by Senator Norris.

DOUGHNUTS

Doughnuts can be quickly and easily made at home. So easy is it to make doughnuts today that the doughnut jar should never be empty.

By using self-rising flour for making the doughnuts we can save considerable time in the mixing process and our doughnuts are always the same. The leavening or baking powder, and the seasoning and the salt have been combined in the proper proportions and have been mechanically mixed.

Doughnuts.

1 egg
½ cup milk
½ tsp. nutmeg
⅔ cup sugar
3 cups self-rising flour
1 tsp. vanilla

Beat the egg with the sugar; add the milk, flour, nutmeg and vanilla. The dough should be as soft as can be handled. Roll ¼ inch thick; cut with a doughnut cutter, and fry to a delicate brown in deep fat. The fat should be hot enough to brown a cube of bread in 1 minute. Drain on unglazed paper, and dust with confectioner's sugar.

Mr. Robert W. Evans of Birmingham visited his mother, Mrs. J. E. Evans, several days this week.

The amount of feed eaten is a good guide to the production of pullets. If they fall off in feed consumption a slump in egg yield may be expected.

LOST—One black and tan hound dog, average size. White tip on end of tail, white toes on front feet, answers to name, King. Went astray about five weeks ago. Reward worth while for any information.—C. D. Wells, Clanton, Ala. 1-9-1tch

FOR SALE—1 10-Horse Fairbanks Morse engine, runs on kerosene oil. The best one I ever saw. Together with a small feed crusher, ready to belt up and go. Reason for selling, have no use for it. Will sell seperate. Will trade for cattle or good mule.—B. F. Higgins. 1-9-1tpd.

Dr. A. A. Conway of Jemison was a visitor to Clanton Monday. He is advertising a saw mill outfit that belongs to the estate of the late T. J. Dorminey. Anyone interested in a good outfit would do well to see him or Uncle Jimmie Dorminey at Union Grove. This one is going at a bargain.

NINE-TENTHS PREVENTABLE

Nine-tenths of all the diseases of the American people can be traced directly to constipation, doctors say. Constipation throws into the system poisons which taint and weaken every organ of the body and make them easy victims for any germs which attack them. Prevent constipation and you will avoid nine-tenths of all diseases, with their consequent pain and financial losses. Herbine, the good old vegetable cathartic, will prevent constipation in a natural, easy and pleasant way. Get a bottle today from Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Ala.

RURAL BRIEFS

Milk consumption has increased since the campaign against tuberculosis got under way.

Alabama poultrymen who placed eggs in cold storage last year received 10 to 15 cents more than those who did not.

Covering meat with a mixture of vinegar and oil and allowing it to stand a few hours before cooking will help make it tender.

If cold weather got the green feed sprout oats. A handful to each dozen hens daily will mean more eggs.

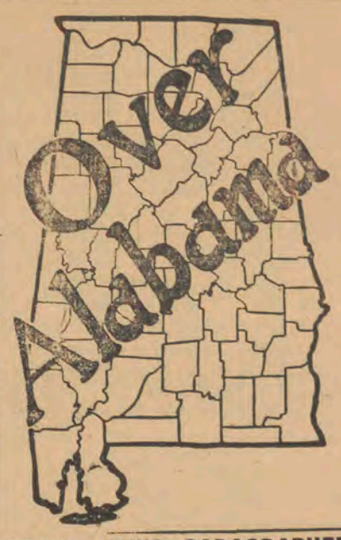
COUNTY AGENTS ATTEND CONFERENCE AT AUBURN

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 6.—County agents, home demonstration agents, extension specialists, and other members of the Extension Service staff of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute are at Auburn in their annual mid-winter conference. County agents from 61 counties and home demonstration agents from 41 counties were welcome to Auburn, Monday, January 6, by President Bradford Knapp. The program called for daily sessions until noon Saturday, Janualy 11.

In addition to making plans for 1930, and reviewing the activities of 1929, the workers are familiarizing themselves with the latest facts on practical farm problems. Subjects of most importance are being discussed at length. These include cooperative marketing, farm conomics, poultry, dairying, farm organization, improved machinery, and farm timber as a money crop.

Director M. J. Funchess of the Agricultural Experiment Station and members of his staff are acquainting the extension workers with the latest experimental facts. Special emphasis is being laid on new information regarding fertilization of cotton and the use of winter legumes for soil improvement. These new experimental facts will be presented to farm people of the state by the county agents and the farm people will in turn apply them on Alabama farms. This is in keeping with one of the cardinal principles of extension work, which is to extend the information gathered at Auburn to the people of Alabama, Director L. N. Duncan of the Extension Service said.

Leaders in closely related fields of work were present and addressed the extension workers. Dr. J. B. Hobdy spoke for vocational agriculture, Hon. Seth P. Storrs for the State Department of Agriculture, Dr. Stuart Graves for the State Department of Health, Mrs. A. M. Tunstall for the State Department of Child Welfare, and Hon. I. T. Quinn for the State Department of Consrvation.



WOULD YOU KNOW ONE IF YOU SAW IT?

If you ever came face to face with a germ, would you recognize it? Of course it is not likely that you will ever see a germ, unless you own a tremendously powerful microscope, for you would have to magnify one over a thousand times to make it as big as a pin head. But you should recognize the fact that these tiny fatal diseases. There is one sure germs can get into your blood streams through the smallest cut, and give you typhoid fever, tuberculosis, lockjaw, blood poisoning, and many more dangerous and perhaps fatal diseases. There is one sure sarfeguard against these dangers — washing every cut, no matter how small, thoroughly with liquid Borozone, the safe antiseptic. You can get liquid Borozone at Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

FRANK P. LITSCHERT

One of the most significant developments of the American trend in regard to our foreign policies becomes apparant with the revival of the plan to secure the adherence of the United States to the World Court. There is no longer any considerable body of expressed bublic opinion to the effect that we ought to assume part of the burden of policing Europe and other parts of the Eastern Hemisphere. Those who desire our adherence to the World Court under the Root formula as well as those who insist that the original Senate Reservations are as far as we can go toward international commitment, insist that there is no intent of involving us in foreign political entanglements. No statesman will insist in the World Court debate that we ought to go into partnership with Europe and each group in the Senate will aver that no matter what the advantages of its particular plan may be, this plan will not entangle us in the League of Nations.

With this in mind it is interesting to go back in memory to the original fight on the membership of the United States in the League of Nations. In those hectic days following the World War, there was a considerable group in our country which felt that it was our duty to go into political partnership with Europe. They declared that we owed it as duty to humanity to join with the other nations in the Yeague, to maintain the status quo, as provided by the Versailles treaty, and to furnish money and force wherever necessary to punish any nation which might violate the orders of the League.

There was a terrif battle over the League and those who believed that we ought to remain clear of European entanglements, following the advice of Washington and Jefferson, won a complete victory. This victory in the Senate was followed by a campaign in which our membership in the League was an issue and in which those opposed to foreign entanglements won so decisively victory that there could be no question as to how the American people stood on the issue. That there has been no change in public opinion since that time is evidenced by the fact that in 1928 both great political parties declared in their platform that the United States should pursue an independent course and shape its foreign policies without European entanglements.

This brings us down to the present. Some of the European nations rejected one of the Senate reservations to our adherence to the World Court and a compromise was worked out. Those who sponsor the so-called Root compromise declare that it in no way involves us in the League of Nations or in European entanglements. The newspapers and statesmen who oppose the Root formula deny this and say that it weakens the Senate reservations. The combat in the Senate, if there is one, will be fought ont on that issue. There will be no one to declare, as was done back in 1919, that we owe it as a duty to humanity to join the League and try to help settle European quarrels. There are doubtless considerable forces in the country who would like to launch us on an international program, but they are for the time at least silent. They realize that the people, at present, are in no mood to accept their [illegible]

BY "JACK" HIMSELF

Hello, Folks! Haven't seen you but once this year. But we wish you—one and all—a great New Year. Excuse our forgetfullness in not extending our good wishes to you for the Year 1930, but our funny spot got all wigglish when the candidates began showing symptoms of nervousness around here, and we just forgot it. That's all. But who doesn't forget—sometimes.

Forgetting things! That's an idea. Some things we forget and are glad of it afterwards. Other things we would give the world to have remembered. And, then, there are times when we might like to have other folks forget a few things. Did you ever do anything you don't like to think about—and, too, would much rather have others forget? If you haven't you are one of a very few. They're scarce, folks, mighty scarce.

Take, for instance, the fellows who jumped the fence in the last election and rode a razor-backed donkey instead of keeping in a good soft seat on the broad, comfortable back of the elephant. Of course that old sharp-backed donkey seat got mighty uncomfortable before the ride was over, besides their getting dumped in the mud at the end of the journey. But that isn't the worst part of it.

That was way back in 1928 when the donkey ride and mud-splashing took place. Since that time, it seems, some of those donkey riders have taken a nice bath 'n' everything, and got all ready to ride the elephant in the 1930 race, choosing for themselves a driver's seat, only to find that they hadn't washed good behind the ears, and somebody has seen the mud that was left over from the 1928 splash.

Now, that's just too bad! Of course, the Republicans aren't barring the muddy passengers, even if they want to be drivers. But it seems there is some kind of handicap imposed on them when they aspire to be drivers. There seems to be a tradition that drivers should be spick and span, politically, without a speck or spot on their records—and the crux of the situation is that, once the mud has been seen on a guy, folks just WILL NOT FORGET IT.

So long as a fellow is only a spectator there is not near so much chance of the mud being noticed, but just let him shin up on his mount to take his place in the race. People begin to notice the spots on him before he gets in his seat. And by the time he gets all set up there by himself those spots stand out like a nose wart.

About the only way for one of these fellows to win a race is to get in one where everybody, drivers and all, are muddy. Even then the less mud he has on the better chance he has of winning. Old mud is heavy, folks—and of all kinds and sorts, we reckon as how political mud is the stickiest, slickest, nastiest old mud there is.

Did you notice the nice new dress the JACK POT had on last week. If we chose to describe the 1930 JACK POT, we would very likely start off much as do the auto salesmen when they come out to show you the new model he has just received—"she's built a little narrower and longer, you'll notice."

That was just to make the old POT jibe in with "The Man on the Corner" and other items of like kind. Not that the POT aspires to put itself up as a contender for honors with "The Man on the Corner", for we have no idea of trying that. Nope, Rollo, not that! Rather, while "The Man on the Corner" is looking down every alley and street for his sights, the POT will be boiling off the "fun juice" and trying to make you see the funny side of it all—that is, if there is a funny side.

The POTTER don't believe in trying to dive in water over his head. He could dive, all right, but then comes the job of getting back to solid ground again, of which he is not nearly so sure. That's our reason for playing around the edge all the time. We will at all times stay where we can put at least ont foot on good old Mother Earth.

Not that "The Man on the Corner" won't be on solid ground, but just to let you know that we consider him a much better swimmer, and much better able to take care of himself in an emergency. "The Man on the Corner" was already here when the JACK POTTER arrived, and knows his way around the thin places better, that's all.

That's enough about that, or else somebody might think we DO consider ourselves worthy of lifting up our head in company with "The Man on the Corner." It has been said that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy", but it's just as true that "all play and no work don't get you anywhere", so that's that—TOO.—Jack.

Some Sights He Saw— and Some He Saw Not.

A friend of mine suggests that my reference to Judge Deason last week might be construed as an unkind cut. I appreciate the interest of this friend in giving me the suggestion, and assure him and all others that it was not my intention to be unkind to Judge Deason. With all the water that has gone over the wheel since 1912, I would not attempt to stir up old arguments about politics. We have too much 1930 politics to occupy our time to be fooling around in the dusty archives of 1912 for an argument.

As for Judge Deason, personally, I know that he was an honorable man. He had friends a plenty in Chilton County, and still has them. I regret that he is sick and unable to live here at home. For many years he has been in the West. With all that has been said politically about Judge Deason's administration as Probate Judge of Chilton County, there are those who maintain that his ideas were beneficial in turning our county toward the era of progress that has ensued since 1912. I believe his intentions were that way.

A lot of the boys went up to Birmingham Friday night to hear Tom Heflin and Hugh Locke. From what they tell me, I would think that Tom and Hugh have placed a considerable hunk of dynamite under the Democratic party of Alabama, and if the said Democratic party don't make a move by the first of February, they expect to light the fuse. The explosion proper will take place later on in this wonderful year of 1930.

This one of Mr. Heflin's stories was brought back: A man passing near a pond, saw an alligator catch one of a flock of little negro children playing about the water's edge. He went to the top of the hill, where he saw a negro woman. "Sally", he asked, "Are those your children down there at the pond?" "Yes boss", "Well, he told her, I saw an alligator catch one of them a while ago". "Lordy mercy, boss, I told Sam tother day sumpn was goin' with our younguns".

One thing I noticed has revived considerable hope for the county roads that will stand the bad weather: The statement of Judge Reynolds a while back that the road machines would be put up for a while and particular attention given to fixing the bad places that have been impassable. Everybody seems to be agreed that that is the right thing to do.

There are many bad places on our roads that get impossible very winter. They have been doing it for many, many years, and will keep on doing it until they are graveled. They cannot be graveled with road machines. I say, let us fix the few bad places and keep them from getting impassable. Then it will be fine to run the road machines over the roads now and then and shape them up.

Uncle Remus, of Shoults, says things have been happening too fast for him this winter. He says he had rain, snow, Christmas, Santa Claus, and grandchildren, all at the same time. Uncle George Willis says he had all of it except the grandchildren, and he was very sorry they could not be with him too. Uncle Remus was not downhearted, though, since the snow and cold did not kill his wheat. He promised to give me some home-made biscuits some time this year.

Things got sort of quiet on the corner, so I set out around the block to see what was happening. Found everything running smoothly at the Clanton Laundry, in spite of the fact that Leo Thompson just got married a while back. Horsly White fixing up the bottling plant preparatory to doing a Nehi business this summer.

Daddy Fox says he is sitting on top of the world with a good Christmas business behind him. Broadus Connatser busy at the desk. Don't know whether he was figuring on business or baseball for the coming summer. I will find out and let you know later.

Next sight I saw was a big vacant lot on the corner. But the old wrecked automobiles caught my eyes with more force than the vacant lot. It won't look so bad so long, though. In a few months the Johnson grass will be grown up so high till you can't see anything else.

Around by the Postoffice, and on to the Main Drag. Two coffins greeted me on the sidewalk in front of Mell's place. I don't think anything much about coffins. Rather leave that subject for later. But Mell ought to have him a nice funeral home in some part of town more suitable than that where he is.

The Taylor Brothers doing business right along at the wholesale grocery store. They will miss Doc Downs a whole lot. Doc will be busy with his chickens now, I guess. Doc divides his chicken business with the missus. He furnishes the feed and she takes the money she gets for the eggs. In that way, you know, as Mr. Dake used to say, Doc's part of the business is always normal or better, while Mrs. Downs experiences a slump now and then.

Next place is where Mr. Mac Hill and Mr. Red Hill are doing business. Everybody busy and no time to waste with spectators. So I pass on. Guess they are getting started on another five car loads of sugar. That is how much they sold last year. They say 1930 will be a sweeter year than last. Let 'er go.

This brings us up to the corner at Upchurch's. I know there are lots of sights to be seen here. So I will stop a while and see what happens. If I see anything that looks good or bad or otherwise, I will tell you about it next week. Oh, shucks, I see a fellw coming, and I know he is going to be a candidate. Well, anyhow, that is for next week.

What Price LAZY APPETITE?

"Dear, are you not glad you followed my suggestion when I urged you to try S.S.S. for your lost appetite?"

HAVE you an indifference or loathing for food, or do you really enjoy mealtime?

Fads and fancies come and go. We must be reasonable. You can't afford to wreck your body by "killing" an appetite given you by Nature to nourish your body.

You must really enjoy your meals and assimilate them to restore the waste of the body. Don't expect a strong, sturdy body and a keen mind to carry on if you do not enjoy your food. It just can't be done. Friends, happiness and business success may depend on a keen appetite.

Many thousands have turned to S.S.S. when the appetite signaled danger. It is a time-tested remedy . . . purely vegetable. Easy to assimilate. Pleasant to take. It will do much to restore the natural appetite. It will not act instantly, but, be assured, when taken according to directions, it will usually bring back your desire to eat and enjoy your food. This you well know is the basic step for health. Simply reason it out for yourself and you will agree that it is the practical way.

And remember, S.S.S. will help you get your blood-cells back up to normal. Then that sluggish, let-down feeling and skin troubles will disappear. You should sleep soundly. Firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

S.S.S. gives to Nature what it needs in making you feel like yourself again. At all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

CHILDREN LIKE THIS SAFE PRESCRIPTION

Coughs and Sore Thoat Relieved Almost Instantly

Stop children's coughs and sore throats before these ailments lead to dangerous ills. Thoxine, a doctor's prescription, now assures relief within 15 minutes to children as well as adults without the danger in the use of patent medicines containing harmful drugs.

Thoxine works on a different principle, goes direct to the source of trouble and relieves the irritation which causes the coughing and sore throat. Ideal for children because it is safe and does not have the usual "nasty-medicine" taste. No gargling. Just ask for Thoxine, put up ready for use in 35c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. Money back if not relieved. Sold by Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama, as well as all other good drug stores.

THE BAPTISM AND TEMPTATION OF JESUS

GOLDEN TEXT—This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When Jesus Was Baptized.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Baptism and Temptation of Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Facing His Life Work.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Triumphing Over Temptation.

I. The Baptism of Jesus, the King (3:13-17).

While the forerunner was discharging his office, the King emerged from His seclusion at Nazareth and demanded baptism at John's hands. The incongruity of this demand with the purpose of baptism brought from John a protest, but upon Jesus' satisfactory explanation, John baptized Him. Touching Christ's baptism, note:

1. Its significance. (1) Negatively. a. It did not mean His mere obedience to the commandment of God, because His entire life had been lived within the will of God. There was not a moment in His life but what was lived fully in accordance with the Father's will. b. Not because He had sinned, for He was absolutely sinless, harmless, undefiled—separate from sinners. This separation was so complete that even the devil could find no occasion against Him (John 14:30).

(2) Positively. Its significance is found in harmony with the central purpose of His coming into the world, which was to secure for His people salvation through death and resurrection. This act was the official entrance upon His work. It was an act of consecration on His part to the work of saving His people through sacrifice.

While baptism is a sinner's ordinance, Christ was baptized not because He had sinned, but because He took the place of sinners to be a substitute for them. In this He who knew no sin was made sin for us that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him (II Cor. 5:21).

2. Approval from the opened heavens (vv. 16, 17).

Immediately following His consecration to His work, the heavens were opened and the Spirit came and abode upon him, followed by words of approval from the Father.

II. The Temptation of Jesus, the King (4:1-11).

Being thus commissioned for His work, His ability to meet the one whose destruction He had come to accomplish, must be demonstrated (Heb. 2:14). This temptation was the opening battle of the dreadful conflict between Christ and Satan. In this struggle note:

1. The battleground—wilderness of Judea (v. 1).

The first man was tempted in a garden with the most pleasant surroundings, and failed. The second Man was tempted in a bare wilderness, and gloriously triumphed.

2. The method of attack (vv. 3-9)

Since, as the Redeemer of mankind Christ sustains a threefold relationship, the Son of Man, the Son of God, and as Messiah, each one was made a ground of attack. (1) As Son of Man This was a test of the reality of His humanity to demonstrate as to whether the humanity which He obtained through the virgin birth was real. The appeal was made to the instinct of hunger. Hunger is natural and sinless. (2) As the Son of God. It was a test as to whether this personality which had taken upon itself humanity, was divine. The devil quoted from a Messianic psalm to induce Jesus to presume upon God's care. God does really care for His own, but to neglect common precautions to do the uncalled for thing, just to put God's promise to a test, is to sin and to fall. (3) As the Messiah. Christ's mission as the Messiah was to recover this world from the devil. The devil offered to surrender to Him on the simple condition that He adopt his method, thus obviating the necessity of the cross.

3. The defense—the Word of God (vv. 4, 7, 10).

Christ met the enemy each time and repulsed him with "It is written." Each time he quoted from Deuteronomy—the book which the higher critics would discredit as unreliable. Jesus had enough confidence in it to use it in this the most crucial hour of the world's history.

4. The issue (v. 11).

The enemy was completely routed. The strong man was bound, so that the spoiling of his house was possible.

To Secure Salvation

"But what can mortal man do to secure his own salvation?" Mortal man can do just what God bids him do. He can repent and believe. He can arise and follow Christ as Matthew did.—W. Gladden.

Christ appeals to the soul as light appeals to the eye, as truth fits the conscience, as beauty speaks to the esthetic nature.—The American Magazine.

BEST FERTILIZERS OF COTTON STATED

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 6—As a result of recent research work, the Experiment Station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, announces important changes in the recommendations of fertilizer for cotton. The announcement was made by Director M. J. Funchess.

Instead or applying all of the nitrogen in the form of nitrate of soda, as has been done in the past, the new recommendation is that the initial application of nitrogen, applied with the seed, be in the form of sulfate of ammonia. This recommendation is based upon the fact revealed by experiments that young cotton plants grow faster with a combination of ammonia nitrogen and nitrate nitrogen than they do with nitrate alone. Sulfate of ammonia applied to the soil furnishes both because ammonia nitrogen in the soil changes to nitrate nitrogen.

Professor Funchess said that either nitrate of soda or nitrate of lime may be used for top-dressing. Alabama experiments to date show that nitrate of lime makes as much cotton as nitrate of soda.

For the farmer who dislikes to home-mix his fertilizer, Professor Funchess recommends that he apply a 10-2-4 mixture with the seed and top-dress immediately after chopping with the proper amount of either nitrate of soda or nitrate of lime.

Professor Funchess explained that either nitrate of soda or nitrate of lime applied with the seed is good, but that ammonia nitrogen is bettter for this application. Summarizing it, he said: "The best cotton fertilizer for Alabama is a mixture of 400 pounds of superphosphate, 40 pounds of ammonia sulfate, and 50 pounds of muriate of potash applied at planting and followsd by 150 pounds of either nitrate of soda or nitrate of lime after chopping."

NATURE THOUGHT OF EVERYTHING

Nature thought of everything when the human body was made. When the body is about to become ill, nature planned danger signals to warn us. Thus, if our children grind their teeth when they sleep, or lack appetite, or suffer from abdominal pains, or itch about the nose and fingers, we should know that they may have cantracted worms. Then, if we are wise, we buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and safely and surely expel the worms. Thus we avoid the danger of very serious trouble. White's Cream Vermifuge costs only 35c a bottle, and can be bought from Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

and suffered continuously with stomach disorders and indigestion. Sometimes I'd walk the floor in agony with pains in my right side. Dizzy spells and sick headaches were frequently followed with attacks of vomiting. My nervous system was awfully up-set, I steadily lost weight and was so weak and rundown that my housework was out of the question. I spent hundreds of dollars on different medicines and treatments without permanent relief; but three bottles of Sargon along with the pills overcame my stomach trouble and indigestion, and my bilious attacks are a thing of the past. My nerves are normal, and my whole system is strengthened! Sargon pills reconditioned my liver and regulated me perfectly."—Mrs. C. H. Cosby, 97 East Lake Drive, Decatur.

HAVE YOU AN UNMARKED GRAVE?

How unthoughtful is he who permits the remains of a loving Mother, Father, Sister, Brother or a little Child to rest in an unmarked grave with nothing to distinguish that hallowed spot from the commonplace surface of the earth, indifferently trampled by man and beast. Great comfort will be gained by consecrating the spot where sleeps the departed with a beautiful and lasting monument.

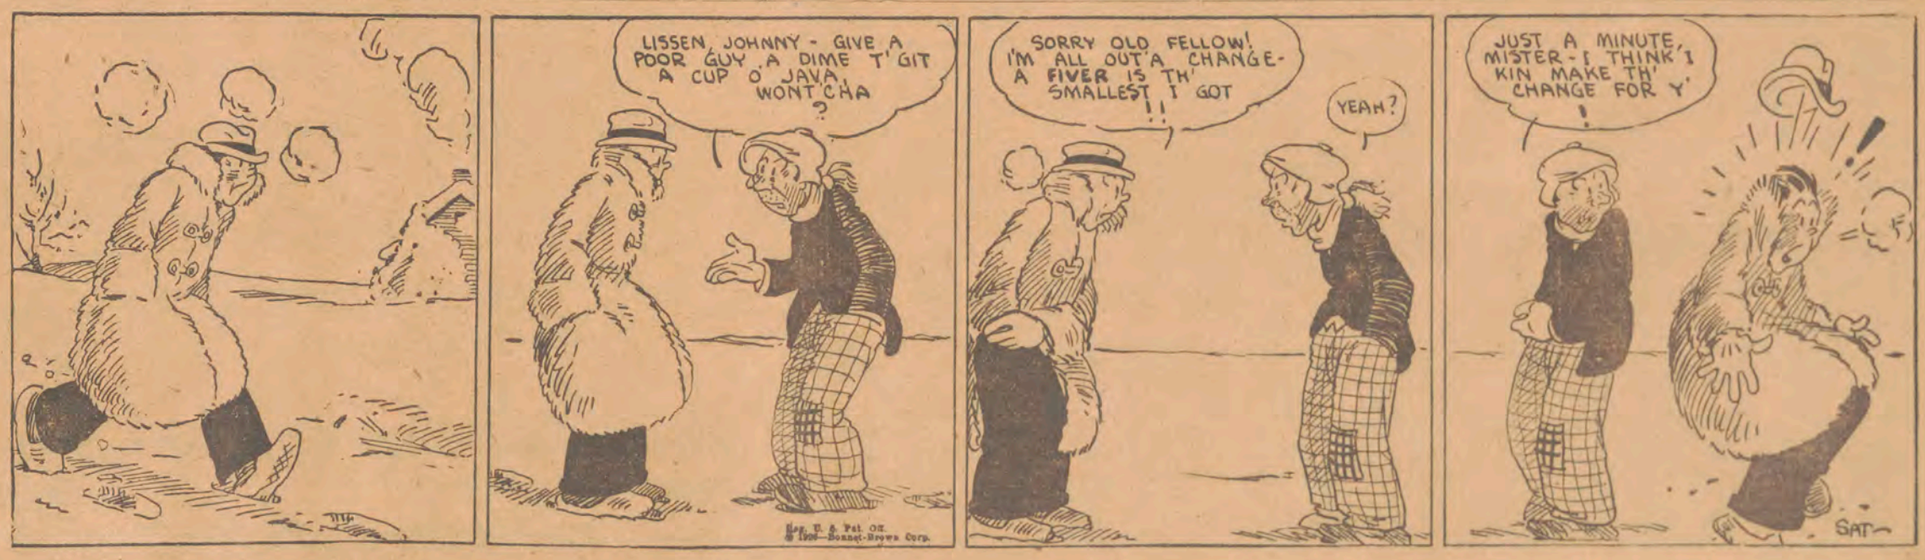
A good business man will not buy a farm or any property without first looking it over to see what it is worth.



However, some will buy or loan money on land without an abstract.

Isn't it equally as foolish to buy a farm without looking it over as to buy it and not know whether the titles are good or not? Without an abstract you do not know where you are getting the land you look at or not.

Before investing in land in any way have an abstract made and be safe.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

Among our citizens who may be depended on to do things is Mr. W. H. Goodgame. He has already been responsible for pioneer work in a cotton gin, a planing mill, an electrc light plant and an ice plant. His latest venture is as a representative of the Texas Oil Company, who want to introduce their products in this section. Mr. Goodgame has supervised the building, near his home a block south of the railroad station at Thorsby and facing the highway, a very neat concrete building with all conveniences as an up to date filling station at the front and a neat lunch room, where he will make a specialty of barbecued meats. The whole place is fitted up for the comfort and convenience of patrons who like to stop a while in a clean and restful place. He will open for business on Thursday of this week.

Miss Jennie Thoroman, director of the music department of Thorsby Institute, returned from a visit to her home in Cincinnati Sunday night. While there she had the misfortune to get a bad fall by slipping on ice, resulting in injury that kept her in bed several days. She is so far recovered as to be able to resume her work.

During the absence of Miss Jenkins, who expects to remain in New England with headquarters in Boston until the end of January, Miss Elizabeth Robinson of Birmingham, a former member of Thorsby Institute faculty, wll be in charge of Campus Cottage, where several of the girl students of T. I. are housed.

Miss Alta Each was hostess for a watch party at her home last Tuesday night, About thirty young people were present, who spent the time in playing games. About midnight they separated in groups to ring the bells of the town, to welcome in the New Year.

Leonard Hayes has sold Thorsby Meat Market to Dock Gentry, who has secured Marion Marcus, well known Clanton meat market man, as manager.

Mrs. Ollie Tagg is selling out her household goods and will soon leave Thorsby to make her home in Minneapolis, with her sister, Mrs. Walter Childs. We shall miss her kindly face and courteous manner.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Franklin and Mr. and Mrs. Mack Gray visted Mrs. Gray's cousin, Mrs. Allen, in Birmingham Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Turnquist of Petersburg, Va., who have been in Thorsby for the holidays with kins folk, left for their home last Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Franklin entertained a number of their friends at a watch party New Years Eve. Those who enjoyed the party were: Messrs. and Mesdames Sidney Davenport, Earl Collins, Alton Cox, Lee Pate, S. C. Wood, Norman Wood, Clem Higgins and Miss Agnes Leary.

We are pleased to note that Mr. Ben Franklin, who has been confined to his home for several weeks, is able to be out again.

Messrs. Reagan and Soberg made a business trip to Birmingham last Tuesday.

Mrs. Alton Cox spent the week end in Prattville.

Mack Gray took his wife and Mrs. R. R. Franklin to Marbury on New Years day to see a local foot ball game.

Harry Margolis of Uniontown was a visitor to Clanton this week. His many friends were glad to see his smiling face once more. Harry is the best little optimist we know; and if you don't know what that means, ask him.

THE VETERANS HOSPITAL FOR ALABAMA

Washington, Jan. 6.—General specifications required by the Federal Hospital Board in locating the new veterans hospital in Alabama were procured today by Senator Hugo L. Black of Alabama from Colonel L. H. Tripp in charge of the construction division of the Veterans Bureau. Senator Black took a leading part in piloting the legislation for the Alabama hospital through the Senate just prior to the adjournment of the Congress for Christmas holidays. Since the passage of the bill Senator Black has received many inquiries from his constituents in various parts of the state who desire to have the new hospital located in their respective communities.

Among the sites suggested are: Atmore, in Escambia County, Lineville and Ashland in Clay County, Birmingham and Bessemer in Jefferson County, Montgomery in Montgomery County, Columbiana in Shelby County, Mobile in Mobile County, Huntsville in Madison County, Valhermosa Springs in Mrgan Cunty, Talladega in Talladega County, Sylacauga in Talladega County, Dothan in Houston County, Brewton in Escambia County and Florence in Lauderdale County and Anniston in Calhoun County.

Colonel L. H. Tripp of the Construction Division of the Veterans Bureau which will make a preliminary survey of all sites sugested, today advised Senator Black that the following factors will play a large part in the final selection of a site by the Federal Hospital Board of which Frank T. Hines, the Director of the Veterans Bureau is chairman.

The site shall be readily accessible from main line railroads and bus lins and be either directly adjoining or in close proximity to main paved highways.

The site shall not be in close proximity with industrial developments or other activities which might not be in harmony with the activities of the hospital.

An adequate water supply should be available as well as adequate electric service and the availability of gas is desirable, particularly if rates for electric current are not sufficiently low to justify the use of this service for cooking.

The elevation of the site should be such as to afford a good outlook over the surrounding country and to permit proper provision for surface

The soil should be reasonably fertile in order that farming activities may be carried on and a reasonable amount for wooded area is desirable.

The site should include approximately 150 to 200 acres. Colonel Tripp advised Senator Black that all persones representing Alabama communities which desire consideration of their respective sites should submit information concerning the sites to General Frank T. Hines, chairman, Federal Hospital Board, Arlington Building, Washington, D. C. Data sheets with specifications may be secured from Colonel L. H. Tripp, Construction Division. United States Veterans Bureau, Arlington Building, Washington, D. C.

CARD OF THANKS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space to express my thanks to friends and neighbors in Clanton for their kindness to my family during the illness and death of my wife.—Walter Sanford.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for their kindness and splendid service during the illness and death of our dear mother. May your kind deeds of service be crowned with the richest of God's blessings.—The Children, Mrs. C. G. Glass, Mrs. A. H. Russ, Grady and Floyd Nix.

Sausage Seasoning may be had At Thorsby Drug Company.

Rev. J. W. Jones of Thorsby was in Clanton Tuesday. He reports steady progress in the construction of the new Baptist church. "The roof will be on in a few days," he says "and then it will not be long until it is finished".

COLLINS CHAPEL SCHOOL

We are indeed glad to come back to school after a vacation and take up our work where we stopped before Christmas. Our attendance is better now. Some of the pupils have moved and are going to other schools. We are glad to see new pupils come to our school and take up some real work with us. We always welcome any new pupil.

Last Friday, January 3rd, Union Grove came to play basket ball with the boys, but we are sorry to say that we were defeated. The score was 12 to 8 in favor of Union. The boys were ahead until the last quarter, when the visitors overdid them and made four points.

Every first and second Sunday there will be preaching at New Salem. Every third and fourth Sunday there will be preaching at Collins Chapel church. Prof. Z. Y. Appleton serves both churches. You are always welcome to these services.

EDNA GORE,
News Reporter of C. C. Jr. H. S.

EAST VIEW

The road crew has been hauling gravel and spreading it over the bad places in the roads in this section, which will be appreciated by old Tin Lizzie.

If the road machine will go over and scrape the roads lightly to fill up the holes and trenches and level off the bumps, it will do much good.

Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Nelson motored to Watson Chapel church near Cherokee Bluffs Saturday, where the former filled his regular appointment Saturday and Sunday. On his return he stopped at Mt. Creek Union church and preached there Sunday night.

Misses Edna and Ruby Tucker were the guests of Miss Catherine Strength Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker are new comers in our community; we welcome them in our midst.

Mr. Horace Ray of Birmingham visited his sister, Mrs. J. A. Dobbs of East View Saturday.

Miss Ida Ray, who has been visiting relatives in Birmingham, returned home Saturday.

There was a large attendance at Sunday school Sunday, and we received four new members. Some of the teachers were absent but we had a real good Sunday school. Every one seemed to enjoy the service.

Mr. Joe Dennis has moved to Pine Flat, near Deatsville.

There will be preaching here Saturday, Sunday and Sunday night. You are invited to meet with us and join in our worship.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Brown of Wetumpka, R. 1, visited the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. Wells last Sunday.

Mrs. Minnie Nelson had for her guest Mrs. Needie Price on Sunday.

Mr. R. L. Martin and daughter, Robbie Louise, of El Passo, Texas, were the guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Foshee for the past week.

Hill Foshee and Jake Wallace of Maplesville were visitors to Clanton Tuesday. They report that the road to Maplesville is getting back into fair shape.

CHEVROLET COMPANY ANNOUNCES NEW CAR

The Chevrolet Motor Company today announces a new car for 1930 known as "The greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet history.

Announcement of the new car today comes right at the close of Chevrolet's greatest year, for the sensational success of the six-cylinder Chevrolet, introduced just a year ago, resulted in an output of 1,350,000 cars this year, breaking by a wide margin all former Chevrolet annual production records.

In making public Chevrolet's plans for 1930, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, declared that with the improvements incorporated in the new car, Chevrolet was anticipating a volume of business that will equal, if not surpass, the phenomenal record of 1929. And, in order to accommodate an early demand production is being speeded up with all the haste consistent with the precision methods for which Chevrolet manufacturing operations are famous.

New car shipments have been going out to dealers for the past ten days, with deliveries to owners on schedule to start today. The cars went on display this morning in thousands of Chevrolet showrooms from coast to coast, while at the same time the announcement of the new car was being broadcast through the advertising columns of more than 6,500 newspapers.

Scores of distinct improvements have been made in the 1930 Chevrolet line, the factory announces. Greater beauty, added safety factors, improved riding comfort and better all-round performance with added power, and faster acceleration are announced as features of the new line.

Larger tires, small wheels, delcolovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers at all four wheels, Fisher slanting nonglare windshield and vastly improved four wheel braking system are some of the highlights.

Brakes are of the internal expanding "articulated shoe type" both front and rear, those on the front wheels having two shoes while those on the rear have four. These brakes also, are fully enclosed giving perfect protection against water and dirt.

The brakes represent an innovation not only in the Chevrolet line but in the entire passenger car field. The length of service that these linings give in the new design Chevrolet brakes is second to none. The brakes may be adjusted without the removal of any plates from the brake drum and operate with equal efficiency on all four wheels. The brake drums are 11 1-2 inches in diameter. The emergency brake is an independent unit operating on the rear drums. A new method of construction known as the "articulated shoe type" assures uniform braking under all conditions of temperature. Tests at the General Motors Proving Ground show that the new brake will stop a car traveling thirty miles per hour in two and two-tenths seconds within forty-eight feet.

The attractive new closed bodies, in a variety of colors, carry the famous Fisher stamp of craftsmanship. Eight models, three of which are new to Chevrolet, comprise the line. Of the eight, five are closed cars and three are open. The closed cars are the sedan, coach, coupe, sport coupe and club sedan. The open models are the roadster, sport roadster and phaeton. The models new to the line this year are the sport coupe, sport roadster and club sedan.

The six-cylinder valve-in-head engine introduced a year ago, after four years of research and development, has been further improved and refined. Since the introduction of the six a year ago, test cars have run up more than a million miles of driving at the General Motors Proving Ground in the working out and the justifying of the improvements found in the 1930 car. All the resources of the General Motors Research Laboratory were placed at the disposal of the Chevrolet engineering staff in this work.

Working with Chevrolet's chief engineer, were General Motors engineers and Proving Ground engineers, with 18 Chevrolet engineers assisting their chief in supervising the development and refinement of the improved six cylinder motor found in "The greatest Chevrolet."

The result of the efforts of this engineering talent is a smoother, quieter, more powerful motor. The new engine, fully enclosed, with a high cmpression non-detonating head, develops 50 horsepower.

The brake horsepower has been increased over the entire speed range. At 1000 revolutions per minute 24.5 horsepower is developed and a maximum of 50 horsepower is attained at 2,600 revolutions per minute. This increase in power insures a marked improvement in acceleration and hill climbing ability. At normal driving speed the new engine develops many times the power requird to drive the car. Specifically the rear axle has been redesigned while the differential unit has been strengthened and its oiling system redesigned to insure long life and quiet operation.

Smoother operation of the engine and longer life are assured through the use of light weight pistons. Steel-backed crankshaft bearings have been adopted because they are more durable.

The oil pump has been increased in capacity and improves in efficiency, while the carburetor has been improved in respect to both its accelerating pump and jet size. The acceleratng pump has been increased in length and reduced in diameter. This improvement also helps the acceleration performance by increasing the duration of the spray.

The same sturdy 48 pound crankshaft which proved so satisfactory during 1929 has been retained in the new car and a further contribution to smoother engine operation, improved distribution and increased economy has been made by the new intake and exhaust manifolds of the heated T design.

The air cleaner has been improved by reversing the position of the intake slots and providing for a less restricted flow of air. With the intake slots located at a greater distance from the exhaust manifold, the air entering the carburetor is much cooler and a greater amount of air can be handled in the same space because of its greater density. These combined refinements in better engine performance by insuring delivery of clean, cool air to the carburetor in larger quantities.

The clutch of the new car has been improved by the adoption of an integral disc, made in one piece of high carbon steel. This will give the 1930 cars smoother and easier clutch action, with quieter operation and longer service.

Easier riding and greater quietness are accomplished thorugh a new type of self-adjusting spring shackle in which bushings in the spring eye and brackets are eliminated, thus doing away with wear. Harded and ground tubular pins, with tapered ends, are pressed into the springs and brackets while oil forced into them forms a large reservoir, making frequent lubrication unnecessary.

Another improvement bringing about easier riding, is found in the deloco Lovejoy hydraulic shock aborbers in the form of a rigid link rod instead of a strap connecting the operating arms with the chassis and insuring positive transmission of all rebound movements.

A new type of gasoline gauge of unusual accuracy is found on the new Chevrolet. A double float in the tank insures correct reading of this gauge regardless of the position of the car.

The position of the steering wheel in relation to the seat has been changed, making the driver's position lots more comfortable. The horn button in the center of the wheel has been made more accessible and easier to operate by increasing the height of the crown and improving the design of the rubber bellows.

Appearence and riding qualities of the car have been improved through a change in the tire size from a 4.75-19. The rim diameter has been reduced one inch.

Disc wheels are provided as standard equipment on all models except the sport radster and sport coupe. The wire wheels on these models are quipped with drop center rims and are demountable at the hub. The large wire wheels hubcaps are chromium plated and of beautiful and distinctive design. The neat Chevrolet emblem at the center with raised polished border and black center is surrounded by a hammered background. This is surrounded by a polished ring within a black ring.

Any possibility of the hood rattling has been eliminated through the addition of a rubber bumper mounted on the upturned flange of the fender skirt, against which the hood bears

The instrument panel design and arrangement this year is entirely new. The instruments are all mounted on a single carrier plate which is assembled from the rear. This permits the removal of individual instruments for service. Spark and throttle controls as well as choke are located on the instrument panel, which is indirectly lighted.

The sport roadster and sport coupe are equipped with wire wheels. Both have rumble seats, that in the sport roadster being of the flush type. Spare wheel and carrier are mounted on the back. The sport roadster is finished in smart black duco with ayres gray moulding. Body striping and wire wheels are shalimar orange, while the seats are gray with plain back and tufted seat cushion. Top material is brown and white whipcord on the inside and gray teal on the outside. The back curtain is separable to permit better ventilation. The sport coupe is finished in Stanford brown with beaver brown roof and rear quarter. Mouldings are of beaver brown while body striping and wire wheels are shalimar orange. The interior is trimmed in a beautifully harmonizing mohair.

The club sedan is finished in llama gray duco with black rear quarter. Mouldings are black with eos red striping. Wheels are llama gray striped with eos red. The mohair harmonizies with the general ensemble.

In the phaeton and roadster the seats have been lowered an inch and a half and in the phaeton the rear seat has been tilted. Seat and back cushions have been made deeper, giving greater riding comfort. Trim material of the phaeton is gray while the seat cushions are tufted with plain seat backs. Top material is brown and white whipcord on the inside and gray teal on the outside. It is finished in saxon gray duco with bloss vale green moulding and talina brown striping. The wheels are saxon gray with bloss vale green stripe. In the rodaster gray spanish material grain with plain back and tufted cushion is used for upholstery while the top material is brown and white whipcord on the inside and gray teal on the outside. The back curtain is separable to permit better ventilation. Buttons in the top hold the curtain open. The roadster is finished in staunton blue duco with black moulding and tusk ivory stripings. Wheels are black with tusk ivory stripings, also.

In the cach the left front seat is hinged at the floor. The back and seat being in fixed relation. The right front seat is of the folding type, hinged at both floor and back. Appearance of the body has been improvd by a new contour of the reveals. The body is finished in classic blue duco with ivory stripings and wheels to match. The interior of the body is finished with a high grade velour of harmonizing color. The coupe follows the same design as to window reveals while the body is finished in scaraba green duco with arizona gray mouldings and tusk ivory stripings. Wheels are finished to match with the velour trim of a harmonizing color.

The sedan stands out as a de luxe model with chrome-plated cowl lights and attractive chrome-plated cowl mouldings. The body is finished in boulevard maroon with black mouldings, rear quarter and wheels. Striping on the body and wheels is of aurora red while the trim is in harmonizing color of a high grade mohair.

REMODELED KITCHEN MAKES TASKS A JOY

Tuskegee, Ala., Jan. 6—Remodeling her kitchen turned the task of preparing meals for her family from a drudgery into a pleasure for Mrs. A. D. Ramsey of Fairlawn, Macon county, Alabama. The improvement cost her only $25. Fifteen of this she won in a garden contest and the other $10 came from prizes won at the county fair.

"My kitchen was built 22 years ago with no idea of beauty or convenience," Mrs. Ramsey said. "There was only one window for light and ventilation. First I had another window installed, high enough for a sink and other equipment to be placed underneath. A cabinet was built in, and working surfaces made the right height. Ivory paint wa sused on walls and ceiling that were formerly a dark gray. The floor was covered with new linoleum, and many other improvements made. Mrs.Lida Jones, our home agent, was a great help to me in remodeling. I am delighted."

NEWS IN BRIEF

The annual mid-winter meeting of the South Alabama newspepermen will be held at the Greystone Hotel in Montgomery, January 11, and the meeting for North Alabama will be held in Birmingham on Saturday, January 25, according to announcement made by Emmett Brooks, editor of the Brewton Standard and prisedent of the Alabama Press Association.

That Christmas shopping in the United States for 1929 was fully up to that of 1928 was shown by reports from the Department of Commerce to President Hoover. This was contrary to expectations or retail merchants who believed the stock market collapse would reduce buying from 10 to 15 per cent below last year.

By Dr. L. D. LeGear, V.S., St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. LeGear is a graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College, 1892. Thirty-six years of veterinary practice on diseases of live stock and poultry. Eminent authority on poultry and stock raising. Nationally known poultry breeder. Noted author and lecturer.

ARTIFICIAL BROODING FOR BIGGER POULTRY PROFITS

A hen can act as foster mother for from 10 to 20 chicks while a small brooder can take care of 100, and one of moderate size can accommodate up to 500 or more. But little more attention is required for a single brooder than for a hen and her tiny family. The fuel cost for brooder operation is negligible in comparison with the labor cost required in caring for an equivalent number of chicks with hens. It is self-evident, therefore, that where profit is the primary requirement, in the handling of large numbers of chicks, artificial brooding is the only method worthy of consideration.

Thousands of chicks can be raised successfully by artificial means where dozens would be handled with difficulty if hens were used. This is a fact so well known to professional poultrymen that they would probably question the need of discussing the problem at all. I have found, however, that many to whom poultry raising is merely incidental to other occupations, are still inclined to mistrust any substitute for the time tested method of nature's own devising.

They are deterred, for the most part, by a belief that artificial brooding is unreliable unless supplemented by constant care. This may have been true some years ago but, today, many moderately priced brooders are available which are absolutely dependable to operate, economical, and which require relatively little attention to insure satisfactory results.

Another factor which no doubt keeps many smaller operators from adopting artificial brooding, is the multitude of conflicting claims made by the adherents of various methods. This tends to make a really simple matter appear quite complicated. As a matter of fact, there is no one method of outstanding superiorty and no single device that is decidedly better than all others.

The thing to be considered first of all is the size of your flock as a whole, and next the size of individual broods which you can handle with the greatest ease. Then, buy as many units as you need, install and operate them according to the manufacturer's instructions. You will find that it is a really simple matter after all and a labor saver of decided value even for comparatively small numbers of chicks.

The principle used in all brooders is the same: some artificial means of furnishing heat as a substitute for the hen's natural body heat. The heating unit may use gas, kerosene, hot water, coal or electricity. Whatever is used, the general arrangement remains the same. The unit is centrally located under a circular metal hood so arranged that the heat is deflected downward from the hood onto the backs of the chicks. Around this hood is usually a slit curtain to partially confine the heat. This unit with hood and curtain is called the hover.

The hover unit is the central feature of any system of artificial brooding. Space is lacking in an article of this kind to discuss the various types of brooders, all of which have their uses. They will be discussed in a later article.

Artificial brooding offers you the opportunity to bring into poultry raising the same sort of mass production methods which make possible the gigantic commercial enterprises of our time. Without such methods, no business can ever progress beyond the "one horse" stage. If you raise chickens only for the needs of your own family, profit is a secondary consideration and the system employed is of no great moment. If, however, you are aiming for profits, you cannot afford to ignore the efficiency of modern devices for artificial brooding.

As a parting word of advice, let me counsel those who hesitate to adopt the modern method of brooding not to regard it as something surrounded by mystery or hedged about by difficulties demanding professional skill. Quite the reverse is true, for, while it is true that artificial brooding has its problems, they are much the same as those of natural brooding and no more difficult of solution. There are, moreover, many compensating factors in favor of artificial brooding which make it the inescapable choice of all who want to realize the greatest possible profit from their chicken raising whether it is their sole source of income or merely a side issue.

People Continue To Respond To The County Chest Fund

The following contributions have been made since the last report:

Clanton Masonic Lodge, $10; Dr. V. J. Gragg, $10; G. H. Caffey, $1; Cash, $1.00; Hill Grocery Co., $25.00. Total, $47.00.

Mitchell Dam School (100 per ct.) $1.90, Miss Irene Woodham, teacher. Culp School, $1.20, Miss Julia Parrish, teacher. Concord School, $.50, Miss Frances Brown, teacher. Pleasant Grive School, Mrs. Lula Miskelley, teacher, $.10.

Lay Dam's report has increased over last week's report to $2; Misses Crim and Dobson, teachers. Total, $5.70. Grand total for schools up to date, $114.21.

The children in Mitchell Dam school have formed an 'Others Club.' A part of the letter from the teacher shows the wonderful spirit of the children: "May I express our appreciation of the opportunity to belong to the "Others Club. It has helped us; we're trying to form habits of thoughtfulness, kindness and consideration of others. We've taken as our motto a little poem from St. Nicholas: Suppose we think little of number one; Suppose we help others to have fun."

J. A. RAINES ANNOUNCES FOR TAX COLLECTOR

The coming Republican primary campaign will see a new man in the political spotlight, in the person of Rev. J. A. Raines, of Mt. Creek. Mr. Raines makes his announcement this week as a candidate for Tax Collector.

He has never been in politics before, more than a mere citizen who has always taken a keen interest in public affairs. As a preacher and school teacher, however, he has made a wide acquaintance. Everywhere he is known, he is recognized as a man of very great firmness, and upright character.

It goes without saying that Mr. Raines will have the support of a large following of friends who want to see him take a place as one of our county officials.

An Egg In An Egg

In recent years we have had all sorts of egg tales. We have seen big eggs, little eggs, eggs with pictures on them and eggs with writing on them; eggs with handles on them and tails to them.

Mr. E. A. Moore of the Kintray Farm at Verbena, has sprung a new one on us this week. He tells us that he came across an extra large egg a few days ago, but did not think strange of it, as a large egg with two yellows in it is very common.

But when the big egg was broken it contained just what a regular egg is supposed to contain, and also a small egg perfectly formed with shell and all was inside the big egg.

Who will be next, now with another freak egg? We expect somebody to bring us one with legs so it can walk about. Even a talking egg would not be such a great fright after all we have seen and heard about eggs in the last few years.

WILL CULP AGAIN IN RACE FOR TAX COLLECTOR

Mr. W. G. Culp annouces this week as a candidate for Tax Collector of Chilton County. Mr. Culp was in the race for this office four years ago and lost by only a very small margin. He expresses a firm belief that he will get over this time, and invites the voters of the County to come to his support.

Mr. Culp is well known over the County by virture of his former candidacy for Tax Collector. He has also been before the public for several years as deputy sheriff.

PROGRAM ABOUT CHILTON COUNTY ON AIR FRIDAY

A letter from Mr. L. O. Brackeen, of the Alabama Farm Bureau at Montgomery, says that on Friday of this week, January 17th, a talk on co-operation and organization in Chilton County will be broadcast over Station WAPI. A number of local officers and leaders of the County will be mentioned in the program.

Tune in on WAPI at 12:40 central standard time, and hear what is said about Chilton County, the heart of Alabama.

REV. ARTHUR DELOACH GOING TO SEMINARY

Rev. Arthur Deloach, who resigned as pastor of the Verbena Baptist church Sunday, January 5th, is making preparations to leave within the next few days for Fort Worth, Texas, where he will enter the South-Western Baptist Seminary.

Rev. Deloach will take a three-year course, at the close of which time he will graduuate with the degree of Th. M.

In conversation with Rev. Deloach last Friday, he asked The Union-Banner to state: "My work in Chilton County both as a preacher and teacher has been altogether a real pleasure. Everywhere in the county that my work has carried me, I have met with the best of hospitality and good-heartedness. I wish to-say that I have especially enjoyed working with the people of Verbena. My work there has been just as pleasant as I could possibly ask for."

CIRCUIT COURT POSTPONED UNTIL SOME TIME LATER

The called session of the Jury term of circuit court of Chilton county, which was to have been held on January 27th, has been postponed indefinitely. In all probability the cases set for this term will be held with the regular term in March (24).

INSANITY PLEA IN COOLEY CASE

Mrs. Maude Cooley, charged with the murder of her husband, David C. Cooley, will plead "not guilty by reason of insanity" when she faces trial in criminal court on January 20th.

When Mrs. Cooly was arraigned in criminal court Friday afternoon her attorney, Joseph R. Tate, former solicitor, announced that she would enter the plea of insanity.

Cooley was shot by his wife when he went home from work and found a man calling on his wife.

Mrs. Cooley claims that her husband tried to kill her and that she shot in self-defense.

The state will attempt to prove that Cooley was shot while he was on the floor struggling with the other man.

J. P. BEAN ASKS FOR RE-ELECTION

County Commissioner, J. P. Bean, of the First District, would like to serve the people of the county for another term in that office. His announcement as a candidate for re-election at the hands of the Republicans of the county appears in this issue of The Union-Banner.

Mr. Bean is now serving his first term as Commissioner. He was elected four years ago, and has rendered faithful and efficient service. He lives near Mineral Springs in Beat 12.

Boy Found Dead Near Cotton Mill

J. T. Jones, the 16 year old son of Mr. Luke W. Jones of Clanton, was found dead in the creek near the cotton mill Monday about noon.

It was concluded that the body had been in the water about two hours when found.

The young man was subject to some kind of spells, so it is thought that he was stricken with one of the spells as he was crossing the creek and fell off the bridge into the shallow water.

The remains were buried at Lomax Tuesday, January 14th.

MISSES LAURA AND ZONIE ROBINSON MOVED BACK HERE

Misses Laura and Zonie Robinson have moved back to Clanton. They are living in the Uncle Mose Robinson old home across Third Avenue from the Baptist church. With them also is their sister, Mrs. L. A. Calloway, who is here while her husband is in a United States government hospital at Pensacola. Mr. Calloway is a veteran of the Spanish-American War.

For the past year or more he has been in bad health. He had to give up his extensive business interests at Havana, Florida, and go to a hospital for treatment.

The two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Calloway are in medical college. Raymond is taking a special course in surgery at New York City. Lamar is studying at the University of Alabama.

The Misses Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Calloway left here several years ago and went to Florida. Before going to Florida Mr. Calloway was a member of the County Board of Education of Chilton County. The many friends of the family are glad to welcome them back to Clanton, and sincerely hope that Mr. Calloway may soon regain his good health.

Services, New Salem And Collins Chapel

Prof Zack Appleton, teacher of the school at Collins Chapel, is also the preacher at Collins Chapel and New Salem churches. While on a visit to Clanton last week he requested The Union-Banner to announce that regular services will be held in the future at New Salem on the first and second Sundays and at Collins Chapel on the third and fourth Sundays. All services will be held at 11 o'clock in the morning and 7 o'clock in the evening until further announcement.

Brother Appleton is an enthusiatic young preacher, and is very cheerful of the outlook at Collins Chapel and New Salem. He will lead these people to greater things of they will go with him in the service of the Lord.

MISS MURPHY RESIGNS POSITION AS NURSE

Miss Margaret Murphy, of Mobile, has resigned her position as Mobile County nurse to accept a position with the Nursing Bureau of the State Board of Health, as a member of the field force. Miss Murphy has been engaged in health work in Mobile County and Baldwin County for the past ten years. With the exception of one year, which was devoted to study in the Richmond School of Social Work and Public Health.

Prior to her preparation for the nursing field Miss Murphy was a student at the Florence Normal School for two years an dtaught for seven years in the public schools of Baldwin County. During the European War Miss Murphy was engaged by the red cross in teaching home hygiene and care of the sick to women students and groups in the civilian population.

In her new connection, Miss Murphy will visit many of the county health departments in an advisory capacity. Public health nursing activities comprise an important part of the county health program and Miss Murphy is qualified by experience and personality to be of invaluable assistance to the health officers in promoting nursing activities.

T. A. MADDOX RUNS AGAIN FOR COMMISSIONER

Mr. T. A. Maddox, Commissioner of the Second District, is in the race to succeed himself in that office. His declaration as a candidate in the forthcoming Republican primary of August 12 is made in this issue of The Union-Banner.

Mr. Maddox was elected as Commissioner four years ago, and is therefore just concluding his first term.

Already there is a contest in sight for him, as Mr. Dock Gentry has announced as a candidate for the same office. There may be others to get in the race before it closes. The Republicans of the county will have the fun of picking out the man they want on August 12.

PATE AND ROCKET ASK FOR RE-ELECTION

Tax Collector and Assessor Would Serve the People Again For Another Four Years

We have in our list of Republican candidates this week the announcements of Sam Pate for Tax Assessor and Tom Rocket for Tax Collector. These gentlemen will seek the nomination in the Republican primary of August 12 this year.

Mr. Pate and Mr. Rocket have held these offices for the past ten years, or to be more exact, it will be ten years when their present terms expire. They have made excellent officials, discharging their duties in every way to the credit of themselves and the people who put them in office.

In making their announcements for re-election, they say they are willing to rest their cases with the people whom they have served, and at the proper time they will carry their campaigns to the voters with a full statement.

During the year, 1928, there were in Alabama 28,853 marriages and 3,817 divorces, or about one divorce out of every nine marriages.

The estimated population of the State in 1928, July 1, was 2,573,0000 and on the same date, 1927, it was 2,549,00. This announcement was made public by the Department of commerce at Washington, and the figures were furnished by the State Board of Health.

The figures for Chilton County are: 228 marriages and 29 divorces in 1928; in 1927 there were 222 marriages and 33 divorces. There were four annulments in the State in 1928 and 2 in 1927.

Mrs. Calloway Urges Women To Pay Tax

In checking over the poll tax receipts, I find that there are many ladies who have not yet paid their poll tax. Let me urge all delinquents to attend to this at once, as all poll tax due must be paid on or before February 1, 1930, in order to participate in the elections next year.

Every married lady helps her husband in every way that she can. Why not help him save his ballot? Practically every Democratic woman votes. This means that the Democrats have two votes to our one unless our women qualify.

I am sure all women will find it much easier to pay $1.50 this year than to wait and pay $3.00 next year, or more each succeeding year.

Again urging you to attend to this before it is too late, I am,

Very truly yours,
Gertrude P. Calloway.

DR. GRAVES GOES BACK TO UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA

Montgomery, Jan. 13—Recalled by President Denny to his duties at the School of Medicine at the University, Dr. Stuart Graves, state health officer pro-tempore, submitted his resignation to the state committee of public health at its regular meeting today, and asked that it be accepted as soon as his successor could conveniently qualify.

FIDDLERS CONVENTION AT BILLINGSLEY JANUARY 18

There will be a fiddlers convention in the Billingsley Elementary School building on Saturday, night, January 18th, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Three big prizes will be given away: $10, $5, and $2.50 in cash; also several other prizes.

The following fiddlers have already been placed on schedule: Fonzie Smith, Joe Grooms, Henry Johnson, Oscar Weaver, Joe Terrell, Jack Courtney, Jack Culp, Isaiah Deramus and W. D. Turner. All others have an invitation.

Admission, 15c and 25c.

PERCY PITTS WILL RUN FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Hon. Percy M. Pitts stated to The Union-Banner Tuesday that he will again enter the race for representative of Chilton County in the Legislature of Alabama. "At some later time," said Mr. Pitts. "I will make formal announcement of my candidacy according to law."

Mr. Pitts represented this county in the last Legislature. His services were outstanding, particularly his successful fight against the political interests which sought to abolish the Commissioners Court of Chilton County.

MINERAL SPRINGS

All that are interested in the Robinson cemetery please meet Saturday morning, January 18 for the purpose of cleaning off same.

EFFORT MADE FOR STREET AS FEDERAL JUDGE AND SMITH IN WAR DEPARTMENT

In an effort to bring about a decision regarding the selection of a judge for the Federal Court of Middle Alabama, and at the same time land for the State a member of the junior cabinet, a delegation of Republican leaders is in Washington calling upon high officials of the administration.

Oliver D. Street, Republican National Committeeman, Joseph C. Swan, Republican Chairman, and C. B. Kennamar, member of the Republican State Committee and district attorney for the northern district compose the delegation.

Col. Dallas B. Smith, of Birmingham, who is being put forward by his friends, under the leadership of American Legion Posts of Alabama, as a candidate for assistant secretary of war, is also in Washington by invitation of Judge Street to be presented to President Hoover and Secretary of War, Hurley.

Judge Street himself is an active candidate for the bench in the Middle District to succeed the late Judge Clayton. Of a dozen aspirants for this office, he is believed to have the best chance. Although it is hinted in dispatches from Washington that factional differences within the Republican party in Alabama have begun to make a drive against Mr. Street.

There were 1,960 persons to lose their lives from tuberculosis in Alabama the first eleven months of 1929, according to a survey completed by the Alabama Tuberculosis Association, and announced through its president, Dr. J.D. Heacock of Birmingham. In 1928 the total number of deaths from this disease reached 2,331 and the 1929 figure is expected to show a satisfactory decline.

In July, September and November, 1929, this disease was the second cause of death in the state and second only to heart disease. In 1928 the same record was established with three months showing tuberculosis to be the second cause of death.

While there is a slight indication that there might be a change of ratio according to Dr. Heacock, tuberculosis will show some decline in its death total.

In a health survey of Alabama for 1929 the number of deaths from influenza must be noticed. During the first two manths of the year there were 2,243 deaths from this cause alone. As this is abnormal and epidemic, however, it is not used to affect ratios of regular death causes.

An amazing new kind of sugar has been described, as a hope for finding a cure for tuberculosis, recently at a session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the Iowa State Medical Society. The sugar is produced by tuberculosis germs. Its discovery has been made possible through the annual sale of Christmas health seals. The sale of seals in Alabama is conducted by the county tuberculosis and welfare organizations and the Alabama Tuberculosis Association.

For every death there are nine persons suffering with the disease, officials of the association say.

The fight against tuberculosis is international, being carried on by more than 20 health organizations er the world, who are devoting much time and study to the tuberculosis problem both in treating and elimination.

D. H. GENTRY ENTERS RACE FOR COMMISSIONER

Mr. D. H. Gentry of Thorsby has declared himself a candidate for Commissioner of Chilton County, from the Second District, in the primary to be held August 12.

Mr. Gentry needs no introduction to the people of Chilton County. He was a member of the Board of Commissioners some years ago, which place he filled with credit to himself and the county. He has always been a man of unwavering loyalty to the Republican party. His splendid business ability makes him specially qualified for service on the Board of Commissioners.

The place which Mr. Gentry seeks on the Board of Commissioners is that which is now held by Mr. T. A. Maddox.

Grub Calls For Grand Jury Probe

Federal investigation of what are described as wholesale violations of the prohibition law in Montgomery will begin next week when a special grand jury summoned by Judge W. I. Grubb will convene at noon Tuesday. Judge Grubb issued the order at the request of Grady Reynolds, United States Attorney for the middle division of Alabama.

The investigation threatens starting disclosures of the magnitude of prohibition law violations with astonishing revelations as a consequence, rumors indicate.

The Montgomery Journal says Mr. Reynolds declined even to intimate the course the grand jury will be asked to follow in its investigation, but promised that the inquiry would be the most thorough ever made into conditions in Montgomery.

Indictments will be asked for a number of persons in the city and throughout the Montgomery district, against whom charges of maintaining liquor nuisances have been filed. Since the first of the year Mr. Reynolds' office has brought nuisance charges and has filed application for ten padlocks against places in Montgomery and Phenix City.

REUBEN FOSS VISITOR HERE LAST WEDNESDAY

Mr. C. R. Foss, cashier of the Peoples Bank at Jemison, was a visitor to Clanton last Wednesday. He reports everything going along fairly well in North Chilton.

Special mention was made of the strawberry prospects at Jemison. Mr. Foss believes that the Jemison farmers have started right on the berry subject and he predicts that in a few years Jemison will be growing and shipping more strawberries than any other place in the county.

This is not over estimating Jemison, in our opinion, as there are certainly great possibilities there.

Announcements For County Offices In Republican Primary

With the announcement of several candidates this week, it may be said that the county political campaign has taken a definite start toward the Republican primary which will be held on the 12 day of August. That is rather far away yet, but the candidates may as well begin now and get a good start. They are going to run this year, and there is no use trying to keep it a secret.

Up to the time this is written, the following announcements have been made:

For Tax Assessor, S. M. Pate and J. E. Easterling. Mr. Pate is the present incumbent of that office, and seeks to be re-elected. Mr. Easterling is a new political figure who has not been in a political campaign as a candidate before.

For Tax Collector there are J. T. Rockett, W. G. Culp, and Rev. J. A. Raines. Mr. Rockett is the present Tax Collector, and asks to be re-elected. Mr. Culp is the man who opposed Rockett four years ago, and came very near getting the plum. He believes he can beat Rockett this time. Rev. Raines is another new entrant in the political arena. He lives at Mt. Creek, in Beat 5.

For Commissioner of the Second District, T. A. Maddox is announced for re-election. He is opposed by D. H. Gentry. There may be other entries before May 1st. Mr. Gentry served one term in the office some years ago, and made a good record. He was in the race four years ago, and was defeated. It is expected that the Second District race will be a lively one.

No candidate is yet announced for Sheriff. There are several talking agout getting into it, but we suppose none have yet made up their minds.

The race for Representative in the Legislature has not yet drawn an entrant. However Representative Percy Pitts has said that he will get into it a little later.

There is a member of the County School Board to be elected this time, but no one has announced for that place.

Poll tax is the most important issue right now in the eyes of political managers. They seem to realize that votes are no good unless they are qualified to vote. Therefore the payment of poll tax before the first of February is being agitated considerably.

CULVER AND JONES BUY MOATTS MARKET

Mack Culver and Bud Jones have bought out the business of Moatts, and will continue to operate the business at the same place. They will handle a full line of meats, fancy groceries, and produce, the same as in the past. The business will continue its connection with the I. G. A. system under the new management.

Mr. Ely Moatts, former owner of the business will continue with Culver and Jones for a while at least.

Mack Culver has been with the Moatts Market for several years. In assuming a partnership in the business with Mr. Jones, Mr. Culver states that the new management will continue the high class service that has been the policy of Moatts Market in the past, and every step possible will be taken to make the service better as opportunity may arise.

"We hope those who have been customers of this business in the past will continue to come here and let us have a chance to continue to serve you."

Bud Jones is a well-known business man of Clanton. He is familiar with the cattle and butchering trade by years of experience.

SARGON'S FAME SPREADING OVER ENTIRE WORLD

People of this Country sending Famous Medicine to Relatives and friends in England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Canal Zone, Norway, Sweden, Cuba and Many Other Distant Lands.

If you had found a medicine that was of such benefit to you that you would go to the trouble of sending it to relatives and friends in distant countries, you would have to be convinced in your own mind that it possessed real merit, wouldn't you?

That's just what thousands of people throughout the United States have been doing with Sargon.

From all over America and wherever Sargon has been introduuced, thousands of letters have been received from grateful users telling of the gratifying results that have been accomplished by this celebrated medicine.

Thousands Express Gratitude

On November 27th, a letter dated November 23rd, was received at the Sargon offices advising that in one week one drug firm alone had received orders for Sargon to be shipped to Cavite, Philippine Islands; Coca-Solo, Canal Zone; Bellebrook, Ireland; and Paris, France.

Only recently a well known resident of Denver, Colorado, who had been restored to health by Sargon, sent a full treatment to London, England, to his sister, who is the wife of an executive of one of the greatest retail drug firms in the British Empire.

During the past month there appeared in the Toronto papers the statement of a well-known World War veteran whose health had been greatly impaired while in the service, who stated among other things that he owed his restoration to health to two bottles of Sargon sent him by a friend in Minneapolis.

Letters Received from Northwest

From the Northwest many letters of this kind have been received advising that users of Sargon are sending it to relatives back in their old countries of Norway and Sweden.

Many such letters end endorsements have been received from men of prominence, including former governors, business and professional men, mayors, state and county officials, and even ministers of the Gospel have deemed it their duty to come forward and tell what Sargon has done for them.

These are only a few of thousands of such cases and not a day nor a week passes that does not bring hundreds of statements from the people concerning the good this medicine is doing, and reciting case after case that would convince the most skeptical.

Sargon's fame is built on actual results — not empty promises, and only those who have put it to the test know its real powers.

Sargon's aim is not mere temporary relief but new and abundant health. No wonder it is now called the medicine with a million friends.

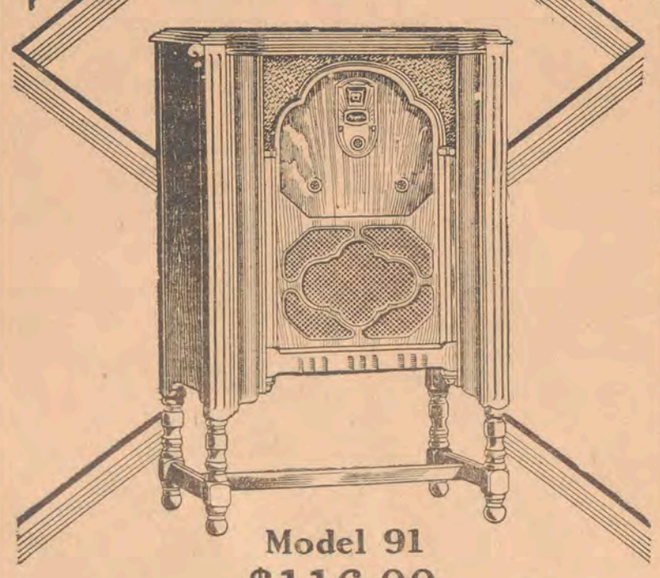
THE BREAD OF LIFE

Breads and biscuits made from self-rising flour contain more of the essentials of the balanced diet than bread made of any other flour. This is proved by a recent experiment conducted by the National Soft Wheat Millers Association.

Sixty per cent of the experimental diet was bread—self-rising flour biscuits made with water, self-rising flour biscuits made with whole milk, yeast bread made with water, yeast bread made with whole milk, commercial white bread and commercial whole wheat bread.

The increase in weight of the subjects used in the experiment showed greatest with self-rising flour biscuits made with whole milk; second, self-rising flour biscuits made with water; and on down in the following order: commercial white bread, yeast bread made with whole milk, commercial whole wheat bread, and yeast bread made with water.



The balanced diet demands three main elements: the right kind of proteins, vitamins A to F, and certain minerals. Of the minerals, the following nine are necessary: sodium, calcium, phosphorous, sulphur, potassium, magnesium, iron, iodine and chlorine.

Three of them, sodium, calcium and phosphorus, are introduced into soft wheat by the millers at the time of milling. The resultant flour, self-rising flour, therefore, contains these three important mineral agents for bone development and growth, in far greater proportion than other flours in commercial use.

Filia—"Dear Lord," prayed the coed. "I don't ask anything for myself—just give mother a son-in-law."

THE EQUALIZATION FUND

A very interesting article is to be found in the Alabama School Journal for the month of January on the apportionment and distribution of the Equalization Fund. The last Legislature appropriated $900,000 to be used in equalizing the terms of the different counties of the state. About $70,000 had already been appropriated which was known as a Revolving Fund and had for its objective the same as that of the $900,000 Equalization Fund, making a total of $970,000 appropriated by the State of Alabama to be used to equalize educational opportunities.

Before any county can share in the apportionment of this fund it is necessary for them to do certain things. Each county in order to share along with the others must be levying and collecting annually the three mill tax, the three mill district tax, and the one mill county school tax.

Every county which has the conditions set out in the above paragraph must be operating their schools at least seven months. The amount of money needed to do this is determined by finding the number of teachers necessary to operate the schools. One teacher is to be had for each thirty pupils in average daily attendance except where a one teacher school is had the school is counted a unit regardless of the fact she may not have over fifteen pupils in average attendance. Whatever the county funds lack supporting a seven months term under these conditions an amount is taken out of the $970,000 Equalization and Revolving Fund and appropiated to the county to supplement their local funds.

As stated above each of the elementary schools must be operated at least seven months and the high schools nine months but an interesting thing about this for a county like Chilton is that one half of the proceeds of the one and three mill county school taxes are set aside for buildings, equipment and operating expenses before the amount needed for a seven months term is figured. That means that in Chilton County we would have over $50,000 for other than teacher's salaries to be used to improve our schools.

There is not a community in the county at this time which is not in need of a large building fund. From the information furnished by the Superintendent of Education there are six centers now where the people are making an effort to raise funds to erect better schools. All of these are in rural sections where there is little money and the matter of building is a very difficult problem. In all of the other large schools there are crowded conditions and additions needed to the buildings now being used. In six of the communities we understand that teachers are making an effort to teach around sixty pupils because there is no place in whuch to place another teacher.

We feel that the County Board of Education is to be commended on the fact there seems to be an educational awakening among the people of the county in the matter of providing adequate schooling for the the children. Recently the two tax elections were carried by handsome majorities. Of course in the matter of these elections it was not an enlarged program but a matter of holding the opportunities already obtained and we feel that the time is fast approaching when the people of the county will not be satisfied with anything short of their best for the children. We have one of the best counties in the state from many angles. We are glad to note that in the Auitor's report recently made of the County Superintendent's office that it was stated that educational affairs of the county are well managed. We believe that the officials of our schools deserve the support of all the citizens of the county who are interested in schools to assist them in putting Chilton County on the map educationally. We can do it, why not do it?

SPEEDY RELIEF FOR SORE THROAT

This Doctor's Prescription Requires No Gargling

No longer is it necessary to gargle and choke with nasty tasting medicines to relieve sore throat. Now you can get almost instant relief with one swallow of a doctor's prescription. This prescription was refilled so often that the druggist who originally filled it decided to put it up under the name Thoxine and make it available to everyone.

The remarkable thing about Thoxine is that it relieves almost instantly, yet contains nothing harmful. It s pleasant tasting, and safe for the whole family, and is guaranteed to relieve sore throats, or coughs in 15 minutes or money back. Just ask for Thoxine, 35c, 60c, and $1.00. Sold by Upchurch Drug Company, as well as all other good drug stores.

QUICK BAKING

The keynote of today is more leisure for women. Women today are just as excellent housekeepers as their mothers and grandmothers before them but they are not willing to spend every minute of the day hanging over the stove, the kitchen sink or the dish pan. They systematize their housework and so plan their meals that they have leisure time for reading, for club meetings, for playing with their children and time for their husbands.

From laboratory experiments we know that a cake calling for three cupfuls of self-rising flour can be mixed in 8 minutes against the 15 minutes required for the same cake of plain flour. This is easily explained. Self-rising flour has to be sifted only once, there is no baking powder to measure, the eggs are added unbeaten and the cake is mixed as quickly and gently as possible. This all saves time against the old method of sifting flour three or four times, getting out the baking powder and measuring it, separating the yolks and whites of the eggs into separate bowls and then beating them separately.

Women would make cakes oftener if they did not have to go to so much trouble. A package or bag of self-rising flour eliminates all this trouble and makes cake and pastry making simple and quick.

Here is a very delicious cake that can be made in seven minutes. The family will love it:

Quick Cake.

Sift three and one-third cups of self-rising flour into large bowl. Break two eggs into standard measuring cup. Fill cup with melted shortening or cooking oil. Put into flour but do not beat. Add two cups sugar, one cup milk and one teaspoon vanilla. Beat entire mixture two minutes. Pour into a greased and floured loaf pan or two large layer cake pans and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes.

There are 17,000,000 more people in the United States than there were in 1920, estimates Leon E. Truesdell, chief statistician of the Census Bureau, who looks for a total population of 122,000,000 in 1930, as compared to 105,000,000 in 1920.

CHEVROLET PREPARED TO HANDLE BIG SALES COMING

Detroit, Mich, Jan. 11.—Following the announcement seven days ago of the improved 1930 Chevrolet at greatly reduced prices, the Chevrolet Motor Company last week launched manufacturing and sales activities designed to meet the requirements of what promises to be another record year for the public acceptance of six cylinder automobiles.

Factory officials expressed themselves as highly gratified over the reception of the new Chevrolet Six at the New York national automobile show last week. Thousands of orders and hundreds of congratulatory letters from the nationwide Chevrolet dealer organization told something of the success with which the new product is meeting across the United States.

Meanwhile, so that the thousands of orders already on hand may be taken care of with a minimum of delay, the 16 giant Chevrolet plants are speeding toward capacity operation with all the haste consistent with Chevrolet's precision manufacturing methods. Employment at the Chevrolet factories is at the highest January level in the history of the Company with many of the plants maintaining two shifts.

At the same time the sales division under the direction of H. J. Klingler, vice-president and general sales manager, sounded the formal opening gun of the nationwide sales campaign, Wednesday, January 8, at a mammoth Chevrolet dealer meeting in New York City. Two thousand dealers rom various parts of the Atlantic seaboard heard the Chevrolet sales chief outline the Company's plans for the year.

The New York meeting was the first of a series of 41 similar gatherings that will be held this winter from coast to coast in a comprehensive effort to appraise the Company's far-flung dealer organization of the plans which Chevrolet has arranged for 1930. In the course of these meetings, which will continue until the third week in February, every Chevrolet dealer in the United States will have the opportunity of listening at first hand to the Chevrolet message for 1930 and talking with central office officials.

Gatherings in each city embrace a business show in the afternoon and a banquet in the evening. The afternoon business meeting is perhaps the most unique and comprehensive ever undertaken by a large industrial organization.

These business meetings feature a number of playlets graphically depicting the successful operation of a retail automobile business in its various phases. All parts are played by members of the Chevrolet organization.

To make this business show possible more than a carload of drops, curtains and stage fixtures are taken to each city. Perhaps $50,000 worth of show equipment is required to stage the afternoon performance. A group of professional stage hands travel with the party and handle the work backstage.

In order to get the Chevrolet message over to the dealer organization in as short a space of time as possible, four groups of officials are conducting meetings simuntaneously.

Heading the party that will conduct meetings in the southwest, California and the Pacific northwest is D. E. Ralston, assistant general sales amnager. The party making the northwestern cities will be in charge of J. C. Chick, assistant general sales manager, while the meetings in the southeast will be conducted by M. D. Douglas, parts and service manager. R. K. White, advertising manager, will head the group handling meetings in the central section of the country.

MECHANICAL STEPMOTHERS FOR BABY CHICKS

One of the penalties of being regarded as an authority on anything is having to answer all sorts of questions mare or less closely related to your specialty. One of the many questions that I am called upon to answer quite frequently is, "What type of artificial brooder do you consider best?" To this I invariably reply that there is "no best system and no best device." Any of the devices and systems now in general use will give satisfaction if the manufacturer's instructions are carefully followed. A brooding system should be so arranged that it can be easily cleaned and disinfected, it should be guarded against fire, it should be able to develop high temperature and distribute heat evenly, it should be easily ventilated.

The terms brooder and hover are rather loosely used by many people. Strictly speaking a hover is that part of the brooding apparatus which confines the heat to a given place and to which the chicks have access for warmth. It is usually a circular metal canopy shaped to deflect heat downward onto the backs of the chicks just as it would come from the body of a hen. It is sometimes adjustable to various heights and is quite often surrounded by a slit curtain to confine more of th heat to the area beneath it.

Many types of heating plants are used. A kerosene burner is the most common form, altho coal, gas, hot water and electricity are also used to furnish brooder heat. If an oil burner is used it should be so constructed that the flame cannot easily be blown out or smothered and there should be some provision for the easy escape of fumes into the open air as they are very harmful to young chicks. With coal heaters it is also necessary to have a good draft.

Small portable lamp hovers having a capacity for from 50 to 100 chicks are deservedly quite popular as they are small and are easily cleaned, simple to regulate and offer little fir hazard if ordinary precautions are observed. They are usually circular in shape. A centrally located lamp is surrounded by a metal drum which carris the heat up against a metal canopy which deflects the hat downward. The canopy is usually surrounded by a curtain to confine the heat and slits in the latter allow the chicks to come and go as they please.

Large stove brooders are in quite general use and have much to commend them. In principle, they are much like the portable brooders mentioned above except that they omit the inner drum and the surrounding curtain. As they radiate heat over quite an extensive area gradually decreasing in intensity with the distance it travels, the chicks can find almost any degree of heat they wish. With this type of hover poultrymen can take care of 5000 chicks or more.

A plan which offers many advantages to the poultryman is the colony brooder system. A large hovr or brooder of from 200 to 500 chicks is placed in the center of a colony house and a temporary fence of one inch netting is put around it to kep the chicks from scattering. The size of the inclosure is increased from time to time as they grow and need more room. The advantages of this plan are obvious. If disease developes, for instance, it can be confined to one colony house, or in case of fire only one brood of chicks will be destroyed. The colony houses used are of the regular type familiar to all practical poultrymen.

There is a comparatively new system of brooding called the "battery brooding system" that I have seen in operation in sveral different states, and in most of cases is giving satisfaction for the production of early briolers, etc. These batteries are made up of compartments about 3x4 feet and four to six of these are usually built on top of each other. The floor of each compartment is made of one-half inch mesh wire and about 2 inches beneath the wire is a galvanized pan which catches all the droppings and is removed and cleaned every morning. About 100 chicks are put in each empartment at the start but the number is reduced as the chicks grow. When the chicks are old enough to determine the sex, the pullets are usually put out in a regular brooder room and raised for layers while the cockerels are left in the batteries and grown as rapidly as possible for broilers.

In Texas and in other Southern States, electricity is the usual heat in the batteries, while farther north hot water heating systems are usually installed. The advantages of this system are the small space required and the sanitary measures afforded by the wire floors in the battery compartments.

Iva Childress has bought a hot-dog stand in Clanton, moving one day last week. He invites all of his friends to come and see him.

Mr. McGraw has moved in the house Mr. Childress vacated on Mr. Dawson's place.

Several from here attended singing at Union Sunday p.m.

Miss Gwendolyn Clements gave a social Saturday night; all who attended reported a nice time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miskelley spent the week end in Birmingham.

The B. Y. P. U. met again Sunday night at 6:00 o'clock. There was a nice crowd out. Group No. 1 will render the program next Sunday night. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

MT. PLEASANT JR. HIGH WINS TWO GAMES

Two Basket ball games were added to Mt. Pleasant's credit column the past week when they motored over to Stanton, Wednesday afternoon and won a 16 to 7 verdict over the Stanton team, and then on last Friday Concord Jr. High.

In the Stanton game, Smith and Cooper, guards for the winners played a great defensive game by keeping their opponents held back from the goal, thus causing them to rely mostly on long range shots.

The first half ended with Mt. Pleasant leading 10 to 6, but the last half found the defense of both teams tightening up, however, the visiting team broke through the Stanton defense twice to net the ball for four points and 2 points by fouls. Stanton's lone marker for the last half came by a foul.

Friday's game with Concord was loosely played and un - interesting, but with a few days practice the Concord players will present a much stronger team and should interest any Jr. high school.

On next Friday, January 17th, the Union Grove team will be at Mt. Pleasant with their return game. A clean lively game is assured and a large crowd is expected. Be there. Game called at 3:20 p. m. R. B. Johnson, Principal.

Soul of Tact:—A well-known speaker lectured to the members of a literary society, and at the end of his address the secretary approached him with a check. This he politely refused, saying that it might be devoted to some charitable purpose.

"Would you mind," asked the secretary, "if we add it to our special fund?"

"Not at all," said the speaker. "What is the special fund for?"

"To enable us to get better lecturers next year."—Chicago Tribune.

LIBERTY HILL

Brother Holland delivered two splendid sermons Saturday and Sunday, these were his subjects: Saturday, "The silence of God;" Sunday, "This year thou shalt die." Both were well attended.

There was only a few at the singing Sunday afternoon, yet we had some good singing. Directors were: Mr. Kermit Lowery, W. G. Culp, D. T. Melton and Houston Melton. Pianists were: Mr. W. G. Culp, Mrs. Leslie Thornton and Mrs. Kermit Lowery. Everybody that can meet us at Cedar Grove next Fourth Sunday afternoon.

Miss Vivian Best of our community, has been seriously ill for the past week. We all wish for her a speedily recovery.

Mr. Marvin Lowery who is at work with Alabama School Supply Company, Montgomery spent the week end with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Thornton took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Ward Sunday.

Mr. Marvin Lowrey and Miss Hester Hall were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Cooper Sunday.

Alred's Garden Guide
FOR JANUARY

We suggest that you start your garden this month. If your early plantings get killed, then you will have ample time to plant again. An early garden will produce twice as much as the same garden planted late.

Below we offer suggestions for garden planting in the month of January. We have a full stock of seeds of every kind, and they are selected for this particular climate. Our prices are guaranteed to be as low or lower than the mail order houses.

BEETS—Sow now for our extra early, perfect model, Crosby's Egyptian, and Detroit Blood Turnip. The young plants of the beet can be successfully transplanted later.

CARROTS—Sow Scarlet Horn, Improved Rubicon, and Danvers Half Long Scarlet.

CABBAGE—Set out plants or sow Extra Early Jersey Wakefield, Copenhagen Market, Improved Flat Dutch or Drumhead.

LETTUCE—Sow or transplant from winter beds. We suggest Big Boston, Veribest Cabbage Head, Iceberg, New York, or Wonderful.

PEAS—This is an important crop in every garden and must not be overlooked. We have the Eary Morning Star, the earliest known; produces large crops of sweet and luscious peas in 42 days.

ONIONS—We have onion sets, onion plants, and onion seed. There are several varieties, any of which will give good results.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

Many of our readers who the Martin Petersen family in Thorsby and the tragedy which recently visited them will be interested to know some details of the attention and honors the Mikesell family received from the people of Iowa on their return from Thorsby with the body of the young man accidentally killed while hunting here.

When they arrived at Cedar Rapids the present home of the family, during a wait of several hours, funeral services were held at the church of which young LaWert Mikesell had been a member. While the body was lying in state at the church a young man chum of young Mikesell left his home and was absent so long that when he returned his mother inquired where he had been. He replied, "LaWert and I used always to go to church together, so I thought he might like it if I came to sit with him a while." There was great outpouring of friends and flowers from the church and Sunday school, the high school, the Cedar Rapids contingent of national guards, to which he belonged, and accompanied as a guard of honor at the funeral of Secretary of War Good when taken home for burial.

The father of the young man, Mr. Roland Mikesell, is a prominent railroad man of Iowa, and the family formerly lived at Council Bluffs, where they had a beautiful lot in a cemetery and where the body was taken for burial. Here some 300 railroad men vied with others to express sympathy and honors. The attendance here was even larger than at Cedar Rapids. In both places there were many expressions of surprise at the richness and beauty of the casket, and at both places the undertakers who had charge of the body were perfuse in praise of the preparation of the body and good work by the Clanton undertaker; and the family were well pleased with his reasonable prices for the casket and service.

Next Sunday night at 7:15, under direction of Mr. Laurell and Miss Thoroman, there will be a service of singing and instrumental music at the Congregational church .

"How can nations practice the Golden Rule?" was the subject of Christian Endeavor Sunday night. A fair meeting would have been better had not a violent epidemic of "clippitis" broken out. The majority of those who took part read clippings. Everybody is invited to hear the discussion of the question, "Shall we Abolish or Expand Missions; Why?" next Sunday night. It is hoped that it will be a discussion and not a reading circle.

Saturday afternoon, January 11, one side of the Christian Endeavor society, named "Faith," entertained another division called "Hope," at tea. The entertainment was the result of "Hope's" winning a contest between the two groups for better C. E. programs.

Rev. Each went to East View church to hold services Sunday night, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smith.

Mrs. Ollie Tagg has sold off all her household goods and also closed a deal for her home place. Mr. Relius Franklin has bought the house and lot and will move in as soon as such changes as he wants made can be completed.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garrick have engaged the house occupied by R. R. Franklin and will move in as soon as it is vacated.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Johnson had the Each family as Sunday dinner guests last Sunday.

Mr. Coy Gibbons, who was confined to his home for more than a week with flu, is up and around the place again.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Bice and children and Mrs. H. L. Walker were Sunday visitors at Deatsville.

Mrs. B. L. Davenport was a guest of Mrs. H. L. Walker last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Collins were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pate Sunday.

Mr. John Hansen of Powell, Wyoming, Mr. and Mrs. Ellery Hansen and Miss Lois Primm, of Lay Dam were guests of Mr. E. N. Steiner Sunday.

Mrs. Ollie Tagg and sister, Mrs. Child, left on the 4:10 train Wednesday for Minneapolis, where Mrs. Tagg will make her home with her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Bentley spent Sunday in Birmingham with Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Parker.

Miss Gladys Killingsworth of Birmingham spent last week at a guest of her cousin, Miss Edna Raybon.

Misses Everee and Odell Rowe, Catherine Stallings and Janie Kelley were dinner guests o Edna Raybon Sunday.

Mrs. S. C. Wood and son, Frank, spent Sunday in Selma visiting Mrs. C. S. King.

We believe that many of our readers will be interested to hear of Miss Catherine C. Perry, who was for two or three years a member of the faculty of Thorsby Institute. She was a young woman of charming personality and deep Christian character. As the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Charles A. Perry of Boston, she early imbibed a missionary spirit and recently went as a missionary to Japan.

We quote from an address given by Miss Perry after her arrival in Tokio, Japan. Speaking of her purpose in coming. Miss Perry said: "Like my ancestor, Commodore Perry, I have come to Japan as a self-invited guest; and though I bring in my hand a bible, which will not do as much harm as a gun, I have the same audacity as my ancestor, the Commodore, in thinking that I shall be received as an ambassador of good will; and I have not been disappointed. I am sure that when my people in America who are behind me in this work, hear about the friendliness of your people, they will feel more strongly than before the possibility of restoring the warm friendship that existed between our two countries for many years."

Miss Perry is now on the staff of Kobe College. The well known Christian undertaking is in the port of Kobe.

Mr. Stapp, county form demonstration agent, and Mr. Taylor of Auburn, are here making plans for strawberry growers to demonstrate different fertilizers for quality production of berries, whch we think will be worth a great deal to our strawberry growers.

Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers Association met in annual session on Saturday, January 11th, and elected officers, as follows: Carl C. Petersen, president; T. J. Martin, vice-president; D. L. Benson, secretary, and J. M. Smith, Manager and treasurer. Board of Directors, Carl C. Petersen, Chas. A. Peterson, M. J. Soberg, W. A. Hayes, T. J. Martin.

The total business of the association for 1929 was $114,957.39. The association was organized in February, 1902, and some of the people who first organized the association are yet members and officials of the organization, which has had a steady growth; and with 28 years experience growing and marketing perishable fruits and having a four store rating in the business which is destined to be better as years go by. The association is at present the oldest farmers organization in Alabama and is sufficiently experienced in the work that it will be a great help in teaching our younger people the new ways of organizing the farmer into groups for business progress. Everyone is glad to see the new warehouse and improvements otherwise.

Miss Agnes Leary entertained the Young Matrons Bridge Club at her home Monday afternoon. After a series of games a plate lunch was served to Mrs. S. C. Wood, Mrs. Grover Bice, Mrs. McDonald Pearson, Mrs. Relious Franklin, Mrs. Mack Gray, Mrs. Alton Cox, Mrs. S. H. Irving, and Miss Rachell Petersen.

She was assisted in serving by Miss Edith Johnson. High prize was won by Mrs. S. C. Wood; second by Mrs. McDonald Pearson; and Mrs. S. H. Irving won booby.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid will meet this week Thursday with Mrs. Ernie Hansen.

New Spring Seed in Bulk, at the Thorsby Drug Company.

The Ladies Guild will meet next week Thursday, January 23, with Mrs. N. C. Petersen.

Miss Ruth Petersen of Birmingham spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Petersen of Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. H V. Thompson of Birmingham spent Sunday in Thorsby. Mrs. E. L. Thornburg returned with them for a two-days visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Higgins of Deatsville spent Sunday with Mrs. Higgins's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Higgins.

Miss Ruth Gerald of Birmingham spent the week end with home folks in Thorsby.

Mesdames Christensen and Anna Villadsen spent Monday and Tuesday in Birmingham.

Mrs. Janie Sutlive is expected to return to Thorsby Wednesday, after spending six or seven weeks with her sister at Blakely, Ga.

Mr. Dwight Mixson of Montgomery spent Sunday with his brother, J. L. Mixson in Thorsby.

Miss Marguerite Davidson spent Tuesday in Thorsby. Miss Davidson is doing work in Birmingham for the present.

Miss Jewell Bean of Birmingham spent the week end at home.

Mrs. Johnson of Birmingham, sister in law of Mrs. Mary Stange spent Sunday in Thorbsy.

Mr. and Mrs. Nat Bentley visited Mr. Bentley's sister, Mrs. Brown, formerly Alpha Bentley, of Birmingham.

Last Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Gentry entertained the Thorsby public school faculty, Mr. W. T. Bean, Miss Ruth Martin, Mrs. Lillian Deason, Miss Clara Vines, Mrs. M. A. Wright Miss Juanita Connatser and Mrs. J. S. McNiel at a six o'clock dinner.

Their newly remodeled home could not have been lovelier for the occasion.

After the tempting and delicious dinner was served, the guests enjoyed the evening as a social hour.

Mrs. Gentry was assisted in this lovely courtesy by her niece, Miss Louise Bates.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Moates of New Cedron were visitors to Clanton Tuesday morning.

DOCTORS DISAGREE

When children are irritable and peevish, grind their teeth and sleep restlessly, have digestive pains and disturbances, lack of appetite, and have itching eyes, nose and fingers, doctors will not always agree that they are suffering from worms. Many mothers, too, wil lnot believe that their carefully brought up children can have worms. The fact remains that these symptoms will yield in a great majority of cases, to a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, the sure expellant of round and pin worms. If your child has any of these symptoms, try this harmless, old fashioned remedy, which you can get at 35c per bottle from Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama.

A GREAT DISCOVERY

When Pasteur discovered, in 1852, that the infection of wounds was caused by malignant bacteria, he performed a service of inestimable value to mankind. Since then medical science has been producing better and better intiseptics, to kill thes germs that may enter the smallest cut and give us diseases such as typhiod, tuberculosis and lockjaw. Now, all you have to do to be sure that these dreadful germs will not infect a wound, is to wash that wound, however small, thoroughly with Liquid Borozone, the modern antiseptic. You can get Liquid Borozone, in a size to fit your needs and purse, from Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama.

ADDITIONS TO MT. PLEASANT SCHOOL FUND

In addition to the list printed last week, the following donations were made to the building fund of the Mt. Pleasant School:

JUST LIKE AN OSTRICH

A medical authoriey says that a person who tries to cover up skin blemishes and pimples with toilet creams and powders is just as foolish as an ostrich that buries its head in the sand to avoid danger. Skin eruptions are nature's warning that constipation is throwing poisons into your blood stream and weakening your whole constitution. Remove the constipated condition and you will strengthen your system against disease and clear up your disfigured skin. The best way to do this is with a course of Herbine, the vegetable medicine that acts naturally and easily, which you can get at Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give me space to say a few words from this place. As next Sunday is our regular preaching day here and we hope to see a large crowd out, so come. I am sure our Pastor, Rev. G. G. Williams will have something good to tell us. We will also have singing and preaching in the afternoon. Singing will begin at 2 o'clock and preaching about 7 o'clock. Singers and lovers of music are especially invited to attend the singing. A happy new year to The Banner and all its readers.—M. Lockhart.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

What is the year 1930, already under way, to bring to the United States in the line of business prosperity or depression? This is one of the questions which is occupying the public mind at this time, and naturally so, because all of us excepting a very few professional idlers either at the top or bottom of the social scale are vitally interested in the future of American business. The stock market crash and the business depression which accompanied it, either as a cause or an effect, have rendered the immediate future somewhat uncertain.

It seems to be the consensus of opinion in informed circles, however, that we have reached the trough of the wave and are now preparing for another rise. Just when this will occur is of course problematic. A great many economists believe that the first few months of the year will be slow in a steadily increasing volume of business to bo followed by a mild boom in the later months of the year. One of the encouraging signs has been the recent holiday business. Christmas trade in most parts of the country, it is asserted, exceeded all expectations, and this is regarded as a decidedly healthy omen for the year 1930. Indeed the volume of business in the country as a whole was fully up to that of the year 1928.

It was announced in Washington recently that the Department of Commerce which has been receiving information on projected public work in the various states and municipalities, has received estimates from more than half the states. The constructive programs so far adopted by the officials reporting, indicate a total proposed public construction program of $825,000,000 in 1930. Some of the reports are of course only partial and complete reports will not be received until later. It can only be stated at this time that the prospects are decidedly encouraging from the constructive standpoint. This is of course only one straw to show which way the wind os blowing, although of course public building will be an important factor in 1930. It is known, too, that the great railroads of the country, many of the public utilities and great manufacturing organizations have expansion programs for 1930.

And of course, after all, the public mind will have something to do with the course of business in 1930. If the majority of the people become convinced that we are to have a depression we will have one, whether it is justified by economic conditions or not. On the other hand, if the great bulk of the people adopt a cheerful and optimistic attitude and go ahead doing business as usual, the changes are overwhelming in favor of a good business year in 1930, and one which will be increasingly good, after a slow start, as the months roll by. President Hoover gave the business year a good start by the conferences which he held with the heads of our great business, utility and labor organizations a few weeks ago. The stage is all set for a business revival. The same constructive policies are in force that have been in force for many years past and under which we made our greatest economic gain. We are at peace with all the world. The situation in Europe is gradually getting better. We are cooperating with other in a constructive way without becoming entangled in European alliances or commitments. It would seem therefore that we soon ought to be doing business again as usual. Let each of us therefore, with the new year already under way, determine to add our bit to the general welfare by boosting our community, our state and our nation at every opportunity. In a mass movement of this kind the results would be surprising.

SHOULD I CHEAT IN SCHOOL

We should never cheat in school for it doesn't show respect to our teachers. If we cheat it not only does us harm but it casts out all confidence our teachers have in us. If we cheat in lower grades it will make our higher grades harder. One grade refers to the one just below it and if we pass a grade we don't know, it will make it much harder for us to learn the one we are in.

If we copy in anything, it isn't learning you but it is casting off friends. A cheater never has any good devoted friends, but they do have friends of their own race of cheaters. If we cheat one time and are not caught up with we always try again. We should never begin cheating, for if we do we will always linger back behind our classmates.

Teachers most always know which one cheats, for when anything is said about dishonesty they always try to hide their faces.

If you cheat in one thing you are expected to cheat in all. If we cheat in work we will cheat in play. A person who is honest is highly honored and respected by all who know them.

I think if our parents work from day to day to help us hold a good position in life, we show them thanks by studying hard and being honest in everything we do. If we do not work hard with our lessons, or cheat, we are not showing respect to our parents. If we do cheat we will never hold a good position in life and will never have good, kind, and devoted friends. An honest person is known anywhere they go. If we go through school cheating, when we have finished, there is none who wants us to teach their children for fear we will teach them to do as we have.

The State spends lots of money each year to provide us with public schools, and we show them we appreciate it by doing our very best in work and play and we are always honest.

Our teachers have always said they'd rather we'd make a zero honest than fifty per cent dishonest. They are right by saying it. If we cheat while we ar young, and develop the habit of cheating, we will always carr yit with us, and we may end in jail or even prison.

If we are honest in daily work we will be honest in our "tests." If our teachers catch us copying they will never have any more confidence in us and won't leave us with the rest of the class for fear we will cheat.

The most choicy pupil the teacher has is the one she puts the most confidence in. They never have been caught copying.

If we have developed this habit let's stop right now for if we don't it will keep us back among the people who are unfit for anything.—Dorothy Jones, Jr. I.

The Jack Pot

BY "JACK" HIMSELF

If you happen to be rudely awakened some of these cold mornings about three a. x. by a wierd, unearthly noise unlike anything you ever heard before, don't jump to conclusions and decide it's Hades erupting, or something. More than likely it'll be the new fire alarm going.

And—does it get attention? Say—if Town officials ever want to call the roll, just let 'em sound that alarm, and if everybody comes out like they have been doing when it sounded, the Secretary can start calling, for everybody will be there to answer. It rouses all of 'em.

Come to think of it, though, that's a fine addition to the fire equipment of the town. Once upon a time we heard the bells ring when fire broke out, but the bells are no more, and for some time it has been the case where hardly anyone would know of a fire unless half the town caught at once, and happily that hasn't happened.

When is fishing season? We've always had an idea that it began along some time in the Spring, but from the looks of Rube Wyatt's string Thursday afternoon you'd think it was the very middle of the best fishing season in history. We don't know the secret, but he DOES.

If somebody stops in front of your door nowadays and begins climbing out, it's a 10 to 1 bet that it's either a candidate or an auto salesman. Gee, how those fellows can cover the ground. And scent prospects? A bird dog just ain't in it with some of them.

And, too, remember it won't be long before a big crop of candidates will be out. As for the auto salesmen, they've BEEN out. And with the competition as keen as it is in the auto line, and as it will be politically, a fellow must be GOOD to get very far.

Now, here's something the JACK POT hasn't opened on heretofore. What has become of that drainage problem? Who knows—if anyone—where all that hullabaloo led us to regarding the swamp drainage? Is it going to take an epidemic of fever or worse to stir this neighborhood to the knowledge of just how serious a handicap that swamp is?

If we must have something bad to come of the undrained sections before anything will be done, maybe the powers that be will use the swampy region as a base from which to send on us a swarm of mosquitoes as big as June-bugs, or snakes as big as saw-timber. Think we'd get action then? Maybe. But then, it looks as if it might take something like that to really open the eyes of Clanton people as to just how serious a question this is.

Somebody says the drainage project died a natural death because the cost question couldn't be figured out to the satisfaction of all concerned. Well, can't some of the DEEP THINKERS who bob up every now and then to tell our County officials how things should be run—can't they figure out a plan for this all-important question?

Excuse us for bringing up "Old Man Politics" again, but we'll bet that if it was the County Commissioners' duty to ditch out that old swamp, you could hear some of these good old "lily white", run-to-seed Democrats howling advice for a mile and a half. But as (in a way) the shoe is on the other foot, they keep mum. Come on, some of the born wonders in management who always have great ideas of how things should be run—tell us HOW.

Of course we need good roads, but the drainage of that piece of swampy land would be much more beneficial to the growth of Clanton than all the roads you could lead in here, in that it would tend to better health conditions. And if there is anything to help the health situation of the community it should be done. Not that Clanton is such an unhealthy place to live, but this would be the case anywhere.

Now—let's hear from some of those wizards of finance who ever once in a while raise their heads to shout advice to our County officials as to how things should be done, and as to the most economical manner in which to go about matters of this kind.

There's a chance for some self-styled advisors of the past to really be of service, but we'll bet a good sound ginger-cake against a rotten raisin that not ONE of the WONDER-WORKING WIZARDS who have offered their VALUABLE advice to our County officials so many, many times in the past will so much as let forth one teenie-weenie little peep. Any takers?—Jack.

Some Sights He Saw— and Some He Saw Not.

I quit last week on the corner at Upchurch's. Saw somebody coming. Thought it was a candidate. He was chewing something. That is why I thought it was a candidate. They are always chewing the rag; but I was mistaken. It was Earl Parrish eating a big red apple.

While I was on the corner a friend suggested the need of a traffic signal light at the busy crossing of the highway and Second Avenue. I'll tell you where we need a traffic light. It is on the front door of the Courthouse to regulate the folks going in and coming out. There is another half to the door, but I guess it can't be opened, or somebody would have done it long ago. Wait for a chance and squeeze through.

I am requested to advise the folks not to make up their minds too soon as there is no telling how many candidates will be out by the first of May. I believe the fellow who made that suggestion is figuring on being a candidate. Will tell you later if he gets in the race.

"I wish there was some place called the Land of Beginning Again." We all make mistakes. They are not all of the same seriousness, nor, are they all followed by the same disastrous results, but are mostly of a character which can, and should, be corrected where possible. The repetition of mistakes certainly should be avoided. That is all there is to a real beginning again, and there has never lived a man so wise and good but that he has many times felt the need of such a place of new beginning.

Well, folks, we have had two weeks of the New Year, and that is not enough for a very fair sample. But we know that 1929 was not such a very good year, somehow or other. There was something wrong with business. I guess there was a lot of extravagance and easy spending on one side, and unfortunately a lot of industrial unemployment on the other.

I believe we have just come to the crisis where the ideas of the people are changing back to the sensible way of doing business—the way it was done before we went crazy with war-time and after-war extravagance. We have been up in the air long enough, and I think we ought to be glad that we shall once more get both feet on the ground.

The only way we can get back to comfortable financial circumstances and good business is by hard and consistent saving. Well-meaning people who have been spending their time chasing the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow must get back to work and become producers and savers.

This great nation of ours ought to be glad of the effort that has been made by our President to get our faces turned back tward a better way of living and doing business. Above all, Mr. Hoover is one of the world's great economists. His ideas about internal conditions in our country are sound, wise, and should be welltaken.

Now that we are getting down to brass tacks again, money will have a different meaning for most of us. We will not be so inclined to throw it away or spend it foolishly, as we have done for the past ten years. People seem to me, for the first time in years, to be thinking in terms of saving. That is the remedy for our business and economic ailments.

A man told me the other day he had decided to keep his old car and use it another year before beginning to pay installments on a new one. I consider that wisdom. Of course the automobile salesman might put up a different argument. But the business of the automobile salesman is to make a living by selling cars. The business of the average man among us, whether he be automobile salesman or something else, is to make a living by saving every penny he possibly can.

I think we ought to come down off the high horses we have been riding since the war. We must chuck our false pride aside, act human, and be ourselves once more. The average man and woman must consider every dollar they spend.

I have heard some business concerns complaining because their business fell off some in 1929. That is alright, good I think. I figure that the average substantial citizen of Chilton County has money to buy whatever he must have. If he saved some of it back in 1929, he will be only the more able to buy what he must have in 1930.

But there is one thing I wish—that the folks of this County would buy what they buy at home, and leave the mail order houses alone. It would be staggering to know how much money was sent out of Chilton County in 1929 to buy things that could have been bought at home.

The man who buys from the mail order house perhaps does so because he is seeking to do the very things I have commended above, that is save. But I believe I state a fact when I say that the saving a man does in buying from the mail order house is false economy.

Every farmer in Chilton County is a part of our financial and business structure. He is dependent upon his partnership in that structure for the economic welfare of his family and the prosperity of his own business. How, then can he figure he has saved anything when he sends his money away to the mail order house? He has wakened the business potentiality of the concern of which he is a partner, and his loss is bound to be many times more than the few cents he saves.

ELECTRICITY SERVES ALABAMA FARMERS

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 13.—Beginning six years ago the electrification of Alabama farms has developed until 1,400 miles of transmission lines are now serving 8,000 rural customers. This report was brought to county farm and home agents and other agricultural extension workers of Alabama by E. C. Easter, chief agricultural engineer of the Alabama Power Company, builder and operator of the lines. The extension workers were gathered at Auburn for their annual mid-winter conference, January 6th to 11th, during which they discussed important farm problems.

Continuing his progress report, Easter said that rural transmission lines have been extended into 63 of the 67 counties of the State and that from an economic standpoint hydro-electricity is now within the reach of every Alabama farmer.

During 1929 four hundred miles of lines were erected and are now serving 1550 customers. Easter said that from 60 to 75 rural lines are in progress all the time, and that the aim of the Alabama Power Company is to continue rural electrification developments indefinitely.

As lines have extended into rural sections farm people have taken advantage of the service. As they become ecquainted with its advantages new jobs are assigned to electricity, which has proved itself to be an efficient and economical servant on farms as well as in city and urban homes.

Rural electrification was started in Alabama in January, 1924, by the experiment station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute in co-operation with the Alabama Power Company. The extension service immediately joined the initial promoters and the three have worked together in keeping Alabama in the front rank among states in electrification of farms.

LARGER FARM CO-OP IS ASSURED FOR ALABAMA

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 11.—That a larger and more effective organization of Alabama farmers is assured for 1930 was revealed here by county agents from 61 of the 67 counties. They participated in a discussion of co-operative marketing led by Prof. L. N. Duncan, director of farm extension work in Alabama, and E. A. O'Neal, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation.

The discussion came during the third day's session of the annual mid-winter conference of farm extension workers of the State which began January 6th and ended January 11th. The county workers based their opinion on conditions in the counties and on reports from local county farm bureau organizations.

During the confab each of the workers named the membership goal of each of the county organizations. These quotas showed that 18,635 members before spring of 1930 is the total for the State. This increase in numbers will make the voice of Alabama farmers powerful in the markets of the world, Mr. O'Neal declared.

In leading the discussion, Director Duncan stressed the need of a strong farmer-owned and farmer-controlled organization as a necessity to economic equality for farmers. He added that such an organization is needed to make the educational program of the extension service more effective. Importance has been added to the farm co-operative idea due to passage of the Federal farm board act, Duncan declared.

S. F. Clabaugh of Birmingham, president of the Protective Life Insurance Company, which is cooperating with the farm bureau in extending a life insurance service at low cost to organized farmers, reported that farm bureau members now have more than $1,000,000.00 of life insurance in force. It is group insurance — another benefit accruing to Alabama farmers as a result of organization, it was reported.

SUMERSON'S COTTON SEED

Mr. Farmer:—Stop and ask your self the question, "Do I know the cotton seed I am planting?" This is one of the greatest problems to modern progressive farmers. Some farmers think that cotton seed are just cotton seed, when they do not even look alike.

I have about 75 bushels of genuine Sumerson's Half and Half seed which I am going to sell at $1.50 a bushel. Or I will swap seed and allow you the market price for your seed. This offer holds good as long as my seed last.

I guarantee these seed to give satisfaction; every bushel of these seed are pure and specially selected at the gin. Will produce 45 to 48 per cent lent. These same seed from Mr. Sumerson would cost $5 per bushel and are well worth it. See me and let me tell you about them. Yours for better farming—H. Headley, Clanton Route 7. 2pd

BIG CROP LITTLE CASH; LITTLE CROP BIG MONEY

Farmers are warned that the action of the federal farm board in advancing 15.64 cents per pound, middling 7-8 inch basis, on cotton this year brings no assurance that any such figure may be advanced next year, according to information given by Seth P. Storrs, Commissioner of Agriculture, on Monday.

Mr. Storrs declared that nothing but a crop shortage in the West prevented a yield of 16 million bales of cotton this year. With this crop cotton would now be bringing a price below cost of production to all farmers. Big crops of cotton sell for less than small crops. No big crop of cotton has ever been produced at a profit to the suthern farmer. Had it not been for an act of Providence in providing insect pests and unfavorable weather in the West, this year's crop would have brought ruin to the South.

Supply and demand are what make the price of cotton high or low. There is a limit to the amount of cotton the world can use in one year. The government cannot make prices high or low, but it can stabalize the market by holding cotton and by advancing a stated sum to the farmer.

If the acre yield this year had been equal to 1926 the cotton crop would have amounted to 17,500 bales. A crop this size would have been ruinous to the farmers, who would have sold it below cost.

The federal farm board cannot protect farmers if they over plant. The board cannot undertake miracles. It cannot go against common sense and reason.

The world cannot use to good advantage more than a 14 million bale crop in the United States. If more cotton is raised, the farmer raises it for less.

The great question for farmers to solve for 1930 is whether you are going to make money raising a small crop or lose money on a big crop. A big crop, according to Mr Storrs, will mean a loss.

All wealth, life, and activity comes from the soil. The soil is the Great Parent of all created life and to it all life must return. All food, all shelter, in fact everything comes out of the soil. "Dust thou are and to dust returneth," is as true today as in olden times.

FARM BRIEFS

Leg weakness may be prevented by allowing chicks access to direct sun rays or by adding cod liver oil to the ration.

There are 23,000,000 acres of land in Alabama unsuited to crop farming that would pay a profit in timber if properly managed.

Some Alabama gins now use the cleaning devices that make snapping of cotton practicable. Farmers in DeKalb county reduced cost of harvesting in this way, and did not lose due to low grade.

"Broilers and fryers will bring a good price in February, March and April. Those marketed later scarcely bring more than cost of production. Hatch early."—G. A. Trollope, head poultryan, Auburn.

"Plowing in January will permit planting of the spring garden earlier, improve condition of the soil and aid in destroying hibernating insects." — Julian Brown, garden specialist, Auburn.

When dyeing or tinting clothes at home be sure the dye is completely dissolved before putting in the material and use sufficient water to cover it. Stir continually and keep the material loose during the entire process.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH RECEIVES GIFT

The State Board of Health has received another gift from the International Health Board of the Rockefeller Foundation in the sum of $15,470 to be expended in sixteen counties for the promotion of the Maternal and Infant Welfare Program of those county health units.

The grant, which was announced today by Dr. Stuart Graves, State Health officer pro tem, is made under the auspices of the United States Public Health Service, which has selected Alabama for further study of a special field of health work in which Alabama has achieved outstanding success. The work will be carried on in the following counties:

During the last ten years Alabama's infant death rate from preventable diseases has shown a large decrease. The new Rockefeller gift makes possible a continuation of this important activity.

The twentieth century is now in its thirties and we hope that it will soon begin to learn something.

Lack of appetite, loss of strength, skin eruptions, that "tired feeling" and other human ills may be due to a lack of red-cells in your blood.

If you are tired—lack pep—if your skin is not clear—if your appetite is "gone"—you owe it to yourself and friends to try S.S.S.

"My despair was so great I could have cried. The good cheer and merry happiness of others only mocked at my condition. I had begun to wonder why life could be so cruel. No appetite. No strength. Skin blemishes always embarrassed me. Aches and pains coursed through my body. I wanted to restore my health and live. What was I to do? . . . happily the day came and I found the right road to Health when a friend recommended S.S.S."

You may be one of the thousands with a low blood count—to this may be attributed "run-down" systems, skin troubles, and even more serious ailments. It is very dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

S.S.S. You owe it to yourself and friends to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build rich, red blood. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude. All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical. © S.S.S. Co.

BLACK ATTACKS PACKERS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13—Sharp attack on the attempt of the packers to set up a gigantic monopolistic control of the food supply of the nation through chain store systems was made in the Senate by Senator Hugo L. Black, of Alabama. Black was congratulated by Senator Copeland of New York upon the conclusion of his speech.

The giant meat packing industry of America has appeared in our federal courts, seeking action, the natural tendency of which would be a further concentrated monopolistic cntrol of the food supply of the nation, the Alabama senator told his Senate colleagues.

They have asked the Attorney-General of the United States to agree to an annullment of a conset decree which now stands as a barrier between the packers and such control. These packers cannot now open a genral chain grocery system, operate railroads and railroad terminals nor operate newspapers. But if this decree is annulled in accordance with the packers request they will be at liberty to open chain stores of all kinds in every city, village and hamlet in America, for the sale of everything eaten and everything used; to operate railroads, railroad terminals and newspapers. A giant food trust would not only be permitted but encouraged to rear its stupendous and ominous form over North, South, East and West alike.

"In the petition for annullment," Senator Black continued, "the packers predict that within a few years the entire food supply of the nation will be dominated by four or five great corporate chain store systems."

Senator Black declared that monopolies should be discouraged and not encouraged by governmental authorities.

"Chain groceries, chain dry goods stores, chain drug stores, chain clothing stores, here today and merged tomorrow grow in size and power," the Senator said, "and railroad mergers, giant power monopolies, bank mergers steel mergers concentrate more power and wealth in the hands of a few until we are rapidly becoming a nation of a few business masters and many clerks and servants."

The Senator declared that the local business man and merchant is passing and his community loses his contribution to local affairs as an independent thinker and executive.

The Deadly Blow

THE late Alf T. Ringling, of Ringling brothers, loved the lore of the circus. In his library he had countless books and pictures and documents and ancient posters all pertaining to life under the big tops. Also he knew hundreds of anecdotes, humorous and otherwise, modern and ancient, which related to some aspect or another of the business which he, all his active life, had followed. A year or two before his death he told me this one:

It was back in the days before the Ringling show had attained large proportions, when Barnum and Bailey's circus was, as its billing proclaimed, "The Greatest Show on Earth." James A. Bailey was the junior partner in the mighty enterprise, but that master showman, P. T. Barnum, being still in good health, remained in active charge.

The aggregation, with its menagerie, its three rings and its elevated stages and hippodrome track, and all, was touring the South. A day or two earlier, an acrobat who just had closed with a traveling burlesque troupe—by special request of its manager—applied for a job with the circus and was given one. His act did not give full satisfaction to the ring director, who so reported to Mr. Barnum and the latter sent for the new performer and told him that his work fell short of the desired standard.

"You recommended yourself pretty highly when you came around the other day," said Mr. Barnum. "In fact, as I recall, you told me you were the best man in your line anywhere. Now I hear that you haven't made good."

Being an artist, the young man naturally had his share of temperament.

"Is that so?" he answered with heavy sarcasm. "Well, lemme tell you sometin' There ain't nobody can reflect on my abilities without answerin' to me. Why I'm the guy that's makin' the show what it is. If I hear any more of this sort of talk, I'll quit."

"All right, then, quit," said the famous showman.

"You said it," answered the indignant trouper. "I'm out. I've resigned. Do you know what that means, Mr. Barnum?"

"I think so," said the older man. "It means you've quit."

"Think again. Do you happen to know what town this is?"

"Certainly I do—Pine Bluff."

"Now you've got it. Here, right in the middle of the season, I'm leavin' Barnum and Bailey's circus flat on its back in Pine Bluff, Arkansas."

COTTON ACREAGE

The time has come for Southern farmers to consider how much cotton they will plant next spring. Last year's acreage was too large. It was the largest planted acreage of any year in history, except 1925 and 1926. Nothing but crop failure in Texas in 1929 prevented a total yield of 16,090,000 bales in the belt. That is more American cotton than the world will take at a fair price.

A national acre yield equal to that of 1926 on the 1929 acreage would have produced 17,500,000 bales. A 10 per cent reduction in that acreage with the 1926 acre yield would return a crop of 15,750,000 bales; with average yields 13,500,000 bales; and with the lowest yield in the past seven years, about 11.250,000 bales. Large cotton crops sell for less than small ones. Ten million bales in 1923 sold for $1,600,000,000. Eighteen million bales in 1926 sold for less than $1,000,000,000; that is, farmers picked and ginned 8 million bales of cotton in 1926, gave them to the world free of charge and, in effect, paid $600,000,000 for the privilege. That is good business for the farmer.

Some cotton farmers think that because the Federal Farm Board has been lending to cooperatives at an average of 16 cents a pound on middling 7-8 inch staple of the 1929 crop, the Board means to see to it that the price will be at least that much for the crop of 1930.

This is not so. The Federal Farm Board cannot protect farmers when they deliberately over-plant. What the Board will do to help in marketing next year's crop will depend upon what farmers do at planting time.

If Southern farmers should raise their own food and feed and, in addition to that, should raise the food that southern city people eat so far as the climate and soil will let them, there would be small danger of any cotton surplus or of an unprofitable price.

The Federal Farm Board recommends that southern farmers plant no cotton next spring until they have first provided acres enough for a reasonable supply of home-raised food and feed. The Board further recommends that no land be planted to cotton which has not produced at least one-third of a bale per acre on the average of the last five years.

These recommendations, if carried out by southern farmers, would materially reduce the cotton acreage and help to remove the possibility of a cotton surplus.

Gas rates in Bessemer after January 1 will be reduced, a new schedule having been accepted by city officials providing for a reduction of nearly 40 per cent.

AGAINST THE CHAIN STORES

I wish to say a few words to the public as to how I see some things which are facing our country now. We have had for the past few years some chain stores in our town and in the country, in the larger cities they are perhaps in every block.

Did they help build your twon? Did they help build churches or schools or roads? Do they pay any taxes which you might keep in your town or county or state? Do the chain stores let their money stay here in banks to be used by our people who helped to make this money?

No. They get your money one day and send it to New York the next. Can you not tell from conditions now and a few years ago. Money was plentiful then, and since then the crops here have been very good, or at least more than previous years.

Do you not feel the effects of it? Don't you feel it until it hurts? I am one myself.

I said to a lady a few days ago, who was asking for some help on a church out seven miles from Clanton. What has the chain stores given you? She said nothing. Looking over the list she had, it seemed to me that most every business man had given something to help those people get the church where they could worship in it.

Fathers and mothers you will not stay here always. Don't you want to help your children? Can you do that by sending all your money to Wall Street? Your children at some time no doubt, will want to go in business. If we go along and trade with the chain stores and let them put all of our independent business men out, what do you think your boy or girl could do?

They would get certain articles to force them out. If you or your children should have bad luck in any way, or have sickness and need help, do you think they could get it? I feel sure that you can tell what would happen.

I heard a story today where a lady had passed a grocery for years to trade with a chain store. Her husband was taken sick. She went to the chain store for help and told her circumstances. He said I can't help you. So she went to the home merchant and told him the story. He said yes, I will send them up.

She said, I have passed you up to trade with Wall Street. I am not worthy of your groceries, and cried, but you will get what little money we have from now on.

How about our good people? You want to see your money stay at home. If you do, stay out of the chain stores. Trade with home merchants. There is where you get credit. You don't get any at the chain stores. Yours respectfully, J. A. Maddox, Clanton, Alabama.

We Solicit Your Continued Business

We have bought out the business of Moatts Market and will continue to operate at the same place. We invite you to continue to trade here and assure you of every effort on our part to render you the very best of service.

But They Had No V-C

A boll of cotton was found in a cliff-dweller's cave, and other indications were noted that the ancient inhabitants of that part of the United States knew the uses of cotton, say newspaper reports of an exploring party's discoveries last summer in upper Arizona and New Mexico. "They planted, spun and wove cotton, 3,000 to 10,000 years ago," the leader of the party is quoted as saying. Ears of corn in a perfect state of preservation were found too, he says.

V-C

"THE TREND TOWARD SCIENTIFIC AGRICULTURE indicates a brighter future for the American farmer"—DR. H. G. KNIGHT, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

V-C

M. V. Rice, Hamburg, Ark., tested with V-C Big Giant 12-6-6 under cotton and got from the fertilized acre a net profit of $62.66 after deducting cost of fertilizer. From the unfertilized acre, same field, he got $35.20. The difference in favor of the fertilized acre was $27.46.

V-C

SURE—THAT'S RIGHT

"Dad, what word is always pronounced wrong?"
"Dunno, Sonny—you tell me."
"Wrong!"—Exchange.

V-C

"A UNIT OF PLANT FOOD is as effective in a so-called double strength fertilizer as a unit of the same plant food in a fertilizer of one half its concentration."—E. L. LARISON, Anaconda Copper Co.

V-C

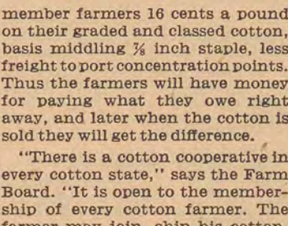
COTTONSEED MEAL can be refined and made good enough for human beings to eat. It not only tastes good, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, but IS good—especially for people who can't eat starchy foods but who must have proteins.

MORE and BETTER

The old habit was to figure "how many bales" rather than "how good." Longer staple means more profit just as surely as more bales per acre—and longer staple can be grown on many farms without a bit more cost for production. The farmer who gets ahead is the one who figures both ways at once. He works to grow more cotton and better cotton per acre. He farms with V-C.

"Most of the great surpluses and price declines have been brought about by acreage expansion."—J. C. Marquis.

V-C



"EVERY PLANT taking any element from the soil is removing that which must be returned if fertility is to be maintained."—Florida, An Industrial Survey.

MILLIONS for MARKET

Cotton farmers saw the light of a new day in the Farm Board's announcement that "nearly $100,000,000 is available" for marketing cotton in an orderly way and that "if necessary, the Board will ask Congress to appropriate more."

Farm Board loans to cotton co-operatives will provide for lending member farmers 16 cents a pound on their graded and classed cotton, basis middling ⅞ inch staple, less freight to port concentration points. Thus the farmers will have money for paying what they owe right away, and later when the cotton is sold they will get the difference.

"There is a cotton cooperative in every cotton state," says the Farm Board. "It is open to the membership of every cotton farmer. The farmer may join, ship his cotton, draw his advance. The cooperative will market the cotton and settle with the farmer."

Demand Keeps Growing

For the past five years the world has been taking a million more bales of cotton each year than it did the year before, says the Department of Agriculture. About 250,000 bales of the million are accounted for by natural growth of population, the Department thinks; and the rest, about 750,000 bales, is taken for new uses of cotton or a bigger demand in old uses.

V-C

"—netted 725 pounds of lint cotton per acre. Used 500 pounds of V-C 10-3-3 per acre and 150 pounds nitrate of soda."—D. T. TATUM, LaFayette, Ala.

V-C

INTENSIVE FARMING

"A sound land utilization policy will look toward the more intensive use of land that is truly agricultural. But intensive use involves the maintenance of high fertility."—J. G. LIPMAN, New Jersey College of Agriculture.

V-C

CORN AND COTTON are the two principal raw materials used in making the Duco finish on your automobile.

V-C

"The first bale of cotton to be ginned in Jefferson County was grown by Mr. John Paul and Mr. T. B. Bedingfield. V-C Fertilizer was used."—Louisville, Ga., NEWS & FARMER.

V-C

RAYON is the first textile fiber ever produced by man. It is made by the chemical treatment of ordinary cotton linters or some other form of pure cellulose.

BIG ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN TELLS NORTHERN FARMERS ABOUA SOUTH

Snuggled close to the fireside, while snow floats down and icy winds whistle about the eaves, thousands of northern farmers are now reading each month about the balmy climate of the south, and the fertility and productiveness of its soil. Each issue of their favorite magazines brings the story home to them. One month, there is portrayed the south's opportunities for the dairy farmer; another, is described the favorable conditions for poultry raising, and another for hog and cattle breeding, and another, is told how the elements which will enable him to make more money with less toil, and live happier the year 'round.

The upbuilding of the entire Central South is the purpose back of this big advertising campaign now being conducted by the Louisville and Nashville Railroad in the leading farm publications of the country which circulate in the North and East.

Though just started in October, more than seventeen hundred replies have already been received from farmers of the North who are interested in improving their fortunes. Many of these men are the pick of their communities. They have been successful where they are, but they realize that their opportunities are limited on the high-priced lands and among the congested conditions of the North. They are progressive and ambitious enough to want to move to this fertile country, where living conditions are ideal, there are no housing problems, no congested schools; where labor is plentiful, roads are good, and churches of every denomination abundant.

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad has been instrumental in the past in locating hundreds of such men many of whom have grown to be among the South's most successful and prosperous farmer-citizens. The present campaign bids fair to induce many more of similar type to cast their lots with southern communit. ties.

INSURANCE RIDDLE

It is still a riddle to the average motorist who gets mixed up in a collision why so little of the more than a hundred billion insurance written in America is carried by the fellow who hit him.—Akron Beacon-Journal.

DEFINITION OF A BANQUET

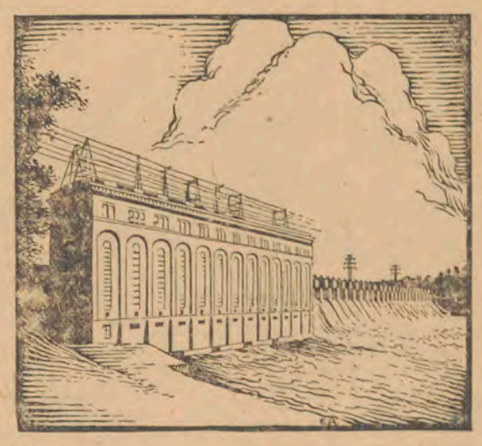
A banquet, we believe, is a showy sort of meal where the speaker eats a lot of food he doesn't want, and then proceeds to talk about something he doesn't understand to a crowd of people who don't care to hear him.—Capper's Weekly.

TOO MUCH FOR HIM

Mrs. Hubby (to husband)—Now, tell me dearie, what really made you stop drinking.

Hubby—Well, last time your mother was here I came home late one evening and saw two of her, and that scared me.—Detroit News.

A township trustee up in Indiana has given it out that he won't help poor people who own automobiles. Good gosh! They're just the ones who need help.—Houston Post-Dispatch.



Former millionars who lost it all in the stock market are becoming almost as numerous as former members of the Russian nobility used to be.—Kansas City Star.

New York is conducting a questionaire to find out which is the worst of its 26 different kinds of noise. Our vote goes to the crash in the stock market.—Butte Post.

Young people are not necessarily going to the devil just because the road has ben improved.—Toledo Blade.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank James were in Birmingham Tuesday and Wednesday of this week attending a convention of sign contractors.

RED GUM THRIVES IN FLOOD AREAS

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 13—The ability of red gum to withstand the effects of stream overflow and soil deposition was noteworthy in the disastrous floods which occurred in Alabama last spring, according to the State Commission of Forestry. This characteristic has long been observed in several species of trees. Study of the flooded areas, however, revealed ahat red or sweet gum suffered less damage from water and soil deposits than other species.

In Monroe County six acres of an old pasture grew up in a mixed stand of small trees about fifteen tall. The flood covered this tract of small trees to a depth of from three to four feet with sand and soil washed from surrounding ridge farm land. The tops of some old fence posts were just visible above the ground and others were completely covered. Upon investigation it was found that the loblolly pines died within a month or two after this happened. Persimmon lived several weeks longer. Red gum lived until late summer or early fall. In places where th soil deposit was only a foot or less in depth the latter species survived.

Red gum grows very rapidly on sites frequently flooded and is therefore especially suitable for lands of this type. It seeds prolifically and if protected from fire the young trees will grow into a good stand of timber. The logs find a ready market locally and are also bought by exporters who ship them to England, France, Germany and the Scandinavian countries. Among other uses the lumber is valuable for radio cabinets, furniture and store fixtures.

Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, of Akron, Ohio, has begun production of the largest truck and bus tires ever made, according to L. E. Diefenderfer, local dealer for the company.

The new tires are 13.50-20 in dimensions and the first ones to go in service will be used by a Texas electric company, on a large truck and highway trailer.

The load of the 13.50-20 tires is 8,800 pounds, greater than the load capacity of a 10-inch solid, 12-inch cushion, dual eight-inch high pressure, or dual 9.75 balloons. The recommended air pressure is 95 pounds.

Mr. Diefenderfer says that the new tire is one of the most rugged casings ever constructed and predicts that its use will soon become general on heavy vehicles. The new tire, he points out, saves the good roads from injury from heavily loaded trucks and buses and at the same time provides excellent traction and smooth riding qualities over rough and unpaved roads.

The Goodyear Company, to date, has built more than 150,000,000 automobile tires, millions more than any other tire manufacturer in the world.

You CAN . . .
but the Train CAN'T STOP
. . IN TIME

The Supreme Court of the United States has said, "When a man goes upon a railroad track he knows that he goes to a place where he will be killed if a train comes upon him before he is clear of the track. He knows that he must stop for the train, not the train stop for him. . . It seems to us that if he relies upon not hearing the train or any signal and takes no further precaution, he does so at his own risk."

That's the Law as it applies to the traveling public—and, if this law is obeyed, accidents at railroad crossings can be, and will be, prevented.

The Law as to Railroads is that they must take every precaution looking toward avoidance of such accidents by providing the best safety protection—signs, signals, gates, watchmen, etc., and, in addition, engines and other equipment of the most modern and practicable kind. The railroads are doing this.

The L. & N. Railroad, in 1928, spent over a million dollars in improving and safeguarding its intersections with highways and streets. And the end is not yet. This Railroad will continue doing this, regardless of expense. And all that is asked of the public is cooperation and fair treatment.

L. & N. passenger representatives will consider it a privilege and a pleasure to assist you in the planning of your vacation or business trips. They will gladly quote fares, provide resort literature, give reliable information as to train schedules and, if you desire, make advance Pullman reservations, arrange for tickets, and assist in various ways in formulating travel plans.

JESUS BEGINS HIS MINISTRY

GOLDEN TEXT—Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Chooses Some Helpers.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Begins His Ministry.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Jesus Began His Ministry.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Comprehensive Program of Jesus.

Jesus began His official work as Messiah at Jerusalem where He presented Himself to the men of the Jewish nation.

I. The King His Own Herald (vv. 12-17).

1. The reason for this (v. 12).

The news of the imprisonment of John the Baptist caused Jesus to forsake Judea and go into Galilee. The fate of John was accepted as foreshadowing His own. The rejection of the forerunner meant the rejection of the King, whose advent he proclaimed. Because of this He withdrew from the metropolis and went to the remote regions where His work would attract less attention.

2. To whom the proclamation was made (vv. 13-16).

It was to the people at Capernaum in fulfillment of Isaiah's prophecy (9:1, 2). These people were not blessed with such privileges as those in and around Jerusalem. Thus we see that the darkest and most corrupt of the provinces was getting the light first. In this we see a foreshadowing of the present age, when the gospel of the grace of God is being preached to the Gentiles.

3. His message (v. 17).

"Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." This is the same kingdom which John the Baptist and the Old Testament prophets proclaimed. It means the Messianic earth rule of Jesus Christ. It is for this we pray when we intelligently say, "Thy kingdom come." At that time the light will break forth which shall illumine the whole earth.

II. The King Calling to Himself Assistants (vv. 18-22).

1. His command of authority (vv. 18, 19).

He did not endeavor to persuade them, and He did not use arguments but issued the mandate. To command is the King's prerogative—not to argue or entreat.

2. The station of the servants called (vv. 18, 21).

They were men of lowly birth and occupation—fishermen. God chooses the foolish things of this world to confound the wise and the weak things to confound the things which are mighty (I Cor. 1:26).

3. They were called to definite service (v. 19).

"I will make you fishers of men." He had previously called them to be disciples (John 1:36-42). He now called them to service. This call therefore was not the gospel call to sinners which is "believe on me," but the call to service of those who have already heeded His call to discipleship. The qualities which made for good fishers—patience, bravery to face the storm and the night, the perseverance which toiled all night though no fish were caught—would make for good fishers of men.

4. Their prompt obedience (vv. 20-22).

They put their trust in Him who called, believing that He was able to supply their needs. There is no time for delay when the King commands.

III. The King's Triumphant Progress (vv. 23-25).

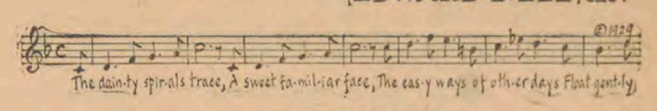
He went the whole round of Galilee, teaching the Scriptures, preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom, and healing all manner of diseases. He did a threefold work:

1. Teaching the Scriptures in the synagogues (v. 23).

The revelation of God needed to be explained. This is what He was doing in Nazareth (Luke 4:16-22). Such is the primary business of every minister.

2. Preaching the glad tidings of the kingdom (v. 23).

The King who was present and was heralding His own mission, was ready to establish His kingdom if they would have been willing to receive Him.



3. Healing all manner of diseases (vv. 23-25).

"His fame went throughout all Syria, and they brought unto Him all sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatic, and those that had the palsy; and He healed them."

War Time Wounds Healed, Martial Note Pleases

EDWARD NELL, JR.

Audiences Again Want Pageantry of Mars, Say Producers

New York City.—"The war time wounds are healed, and Americans are once again clamoring for the pageantry of Mars. The lure of gold braid, bright colors and martial tunes, again supplies the great stage thrills." So say producers, who keep their fingers on the pulse of the nation's emotion.

Viennese Captain who meet at the Silver Swan Inn. The story introduces dashing Hussars, and officers of the Emperor's Guard, in boots and spurs and colorful uniforms, not to speak of lovely ladies in crinolines and Hungarian Court Costumes.

Edward Nell, Jr., who plays the dashing Captain Richard, is considered by producers as great a find as the operetta. He was born in Indianapolis, graduated from Purdue University, and came East to sing at Holy Trinity Church. His singing of the song "Cigarette" has received so much comment, that both he and the song

PROGRESS

Our living comfort and the high speed of modern business are largely the results of the invention and skilful adaptation of a multitude of time and labor saving devices and services.

The telephone is conceded high rank among such accessories in both business and social life.

Nearby or in distant places, the telephone brings individuals voice to voice—the nearest thing to being face to face.

In the business world or in home life, use of the telephone has come to mean economy, convenience, speed and personality in every contact.

Your telephone company's ideal of service is to give the most and the best at the lowest cost. To attain this ideal, the Bell system is constantly striving for higher standards of service and better methods of operation.

Progress in both has been the Company's urge in the past and it will continue to be in the future.

SCHOOL PEOPLE URGE PAYMENT OF POLL TAXES

Concerted Effort Will Be Made From Now To February 1st

Plans for a concerted effort of school leaders to have the voters of Alabama pay their poll taxes before February 1 were laid at a recent meeting of a committe appointed for that purpose by certain groups of the Alabama Education Association. Educational forces of the state are concerned in the payment of the poll tax because it is a measure of good citizenship, and because receipts from this source swell the revenue for schools. According to the law all poll tax receipts must be spent to improve the schools of the county in which the tax is paid. Members of the committee point out the fact that such receipts are particularly needed in the counties that do not participate in the equalization fund. Even in counties that receive aid from this source they explain that the poll tax seceipts release certain other monies that may be used to swell the equalization fund.

The committee on poll tax payment is urging women voters as well as men to pay the tax before February 1. It is the belief of the members of this committee that many women in Alabama are not using their suffrage privilege. They are suggesting, therefore, that members of women's clubs, parent-teacher associations, and other organizations of special interest to women stress the payment of the poll tax in their respective communities. Similar plans will be followed in reaching large groups of men.

The members composing the committee on poll tax payments are: H. G. Dowling, Tuscaloosa and G. M. Barnett, LaFayette, representing the county superintendents of the state; C. C. Moseley, Dothan, and W. R. Harrison, Montgomery, representing the city superintendents; Dr. J. M. Mills, Ozark, president of the Alabama association of County Board members; A. F. Harmon, state superintendent of education; and Frank L. Grove, secretary of the Alabama Educational Association.

Mr. J. N. Dennis has a number of Armours Farm Almanacs for 1930 which he will distribute as long as they last. Upon looking over this little book, we are convinced that it is a most valuable piece of literature for the farmer. Besides having the usual Almanac information, it contains some most worthy articles written by farm experts and specialist on different subjects of interest to farmers.

If you want a copy of this book, you can get it by applying to Mr. Dennis.

YOUTH ON AMERICAN FARMS

After completing an extensive survey of home economics a department of a large mail-order house asserted recently that boys and girls living on American farms were more generally satisfied with their lot than were any other young people in the world. Of the 750,000 included in the canvass, 93 per cent of the girls reported that they intended to remain in the country, while 80 per cent of the boys had made definite plans for careers in farm communities.

The old myth that opportunity dwells only in cities was exploded long ago. While it is true that such great financial and industrial success as are achieved by the very few are possible only in cities, farm life offers the greater certainty of independence and competence. There is no problem of unemployment in the country for those who can work and are willing to work. The farmer's problem is to get enough competent help.

Superficially it might seem that in the matter of education city youths had the advantage. Yet of the farm youths concerned in the survey already mentioned 75 per cent of the girls and 73 per cent of the boys will go to college. In no large city do such large percntages of youth enjoy the advantages of college education.

No longer is the farmer isolated. Machinery has lightened his labor. And good roads, the automobile, the telephone, the radio and the circulating library enable the farm population to keep abreast of the times as readily as do dwellers in cities.

Youth on American farms, all things considered, has special reason to be gratified by its prospects.—Chicago News.

Bro. Bryan's Weekly Message

(Written for The Union-Banner by REV. J. A. BRYAN, Pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, Alabama)

THE PRECIOUS CHRIST

Peter writes in the second chapter and 7th verse of his first inspired letter that Christ is precious to the believer. Peter was writing this out of his own experience. He was a follower of Christ, but he had fallen far short in following Him at a great distance when Christ needed Him near Him. I wonder how far we are from Him today? Are you following Christ afar off? But this loving, merciful, tender, forgiving Christ had graciously pardoned Peter. In penitence Peter's heart had ached, and he felt so thankful for Christ's merciful dealings with him in pardoning his soul and taking him back into the fold, that he wrote two inspired letters expressing in different sentences the preciousness of Christ to the believer.

When Peter was in the Upper Room of Jerusalem, the home of Mary, the mother of John Mark, where Christ instituted the Lord's Supper it was for the purpose of prayer and worship to Christ. No doubt he went out and even stood on the street corners of Jerusalem and told them how they had driven spikes in the hands and feet of Christ and thrust into His side a spear, crucifying Him out there on Calvary's hill. No doubt with a feeling of unworthiness as to the most unworthy he pointed to Calvery and said, "There you crucified Jesus Christ, the Lord of lords and King of kings. Do you and I today crucify Him? I, Jesus, if I have crucified Thee during my forty-one years as pastor in Birmingham, wilt Thou please fold me to thy loving heart and forgive me? And O Christ if there is something which I am falling far short in Thy plan for my life, wilt Thou speak it to me this day?

The years pass and we see Peter following close to Christ now as he preaches at Joppa, Caesarea, and Samaria. I am not sure that he preached at Rome; perhaps he was there a little while; I have no reason to doubt it. Certainly his letters picture the precious Christ whom he was now faithfully serving in leading others to Him. Hear him when he is imprisoned with John as he is filled with the Holy Spirit, saying to the council and to us, "Neither is there salvation in any other; for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." If you will look to Him and trust Him, casting your cares upon Him, He will help you to make your life a different life, a happy, contented, peaceful one.

Now Peter is the only writer who writes of Christ using the adjective "precious" to describe His ministry and atonement for mankind. He writes of it in such words as these "We are redeemed not with silver and gold but by the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without a blemish and without spot. To whom coming as unto a living stone, disallowed indeed of men, but chosen of God and precious." Then we also find him writing these words: "Behold, I lay in Sion a chief corner stone, elect, precious; and he that believeth on Him shall never be confounded." He again writes of the exceeding great and precious promises of God.

Then we would not forget his divine text: "Unto you therefore which believes he is precious." Is the Christ of Bethlehem, the Christ of Egypt, the Christ of Nazareth, the Christ of Jericho, the Christ of Jerusalem, the Christ of Jacob's Well, the Christ of Alabama, is precious to your soul? As we go forth in the new year, O Lord, help us to harmonize thy precious truths and "Take the name of Jesus with you,

Child of sorrow and of woe.
It will joy and comfort give you;
Take it then where'er you go.
Precious name, O how sweet,
Hope of earth and joy of Heaven."

My dear friends, Christ is precious to me as my only Saviour from sin and its direful, awful, terrible consequences. You remember that the angel in the hill country of Galilee said to Mary, "His name shall be called Jesus for He shall save His people from their sins." The Greek translation of this announcement of Gabriel is : "His name shall be called Jesus, for He it is who will save His people from their sins."

The angel appeared to the frightened shepherds on those hills of Bethlehem, which looked upon with inexpressible gratitude, and said, "Fear not, for, behold, I bring you good tidings of joy unto all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour who is Christ the Lord." True it is as Peter has written, neither is there salvation in any other for there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved. Do you trust Christ for salvation?

O, if you will trust Him and look up into His precious face and see the scars made by those thorns crushed into His forehead from the crown of thorns placed upon His head in wicked mockery of His mission from the glories of heaven to a sin-cursed world He will save you O the precious name of Christ.

"Jesus, the name which quells my fears
And bids my sorrows cease;
'Tis music to the sinners' ears,
'Tis life and health and peace."

Jesus is precious to the believer as his only helper in temptation. Just here we must remember that Christ is not the author of temptations, trials and troubles. Temptations come from the devil only as we are climbing up the hill. The devil tries to pull us back into sin. There are temptations on the right of us, on the left of us, behind us, before us, above us and underneath us. But when they assail our pathway like great avalanches Jesus says as the inspired apostle writes: "My grace is sufficient for thee. My strength is made perfect in thy weakness." Temptations come to us to be unkind to the poor, to not divide a loaf of bread with them. But my friends, you and I must not yield to them.

"Yield not to temptation, for yielding is sin;
Each victory will help you, some other to win."
"Ask the Saviour to help you, comfort, strengthen and keep you.
He is willing to aid you, He will carry you through."

Jesus is precious to me as a friend. I think, I feel sure, that we do not think and speak of Jesus as our friend as much as we should. A friend is the holiest relationship of life. It is through the kindness and goodness of my friends that I speak the gospel of Jesus Christ over the radio to my friends. We acknowledge and emphasize our earthly friends. Yet we read that Christ is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother. Not only do we read that but we find it very true as we travel along the rugged pathway of life. So let us to-day begin recognizing more openly Christ as our friend.

Think what a friend He was to Simon Peter after he had followed Him afar off. There on the Sea of Tiberas He bade Peter to cast forth the net and make a great haul of fish. Think what a friend He was to have their breakfast ready for them when they came to shore after fishing all night. Think what a friend He had been in providing the breakfasts He has in your life and in my life. It is Jesus who stays by us. "What a friend we have in Jesus all our sins and griefs to hear." He is a friend we ought to keep our hearts and lives centered in.

Christ is precious to me as an elder brother. Mr. Moody tells us of an interesting conversation between two little Scotch boys in the British Isles. One was well dressed and the other poorly clad. The well dressed boy said to the other, "Jimmie, are there any lords in your family?" The poor boy said, "Yes, mother said this morning as re ate our porridge for breakfast that the Lord Jesus Christ is our elder brother." Is He precious to you as your elder brother? Do you tell Him your troubles, your trials?

He is precious to me as my light. Is He precious to you as your light? He says, "I am the light of the world to go before you." I used to preach in the mountains by early candle light. The only way we could see the people coming to worship was by the father going before with a light and the wife and children following. So Jesus is our light. The light we shed radiates from Him. He is so precious when we fall down to pick us up in tenderness and present us faultless before the presence of His glory. He says, "Be not dismayed for I am Thy God, I will strengthen thee, help thee, and uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness."

He is precious as my advocate and your advocate. He says that if we sin we have an advocate with the Father even Jesus Christ the righteous. He is precious as our only Mediator. There is only one mediator between God and man and that it Jesus Christ. How precious is the thought that He is interceding and pleading at the right hand of the Father for me and for you. I see Him holding out His nail-scarred hands pleading with the Father for His children. O how I love to look on this precious Christ. To me He is:

"How tedious and tasteless the hours
when Jesus no longer I see.
Sweet prospects, sweet birds, and sweet flowers have lost all their sweetness to me.
The mid-summer sun shines but dim,
The fields strive in vain to look gay
But when I am happy in Him,
December's as pleasant as May."

STATE CAPITOL News

Assessed valuation of taxable property in the State of Alabama for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1929, including motor vehicle assessments made through November 14, reached the impressive total of $1,238,329,738, an increase of $45,183,697 over the preceeding year. The increase is attributed to the general growth of the State and development of its resources, and to a more uniform equalization of the assessments, between counties as well as between individuals. The total increase in assessed valuations for the last fiscal year compared most favorably with the average annual increase for the past six years, which average is $42,110,321. As further evidence of the manner in which Alabama is developing and her property values increasing, the total tax valuations for 1929 showed a gain of $252,661,388 over 1923, and increases of more than 25 per cent in six years. By the time that the remaining motor vehicle assessment and escapes for 1929 have been added, the total for that year will exceed the figure given above, and is expected to reach approximately one and one-quarter billions of dollars.

Real estate valuations for 1929 totalled $780,806,680, as compared with $754,393,618 for 1928, an increase of $26,413,062. Personal property valuations increased from $184,602,986 in 1928 to $190,873,409 in 1929, a gain of $6,270,423; motor vehicle assessments for 1928 were $30,259,337, and for 1929, as reported through November 14, were $31,798,537, an increase of $1,539,200. Public-Utilty assessments advanced from $220,911,305 in 1928 to $231,639,231 for 1929, a gain of $10,727,926. The ten percent penalty on delinquent assessments brought in $3,041,795 for 1928, and $3,271,881 for 1929, an increase of $233,086.

Although valuations showed the increase set out above, there has been no policy of raising assessments generally, or of raising those which were on an equitable basis. In several counties where valuations were notably behind the rest of the state, considerable progress was made in adjustments, in carrying out a policy of equalizing tax assessments as uniformly as possible over the state. Due consideration was given to the immense losses and reductions in property values caused by floods in South Alabama. There was also some reduction in values in the mineral district, by reason of depletion, and inactivity in the coal business during the past several years. It is interesting to note, however, that of the total increases in valuations for 1929 over 1928, 43.76 per cent was contributed by six counties in the mineral destrict—Blount, Jefferson, Shelby, St. Clair, Tuscaloosa, and Walker. The total increase for the entire state for 1929 over 1928 was $45,183,697, of which $19,787,604 was made in the above six counties. Of this increase, $16,879,075 was in Jefferson County.

Up to January 1, 1930, the Tax Commission has collected and deposited with the State Treasurer $310,933.48 from the registration of foreign securities in the office of the State Tax Commission. This was by a provision of the 1927 Revenue Bill and while it has brought in considerable revenue to the state it has resulted in quite a saving to the taxpayers who were owners of stocks and bonds of foreign corporations and governments.

All owners of securities which are defined as stocks, bonds, notes, and debentures of foreign corporations and governments other than the State of Alabama, and its political sub-divisions, who owned such securities on or prior to October 1, 1929, should register their ownership of these securities with the State Tax Commission immediately, for on and after the first Monday in February the county tax assessors will start making information assessments against any property which has not been properly assessed. The registration of ownership of these securities in the office of the State Tax Commission exempts them from ad valorem tax and prevents the assessment of any escape taxes against such property.

Any owners of these securities who fail to avail themselves of this method of obtaining exemption from ad valorem tax may find themselves penalized to the extent of being assessed for the current and five preceeding years with ad valorem taxes against this class of property, when they could have obtained exemption by paying a small privilege tax to the State Tax Commission and paying for the filing and recording of their lists. The Tax Commision urges all owners of securities to act promptly and avoid being penalized by failure to take advantage of the new law above referred to, before the first Monday in February.

The Tax Commission is glad to announce that this further time is granted to owners of such securities and wishes to say that it will not attempt to invoke any retro-active penalty or bank assessment on any owner of securities who files his list before the above delinquent date.

During 1929 officers of the State Law Enforcement Department captured and destroyed 1,878 stills, and poured out 1,120,440 gallons of mash, 14,592 gallons of whiskey and 12,717 bottles of home brew, according to the annual report of Chief Walter K. McAdory. The number of stills destroyed in 1929 was 109 more than the number for 1928. During the past year state officers also seized for confiscation 131 automobiles, five motor boats and nine horses and mules.

A total of 3,096 arrests were made by state officers during 1929, of which 330 were for distilling, 46 for possession of a still, 50 for transporting liquor, and 1,387 for other forms of prohibition law violation. Arrests were made also by McAdory's men for a long list of other law violations. Increased activity of the department in helping make the highways safe was shown in the fact that 395 arrests were made for violating traffic law, 119 for reckless driving, 52 for driving while intoxicated and 32 for speeding.

Commissioner I. T. Quinn, of the Department of Game and Fisheries, is giving a series of radio addresses over station WBRC Birmingham, discussing conservation and its progress in Alabama. They are given every two weeks. His next address will be broadcasted from 9 to 9:15 on next Wednesday evening, January 15th. These addresses are attracting much favorable attention through out the United States.

NEGRO HOUSE IN WEST END IS DYNAMITED

Purpose Said To Be To Kill A Certain Negro Woman

Monday night about 11:30 Chief of Police Boockholdt and Night Marshal Lowery were called to West End and found that one of the negro houses out there had been dynamited by unknown persons.

Chief Boockholdt said that the best story he could get of the blasting ran about as follows: A negro woman, whose name he did not know, lived in the house with six children of her dead sister. Another negro woman by the name of Willie Jeter was visiting there Monday night. All were asleep except the oldest child and the women, and these three had been sitting before the fire singing. The oldest child prepared to go to bed when she smelled something burning. The sleeping children were awakened and all started out of the house when the first explosion went off apparently under the house. As the negroes got out in the yard another explosion was set off, completely tearing to pieces the bed from which the children had just been taken. Considerable damage was done to the house.

Chief Boockholdt sent the children to a nearby house to spend the remainder of the night. No one was hurt.

Officers said that they could find no reason for the dynamiting except a rumor that someone wanted to kill one of the women. The children ranged in age from one to ten years of age.

STATE'S CASE IS RESTED IN TRIAL OF MRS. COOLEY

The state concluded its case against Mrs. Maude Cooley Tuesday afternoon in Judge H. P. Heflin's Criminal Court room where Mrs. Cooley is being tried on charges of murder in connection with the slaying of her husband last October.

Mrs. Cooley is expected to take the witness stand in her own defense Wednesdey.

The defendent entered a plea of not guilty and not guilty "by reason of insanity" at the opening of the trial Tuesday morning.

Assistant Solicitor James McKenzie Long, who is prosecuting the case with Jim Davis, former solicitor, indicated that the state would ask the death penalty for Mrs. Cooley.

Cooley was fatally wounded October 29 when he unexpectedly returned to his home at night.

Dr. Magruder Testifies

Dr. Thomas Magruder, of the hospital staff, and Detective W. E. DeGroat were the chief state witnesses Tuesday.

Dr. Magruder testified that he attended Cooley's wounds and that Cooley told him that he knew he was going to die and wished to make a statement. Dr. Magruder testified that Cooley told him that he arrived at his home to find the door locked and that when he was admitted he saw a man come out of the bathroom, who was only partially clothed.

Cooley told him, the doctor testified, that he grappled with the man and while struggling on the floor with him was shot from behind by Mrs. Cooley.

Detective DeGroat testified that Mrs. Cooley told him on his arrival at the scene that she fired in self-defense, but that the defendant later changed her story and admitted that W. E. Daugette was present at the time of the shooting.

The detective testified that Mrs. Cooley was clad in a bathrobe at the time he arrived at the house.

Later, the officer testified, he questioned Daugette, who finally admitted he was present in the house. DeGroat brought a single-barreled shotgun which was introduced as evidence in the case by the state.

C. L. Worrell, of Johns Undertaking Company, was the first state witness. Worrell said that David Cooley, the husband, told him that Mrs. Cooley "got him."

Oliver Cooley, 25-year-old son of the slain man, testified that his father told him that his wife shot him.

"Maude got me just as she said she would," Oliver Cooley quoted his father as saying. The son testified that his father told him that he was shot as he struggled with another man on the floor of the Cooley home.

FRANK CALLEN WITH PEOPLES SAVINGS BANK

The many friends of Mr. Frank Callen are delighted to see him back at the window in the Peoples Savings Bank. Mr. Callen retired from active connection with this institution about a year ago, and his friends predicted then that he couldn't stay away very long.

L. C. Hendrix and Louie Smith have gone to New York to take special business training at New York University. The duties which they left had to be taken care of by somebody, and naturally it was a place for Frank Callen to get back into harness for a while at least.

KIWANIS CLUB MEMBERS ATTEND MEETING, MONTGOMERY

The District Trustees Conference of Alabama Kiwanis District in Montgomery Tuesday was attended by the following members of the Clanton Club: Dr. V. J. Gragg, President; J. Mell Martin, vice president; W. M. Wyatt, secretary; H. G. Boyd, district trustee; Percy M. Pitts, B. R. Goltsman.

Attendance was good from practically all clubs in Alabama, and indications were on every hand that 1930 will be a year of great accomplishments toward the objective of Kiwanis.

WILLIE SHAW IN RACE FOR COMMISSIONER

Mr. W. G. Shaw of Jemison has entered the race for County Commissioner in the First District. He will seek the nomination in the Republican primary for the office which is now held by John Bean. Mr. Bean is also a candidate to succeed himself.

Mr. Shaw is a young man, and our impression of him on first acquaintance is that he seems like a hustler. He has many friends in the northern part of the county, who declare he would make a good County Commissioner.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

There will be services at the Clanton Presbyterian Church next Sunday. Dr. Frazier will preach at 11 a. m.

A very beautiful vesper service is planned for 5 p. m.

The public is cordialy invited to these services.

Davis Cooper Heads Baptist State Work

Three Departments Consolidated and New Evangelist Added

Consolidation of Sunday school, B. Y. P. U. and B. S. U. divisions of the Alabama Baptist convention into a department of education and training was perfected here this week by the executive committee of the executive board. Davis Cooper, Jr., State secretary of the Sunday schools, was elected director of the new department with John Maguire, field worker for north Alabama in the Sunday school department and Miss Elizabeth Perry, secretary of the Junior Intermediate department of the B. Y. P. U., as associate directors. The consolidation becomes effective on March 1st.

Announcement was made Thursday that Mr. Cooper and Mr. Maguire have already accepted their position, Miss Beth Gibbons was appointed office secretary. She has been connected with the Sunday school department for several years.

Four state evengelists were also elected by the committee. Rev. V. C. Kincaid, who has been engaged in this work for some time, was retained and the following ministers were added to the staff: Henry Rogers, secretary of the B. Y. P. U. department with headquarters in Montgomery; R. T. McLeod, of Abbeville, and Rev. Mr. Miers, of Morgan county.

The Baptists expect to lay greater stress on evengelism in Alabama this year than ever before. This program actuated the board in effecting its consolidation program just before the Christmas holidays.

DIXIE BLACKBIRD MINSTRELS AT HIGH SCHOOL

The Chilton County High School presents "Dixie Blackbird Minstrels" Friday night of this week, January 24th, at 8:00 o'clock. The play is being very successfully coached by Mr. Lowell Boles, representative of the Wayne P. Sewell Company, of Atlanta, Georgia. Mr. Boler brought with him suitable costumes, catchy songs, and a full supply of snappy new jokes, all of which will be properly combined and artistically presented so as to make "Dixie Blackbirds" the biggest hit ever shown here.

The play will be made up of local talent, coached by a trained expert, Mr. Boler. The High School faculty and students hope to have a good attendance at the play.

L. & N. TRAIN IN BAD WRECK AT TRAFFORD, ALA.

Two persons were killed outright and 25 others injured, seven dangerously, when passenger train No. 4 of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad plunged from the track near Trafford, Ala., at 9:30 o'clock Monday night, January 20th.

The accident occurred about 22 miles north of Birmingham. The crash was heard by residents in the Birmingham district.

Although rescue crews were formed immediately at the scene, composed of passengers of three cars that remained on the tract and residents of Trafford, bodies of the victims and the injured could not be removed from the wreckage until about 1 a.m., Tuesday, more than 3 hours after the wreck.

Many of the injured were wedged under debris and rescue work also was hampered by almost impenetrable darkness.

Relief trains carrying doctors and nurses were rushed to the scene out of Birmingham, and the injured were placed on a special train to be brught back to Birmingham for treatment.

In addition to those placed on the special train, three other injured were brought to Birmingham by ambulance and taken to the St. Vincent's Hospital.

BANKS CLOSED MONDAY FOR R. E. LEE'S BIRTHDAY

Banks were closed in Chilton county Monday in honor of the birthday of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

The birth anniversary of the Confederate leader occurred on Sunday, but the legal holiday was observed Monday. The birthday of General Stonewall Jackson was observed on Tuesday by schools and patriotic organizations.

Numerous programs honoring Gen. Lee were broadcast over the radio Sunday.

REV. NICHOLS ILL

I am sorry that I was unable to fill my engagements with Maple Springs and Samaria churches the 3rd Sunday of this month. While doing some very heavy work on the 18th of this month I happened to a very painful accident which laid me up. I have not been able to walk very much or to stand on my feet since it happened. I haven't been able to enjoy this three-inch snow that we have. My physician thinks I will be all right in a week or ten days. May Heaven's blessings be upon my people, together with all others.—A. L. Nichols.

JOE CALLOWAY HAS BOUGHT OUT FARLEY DRUG COMPANY

Mr. Joe Calloway has bought out the business of the Farley Drug Company, and from now on it will be the Calloway Drug Company. Mr. Calloway is an old head in the drug business. For many years he was connected with the Alred Drug Company here, part of which time he was part owner of the business with Dr. Neighbors.

In retiring from the business, Mr. Leonard Farley declined to make any announcement as to his future plans. "There is only one thing I can say," he stated, "and that is I am out of the drug business in Clanton."

There are 23,000,000 acres of land in Alabama unsuited to crop farming that would pay a profit in timber if properly managed.

SIX BOYS HELD ON LARCENY CHARGE

Ben and Layton Connell, W. B. Opel and Ezra Morris, and Floyd Scamp, all of whom live in the Birmingham District, were tried in Justice Court of H. M. Simpson last Friday and Saturday, on a charge of stealing a quantity of brass and copper at Mitchell Dam. They were bound over to the grand jury under bonds of $300 each, charged with petit larceny. Some of the boys have made bond, while the others remain in jail at this writing.

Arrest of the boys was made in Bessemer, where they were found in possession of the stolen goods. Sheriff Collins with deputies George Murrah and Billy Foshee, went to Bessemer and brought them back to Clanton to answer the charges.

MRS. W. P. MIMS DIED AT HOME ON FRIDAY MORNING

Mrs. Docia Mims, wife of Rev. W. P. Mims, died about 7 o'clock Friday morning, January 17. News of her death came as a shock to most of the people in her immediate neighborhood, many of her close neighbors being unaware of her illness.

Several months ago Mrs. Mims was ill for some time, but it was thought that she had fully recovered and was well on her way back to normal health. However about ten days ago a small boil appeared on her face, and later she began to complain of head and neck pains, yet, on account of the small size of the infection nothing much was thought of it. Two or three days before her death doctors in attendance pronounced the ailment erysipelas.

On Thursday night the pains in her head became worse, death resulting early Friday morning.

Mrs. Mims is survived by her husband and four children of her immediate family. The children are: E. Bennie Mims, Clanton, Route 2; Mrs. Gertie Mae Smith, Clanton, Route 4; Alice, a baby girl, at home; and Mrs. D. Enoch Easterling, who recently moved to Santa Rosa, Texas. All of these children were present at the funeral except Mrs. Easterling. A doughter, Evie, died some twenty odd years ago, and a son, Allen, died in October, 1924.

She was the daughter of B. L. Dennis, who died about six years ago. Surviving brother and sisters are: J. E., and Dock Dennis, of Maplesville; C. C., and Levi Dennis, of Wadsworth; B. D., and Horace Dennis, of Clanton, Route 6; Mrs. F. M. Mims, and Mrs. J. A. Dykes, of Clanton, Route 2. Mrs. Mims would have been 49 years old next June 3.

Mrs. Docia Mims was widely known and loved in Chilton County, where she has lived all her life. She has been a member of Temple Church for the last thirty or more years. Her life is a model of true Christianity, love of home and family, and purity. She was held in high esteem by everyone who knew her, and her passing leaves a vacancy never to be filled in her community.

Interment was in Temple cemetery with Rev. Arthur Bell, of Illinois, in charge of the funeral. Martin, undertaker, had charge of burial arrangements.

Temple community as a whole, as well as people of the whole surrounding part of Chilton County join with her family, brothers and sisters, in mourning the untimely passing of this good woman which, though a distinct loss here on earth is surely Heaven's gain.

FOUR ARRESTED BY CITY OFFICERS SATURDAY

Chief of Police, John Bookholdt, and Green Retherford went to Frog Level last Saturday afternoon and arrested three negroes, Will Vinson, Ben Cooper, and John Pearson, and Dallas Little, a white man. Vinson, Cooper, and Little were charged with violating the prohibition law. Pearson, who owned the place where the party was, was charged with disorderly conduct.

The negroes were placed in jail, and the case of Harvey Vinson turned over to the state. Dallas Little was given bond to sign, and Chief Boockholdt had not seen him any more when this report was given to the press Monday night.

Last Thursday was installation day with the Kiwanis Club of Clanton. Cohen E. Stapp, who has been president of the club since its organization two years ago, presented the President's button to Dr. V. J. Gragg, who has been elected club president for the year 1930. In return, Dr. Gragg presented to Mr. Stapp the gold button of Immediate Past President. Each of these gentlemen made their presentation with short and impressive speeches fitting the occasion.

The entire list of club officers for 1930 is as follows: Dr. V. J. Gragg, president; J. Mell Martin, vice-president; W. M. Wyatt, secretary; J. R. Mullins, treasurer; H. G. Boyd, district trustee. Together with the above-named officials, the Board of Directors is composed of the following: J. C. Page, S. J. Ezell, W. M. Polk, L. C. Warr, Reedie Taylor, Eric Hart, E. A. Childs.

The board of directors held a meeting Friday night, at which time the scope of the work of the club for 1930 was very carefully surveyed, and some definite plans outlined. There is evident among the membership of the club a determination to make 1930 the best in the history of the club from the standpoint of Kiwanis activity and community service.

There are a number of new members ready to come into the club, and it is the expressed determination of all the members to make such a showing in the next few months that all those former Kiwanians who have dropped out will be anxious to come back and get in with the gang that is really doing something for Clanton and Chilton County.

CLANTON QUINTET WINS TWO AND LOSES ONE

The Clanton Athletic Club bas ket ball team won two games last week end, but dropped one on last Monday night. Thursday night the locals defeated the Buck Creek team from Siluria 26 to 12. Saturday night they showed the United States Rubber Company team of Birmingham where to get off at with the score of 32 to 15.

On Monday night the Clanton team went to Birmingham and lost to the Southern Daries outfit 32 to 26.

Clanton has a cracker-jack basket ball team this year, and should furnish us with several good games before the curtain rings down on the '30 season.

Alfred Mims Again Seeking Tax Office

In Spite of Former Defeat, Mims Remains Strong Republican

The many friends and former supporters of Mr. Alfred F. Mims will again have an opportunity to support him in the race for Tax Collector of Chilton County. Alfred is a full-fledged candidate, having made his announcement Monday afternoon.

Mr. Mims was defeated in the race four years ago, but it did not cause him to falter in his allegiance to the Republican party. He has always been one of the stoutest Republicans in Chilton County, and if loyalty to the party counts anything, Alf Mims can make one hundred per cent on that score.

Notwithstanding he has been a candidate before, Mr. Mims has never held a public office of any kind. He has always had to take defeat for his part heretofore, but he has taken it with good grace, conceding the right to the voters to choose their nominees, and falling into the ranks and supporting the tickets in the general election.

"I would be glad to have the Republican nomination for Tax Collector this time," said Mr. Mims. "I have asked for the office in the past and got defeated. But I hold no grudge against anybody for that. I look to the future with as much loyalty and confidence in the Republican party as I ever have. And if the Republicans of Chilton County will give me the chance which I now ask for, I will be glad to serve the people in office with just as much faithfulness as anybody."

Mr. Mims is a campaigner from away back. If you are a voter in Chilton County, you may rest assured that you will have a chance to see and talk with Alf Mims before the primary. He covers the ground thoroughly, and doesn't leave anybody out.

FORMER CHILTON COUNTY CITIZEN KILLED IN B'HAM

B. F. Hubbard, Son of George Hubbard Shot By Negro, Robert Heath

B. F. Hubbard, son of George Hubbard, who lives near Liberty Hill church, and who served in the army and saw action on the battlefields of France, died at 5:50 a.m., Sunday morning at St. Vincent's Hospital, in Birmingham.

Hubbard had been shot a few hours before by a negro by the name of Robert Heath, at Heath's home on Sixth Avenue South. Hubbard was a former detective for the city. He was shot three times—in the neck, abdomen and right arm, with a .38 revolver. Hubbard was found just outside the negro's house by officers and carried to the hospital..

The negro was exhonorated early Monday morning by Coroner J. D. Russum and Assistant Solicitor Robert McAdory, following an investigation.

Heath told the coroner that he shot Hubbard after the man had fired several shots through his door and forced his way into his home.

The shooting happened about 1:30, after Hubbard had told the negro that he was an officer. He is reported to have demanded entrance in order that he might warm.

Hubbard entered the Birmingham police department on April 20, 1916 and served until April 28, 1928. He later became house detective for a down-town hotel. At the time of his death he was not actively engaged.

The body was shipped to Clanton Tuesday morning and buried in the Liberty Hill cemetery Tuesday afternoon. Rev. S. J. Ezell conducted the funeral.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hubbard, two brothers, G. T. Hubbard and W. C. Hubbard; and three sisters, Mrs. W. A. Jernigan of Eufaula, Mrs. B. F. Roberts of Clanton, and Miss Jennie Hubbard of Thorsby Route 1.

W. J. BILLINGSLEY IN RACE FOR TAX COLLECTOR

Mr. W. J. Billingsley of Thorsby adds his name to the list of those seeking the office of Tax Collector of Chilton County. His announcemant appears in the candidate column this week.

Mr. Billingsley did not authorize any statement in filing his candidacy, more than to say that he would fully appreciate the efforts of his friends in behalf of his campaign. He will make a full statement in a short while.

For many years W. J. Billingsley has been in the public eye of Chilton County. He served as a member of the County Board of Education for a long time, in which capacity he rendered faithful and constant service in the interests of our schools.

In the Baptist denomination and religious work of the county Mr. Billingsley has been prominantly identified, for many years serving as clerk of the Chilton County Baptist Association, which place he holds at the present time.

AKINS COLLINS IN RACE FOR TAX ASSESSOR

The third entry into the race for Tax Assessor of Chilton County was made last Friday by Mr. Akins Collins, of Beat 9. Although he is the third one to get into the race, Mr. Collins says he expects to come first in the primary of August 12.

Mr. Collins is a hustling young man, well and favorably known in his home community around Thorsby and Collins Chapel. He has never before entered politics for public office. But he is well qualified for the place he seeks, and he has plenty of get-up-and-get that will assure the voters of the county a chance to size him up well before the primary comes off.

He is the son of Mr. John Harrison Collins of Thorsby, and a brother of Miss Genie Collins, former Treasurer of Chilton County.

REV. M. LOCKKHART WILL PREACH AT LIBERTY HILL

The Union-Banner has been requested to announce that Rev. M. Lockhart will preach at Liberty Hill church next Sunday, January 26th, at 11 o'clock. The public has a cordial invitation to meet with the Liberty Hill folks and hear this young Baptist minister.

OUR FOREIGN POLICY

Prime Minister MacDonald recently made a notable utterance at a meeting in the House of Commons at which the guest of honor was Mr. Kellogg, President Coolidge's Secretary of State.

Speaking of the attitude of the leaders in political life whom he talked with during his recent visit to this country, the Prime Minister said:

"They certainly are not going to cooperate with us allies bound by formal ties. They certainly are not going to commit themselves to European policy and mix themselves in European messes. No President of the United States is going to go back upon their wise tradition policy of keeping out of European messes.

"It is perfectly evident at the same time that whereever and whenever there is a humane flag flying over the world the thought and heart of American will be there. We have never been able to say the United States has failed in support of any great human cause."

By this timely tribute to that American character in foreign affairs which it was Washington's dream that his people should develop, the Prime Minister gives convincing proof that his understanding of traditional American policy is quickened by a keen appreciation of the traditional American spirit.

Independence of all nations and not isolation from any nation was the goal of Washington's policy.

Whenever or wherever in the world the American people have had a duty to perform they have not shirked and they will not shirk.

What they have always done and what they are firmly resolved always to do is to be the keeper of their own conscience and to preserve untrammeled their own freedom of action.—Chicago Herald-Examiner.

With the passing of the Downs Grocery Company into the hands of the Taylors, a name of long-time familiarity is removed from Clanton's business directory. Perhaps it will not be for long. J. B. Downs and his associates have meant much to the business history of Clanton. He has been intimately connected here for many years with scarcely a time when his name was not forward in some kind of enterprise.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

Much to the surprise of the average newspaper reader, there flashed across the front page a few days ago the information that the French government was balking at a five power naval agreement at London and was insisting that the agreement reached there would only be tentative. The reason for this was at first somewhat obscure but it developed that the French were highly suspicious of the proposed British-American agreement and believed that the two English speaking powers were "framing something up" on the rest of the world. This of course was an erroneous conclusion, but the French, like other European powers judge everything by the standards of European diplomacy and the fact that they should mistake our motives was not therefore so surprising.

It will be remembered that under the Conservative government in England the British and French worked closely together in a diplomatic way. With the advent of the Labor government and Mr. Snowden's course on the Young plan this entente was disrupted. Following this came Ramsay MacDonald's visit to the United States and the reports that navel limitation had been virtually agreed on. This was enough to arouse French suspicion further. As the New York World recently put it.

For in spite of all the manifold assurances already given that the MacDonald-Hoover conversations do not foreshadow an entente, in the French mind there has been implanted the conviction that an Anglo-American entente is in the making. The French will not believe our denials. By all the rules of the continental diplomacy of which Americans are so naively ignorant recent events point by inevitable logic to the making of an entente.

As a result came the French action which for the time tended to embarass those who are seeking to work out a constructive program of naval limitation. Of course, the United States has no intentions of abandoning the time-honored policy of no foreign alliances. This is not in the mind of our government and would not be tolerated by the people of the United States. But it must be remembered that Europe judges all diplomatic acitons by European rules of the game. Hence the suspicion of France and European nations. Fortunately our new ambassador to Paris has succeeded in smoothing away some of the obstacles for the time being at least, and at this writing the future looks suspicious.

But the incident of the French suspicion is only another lesson showing us how careful we have to be in our relations with Europe. Our motive is peace and limitation of armament. Too often the motive of European politics is something different from this and we are apt to be judged accordingly. That is why we have always shunned advance commitments to European policy without sufficient safeguards for our political independenc of action.

There is no doubt that there is a sincere desire for peace among the people in all of the civilized nations of the world, but international expression is only obtained through diplomatic channels and the ways and devices of international politics have always been narrow and complicated. It may be that a new day in internamotives of friendship and understanding with all least, in the meantime retaining our traditional tional politics is dawning. Let us hope so at nations.

OUTLOOK BRIGHTER

Signs are beginning to multiply that after a brief but drastic backsliding in the last two months of the year we are once more about to make progress on the highway to prosperity and better things. In a recent statement given out at the White House the President said that reports which have come to him since the conferences with business heads a few weeks ago indicate that 1930 will be a bigger building year than 1929. Partial returns have been received from a survey of twenty-nine states and these returns indicate on outlay of $4,700,000,000 in construction during the present year, which is a tidy sum, to say the least. The figure will of course be considerably larger when the complete returns ar in. Up to this time there are complete estimates from sixteen of the forty-eight states. From various sources there are reports of growing optimism and while a few are optimistic enough to believe that 1930 will be a record-breaking year, the opinion is generally expressed that it will be a good business year, with steady improvement as the time goes on.

In his statement given out to newspapermen the President said:

"Our drive for increase in construction and improvement work to take up unemployment is showing most encouraging results, and it looks as if the work undertaken will be larger for 1930 than for 1929."

"The Department of Commerce now has complete returns from the governors of sixteen states covering public works to be undertaken in 1930 by the state, municipal and county authorities. They have partial returns from thirteen more states."

"The total so far reported, and including the federal government, is about $1,550,000,000, and in nearly all cases larger than for 1929. The surveys are coming in daily and should be completed by mid-January."

"The preliminary estimate of the railways for construction and betterments for 1930 was $1,050,000,000, and for the public utilities $2,100,000,000, including the telephones. The total of the state, municipal and county work, nor the building construction, nor the industrial and factory improvements, which latter are now under survey by the special business committee."

"The steel companies inform me this morning that the effect of the drive is already showing in their orders, which are beyond their expectations."

While this is of course no time for foolish speculation or for the spending of money for spending's sake, it is equally true that it is no time for pessimism. The man who is frightened by shadows and who draws himself into his shell will only help to bring on the dangers which he is seeking to avoid. The best way of course is to go ahead carefully and constructively, doing the best we can to make 1930 a prosperous and happy year in the United States.

Our idea of an ideal wife is one who is so trusting she will invite in the neighbors to a fish dinner on the strength of your telling her you are going out on a week-end fishing trip.

The average internationalist believes that the ideal situation would be one in which Uncle Sam would import everything he uses in foreign ships, and compel every true American to roll up his trousers when it was raining in Geneva.

Generally when some kind friend offers to give you the "low down" on the situation you find that it is low down.

THE JACK POT

BY "JACK" HIMSELF

It is universally considered that traveling salesmen, or "drummers" as they were once known, always know the latest and best in jokes And before tackling his prospect he always tells him his "latest." In that way merchants always hear the good ones first.

Likewise, when people come into a newspaper office, and the talk turns to politics, all who happen to be around at the time have a chance of finding out things from such people that you wouldn't otherwise be able to get out of them.

Among other things, folks will (unconsciously, perhaps) give you information which will enable one to form a good idea of the general trend of public opinion regarding the several candidates. We're just explaining all this so you'll know why newspapers always seem to know so much about what's what.

Folks are that way. Give 'em rope, and lead 'em along and they'll tell you things that you couldn't PRIZE out of 'em otherwise. Now we've got the stage all set to tell you what we started to say at first.

People have divers ways of picking their choice from among the several candidates in the race. Some consider men's records. Others ascertain just what policies the candidates stand for. But here is the prize, to date.

A man came in one day last week to subscribe. "I want you to send me The Union-Banner," he said, "so I can keep up with the candidates. I want to see who all announced this week. I always put a black mark against the first men to announce. It shows they're too anxious, especially if it's this early in the year."

Rather unique way of deciding, isn't it? We always thought, like Moran of The Two Black Crows, that "the early bird catches the worm," but it seems there are exceptions to every rule. And, too, somebody has GOT to be first. Happily, for some candidates, this man is an exception to the rule. But we just thought it a pretty good joke, so we passed it on.

Let's forget politics for a while—IF WE CAN. But, now, don't blame us if it creeps back in from time to time. It's with us just like everybody else—that's about all people study about on election year, and we're just human, so we can't be expected to be much different from all the others.

In some forgotten age in the past somebody said "It pays to advertise," and, naturally, we are firm believers in the adage. But besides that, lots of things have come to pass which could but strengthen the belief. Sports, good, clean sports is the point we want to get to.

It has been proved time and time again that a good football, basket ball, or baseball team will do more toward building a "rep" for a school or town than lots of other things which SHOULD, and are calculated to build such a "rep." Any number of instances of this kind could be pointed to as proof.

Four or five years ago the University of Alabama sent a football team—Southern champions—to Pasadena, California, to play the University of Washington, who were Western champions that particular year. Seeringly beaten at the start, the Alabama team displayed a great fighting spirit to "bring home the bacon," by beating Washington 20 to 19.

That opened the eyes of America and the great sport critics, and gave the State of Alabama a world of priceless advertising. Again Alabama was picked the next year to represent the "rest of America" against the West. That year the Western entry was Stanford University, coached by none other than Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, one of the "greats" of the coaching class.

Sports writers "in the know" all over the country turned thumbs down on Alabama, yet the boys from Dixie came through again, tieing Stanford 7 to 7. The next morning Alabama and the South had front page advertising—free, too—emblazoned all over the big dailies of the country.

Skip a year, and then Georgia Tech, of Atlanta, went to the West coast to trim the University of California's "Golden Bears" 13 to 7. Again old Dixie got a wad of free advrtising. Up to the time these Southern teams began their conquests, the South and Southern people had been pictured in the North and East as a bunch of plodders. But not now. The smart ones will tell you right quick that the South is very much awake.

And here comes the point we want to make. Those football games did more to waken the rest of the United States as to the South's real standing along beside other sections of the country than all the paid advertising you could pack into magazines and newspapers in regulation advertising campaigns. And a better kind of advertising, too.

And, too, a few years ago, when Chilton County High School was putting out good teams in all kinds of sports, almost anywhere you might go in the State you could hear somebody pipe up with "Chilton County will have to be reckoned with again this year," and like sayings.

Maybe you are one of those who will smile wisely and remark that "It isn't the athletics that make a good school." Maybe not, but when you consider that in order to make the team a pupil must be passing his grades, these facts take on new significance. In other words, a school that puts out a good team must, of natural course, be doing good work of other kinds, too.

Clanton, at this time, has one of the best basket ball teams in the State. The class of game they exhibited last Thursday night against the Buck Creek team from Siluria will stand up in most anybody's company. And all we have had to say in this article is given to prove that this team CAN be made much more valuable to Clanton and Chilton County than might appear.

If our Boys Club team, in their 1930 schedule, should go to Birmingham, Montgomery, and other neighboring towns, as they will, and impress people of these different cities and towns by the grade of game they put up, isn't it reasonable that they will be helping to put Clanton and Chilton County on the map, so to speak?

And, if good sports, sponsored by schools in the South can so open the eyes of a nation, and prove to them that "way down South in Dixie" there are people who really DO things, will not that rule work on a smaller scale, also, and show people of other sections of Alabama that right here in Chilton County we have wide awake people who DO things, too?—"Jack".

Some Sights He Saw— and Some He Saw Not.

How many people do you think there are who are chasing after the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow? I don't know, and I don't suppose anybody else does. Neither do I know how many there were chasing after the pot of money in the Robinson Department Store window last week. But, as the amorous youth told his sweetheart about the stars: Gosh, yes, they were numerous, and a lot of 'em. When the end of the rainbow was reached Saturday afternoon, the crowd was left a mere bunch of chasers after the pot of gold, while Frank Mullins slipped away with it to a warm place and counted out the coins which had been such a wonderment for two weeks.

I wonder if I might drop in here a little hint to our city officials about traffic regulations. It seems to me that it would be a very easy matter to bring about better traffic regulations on the Highway or Seventh Street, through the business district. There is evident any day some kind of a big freight truck or passenger bus sticking out in the way of other vehicles, causing a menace and hindrance to the public.

I believe the big passenger busses should be required to turn out of the Highway into a side street to make their stops for exchange of passengers. They are plainly imposing upon the convenience and safety of the public when they stop in and practically obstruct the highway for a quarter of an hour.

There are some bread trucks which come here every day or so from somewhere. They indiscriminately stop in the middle of the Highway or other business streets and stand there for several minutes while they make deliveries to stores and business houses. All the while passin automobiles must get by without hitting or getting hit if they can.

What was predicted before the Highway came has been proven a thousand times That Seventh Street is too narrow for such a busy artery of commerce. Hence the more is it necessary for every possible precaution that traffic be regulated with as much consideration as possible for the rights, safety, and convenience of everybody.

Standing on the corner about to freeze; looking for some kind of a sight to see. Along came Judge Reynolds and invited me to go with him to see the Lay Dam Road. First time I had been out that way since dedication day. My, what a difference. Where the slag was put, the road is now as hard as a brick; and it looks like it will be permanent. I believe time will prove that the county made a good deal when they took up the offer of the power company to furnish slag for the road if the county would put it out.

In the places where there was no slag applied, the county is now graveling the road with gravel which they are securing from a pit near Macedonia. A few more days work will put the Lay Dam Road in better shape than it has ever been since it was first built.

Another good man out of a job and don't know what to do with himself. Leonard Farley has sold his drug store to Joe Calloway. But with spring coming on, and strawberries, fishing, and peapatching just around the corner, Leonard ought to be able to keep himself from getting lonesome. I wish I could get out of a job when fishing time comes.

I hear that work will begin soon on Clanton's now postoffice building. Not a Federal building. No. The old Chandler building near the railroad crossing is to be fixed up to accomodate our U. S. mail business and employees. Not a bad place for it. Will seem natural again to stop by the postoffice on Main Street as we go to and from places of business. May 1st is the time for the change.

The movement to consolidate Cane Creek, Pinedale, and Jackson's Chapel school districts seems to me a step in the right direction. If those districts will do that and build a Junior High School out on the Lay Dam Road about Tug Willis' place, they can begin to get somewhere in the school business.

There is one particular thing I like about our school consolidation business. The County Board of Education say they will not force consolidation on any community. If the community wants it, and can fit into a feasible plan to get it, then the Board will join in and help to carry out the arrangement.

That seems to me the right idea. After all, it is the interests of the communities, the school children, that should be served. I believe each community ought to be allowed to elect for itself whether it will go into consolidation, or keep its own little one-room and one-teacher school.

I am reminded of the old quotation from somebody which said: Some men are born great; some achieve greatness; and some have greatness thrust upon them. Applying this to communities, I feel like saying it this way:

If a community is "born" great, nobody can do anything about it. If a community is progressive enough to achieve greatness, everybody ought to be glad. But I don't think any community ought to have greatness or anything else they don't want thrust upon them.

If a community wants to keep it's one-room school and withhold from its children the comforts and advantages of a modern school, it is nobody's business but those who are concerned.

And last, but not least, let me urge that you pay your poll tax. February the first is the last day you can pay. What you pay for poll tax goes to the schools, and the State of Alabama will let you vote to boot.

CHILTON COUNTY ABSTRACT CO.

M. D. FOSHEE, Manager

A good business man will not buy a farm or any property without first looking it over to see what it is worth.

However, some will buy or loan money on land without an abstract.

Isn't it equally as foolish to buy a farm without looking it over as to buy it and not know whether the titles are good or not? Without an abstract you do not know where you are getting the land you look at or not.

Before investing in land in any way have an abstract made and be safe.

CHEVROLET WILL INCREASE SCHEDULE FOR THIS MONTH

Detroit, Jan. 20.—Chevrolet will sell more cars this month than in January a year ago, according to H. J. Klingler, vice-president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, who announced on Saturday that the month's schedule had to be increased in response to the greatest reception a new Chevrolet model has received in the nineteen-year history of the company.

Directly on the heels of the first showing of the new car on January 4th, a flood of congratulatory messages poured into the home office from every quarter of the country. Every message told of unprecedented public interest in the new car and a consequent increase in retail sales, with the result that January scedule had to be revised upward to meet the dealer requirements for immediate delivery, Mr. Klingler said.

That the set-up in the schedule resulted directly from the number of orders taken for the new car when it made its public bow, rather than upon an estimate of the month's requirements, is indicated in a statement from the Chevrolet sales executive:

"Our policy for some time," Mr. Klingler explained, "has been to key our production facilities to the anticipated needs of our organization so that dealers might not become overstocked. On this basis we set our January schedule to parellel the sales forecast, but so many dealers, upon noting the public atttude toward the new car, have asked to have their quotas increased that our output for the month will now exceed the figure for last January.

"Messages from our dealers relating the public attitude toward the new car have come to us in greater numbers this year than heretofore, and every message radiates a note of complete confidence over the prospect of the year. Large dealers are increasing their commitments for cars, and many small dealers who formerly sold six or eight cars in a year, have asked to have the new 1930 car shipped to them in carload lots.

"The reduced prices on the new car contributed materially to the increased public interest shown this year, as did the mechanical improvements. The price reduction resulted directly from manufacturing economies effected by our record output in 1929, and our policy of passing on to the consuming public the savings effected by volume production are directly reflected in the low price of the new car.

"On the basis of present indications we expect the early months of this year to prove exceedingly satisfactory, and look to the year 1930 to compare very favorably with last year when we built 1,350,000 sixes, a new high record."

Messages received by Mr. Klingler indicate that the national attendance the first day of the showing of the 1930 models, and the favorable comments of the public, exceeded even that which greeted the first appearance of the Chevrolet Six a year ago. Typical of many messages received by Mr. Klingler is one from the Los Angeles dealer organization: "Reception of new car by public, dealers and salesmen best for last four years. All amazed at price reduction. Many thousands of people attended showrooms. Even bigger attendance than last year when we first introduced the Chevrolet 6."

Expressions of confidence that their sales for this year would exceed any previous year came from dealers in all parts of the country. At Great Falls, Mont., rural prospects drove to the showrooms in sleighs to see the car. Chicago wired: "We will require in our territory more cars for the next three months than we received last year same period."

Messages from big and little cities struck the same note. Clovis, New Mexico., registered 500 in the show rooms the first day out of a population of 7.500. Minneapolis reported the largest first-day crowd in ten years experience, and Baltimore the sale of 105 cars before 5:00 p.m.

"At no time has the financial future looked better," said the Paterson, N. J., dealer. "If there is such a thing as a one hundred per cent car I feel I have it." An dfrom Seattle: "All dealers expect more business in January and February than last year."

SORE THROATS AND COUGHS

Quickly Relieved by this Safe Prescription

Here's a doctor's prescription that is really throat insurance. Sore or irritated throats are relieved and soothed almost instantly with the very first swallow. About 90 per cent of all coughs are caused by an irritated throat; consequently for most coughs too there is nothing better than this famous prescription—it goes direct to the internal cause. It is put up under the name Thoxine and is guaranteed to stop coughs Singers and speakers find Thoxine very valuable.

The remarkable thing thing about Thoxine is that while it relieves almost instantly, it cantains nothing harmful, is pleasant tasting and safe for the whole family. Ask for Thoxine 35c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. Sold by Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama, as well as at all other good drug stores.

SALE OF SARGON BREAKS RECORD

Famous Medicine Rapidly Becoming Household Word Throughout all America—24 Carloads Sold in 25 Days in 27 States—Overwhelming Demand the one Great Outstanding Proof of Its Wonderful Merit.

Most medicines are sold by the dozen or by the gross. A few are sold in larger quantities, but think of a medicine that sells in such enormous quantities that wholesale dealers are forced to buy it in solid car load lots to supply a demand that has been so phenomenal as to almost stagger the imagination.

That's just what has happened with Sargon, the celebrated new medicine that is now sweeping the country like a great tidal wave. Not only is the trade buying it in car load lots, but they are buying car load after car load, each car containing over 20,000 bottles of Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills.

Twenty-four carloads in 25 days sold in only 27 states is the amazing record recently made by these wonderful medicines.

In the State of California where Sargon was introduced in April of last year, it has required 21 carloads to supply the ever increasing demand in this one state alone. Texas dealers required 9 car loads in only four months.

A single New York firm, with wholesale branches in leading cities is selling at the rate of over a Million and a Quarter bottles a year.

"Phenomenal and bewildering" is the way one of the big drug jobbers of the country describes the marvelous demand for Sargon.

"It's the greatest seller within the memory of the oldest members of our organization," said another.

"We are selling more Sargon than any other ten medicines put together," said another.

And so it is everywhere Sargon has been introduced. From Coast to Coast and from Gulf to Great Lakes, Sargon is known and honored.

Millions upon millions have used it and have told other millions what it has done for them. When suffering men and women find a medicine that helps them, they naturally want to tell their friends about it and in this way Sargon is fast becoming a household word throughout America.

By Dr. L. D. LeGear, V.S., St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. LeGear is a graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College, 1892. Thirty-six years of veterinary practice on diseases of live stock and poultry. Eminent authority on poultry and stock raising. Nationally known poultry breeder. Noted author and lecturer.

CHICK SAVING BROODER METHODS

A proper start in life means just as much to the newly hatched chick as to a newborn babe. Even though a chick may inherit all the desirable traits of many generations of blue blooded avain aristocracy, its hereitary advantages may be completely offset by lack of proper attention during the days immediately following its exodus from the incubator. Correct brooding methods, on the other hand, will not only reduce the infant morality rate in your flock, but will give you more robust and more productive members for your flock of the future.

Such care should start even before you are ready to receive chicks from the hatchery or to transfer them from your own incubator to hover. See that all parts of the hovers and brood quarters are thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. Spray all parts of the room with a fairly strong solution of dip and disinfectant to guard against lice, mites and other parasites. Be sure the room is well ventilated but free from draughts. Then to give the chicks something to scratch in and to keep the floor covered.

See that heating units are in good order, burners clean and regulating mechanism working well. Then start your stoves, lamps or electricity running several days in advance. In this way you will be able to thoroughly familiarize yourself with operation and control devices. You will also have the quarters evenly warmed up throughout. Place a temporary fence around each hover to keep the chicks near the source of heat making lowance for gradually enlarging it from time to time. This is usually managed by using a roll of one inch netting two feet high. Do not cut it, simply unroll a little more each time you feel that the growth of the brood demands more room.

When the chicks are ready to be transferred or have arrived, carry them carefully in a well lined box or basket and place them gently under the hover. The basket or box should be carefully covered to keep the chicks from getting chilled. After the chicks are installed in their new home, I give them some water, grit and milk. They are allowed to come out several times during the day for grit and water and each time I put them back under the hover. In this way they learn quickly and easily. My plan may mean a little more trouble at first, but my experience is that it saves time in the long run because chicks are more quickly trained to seek the hover for warmth and protection.

From this point on, detailed instructions cannot be given. Your exact procedure will depend on the kind of apparatus you employ. Follow the manufacturer's instructions carefully and watch the chicks at all times to make sure they are comfortable and growing at a satisfactory rate. A word about correct temperature will not be amiss. Many experienced poultrymen never look at a thermometer but are guided entirely by the actions of the chicks If they lie quietly in small contented groups, they are comfortable, but if they spread out flat, lifting their wings and panting they are too hot. Extend their fence so they can get away from the heat or if a canopy type hover is used, lower the temperature. If they huddle together, they are too cold. Gently force them to hover closer to the stove by increasing the circumference of your brooder fence or by using the brooder curtain.

These things are only learned by observation and experience. If you do not care to trust your judgement in that respect, the following schedule will be found helpful. The first two or three nights the temperature at level of sleeping chicks' backs, should be between 95 and 100 degrees, but never over 100. As the chicks begin to exercise they require less heat. The latter part of the first week begin to lower the temperature gradually until it is around 85 at the end of the third week. As many chicks will be fairly well feathered by the end of the fifth week, the teperature may run between 85 and 70, being reduced until finally artificial heat is no longer required.

Avoid sudden variations at all times. An even heat is the ideal condition. The general temperature of quarters outside the hover should never be lower than 60 to 70 degrees. If it runs lower, some auxiliary means of heating should be provided.

START SPRING GARDENS EARLY

Reports of last year's garden activities show that many of us wait too late in starting our spring gardens. The writer has in mind one garden in central Alabama from which was harvested 14 different vegetables during the month of March. For your information these vegetables are listed: asparagus, beets, cabbage, carrots, chard, collards, kale, lettuce, mustard, onions, parsnip, radish, spinach, and turnips. This is a splendid goal for the month of March. In order to have some of these vegetables by March we must start in the fall. Just another example of "planning the work and working the plan."

TENDERGREEN

Many of you are familiar with "tendergreen," but those of you who are not should certainly plant this comparatively new vegetable. In experiments conducted here at Auburn it was compared with Bloomsdale Spinach, Seven Top Turnips, and mustard. It came up quicker and grew off faster than either of these vegetables. It survived the temperature at Auburn during the winter of 1928-29 as well as the spinach, trunip, or mustard. Indications are that it will stand the summer heat just as well. The fact that it is resistant to cold and heat and a quick producer of "tender greens" of good quality merit its adoption by all Alabama gardeners.

Blessed is the farmer whose fields are wrapped in a green blanket of winter legumes.

Heritage, Ancestor Makes Success for Star

BEBE DANIELS

Bebe Daniels Owes Much to Famous Great Grandfather

New York City.—Bebe Daniels can thank her great grandfather for the fact that she was chosen to star in "Rio Rita," the most successful sound picture yet produced. Bebe's ancestor was president of the Republic of Columbia, but of more moment to Bebe, he was Spanish, and his great granddaughter inherited his exquisitely modulated yet clear toned Spanish voice.

When the voices of movie stars were being tested for the singing of modern American songs, Bebe's was found to be the most beautiful of all the stars. Her instinctive almost uncanny ability to interpret the music of today's America, puzzled modern music students until they were told of her Spanish ancestry.

"Modern American music was born in New Orleans, and brought up in San Francisco, so that its background is nine tenths Spanish so why wouldn't Bebe Daniels, with her Spanish ancestry, star as its interpreter?", says one noted student of modern music.

It is this background which gives Miss Daniels aid in both her singing and acting in "Rio Rita."

P. H. GUICE CARRIED TO HOSPITAL

Martin's ambulance was called Tuesday night to cary Mr. P. H. Guice to a Birmingham hospital. Mr. Guice lives at the old Mt. Moriah church place on the highway above Jemison. He was suffering an acute attack of peritonitis. It is stated that its condition is very serious and may prove fatal. The man is above 70 years of age.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

In conversation with Rev. J. W. Jones of Thorsby, who has just complete dhis first year as pastor of the Thorsby Baptist church, together with Jemison Baptist church, we found him to be in a reminescent mood and disposed to talk, not boastingly, of the work in this and other districts in which he has been permitted to have a part during the past twelve months.

A prominant feature by be considered the work of actual building of a new and commodious church building at Thorsby, of modern design and arrangement suited to the needs of the church organization and its various branches. While not yet completed it is practically under roof and will be finished as fast as funds are available.

Rev. Jones speaks of the helpful spirit of co-operation among his people in carrying on the work of "The Kingdom" and the pleasure of working with people who are spiritually alive, as manifested by the fact that during the past year of his ministry, including evangelistic meetings held at various places, 135 people have been added to the churches that have been permanently or temporarily under his ministry.

He has requested that we note the fact that next Sunday the services at the Thorsby church will be somewhat in the nature of a celebration and thanksgiving for the progress in religious matters in this field during 1929.

Last Monday night Rev. and Mrs. Each entertained the ministers of Thorsby, and the wife of each that was able to be present.

Those present were: Rev. E. W. Butler, Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Jones, Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Bakke. Rev. and Mrs. Lowery had been invited but were not present. The writer, as the son of a minister, and from close association with them for many years, can vouch for the enjoyment of this class of people at any social function. The mensfolk, at least, are trained talkers, and they vie with one another in swapping stories and bits of experiences that create merriment. Before going to their homes the guests were served to hot chocolate, sandwiches and cake.

William Each has finished his course at a Montgomery business college, and has secured a position with the Western Electric Company at their Montgomery branch.

Cecil Each is about to finish a three-months course in an electrical school in Chicago and is expected at home next Monday.

Mrs. A. E. Reagan and her sisters were surprised last week to receive a visit from their sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thorson of Watseka, Minn. Mr. Thorson had much to do with the beginnings of the establishment of Thorsby, and it is through an interview with him that the writer was first induced to visit Thorsby, where he soon afterwards bought a home and brought his family about 27 years ago.

Mr. Thorson expressed surprise at the many changes which have taken place in this section in the past twenty five years, since he left for Minnesota.

On Monday of this week Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Foss, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bosworth, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reagan, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thorson and Miss Naemi Turnquist motored to Lay Dam, Mitchell Dam and Montgoemry, to show Mr. Thorson some of the improvements and potentialities of central Alabama. The day was fine and they all greatly enjoyed the outing.

On Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Thorson will go to Fairfield to visit Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Petersen, on their return they will bring Mrs. Peterson and her daughter (one of the Turnquist sisters) with them to spend a few days.

Mrs. Clyde Mead has been sick for several days but is better now.

Yancey M. Kelley of Birmingham made a brief visit to Thorsby last Saturday.

Mrs. T. W. Robinson and Miss Jennye Robinson, her daughter, are visiting in Pelham this week.

The annual meeting of the Ladies Guild of Thorsby was held at the home of Mrs. S. E. Norton on Wednesday of list week.

Reports for the past year were received, and the election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. C. S. Howard; vice-president, Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald; secretary, Mrs. S. E. Norton; treasurer, Mrs. E. W. Butler.

A special topic on "Mexico" was rendered last Sunday night at the regular C. E. hour by the Missionary Comittee. Several interesting topics were read on Mexico. Miss Klingelhoefer told a story about a little Mexican girl. An interesting test was given on Mexico. Everyone seeed to enjoy the meeting.

IN MEMORY OF MRS MAGGIE ANDERSON

Mrs. Maggie Anderson of 637 Earl Avenue, Birmingham, was born July 25, 1893 and died at South Highlands Infirmary on January 10, 1930. She had been in declining health for about a year. The remains were laid to rest in Union Grove cemetery on Sunday, January 12th, with a beautiful floral offering; Lige Loy was in charge.

The funeral was conducted by her pastor. Rev. Wyatt of the Bush Hill Baptist church, Birmingham. She was the wife of John W. Anderson; daughter of J. R. and Mrs. Fanny Marler of Jemison. She leaves a husband, father, mother, grand mother, Mrs. Paralee Edwards, two daughters, Miss Ala Anderson and Mrs. Delene Northcutt; one san, J. W. Junior, of Birmingham; three brothers, Emmett E., W. Alvin, and J. Alfred Marler of Jemison; one sister, Mrs. Annie Anderson of Ensley.

A host of friends and relatives mourn the loss of a kind and loving wife, daughter, mother, sister and friend. May the dear Lord bless and comfort the hearts of all the bereaved family and friends.

Weep not, for the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away; blessed be the name of the Lord. We sure that our loss is heaven's gain, and that our heavenly Father doets all things well for them that love and trust Him and for His own glory. Written by one who loved her dearly,—Mrs. E. E. Marler, Jemison, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Petersen had as their guests Sunday Mr. L. L. Chapman, Misses Erin and Laura Ward Chapman, Mr. Albert Tatum, Miss Carey Tatum and Miss Edith Murphree of Prattville.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Buchi and Dr. and Mrs. Gault of Birmingham spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Laurell.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurell spent Monday in Birmingham. Mrs. Laurell was a guest to the foreign missionary department of the women's work of the church to which they belonged before coming to Thorsby.

Miss Frances Wilson of Birmingham was a week end visitor with her mother, Mrs. W. J. Wilson.

Mrs. Earl Mead of Birmingham was a visitor in Thorsby last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mead made a trip to Birmingham last week Thursday.

The Ladies Guild will meet this week Thursday with Mrs. Nels Petersen.

CHILD WELFARE WORKERS HOLD CONFERENCE

One of the most significant gatherings in the social history of Alabama, according to a report by Mrs. C. E. Stapp, Superintendent of child welfare for Chilton County, was the conference of county child welfare workers in Montgomery last week.

The conference brought together not only more than 300 officials of the departments of education and of health, representatives of the state institutions of higher learning, child welfare workers of the state and counties, and representatives of various social agencies of the state; but also—and what is more significant—many county superintendents of education, members of county commissioners, and judges of juvenile courts, who attended from 63 counties now organized because they are interested in knowing better how to approach the problem of providing for each child in each county its rightful opportunity to become a dependable, worthwhile citizen of the state—a responsibility which they realize is in large part theirs.

Since the school is the avenue through which every child must approach citizenship, said Mrs. A. M. Turnstall, director of the State Child Welfare Department, under the auspicies of which the conference was held, and since health is fundamental in every social program. Representatives of the department of education and of health were asked to meet the county representatives and child welfare workers, and to outline as clearly as possible methods by which the task can be accomplished with the least expenditure of time, energy and money.

Throughout the conference, speakers and leaders emphasized the common or joint responsibility of the various agencies for the preservation and the right direction of the interests of the children in their midst, and the place of the county child welfare worker in that understanding was defined.

Governor Graves, who spoke at one of the meetings, and Dr. Stuart Graves, acting director of the health department, called attention also to the economy ensuing to the state in dollars and cents, through its program for salvaging the dependent and neglected children within its boundries.

It is cheaper in actual dollars and cents to rescue a delinquent child and restore it to society than it is to electrocute it at the end of a career of crime. The Governor pointed out also that while Alabama has richer and more varied natural resources than any other area of its size, and the importance of developing these, she also has the purest strain of American blood to be found in America. That fact alone, He declared, makes the task of saving her youth more worthwhile than any other task she faces. Alabamians must be made to know, he stated, that the investment is a program of child welfare, to the end that the earning power alone of Alabama's youth be increased, is a better paying proposition for the state than is the development of a blast furnace, or other industrial undertakng. Staticians were cited to show that of all the propositions in Birmingham which pay more than $5,000.00 a year, only 10 per cent are filled by Alabamians. If we do not give our boys and girls their chance, the Governor said, the girls and boys of other states will continue to grow into positions which Alabamians should be filling.

Dr. Stuart Graves, in reviewing the work done by the county units along the lines of education, child welfare and health, made the statement that the entire expenditures of $500,000 a year for health in the state represents a per capita expenditure of only the sum needed to buy four packages of chewing gum, and for the state department of child welfare, only as much as the cost of one package.

Miss Myrtle Brook, director of child welfare training at Alabama Cliege, pointed out the fact that Alabamians as a whole are not acquainted with the achievements of which the state justly is proud, and that if we are to come into our own as a state, the boys and girls, and the men and women of the community must share in this knowledge and enthusiasm.

At the request of Governor Graves, Dr. Lee Bidgood, of the University of Alabama, summed up the achievements of the state child welfare department over the ten years of its existence. Dr. Bidgood said: "The department began with a director and one worker, an no records, traditions or procedents. At the present time the staff consists of eighteen trained workers, and a file which contains the records of more than 7,000 children whose lives it has touched at some point.

The principal values of this decade of service cannot be measured by statistics; they lie in the lives of the children who have been into useful citizens and who have been given an opportunity for normal lives and perhaps saved from lives of degradation and crime. They are to be measured only in terms of human happiness and social betterment. The work of the department has saved the state from the costs of crime and criminal prosecution that would probably have arisen but for the salvaging of these human derelicts. In view of these facts the Child Welfare Commission unanimously applauds the splendid work of the director of the department of child welfare and her staff, and commends it to the favorable consideration of the people of the state. It congratulates the state on the fine accomplishments of the department, and particularly upon the hundreds of lives scattered throughout the 67 counties which have been saved to usefullness and to normal paths of happiness thereby.

Mrs. Turnstall made public a report which showed that the work done in the year just closed was done at a cost of less than the $100.00 provided in the budget for the state department of child welfare. Of the entire amount expended for salaries and expenses of state workers, maintainence of state headquarters, and for actual child care, $46,000 went toward child care, or practically 50 per cent of the entire budget.

This $46,000 has no reference to the amount raised by the county units and expended be them, she explained, but represents what has been done over and above the efforts of the county worker, and care for the child left on the door-step, so to speak, for which no county provision could be made.

The school, Mrs. Turnstall reminded, in closing the conference, "is the avenue through which all youth must approach citizenship. The home is the beginning and ending of the journey. If the home be too weak to support the schools in their functions, can the youth, in his turn, set up for himself and society a more worthy home? It is doubtful. If the influences about him, physical and moral, be destructive forces, can the schools of themselves overcome these forces? That, too, is doubtful.

So we have in the state child welfare department a government agency to lend its aid to the school, home and community. We believe that if the government cannot lend a hand in considering the child and in prospering the home, then society must collapse and come forth again under a new order, if indeed it should ever be restored at all.

To turn to independence, wrong living to right living, to bring the community to a higher level of opportunity and influence in every particular is the common task of the combined community forces. Education and health enter into any social program. Sickness and physical defects enter too largely into the causes of poverty, unemployment, immorality and thriftlesness to be disregarded by the social worker.

Chilton County was represented at this conference by Mrs. C. E. Stapp, welfare worker for the county.

WEST CHILTON

Here we are again in another big freeze. With a light fall of snow Friday night.

J. R. Atchison, Jr. was married last Sunday to Miss Sadie Belle Broadhead Waldrop of Randolph.

Hon. Percy M. Pitts was up here one day last week bird hunting. He was joined by Houston and Allen Pate and others. They were over near Oakley when Houston Pate in shooting a bird accidentally shot his brother Allen, the shot striking him in the face, eye and hand, with no serious results except that shot in the eye which may result in the loss of his eye. He at once left the hunt and went to Montgomery to Dr. Thigpen.

D. H. Hodgens and son of Thorsby were visiting Mr. T. J. Hubbard Sunday.

D. A. Warren had a new boarder to arrive at his place on Christmas eve night, whom they have christened Mary Magdalene.

We read with interest Mr. Maddox's letter on the chain stores. His efforts may be effective in a local sense, but our opinion is it is too late. This a time of great combines and it seems the days of the independent dealer are limited. What is there to hinder the firm with unlimited capital from opening up any where? Nothing. Can the independent dealers survive? No. Then what is there to hinder the combines from controlling prices? Nothing.

A letter from a friend in New Jersey states that when the hunting season there opened up for deer only five days, that in three counties they killed twelve hundred deer.

UNITED SINGING SOCIETY

The United Singing Society met at Collins Chappel last Sunday afternoon,

Mr. Appleton lead the opening song. Prayer followed by Mr. Conway.

The society will come back to Collins Chappel Thursday night, January 23rd, 1930. Our night singing really equals our Sunday singings. Some have said they really are better.

The society will meet at New Salem the 1st Sunday in February.

Everyone is invited to come. We give the singers of Cedar Grove and Liberty Hill a special invitation to come.

Queen Mary of England, according to press dispatches, has donned her apron and is preparing for Christmas. Here is a queen after our own heart.

Bro. Bryan's Weekly Message

(Written for The Union-Banner by REV. J. A BRYAN, Pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, Alabama)

THE EVILS OF INTEMPERANCE AS TAUGHT IN GOD'S WORD.

To-day we are celebrating the passage of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitutinon of the United States. The day this amendment was signed by the President to many minds and hearts it was one of the greatest days in all American history. The Womens Christian Temperance Uuion and the prohibition forces in general did some writing which has counted for much in the preservation of humn lives and the progress of the country. It was written on that memorable day and it is still written.

This Eighteenth Amendment to the constitution of the Uuited States prohibits the manufacture and sale of liquor, beer or wine as a beverage.

To-day we pause in the journey to thank God for the help to our country the dry forces are in securing this Eighteenth Amendment to the United States, but we especially look with pride on this one which was passed with the greatest majority and it is staying passed and is going to stay passed as it is recorded on the law books of the United States as long as time shall last.

The Bible, God's word is the only infallible rule of faith and practice for Christian living. So let us see what the Bible says about the question of temperance and as some men say the question of alcoholism. One of the first sentences is this: "Wine is a mocher, and strong drink is raging and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise." Then you read again that you are to look not upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his colour in the cup, when it moveth itself aright. At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like and adder.

Then we find Paul's words concerning this evil, this demon—deadly foe, in one of his letters says, "Be not drunk with wine wherein is excess but be ye filled with the Holy Spirit."

The Greek word for "filled" is intoxicated.

We then are to be intoxicated with the Holy Spirit. Certainly it means that we are not to be intoxicated with wine but with the Holy Spirit. In the Bible we read of the Nazarites who made vows of temperance and dedication to God's service. one of their vows was to abstain from drinking anything that would make them drunk. Likewise we read of the Rechabites temperance in all things among which was the abstenance of wine drinking who were commended by Jeremiah for their faithful perfor- of their commands.

The wine which was used in the Lord's Supper written of and spoken of as the friut of the vine, must have meant unfermented grape juice. We admit that everything was made for a purpose. Creation of heaven and earth was for a purpose. Let us think of the blessing from this victory over the demon, strong drink in this great Amendment. Think of what it has done for men, women and children. Men who were once addicted to strong drink have become sober who once violated the Constitution of the United States. They sing "my Country 'Tis of Thee," and try to better obey the laws of their country, and this Eghteenth Amendment is one of them.

Really, my friends, men who violate this law are not living up to the standards of Americanism. It is true that the ways to outlaw the liquor traffic are many. One way is for the government that dispenses alcohol for legal purposes to be careful for what it is despensed for. Another to kill the influence of alcoholism is to teach your children, the boys and girls of today and the men and women of tomorrow the horrows of alcoholism and strong drink. The best way to do this is by the proper literature and influence.

Another way to stop the progress of the liquor business is to create by social meetings and suitable literature a popular feeling against it such as will make it unpopular for people to drink liquor as a beverage and even serve it at the table because it is a violation of the Constitution of the United States to purchase it for such use. What decent man or woman would like to be branded as an outlaw in regard to the laws of his or her country? There is not one.

Think of the millions of people who have benefitted by the prohibition laws of our country. The working people got eight billion dollars more in 1928 than they did in 1918 which is an increase of 25 per cent. The men who employ them are beneffitted by better labor and sober working men and fewer absentees from work. A certain firm told me that while liquor was here they did not pay off on Saturday but on Monday because if they paid on Saturday the firm suffered a great loss of labor from absentees because of intoxication on the following Monday.

The farmer buys three times as much farm machinery as he used to. He sells forty-five per cent more milk than he used to even in 1920. He hardly ever has a hired hand who becomes intoxicated with illicit liquor as used to be the case before the good old days of prohibition. Today there are three million more depositers in the United States than there were in 1920. Savings banks are on a par of none billion dollars, an increase of sixty per cent. The merchants get two billion dollars which was formerly spent for strong drink. Thousands of dollars are spent for groceries where it used to be only a few hundred.

The womanhood of our country share in this increased prosperity which the great temperance wave has brought us. She above all no doubt to my mind appreciates the glorious situation is has placed her in. Many women who had no modern comforts now have washing machines vacuum cleaners, and some have lovely furniture they did not have. Even in the country districts we find bath rooms in homes which they did not use to have. Schools and colleges and the attendance of the same have doubled.

Numbers of radios have been sold in the homes of both city and country which could not have boasted of such a luxury in the days o fliquor. One finds an automobile to every one and one fouurth family now-a-days which used to live without even a graphaphone or Victrola. Men, women and children go to church and social organizations, wearing good clothes who used to stay at home because they were embarassed on account of shabby clothes. No doubt many women in those days felt embarassed for some of their neighbors to see them because they had not had a new dress in so long, and their shoes were worn so shabby. O how thankful we should be for this great blessing to our country, and as we try to count the many blessings we come to a fuller and deeper appreciation of the truth of Gods Word which says: "The drunkard and the glutton shall come to poverty: and drowsiness shall clothe a man with rags."

We suggest that you start your garden this month. If your early plantings get killed, then you will have ample time to plant again. An early garden will produce twice as much as the same garden planted late.

Below we offer suggestions for garden planting in the month of January. We have a full stock of seeds of every kind, and they are selected for this particular climate. Our prices are guaranteed to be as low or lower than the mail order houses.

BEETS—Sow now for our extra early, perfect model, Crosby's Egyptian, and Detroit Blood Turnip. The young plants of the beet can be successfully transplanted later.

CARROTS—Sow Scarlet Horn, Improved Rubicon, and Danvers Half Long Scarlet.

CABBAGE—Set out plants or sow Extra Early Jersey Wakefield, Copenhagen Market, Improved Flat Dutch or Drumhead.

LETTUCE—Sow or transplant from winter beds. We suggest Big Boston, Veribest Cabbage Head, Iceberg, New York, or Wonderful.

PEAS—This is an important crop in every garden and must not be overlooked. We have the Eary Morning Star, the earliest known; produces large crops of sweet and luscious peas in 42 days.

ONIONS—We have onion sets, onion plants, and onion seed. There are several varieties, any of which will give good results.

NOTICE TO WAR VETERANS

All World War veterans who feel that they are now suffering with disabilities caused by their service should filo claim for disability compensation. The World War Veterans Act provides that all claims for disabilities compensation must be filed within five years from date of discharge but for a good reason the Director of the Veterans Bureau may of the U. S. Veterans Bureau may extend that time another five years. April 6, 1930, is the expiration date and any veteran who does not file a claim for disability compensation prior to April 6, 1930 will be denied the right to file a claim. Also all veterans who have filed a claim for compensation who have not submitted to the Veteran's Bureau all evidence possible to procure, should secure such evidence and submit to the Bureau before April 6, 1930, as the law also provides that this evidence must be filed with the Veteran's Bureau prior to April 6, 1930. This article does not refer to veterans who have established their claims and who are now drawing compensation but is intended to bear information to veterans who have never filed a claim and who have not established their claims with the Veteran's Bureau.

All dependents of deceased World War Veterans should also file their claims for death compensation, otherwise known as dependency compensation, before April 6, 1930, as the law provides that their claims must be filed prior to that time. Fathers and mothers who are now dependent or have been dependent since the date of death of their son who have not applied for dependency compensation should by all means file their claims. Widows of deceased World War Veterans who have not filed claim for dependency compensation should also file their claims prior to April 6, 1930. This article does not refer to fathers, mothers and widows of deceased World War veterans who have filed their claims and who are now drawing dependency compensation.

All World War Veterans and dependents of deceased World War Veterans who are now in doubt as to their rights to file claim and as to the proper procedure to take should get in touch with the local post of the American Legion in their community or should write to the sub-office of the U. S. Veteran's Bureau at Montgomery, Alabama, sub-office of the Veteran's Bureau at Gadsden, Alabama, and the sub-office of the U. S. Veteran's Bureau at Mobile, Alabama, or to the Regional office of the U. S. Veteran's Bureau in Birmingham, Alabama.

MRS. MINNIE STROUD

On the 8th day of the present month, at the Woodlawn Hospital in Birmingham, Mrs. Minnie Stroud passed through the valley and shadow of death, where we need fear no evil for the promise is that the rod and staff of our God will comfirt us.

The age of the deceased was 37 years, 9 months, and 9 days.

Minnie joined the church early in life and ever afterward lived a life corresponding to her profession. She loved the church. She loved her neighbors. She loved her home, and will be sadly missed in all of these relations, for it seemed her chief desire to do good. She leaves in sorrow for her going, a husband, three children, mother, three brothers and three sisters, besides a host of relatives and friends.

But we need not sorrow as others who have no hope, for if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him.

The beginning of our sorrow and bereavement at her going, is the beginning of her complete joy and happiness.

May all of us be faithful unto death, so that we may receive a crown of life.—A friend.

Before Baby Comes

The muscles, tissues and nerves must "give" easily as the abdomen enlarges or much pain and suffering may result. More important still, is to have the tissues and muscles as "elastic" as possible when the great moment of childbirth arrives.

Countless thousands of expectant mothers for over 60 years have been relieved by the use of "Mother's Friend" — that time-tested, scientifically-prepared skin lubricant and pain-reliever which originated in the prescription of an eminent obstetrician.

Mother's Friend lessens pain

You owe yourself the comfort "Mother's Friend" gives during the waiting months. It is so soothing and relaxing! It is not a drug to be taken. It is used externally only—gently rubbed into the skin. Clean and pleasant to the touch. Brings relief promptly. Very valuable in keeping the breasts in good condition. Also puts you in fine shape for the approaching ordeal.

Free Book "Mother's Friend" is on sale at all drug stores. $1.25 per bottle. Try a massage with it tonight and notice the ease and comfort it gives. A booklet on "Things to Know Before Baby Comes" will be mailed in plain envelope, free, on request. Address Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. 15, Atlanta, Ga.

REQUEST FOR OLD HISTORICAL RECORDS

Inasmuch as so many people come to the Department of Archieves and History for information about their families, I have decided to ask the people of Alabama who have old family papers in their possession that contain family records, to send copies of the records with full information to this Department or to send the family papers for permanent preservation here.

In the class of material that we very much want in connection with our Confederate History are old muster rolls, or any information about our Confederate History. Many persons have kept books that contain valuable historical material, and if they will present these to this Department they will have permanent care and will serve a fine purpose.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PARDON

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, who was convicted in the circuit court of Chilton County on April 3, 1928, on a charge of possessing a still, and sentenced to the penitentiary for 12 to 13 months, will make application for pardon or parole.

LIVE STOCK CO-OPERATIVE ASSN. SOLVES THE PROBLEM

To place livestock production in Alabama on a business basis and to make Alabama compare favorably with the leading livestock producing states in the United States, farmers of Alabama are taking advantage of co-operative selling through the farmer-owned and farmer controlled co-operative commission firm at the Union Stock Yards at Montgomery, says J. D. Moore, marketing specialist of the Extension Service, Auburn.

"Co-operative selling not only gives all producers protection in selling their livestock but also gives them an opportunity to share in the earnings of the commission business," Mr. Moore declared. "This service also enables the small farmer to share all marketing advantages equal with the big producers. It is proving to all farmers that it pays to sell their livestock co-operatively, which gives them the advantage of competition in buying and at the same time they are protected in all sales by an experienced livestock salesman who is employed by the farmer-owned and farmer-controlled Co-operative Commission Firm.

"The establishment of the commission under the auspices of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation is a forward step in the livestock production in Alabama," Mr. Moore asserted. "It gives Alabama farmers the full benefit of co-operative selling so widely used by livestock growers in heavy producing states."

The world's champion egg layer is a Canadian, Lady Victorine, a Barred Plymouth Rock pullet owned by the University of Saskatchewan. She laid 358 eggs in one year, beating the former champion by seven eggs.

Plowing in Januray will permit planting of the soil, and aid in destroying hibernating insects—Julian Brown, garden specialist, Auburn.

The best relief a farmer can have is three or four husky sons who are willing to work and stay on the farm.

STANDARDS OF THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 5:1-48 (Print vv. 3-9, 17-20, 43-48).
GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God.
PRIMARY TOPIC — How Jesus Teaches Us to Live.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus' Standard of Life and Service.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Accepting and Following the Highest Ideals.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—A Christian According to Christ.

I. The Characteristics of the Subjects of the Kingdom (vv. 1-12). These characteristics are set forth in the nine beatitudes.

1. The consciousness of spiritual poverty (v. 3).

"Poor in spirit" means to come to the end of self in a state of spiritual beggary.

2. A profound grief because of the spiritual insolvency (v. 4).

The mourning here is because of the keen consciousness of guilt before a holy God.

3. A humble submission to God's will (v. 5).

This is the outgrowth of mourning over spiritual insolvency.

4. An intense longing to conform to the laws of the kingdom (v. 6).

The one who has received the righteousness of Christ as a free gift follows after the purity of character which expresses itself in deeds of righteousness.

5. Merciful (v. 7).

The subjects of the kingdom now take on the character of the King. Because of the mercifulness of Christ, His followers will be merciful.

6. Purity of heart (v. 8).

Since the King is absolutely pure, the subjects who enjoy fellowship with Him must have heart purity.

7. Peacemakers (v. 9).

The subjects of His kingdom not only have peace, but follow after that which makes for peace.

8. Suffering for Christ's sake (v. 10).

The world hated Christ, the King; therefore those who reflect His spirit in their lives shall suffer persecution (II Tim. 3:12).

9. Suffer reproach (v. 11).

To have all manner of evil spoken against us for Christ's sake is an occasion for glorying.

II. The Responsibilities of the Subjects of the Kingdom (vv. 13-16).

The world is in utter darkness because of its corruption. The subjects of the kingdom are to live such lives as to purify and enlighten. Their responsibilities are set forth under the figures of salt and light.

1. Ye are the salt of the earth (v. 13).

The properties of salt are (1) Penetrating, (2) Purifying, (3) Preserving. Since salt only preserves and purifies in the measure that it penetrates, so Christians only as they enter into the life of the world can preserve it from decay.

2. Ye are the light of the world (v. 14).

This world is cold and dark. In this darkness the devil has set many pitfalls, and the subjects of the kingdom should so live as to prevent the unwary from stumbling.

III. The Laws of the Kingdom (vv. 20-48).

1. As to deeds of righteousness (v. 20).

2. As to sanctity of life (vv. 21-26).

The duty of the subject of the kingdom is to conserve and sustain his own life and the life of others. Rash anger is heart murder (v. 22).

3. As to organized life (vv. 27-32).

The family is the unit of society. The two awful sins against the family are (1) Adultery, (2) Divorce.

4. As to oaths (vv. 33-37).

Whatever is more than the simple form of affirmation or denial comes of evil.

5. As to behavior toward those who do not recognize the laws of the kingdom (vv. 38-48).

(1) Not revengeful (vv. 39, 40). Turning the other cheek after being smitten, means, after one insult, permit another without revenge. (2) Willingness to do more than is required (v. 41). If compelled to go one mile, go two miles with the one thus compelling you. (3) Be charitable (v. 42). Our hearts should always be open, ready to give to all. (4) Love enemies (vv. 45-48). Love to them consists in: a. Blessing them that curse us. b. Doing good to them that hate us. c. Praying for those who despitefully use us.

Consciousness of Duty

In every heart there is a consciousness of some duty or other required of it; that is the will of God. He that would be saved must get up and do that will—if it be but to sweep a room or make an apology, or pay a debt.—George MacDonald.

Entering Heaven's Gates

Heaven's gates are not so highly arched as kings' palaces; they that enter there must get upon their knees.—Daniel Webster.

Now is the time to plant your early spring gardens.

EAST VIEW NEWS

On the past Thursday evening Rev. A. C. Nelson and family were invited to a surprise party at the home of Mr. N. O. Griffin. The guests were met at the door and invited in by Mr. Griffin, and were later entertained by the Victrola and games played by the young people.

Rev. Nelson was given a spool and asked towind up the unwound thread; and what he found at the end of the thread was for him and his family. He was very much surprised when he came to a table filled with groceries which had been placed there by the members and friends of East View church.

All enjoyed themselves and returned home proud of what they had done and for the appreciation shown them by the Nelson family, for what they had given.

Mrs. Edna Mims and Mr. and Mrs. Buck Driver made a business trip to Montgomery one day last week.

Mr. J. P. Rushing had for his guest last Friday his daughter, Mrs. Sallie Strength and Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell Mims visited Mr. Charlie Mims and family last Friday p.m.

Jessie Nelson and Earl Vinson had a collision on the Cooper and Enterprise road last Thursday. Both cars were damaged but no one was injured.

O. B. Nelson and Jessie Nelson were in Clanton last Thursday and each one purchased a young mule.

Rev. A. C. Nelson and family motored to Mt. Springs Sunday, where the former filled his regular appointment.

Mr. Lewis Strength made a trip to Clanton Monday.

Misses Merle and Lucile Kelley and Lois Nelson were the dinner guests of Miss Catherine Strength Sunday.

Don't forget the services for next Sunday—Sunday school at 10 a.m., prayer service at 6 p.m. and preaching at 6:45.

AN UNPLEASANT SUBJECT

All of the functions of life are not pleasant to consider. Perhaps this is why some mothers refuse to think that such symptoms as restless sleep, loss of flesh, lack of appetite or itching nose or fingers in their children, can be caused by round or pin worms. Many mothers have proven, however, that a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, that sure and harmless worm expellent, will make these symptoms disappear. You can get White's Cream Vermifuge for 35 cents a bottle from Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Ala.

COLLINS CHAPEL SCHOOL

Last Friday, January 17th the Jemison high school girls challenged the Collins Chapel girls in a basket ball game. They played on the latter's court. The score was 15 to 0 in favor of Collins Chapel. Where they exceeded over Jemison was in the pass work. They would pass the ball before the Jemison team could cover them.

After we had played Jemison we had another game with Concord. The score was 25 to 0 in favor of Collins Chapel. Both games were interesting; both were played fair and they were clean games.

There will be a union prayer meeting at this place every Wednesday night. We are studying the book of St. John. Anyone may get a question that you wish to be answered and bring it along. It will be answered. Every one has an invitation to come and discuss with us. We cannot read and discuss the Bible too much. Come and spend a few happy hours with us.

THINGS TO DO NOW

Make use of the hotbed and cold frame as suggested in December. It is not too late. Then for the garden plot, broadcast your barnyard fertilizer and thoroughly plow it in. Plowing this month will enable you to plant your spring garden earlier. improve the condition of your soil, and aid materially in destroying hibernating insects.

Legume hays are valuable for dairy cattle because they contain large amounts of lime and calcium in addition to protein and other feed nutrients.

PREVENT SCRUBBING

Abbeville, Ala., Dec. 21.—To prevent scrubbing and improve appearance, six farm women of Henry county have treated their floors with crank case oil drained from automobile engines. They used a formula furnished by Mamie B. Matthews, home demonstration agent. In all except one case the treatments were successful. In the case the oil was not applied hot.

OVER A BILLION DEADLY GERMS IN A SINGLE DROP OF WATER

Germs are so small that there may be as many as one billion, seven hundred million of them in a drop of water. And just a few of these tiny germs, if they get into your blood through a cut in your skin, may make you so sick you will be in bed for weeks—may cause the loss of a limb through blood poisoning—may even infect you with that most dreadful and fatal of diseases, lockjaw.

Just because you can see no dirt in a cut dos not mean that it is clean. You cannot see germs. The only safe and sane thing to do, is to thoroughly wash every cut, no matter how smal, with Liquid Borozone, to kill the germs, and then dust it with Borozone Powder, to hasten the healing. Liquid Borozone costs 30 cents, 60 cents, $1.20 and $1.50; Borozone Powder, 30 cents and 60 cents, and can be had at Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama.

BALANCED RATIONS FOR HOGS

Results of 15 experiments carried on by the different agricultural experiment stations in the United States show that hogs fed on corn and tankage gained two-thirds of a pound more per day than those fed on corn alone. At this rate it required 135 days for a 75-pound pig fed on corn alone to reach a weight of 225 pounds, while only 86 days were required for the pig to reach the same weight if fed corn and tankage.

Corn is recognized as one of the best hog feeds, and the corn belt is the hog feeding belt. Corn, however, does not furnish an economical balanced ration. By adding tankage which carries large amounts of other nutritional factors to the ration, a balanced condition was obtained, and more rapid and economical gains were produced.

Plants or field crops require different kinds of plant food. Superphosphate is known to carry a substance that is necessary for plant growth, and is known to be of value in feeding plants on most soils. Nitrate of soda, sulphate of ammonia, and calcium nitrate carry a substance, nitrogen, that is necessary for plant growth. Muriate of potash and sulphate of potash also carry a substance that is used by plants.

Most rapid and most economical growth of plants or crops, will not be obtained under usual conditions by the use of any of these materials alone. For the best results a balanced ration of nitrogen, phosphoric acid, and potash is required.

WELL FERTILIZED COTTON MAKES MOST PROFIT

The farmer's own estimates of crop increase obtained from the use of commercial fertilizer on cotton, verify the findings of the experiment stations that show 600 to 800 pound applications of fertilizer return more profit per acre than applications of smaller amounts.

In a survey conducted recently by the National Fertilizer Association, more than 14,500 farmers who fertilize their cotton were asked a number of questions. Among the questions were, how much fertilizer they used with cotton, and the amount of increase in the crop that they obtained from the use of this fertilizer.

Using information developed by the United States Department of Agriculture on cost of producing cotton, and the reports of the farmers in this survey, it is possible to estimate the profit per acre. When the farmers making estimates are divided into groups depending upon the most fertilizer they used, it is found that the groups that used the most fertilizer also made the most profit per acre.

The group of farmers who used 100 pounds less, of fertilizer per acre made a profit of $8.23 per acre. Those farmers who used an average of about 300 pounds per acre, made a profit of $13.83 per acre. Those who used about 600 pounds of fertilizer per acre made a profit of $16.31 per acre, while those who used more than 900 pounds of fertilizer per acre made a profit of $21.86 per acre.

Thus the farmer's own estimate of what his fertilizer does for him is in line with the experiment stations findings—that liberal fertilization of cotton will prove most profitable.

A. A. JACKSON WRITES

Editor Union-Banner:

You will be so kind as to give me a small space in your paper to say a few words in regard to the action of the Executive Committee of the Republican party of Chilton County.

At a meeting at the Court House in Clanton on the 28th day of December, 1929, they passed a resolution condemning any one as being unethical, which means immoral and dishonorable, any one who might participate in the primary and then fail to support the nominee in the general election.

This resolution makes no provisions as to what kind of a person might be nominated in the primary. In other words if an immoral and dishonorable person was nominated in the primary a voter would be unethical and dishonorable to fail to vote for the nominee in the general election.

As I see it the resolution does not represent true Republican principles. But prefers partyism in preference to morals and honesty. What about the candidates oath? Is it in accordance with Republican principles? I do not think so.

Such resolutions have never been practiced by the Republican party. I have been a life long Republican, and am still, but this committee's ruling will bar me and many other good Republicans from the primary. Unless this resolution is recended and the qualifications of the voter remain as they have been. It will hurt the Republican party of Chilton County and help the Democratic party. But such are generally the mistakes of politicians who lead their followers into the slaughter pen.

This resolution forces the candidate to take oath as to how he voted in 1928 before he or she can run in the primary. Is this a violation of the law or not? Will some one who knows give the truth in the matter?

Now in conclusion let me ask each voter to be careful where you let politicians lead you. Yours for Republican principles.—A. A. Jackson.

GROW VEGETABLES THE YEAR ROUND

Each year we learn of new vegetables as well as gain new ideas about our garden seeds. Most likely you can now think back over the past year's garden work and point out months when you did not have all the vegetables you wanted or that it was possible for you to have. Was not this because you failed to start preparing in time? Garden reports which we have just received clearly indicate the wide variety of vegetables it is possible to grow each month of the year. We have the climate and the soil. Let's resolve now to grow better gardens during 1930.

ALL-YEAR GARDENS

Wetumpka, Ala., Dec. 20.—Eighty five 4-H club girls of Elmore County are tending all-year-round gardens. Their aim is to have vegetables for their tables every day in the year.

Interest in this work is such that special committees to stimulate interest in gardening have been appointed in each girl's club, Mary Olive Carnley, home demonstration agent, said. We expect gardens to improve diets, she added.

LANDSCAPE LAWNS

Selma, Ala., Dec. 21.—Sixty Dallas county farm women have made base plantings of shrubbery around their homes. Mrs Annette Smith Breeden, home demonstration agent, says that every planting means a beginning toward more beautiful homes. Other landscape work on the homesteads will be done later, she said.

This new fad of picking out a dog whose hair matches your topcoat, so his hair is less visible when shed on your coat, is all right; and it might pay some persons to apply similar methods to choosing the stenographers they take out to dinner.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE 90 DAYS MAKE!

TODAY A TODDLING CHICK . . . in 90 days a proud pullet about to lay. There's something to think about! Tiny bones and little muscles have grown several times in size . . . a delicate fuzz has sprouted into hundreds of feathers . . . a chick weighing grams has grown into a pullet weighing pounds . . . all in 90 short days!

A wonderful change . . . and only one thing can do it . . . good feed! This year consider Purina Startena Chow (mash) and Purina Chick Chow (scratch) or All-Mash Startena Chow for the first six weeks . . . and then Purina Growena and Purina Intermediate Hen Chow until your pullets are laying at 16 weeks.

BUY LONG STAPLE

Alexander City, Dec. 20.—Five thousand bushels of D. P. L. No. 4 cotton seed have been purchased by farmers of Coosa and northwest Tallapoosa counties. Mills of Alexander City have been buying most of their cotton from farmers outside of the county on account of length of the staple. The new seed were brought because they produce a cotton of long staple—from one inch to one and one-sixteenth inches. The seed were bought through the local Farm Bureau organization. They were ginned on a private gin and every precaution taken to preserve purity and quality.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Income tax reduction in the United States of $160,000,000 was enacted into law December 16 when President Hoover signed the joint congressional resolution provided for the cut.

NEWS IN BRIEF

More than 500 million tons of soil were stripped from American farms last year by erosion—100 billion pounds of plant food washed out to the sea. This represents 21 times the annual requirements of all crops grown a loss that $2,000,000,000 worth of commerial fertilizers would not replace.

The total realized income of people of the Continental United States, estimated in current dollars, grew $23,470,000,000 in the 10 years from 1919 or from $65,949,000,000 to $89,419,000,000 in 1928, according to the National Bureau of Economic Research.

Over 40 per cent of the counties in the United States have no hospitals. Of about 2,500 counties, wholly or in large part rural, 414 at the beginning of 1928 had health departments. The figures are taken from estimates just released by the Committee on the Cost of Medical Care, headed by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior.

The income from argiculture in the United States declined slightly between 1909 and 1914, increased vigorously during the war period, dropped abruptly between 1919 and 1921 and has since been able to maintain itself on the level of the latter year. Agriculture is now producing less than 10 per cent of the nation's income in contrast with 18.5 per cent produced in 1918. Figures are from a report being prepared by the National Bureau of Economic Research.

NOTICE!

According to an order adopted by the Town Council of Clanton, there will be a penalty in addition to the fee on all delinquent privilege licenses for 1930. Said penalty will be in force and effect on and after February 1, 1930.

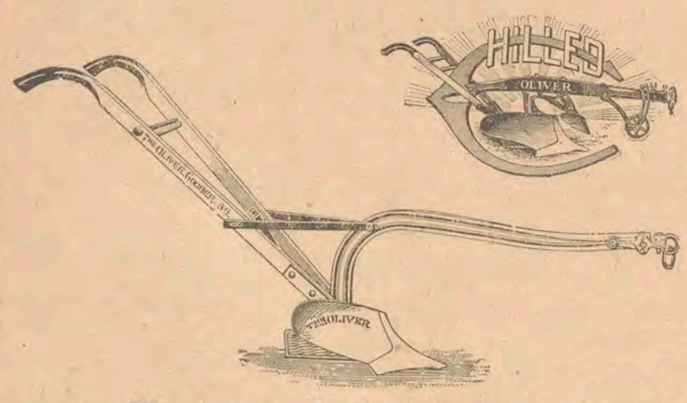
PLAN GARDEN AND PLANT SEED NOW

Now is the time to plan the garden work for the entire year. Let us immediately make a definit plan for the year and then work by the plan. Such a plan can easily be made by aid of the Alabama Home Garden Bulletin. As soon as the plan is made, order your seed for the entire year. This avoids delay at planting time and often means the difference between good and poor seed. If you wait until planting time to order the seed, you may find the supply exhausted or else have to accept seed of a poor strain. These points, often overlooked, are of much importance.



DANGEROUS BUSINESS

Our stomach and digestive systems are lined with membrane which is delicate, sensitive and easily injured. It is dangerous business, then, to use medicines containing harsh drugs, salts or minerals, when we are constipated. In addition to the possibility of injuring the linings of our digestive system, these medicines give only temporary relief and may prove habit forming. The safe way to relieve constipation is with Herbine, the cathtrtic that is made from herbs, and acts in the way nature intended. You can get Herbine at Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama.

NORTHINGTON IS HEAD OF NEW COTTON CO-OP

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 20.—Allen Northington, general manager of the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association, has been elected president of the $30,000,000 Cotton Co-operative Association.

He was elected by the Association's board of directors, who unanimously proclaimed their confidence in his ability to give the Association a business administration as outstanding as his work for the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association.

Appointment of Mr. Northington to this position places him at the head of the largest commodity marketing organization yet set up by the Federal Barm Board. The $10,000,000 narmers national grain corporation with the authoriay to extend its stock to $20,000,000 is second.

The new cotton co-operative association proposes to market through a central sales agency the world's largest cotton crop.

Dallas, Texas has been selected as temporary headquarters for the association. C. O. Moser, president of the Americal Cotton Growers' Exchange, Dallas, was elected vice-president and secretary. Charles G. Henry of Little Rock, Arkansas, a member of the Arkansas Cotton Association, was elected treasurer.

Democrats elected a lot of Mayors this month which indicates that the voters believe that Democratic influence is all right when it is localized.

CHILTON COUNTY SPOKEN OF OVER STATION WAPI FRIDAY

Howdy, folks, howdy! How are all of you today? We hope that all are well and enjoying the new year, 1930.

Recently we went up to Clanton and found most of the people of that section working together for the advancement of their community. We found that organized forces and institutions of Chilton County are pulling together for the betterment or agriculture in the county. The Kiwanis Club. the vocational and the home economic teachers, the Extension Service forces, the Strawberry Associations, the newspapers, and the farmers themselves are all working towards one end, and that is to the betterment of agricultural enditions.

Within the next few minutes I would like to tell you a few things that we observed on our trip into the county. Imediately after reaching Clanton we went to the office of W. M. Wyatt and T. E. Wyatt, publishers and proprietors of The Union-Banner, one of the newspapers of the county. Here the story about how all forces are co-operating in an attempt to improve agricultural conditions was told.

Next we visited the Farm Bureau office, and there we found C. E. Stapp, county agent, and Miss Zora Guy, farm bureau secretary, conferring with and advising several farmers about the problems confronting them. Billy Smith, the 20 year old editor of the Chilton County News, was next visited. Each one visited reviewed the fact that all forces interested in agricultural development are working hand in hand.

Chilton County has five banks, which are advising farmers to follow recommendations of C. E. Stapp, county agent, in their farming operation. These banks are: The Peoples Savings Bank, the First National Bank of Clanton, Bank of Verbena, Bank of Maplesville, Bank of Thorsby. These banks are not only advising farmers to fertilize according to Auburn recommendations, but are telling them frankly they will profit by following Auburn recommendations in Cultivation, feeding and along other lines.

The Kiwanis Club has very emphatically endorsed the agricultural movement. It has appointed an agricultural committee to look after its agricultural affairs. They have some real interesting agricultural programs. They make it a practice of conducting tours of various farms of the county each year.

The two full-time white vocational teachers of the county are devoting their time to educating farm boys and girls, and adult farmers along the lines of better farming. These vocational teachers are Earl Thomas, Isabella, and J. P. Montgomery, Jemison. Two home economic teachers, Miss Cora Bell Maddox, Isabella, and Miss Leacy Newell, Jemison, are spending their entire time working with the girls and women of the community. Great agricultural advancemeints are being made in these communities.

Lawrence C. Johnson, Clanton, is the colored vocational teacher. It is said that he has done a great work in getting colored farmers of his community to follow improved agricultural practices and getting the boys interested in club work. His influence is radiating among his farmers, and great improvements can be seen.

For about one and one-half years County Agent Stapp has been active in carrying Experiment Station recommendations and Extension Service program to the farmers. He is back of every progressive movement of the county for the betterment of agriculture.

Chilton County his two active strawberry associations; one is called Clanton Berry Grovers Association and the other the Thorsby Strawberry Growers Association. They are at present preparing for action during the coming strawberry season.

In the Chilton County Farm Bureau farmers of the county have in their midst a co-operative organization which renders round service in economical production of farm products and in disposing of these products co-operatively at prices in line with the leading markets of the country. This organization now has a membership of some three hundred of the most progressive farmers and others are aligning themselves with the organization each day. As they become members each farmer is issued a free insurance which comes at a very reasonable price, in fact it costs only about one-third as much as an ordinary life insurance policy.

Officers and directors of the Chilton County Farm Bureau, who are working with members of the organization in making a success of the organized movement in the county are: W. L. Popwell, president, Clanton; T. F. Patterson, vice-president, Verbena; J. S. Weldon, second vice-president, Clanton; W. L. Parrish, secretary-treasurer, Clanton; Directors—J. N. Dennis, Clanton; W. L. Popwell, Clanton; H. G. Boyd, Clanton; H. R. Mims, Clanton; I. M. Deason, Clanton; E. R. Piper, Thorsby; Judson Strock, Verbena; J. L. Smith, Clanton, W. L. Parrish, Clanton, R. M. Foshee, Clanton.

Some time when you are in Chilton County it will be a real inspiration to visit some or all of the above named farmers, organizations and institutions. We feel certain that they will join us in extending to you an invitation to visit them.

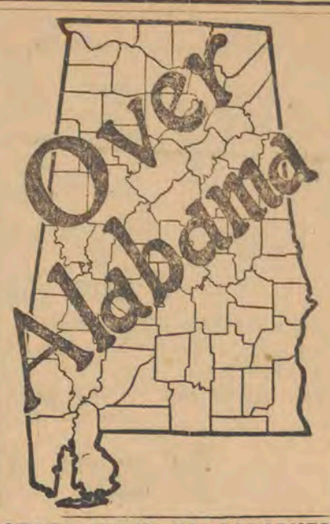
COTTON GROUP HEAD A BORN ORGANIZER

Allen Northington, general manager of Alabama Farm Bureau Sotton Association, and newly elected president of the $30,000,000 American Cotton Co-operative Association, was born an organizer. His father, William T. Northington, Prattville, was organizer and president of the Continental Gin Company, Prattville. Allen Northington attended the public schools of Prattville. After graduating from the Prattville academy he entered the University of Alabama.

After receiving his college degree, he organized the Autauga Bank and Trust Company and served as president for several years. He then went to Birmingham where he worked with the Jemison and the Central Mortgage and Trust Companies. In 1908 he returned to Prattville, organized the First National Bank, and has served as president since that date.

Eight years ago Mr. Northington was elected secretary-manager of the Alabama Farm Mureau Cotton Association, whch has up to this year handled 557.204 bales. The association of which he is manager, has this year received approximately one hundred thousand bales, and farmers continue to pool several hundred bales each day. — L. O. Brackeen.



SUMERSON'S COTTON SEED

Mr. Farmer:—Stop and ask your self the question, "Do I know the cotton seed I am planting?" This is one of the greatest problems to modern progressive farmers. Some farmers think that cotton seed are just cotton seed, when they do not even look alike.

I have about 75 bushels of genuine Sumerson's Half and Half seed which I am going to sell at $1.50 a bushel. Or I will swap seed and allow you the market price for your seed. This offer holds good as long as my seed last.

I guarantee these seed to give satisfaction; every bushel of these seed are pure and specially selected at the gin. Will produce 45 to 48 per cent lent. These same seed from Mr. Sumerson would cost $5 per bushel and are well worth it. See me and let me tell you about them. Yours for better farming—H. Headley, Clanton Route 7. 2pd

The Alabama highway department during 1929 completed projects aggregating 978 miles, according to figures recently announced. This mileage was made up as follows:—graded and drained, 326 miles; sand-clay and topsoil, 137 miles; gravel and chert, 338 miles; bituminous surface, 59 miles and cement concrete, 118 miles.

During the last fiscal year, expenditures were divided as follows: for construction work, including payments to contractors and for convict construction, $10,214,172; for maintenance, $1,650,062; administrative and engineering, $819,576. The item of administration and engineering included all expenses such as preliminary, engineering, construction supervision, testing laboratory, car costs and car operation costs and all overhead.

There was also expended $2,500 on the fifteen state-owned toll bridges being built by the Alabama Bridge Corporation at an estimated cost of $5,000,000; two of these bridges are now open to traffic and the other thirteen will be finished by next summer.

There are now under construction highway mileage as follows: graded and drained. 308 miles; sand-clay & topsoil, 89 miles; gravel and chert, 226 miles; bituminous surface, 18 miles; cement concrete, 75 miles. The aggregate cost of this work is $9,824,000. Including the carry-over of uncompleted contracts, the department will spend approximately $10,000,000 during 1930, it was announced, a large per cent of this to go for grading and drainage and drainage work with convict labor.

Gloomy predictions made several years ago by friends of the convict lease system, who claimed that removal of convicts from the mines would impose a heavy financial burden on the State, have so far failed to materialize. Despite the big additional problems presented in providing employment for convicts removed from the mines and by the taking over of county convicts by the State, a recent report of the State Board of Administration showed a substantial profit from the operation of convict systems for the last fiscal year, which ended September 30, 1929.

When the question of abolishing the convict lease system came before the Legislature of the State in the past, the chief argument for retention of the system was based on financial expediency. It was freely predicted that were the profitable leasing of prisoners to coal and lumber interests done away with, the convict system of the State would not only fail to show a profit but that tax payers would be forced to dig deep to pay for the upkeep of the prisoners.

This argument is effectively answered by the report of the Board of Administration for the last fiscal year, showing a net profit of $176,426,01. Profits would have been still greater but for the fact that the State, since the beginning of the present administration, has taken over county convicts, short-term prisoners sent up for misdemeanors. These county prisoners are worked at a considerable loss their sentences being so brief that they are at liberty before their labor can recompense the State for their up-keep and supervision. Even with this handicap, however, the Board's figures show that while county convicts were worked at a loss of $51,173.09 during the last fiscal year, State convicts returned a profit of $227,599, leaving a net profit on the entire prison system of $176,426.01. In computing these figures all depreciation was charged off, also the expense of the Montgomery office, at the Capitol, and general prison expense, which includes court costs, rewards for capture of violtators of the prohibition law, Bertillion work, transfer agents' and inspectors' expense accounts, and other items. This showing is regarded, incodentally, as a strong tribute to the efficient handling of the affairs of the State Convict Department.

There was a substantial increase in prison population during the last fiscal year, number of convicts, including both State and county prisoners, showing a gain of from 4,058 at the beginning of the year to 4,786 at its close. State prisoners increased from 3,674 to 4,263 and county convicts from 384 to 523. The rapid turnover of county prisoners is very clearly shown by the fact that while the number of such prisoners at the beginning of the year was 384 and at its end, 523, the number received from jails during the year was 1,523. Number of State convicts received jails during the year was 1,523. Number of State convicts received from jails was 2,045.

Mrs. Jennie Lee Mealer, great grand niece of General Robert E. Lee, and mother of four children, ran for sheriff of Knox county, Kentucky. She is a Democrat but ran as an independent and was elected. The county is four to one Republican. It begins to look as though the Civil War is over.

People will have more to eat this Christmas than last. Stocks of most cold storage products, including poultry, meats, and butter, were larger on December 1 than on the same date a year ago, according to the December cold storage report of the United States Department of Agriculture. Stocks of apples in storage are noticably smaller.

"Broilers and fryers will bring a good price in February, March, and April. Those marketed later scarcely bring more than cost of production. Hatch early."—G. A. Trollope, head poultryman, Auburn.

Leg weakness may be prevented by allowing chicks access to direct sun rays or by adding cod liver oil to the ration.

Some Alabama gins now use cleaning that make snapping of cotton practicable. Farmers in DeKalb County reduced cost of harvesting in this way, and did not lose due to low grade.

GAINS ARE NOTED IN EMPLOYMENT DURING JANUARY

Washington, Jan. 21—An upward trend in employment during the last two weeks for the first time since the stock market deflation last November was reported to President Hoover Tuesday by Secretary Davis.

The tide of employment all over th country has changed in the right direction, the chief executive said, after receiving information that the steel, iron and automobile industries, along with virtually every other major industry in the country, had shown increased activity since January 6.

Secretary Davis said "we can expect a great deal of business in 1930, and that the present year should see us well on the way to complete recovery from the depression during the last few months of 1929.

Steady Gain Shown

January 1 actually marked the turn upward in employment, the Secretary said, but it was not entirely evident until January 6, when reports showed a steady gain. Since then, he said, the strides toward industrial recovery have been maintained.

The report of an improvement in the labor situation closely followed an announcement by Secretary Lamont that a record year in construction and maintainence of public work and by public utilities seemed assured, with an outlay of $7,000,000-000 in these fields probable during the year.

Meanwhile at the Interstate Commerce Commission Tuesday, applications were filed by two railroads for permission to issue $30,000,000 in bonds, a large part of which is to be spent for new equipment and improvements this year.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western sought authority to sell $25,000,000 of Morris and Essex Railroad bonds, expecting to spend approximately $16,000,000 on improvements. Permission was asked by the New York, New Haven and Hartford to issue $4,545,000 of equipment trust certificates to finance partially the purchase of new equipment costing $6,070,046.

Railroads have informed President Hoover that they expect to spend more money this year than last on improvements, but these were the first applications for large financing since January 1.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

MRS. COOLEY IN JAIL THOUGHT TO ATTEMPT SUICIDE

Birmingham Woman Sentenced Ten Years For Alleged Slaying of Husband

Mrs. Maude Cooley, Convicted slayer of her husband, was recovering Monday from a jagged knife wound on the side of her throat, said to have been inflicted early Sunday morning as she lay on her cot in the woman's division at the Jefferson County jail.

Mrs. Cooley was found by guards who answered her screams about 2 a. m. Sunday. They found her on the cot, blood streaming from her throat and a rusty caseknife near by.

A physician was summoned and the bleeding was stopped quickly, probably saving her life. Three stitches were taken in the wound. While Mrs. Cooley was weakened and reported to have been hysterical, her condition was not regarded as serious.

Guards are reported to have found a note in the woman's cell requesting that she be sent to a certain funeral home and that her hair be washed. The note was dated 1 a. m.

Mrs. Cooley is being held in county jail pending orders for her transfer to Kilby Prison to begin serving a 10-year sentence for second degree murder in connection with the death of her husband, David C. Cooley, who was fatally wounded with a shotgun several months ago.

Mrs Cooley was found guilty by a Jefferson County jury Saturday and was sentenced to 10 years in Judge H. P. Heflin's court. She will be sentenced formally next week and is scheduled to be transferred to Kilby Prison shortly afterward.

She was convicted after a fiery four-day trial. The jury deliberated for more than eight hours.

Cooley was shot after he returned home and found a man there.

PEOPLE OF LOMAX ARE PULLING FOR THE GOV'T HOSPITAL

The Committee of Clanton in the interest of locating the United States Veterans Hospital in this vicinity, have found a keen interest in the project among the people of the Lomax community. The committee made a survey of that community Monday, and secured options on all the property in that vicinity for the use of the hospital, in the event the Government should be interested in securing a location there.

The spirit of the Lomax people was indeed very fine. They are willing to make every effort to have the hospital located there. From all indications, it seems that Lomax is an ideal location. The place possesses every advantage that is required. It is the exact geographical center of Alabama, and is connected with all parts of the State by paved roads, bus lines and railroad.

Mr. J. H. Hanson has returned to his home in Powell, Wyoming, after a visit of several weeks with his son, Elery Hanson, at Lay Dam. Mr. Hanson is the contracting and building business in Wyoming. He comes here every winter to visit his son, usually geting here to spend the Christmas holidays.

The allies seem to be afraid that Germany sooner or later may fail to pay the reparations installments, but if this comes to pass all the allies will have to do will be to turn the account over to a couple of expert American installment house collectors.

HENRY GORE GETS LETTER CONCERNING GILES BOY

My Dear Mr. Gore:

I have your communication of January 13th concerning your grandson, Darvin S. Giles, and wish to say that upon investigation at the Bureau of Navigation I find that the Marine is stationed in China, attached to 24th Co., 4th Reg't. There is nothing in the man's record that would indicate that he was court martialed for any offense, but we are having the case more thoroughly investigated and will advise you. In the meanwhile, will you let us know where you secured the information that your grandson had been court martialed and killed in China.

You are doubtless aware of the fact that under date of November 4th, I wrote to Mrs. Hixie D. Davis, The Marine's mother, advising that under date of October 4th your grandson's Commanding Officer reported that the boy was then alive and stationed with his company and upon being questioned stated that he had written several letters to his mother and that he had last written her under date of approximately October 4, 1929.

It must be remembered that a considerable length of time elapses from the time a man addresses a letter in China uptil it is received in Alabama. As a matter of fact, the communication which came to us concerning your grandson's welfare took exactly one month to reach us. It may be that your alarm and the alarm of the boy's mother is caused by the fact that you have not allowed enough time to elapse between the date of mailing the letter and the date of its receipt. However, I wil lsecure as definite information as I can and will advise you.

Very truly yours,
Florence G. Alexander,
Case Correspondent,
War Service.

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN PROVIDENCE CEMETERY?

A committee for the improvement of the cemetery at Providence, Beat 16, is at work on plans to raise enough money to fence the cemetery grounds with wire fencing. They invite all who are interested in the cemetery to help with a contribution of cash, to buy the necessary wire.

The committee in charge of the business is composed of Rev. W. W. Robinson, Sam Nations and E. L. Wyatt. If you are interested in the cemetery and want to make a contribution, you may send it to either member of the committee, at Clanton Route 1, or leave it at the Union-Banner office. Any contributions to this fund should be made this week or next.

For the information of those who may not be acquainted with conditions at the cemetery, we will say that the old fence is rotten and broken down in many places, and a new fence is necessary in order that the rounds may be kept free from intrusion of cattle and stock at large.

MRS. MARY BEAN DIED TUESDAY

Mrs. Mary Bean, age 84, died Tuesday at the home of her son-in-law, T. J. Martin at Thorsby. She was the wife of Mr. W. H. Bean, who died about 17 years ago. For about 17 years Mrs. Bean has been an invalid, almost totally helpless.

"Aunt Mary," as she was affectionately known, was the mother of A. Z. Bean of Thorsby, Mrs. T. J. Martin of Thorsby; Mrs. J. T. Daniel, of Lomax; Mrs. J. E. Pate, of Thorsby; Mrs. J. M. Bratton, of Union Grove; J. P. Bean, of Mineral Springs, County Commissioner of the First District; Mrs. J. Arkie Mahan, of Clanton; W. T. Bean, principal of the Thorsby Public School; and Wiley M. Bean, postmaster at Clanton.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 10 o'clock at the Thorsby Public School building, conducted by Elder O. C. Dobbs, of Fayette. She will be buried at the Robinson graveyard, at Mineral Springs.

MAN ACCUSED IN ROPER DEATH

Columbia, Ala., Jan. 27—Trial of C. C. White, Boothton storekeeper, will come up in the spring term of circuit court in April, following his indictment on a charge of murder in connection with slaying last September of Dr. G. C. Roper.

Dr. Roper, who had been mine physician at the Boothton mines of the Southern Coal and Coke Co. for more than 11 years, died in a Birmingham hospital several days after he had been shot in the abdomen with a pistol at Boothton. The shooting occured Septembr 15, 1929.

White was arrested and placed under $15,000 bond. The bond will carry over for his appearance at trial, the circuit court clerk said Monday.

Percy Pitts Will Ask For Re-Election As Member of Legislature From Chilton

Will Seek To Represent Chilton County Again At Montgomery

Hon. Percy M. Pitts, Chilton County's distinguished representative in the last Legislature of Alabama, has announced that he is again a candidate for that office to represent his people in the next session of the State's law making body. His announcement will meet with almost universal approval among the Republican voters of the County.

It will be remembered by everyone familiar with public affairs in Chilton County that Mr. Pitts, as our representative in the last Legislature, waged a long, tedious and successful fight against the movement to abolish the Commissioners Court of Chilton County. For this splendid accomplishment alone, if for no other we believe the Republicans of the Cunty will acclaim Mr. Pitts their choice for Representative again this time. The people of Chilton County will be grateful to know that they shall again have a chance to send Percy Pitts to the Legislature. We predict he will get practically the unanimous endorsement of the Republicans of the County in the Primary of August 12th, which is nothing more than his past record entitles him to.

POULTRY CAR COMING

County Agent, C. E. Stapp, announces that a poultry car will be at Verbena Wednesday afternoon, February 5; at Clanton all day Thursday, February 6; at Jemison all day Friday, February 7. All who are interested in selling poultry are urged to take notice of these dates.

CIRCLE ELECTS OFFICERS

The regular business and social meeting of the Reynolds Circle was held at the home of Mrs. L. H. Reynolds, Monday afternoon. The devotional was led by Mrs. Childs, after which the officers were elected as follows: Mrs. L. H. Reynolds, chairman; Mrs. Barney Roberts, mission and Bible study; Mrs. G. O. Foshee, social service; Mrs. T. H. Neighbors, publicity. Pledges were made and plans discussed for the year. Delightful refreshments were served by the hostess after which the meeting adjourned to meet again in February with Mrs. T. H. Neighbors.

GET TOGETHER MEETING OF JEMISON MASONIC LODGE

About 75 Masons with a number of their wives and children attended a get together meeting at the Jemison Masonic Lodge last Saturday night. About two hours were spent together eating, drinking, and listening to some very fine lectures. Among the speakers are mentioned in the report coming to us were Glenn Boyd, Omar Reynolds, J. B. Atkinson, W. H. Conway, and J. P. Montgomery. The lectures were concerning subjects of interest in Masonic and Eastern Star work, all of which was enjoyed by everyone present.

The report of the meeting by one who was present says "There seemed to be that fraternal spirit of old times which brings our people closer together. They seem to understand each other better. We are planning to organize an Eastern Star Lodge here Saturday night, February 8. It seems that our town and community, together with our lodge are taking on new life, due to the fact that the fraternal spirit seems to prevail among our people.

REV. ARTHUR DELOACH IN FORT WORTH, TEXAS

The Union-Banner has a card from Rev. Arthur Deloach, former pastor of Verbena Baptist church, stating that he has reached his permament location in Fort Worth, Texas, where be will begin a three-year course in theology at the Southwestern Baptist Seminary. Rev. Deloach's address is, P. O. Box 265, Seminary Hill, Texas. Of course Rev. Deloach mants The Banner to follow him in his new work. We hope that he enjoys reading his old home paper, but we are a little afraid it will make him just a little home-sick.

We wish Rev. Deloach the best of success in his undertaking, and that when he gets his degree he will not forget Chilton County, but will come back here and be one of us again.

CHEVROLET COMPANY IS PREPARING FOR BIG BUSINESS

Because of the nationwide reception of the new Chevrolet Six at lower prices, the Chevrolet Motor Company is preparing for a volume of business in 1930 that promises to break all records of the Company. Confidence over the outlook for a banner year is widespread in the factory and dealer organizations.

This is the statement of Polk Bros. Motor Company, local Chevrolet dealer, who has just returned from Birmingham where he attended the mammoth Chevrolet sales meeting and banquet.

"Under the direction of H. J. Klingler, vice president and general sales manager, of the Chevrolet Motor Company, the meeting embraced the most graphic and comprehensive sales presentation ever attempted by an automobile manufacturer," Mr. Polk said.

"The advance merchandising methods which the factory is suggesting to its dealer organization were depicted in the form of playlets, showing the proper procedure to be followed in the successful opration of a retail automobile business."

In connection with the Convention the 100 Car Club Members of the Birmingham zone which embraces the retail salesmen who sold 100 or more Chevrolets in 1929, held their annual meeting, and installed officers for the year.

Assisting in the direction of the meeting were, in addition to Mr. Klingler, M. D. Douglas, parts and service manager; W. I. Gibson, assistant zone manager; G. R. Yarber, zone sales promotion manager, and the following men representing the Chevrolet Motor Central Offices: C. D. Asbury, Joe Glass, C. W. Luco, N. H. Pearson, J. J. Dobbs, and C. J. Seifort.

AUTOMOBILE CRASHED INTO DRUG STORE

Monday night about eleven o'clock the car of Mr. DeWitt Easterling, parked near the drug store adjoining his cafe, was struck by a passing automobile. The Easterling car was plunged against the side door of the drug store, and almost forced into the building.

The driver which struck Mr. Easterling's machine was one of the men who is at work on the construction crew at the new Standerd Oil Company filling station. He was arrested by city officers, and we understand was charged with most every kind of traffic violation in the catalogue, together with some prohibition law charges thrown in for good measure.

Considerable damage was done to the cars as well as the drug store.

GEORGE MURRAH ENTERS RACE FOR SHERIFF

While other candiates for different offices in Chilton County have been coming out right along for the past few weeks, there has been a profound silence on the part of the prospectives for Sheriff.

Some voters have expressed themselves as wondering if we would have a candiate for Sheriff, anyhow. We felt all the while that it was no use to worry; that the candiates for Sheriff would wake up in due time. So it is. We have one this week. The name of Deputy Sheriff George Murrah will be found in the candiate colum. Mr. Murrah said he had been feeling around on the Sheriff business for quite a while and considering getting into the race. At last he made up his mind that he would jump into it head over heels so he could get out with the boys and do some real politicking.

Mr. Murrah is well known over the County, having been a deputy of Sheriff Collins for the past three years. He is a good man, and we look for him to develop a formidable group of supporters before the primary comes around in August. He is a Chilton County boy, reared on a farm in the Collins Chapel Community, where he lived until he became deputy sheriff.

JOHN MARTIN CANDIDATE FOR COMMISSIONER

"Give us a commissioner on the west side of the First District," is the keynote of the announcement of Mr. John H. Martin as a candidate for that office.

In this issue of the paper is a letter from Mr. Martin setting forth some of his ideas about politics and the duties of the commissioner's office.

John Martin lays claim to being one of the tried and true Republicans of Chilton County, and so far as we know he is entitled to that kind of classification. As long as the writer has observed things political in this county, Mr. Martin has been constant and steady in his loyalty to the Republican party.

As a citizen Mr. Martin is known, not only in his own community, but in many parts of the county, as upright, honest, sincere, in every way. He is a man of considerabl business expierence. We urge you to read his letter which appears elsewhere in this paper.

SUPT. EXPLAINS APPORTIONMENT OF SCHOOL FUNDS

Attention Is Called To Full Explanation In Another Column

In view of the interest manifested by the citizens of the county in our schools and the many questions asked about the available funds for same, I am giving to the press an article published in bulletin form by the State Department of Education telling about the apportionment and distribution of public school funds. I trust that every citizen of the county will study this article. It will answer every question relative to the available funds for schools.

I wish to take this opportunity to say that I am always glad to answer any questions that may be asked relative to our school system, and we wish you to be informed about all matters having to do with same. If after you have read this article published by the State Department of Education you find in it points you do not understand, I shall be glad to answer any question about it you feel like asking.

We have thousands of children in our schools, and it would do you good to visit these schools and see these youngsters at work. They have in them great pjossibilities for development if they are only given the optunity. Recently I heard Mr. Silsby McNeil, one of our own county boys, in a radio program, and no doubt you heard him. He gave me somewhat the feeling of a proud parent who hears his own child deliver a great speech or do something else worth while. It made me love out county better. This boy has had the opportunity afforded him by our government to train himself for the work he is doing. Many of our Chilton County boys and girls have made good in life. In one way or another they have had opportunity to prepare themselves for the different fields they are now in; and more of our boys and girls can do the same thing if they only have a chance. Let us give them the best we have and certainly they are entitled to at least the same advantages of training as the boys and girls of the other counties of the State.

Trusting that the article published elsewhere in this paper will be of benefit to you and the county, I worth while. It made me love our school system.—B. Lawrence. County Superintendent of Education.

OLD SOLDIERS HOME AT MT. CREEK IS IN BAD REPAIR

General House Cleaning of Home Suggested by Inspector.

Montgomery, Jan. 28.—A general house cleaning and extensive repairs at the old Soldiers' Home at Mountain Creek has been recommended to Governor Graves by Miss Ann R. Davis, deputy state prison inspector.

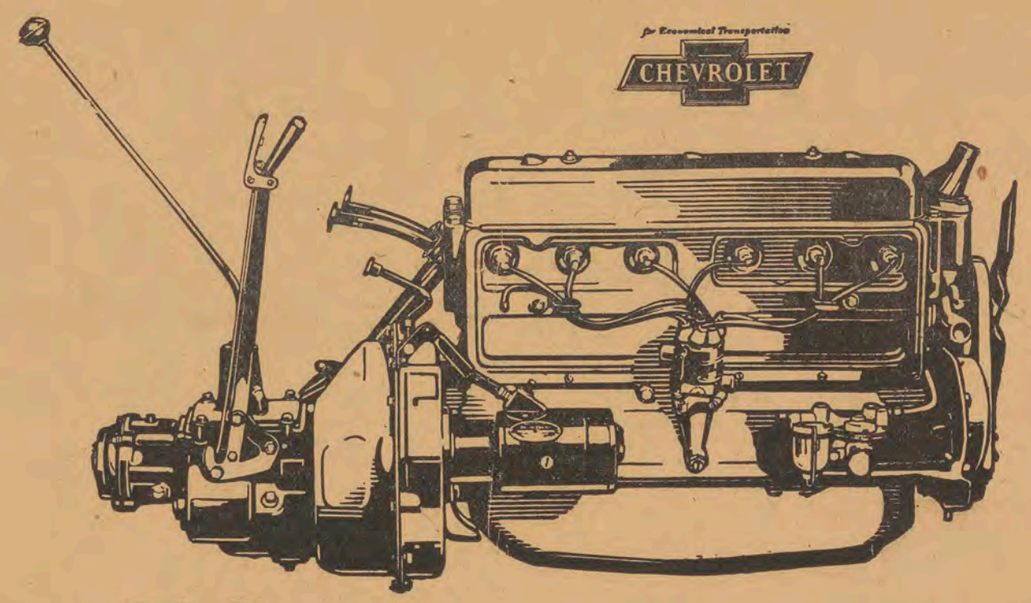
On a personal inspection of the Home following a complaint to the governor, of health and sanitary conditions, Miss Davis found the buildings to be in a state of disrepair and the cottages untidy.

The institution, she reported, is rapidly becoming a complete hospital proposition with the present population well composed of hospital cases.

There are eight veterans and sixteen wives and widows of veterans now living in the Home.

BURIED AT PROVIDENCE NEAR JEMISON FRIDAY

P. H. Guice, age 67, died Wednesday of last week at the South Highlands Infirmary, Birmingham. The body was brought to Clanton by undertaker Martin and prepared. The funeral was held at Providence near Jemison Friday afternoon, conducted by Rev. R. M. Honeycutt.



The Guice home was in the old church building on the cement highway just above Wessington.

Phillip H. Guice is survived by his second wife, three sons and two daughters.

BOX SUPPER AT ANTIOCH

There will be a box soupper at Antioch church Saturday night, February 1st. Everybody has an invitation to come. The proceeds go for the benefit of the church.

"Mrs. Tubbs of Shantytown," a three act comedy will be presented at Cross Roads Schoolhouse on Friday night, January 31. Admission 10 and 15 cents. The proceeds to be used for school purposes.—Mabel Parker, Principal.

50 horsepower six cylinder engine

Not until you drive the new Chevrolet Six can you appreciate what a wonderful improvement has been made in its famous six-cylinder valve-in-head engine. With its capacity increased to 50 horsepower, it has great reserve energy for sweeping up the steepest hills—for swift acceleration—and for sustained high speeds. Its power flows evenly and smoothly. And it is extremely flexible in traffic. In fact—it does everything you could possibly want a motor to do. Yet it is remarkably economical in its use of gasoline and oil. Come in today for a demonstration.

STATE CAPITOL News

Alabama's tax levy, for the state and local purposes, is the lowest, per capita, of any state in the Union, according to a survey, the results of which were recently announced by the Nationl Industrial Conference Board. Although any sort of taxpaying is as a rule more or less unpleasant to the taxpayer, nevertheless it should be of interest to citizens of this state to know that they get off lighter in this respect than those of any of the other 47 states. Tax collections in Alabama per capita are a mere fraction of the figures for many other states. Announcement of the results of the tax survey was recently made public from New York, and attracted widespread attention over the country.

"Alabama's state and local tax collecitons were lowest, amounting to only $17.68 per capita" it was announced. The highest per capita collection of state and local taxes was in Nevada, $86.84; California was second, $78.16 and New York third, $76.10.

The Alabama Automotive Trades Association at its recent annual meeting at Montgomery went on record as favoring exemption of automobiles from ad valorem taxation; issuance of automobile tags to the car instead of the individual owner as at present, and a gradual scaling down of price of tags each month, with a cut of one-twelfth each month after October 1, to apply to new cars only. The Executive Committee was authorized to draw up bills embodying these recommendations for submission to the Legislature at its next session. The automobile men defeated a proposal to endorse a measure taking the two-cent gasoline tax from the counties and having it adminstered through the State Highway Department.

A. R. Pryor of Birmingham was elected president of the association, succeeding Charles E. Ingalls of Montgomery. The new executive committee is composed of S. E. Mary, Troy; Ted Brownell and Reese Adamson, Birmingham; and John Todd, Mobile. Birmingham was selected as the place for the summer meeting of the association.

That Governor Graves is adhering to his announcement policy of restricting the exercises of the parole power is indicated by a recent report of the State Board of Administration, for the last fiscal year, ending September 30, 1929. The report shows that during the year only 171 permanent paroles, conditioned on good behaviour, were granted to state convicts, and 13 to county convicts. This is only a fraction of the annual volume of paroles issued during the preceeding administration. During the year the Governor revoked the paroles of 34 state and two county convicts, a large percent of these being men who had been paroled during previous years and who in various ways failed to live up to the "good behaviour" clause of their paroles.

A war of extermination against tuberculosis in cattle will be launched in Alabama beginning February 15th, according to recent announcement by Dr. C. A. Cary, State Vetrinarion. Montgomery County has been selected for the beginning of a State wide campaign which will be kept up until every cow in the state has been tested for tuberculosis, it was announced. Infected cows will be slaughtered, as such animals constitute a serious menance to the public health. The campaign is in line with a nation-wide effort to eradicate bovine tuberculosis. Dr. Cary estimated that only about one per cent of the cows in Alabama are infected.

Selina Gilmore, negro woman, was electrocuted at Kilby Prison early on the morning of Friday, January 24, the first woman to be legally executed in this state in over fifty years. She received the supreme penalty for the murder of P. B. Johnson, a Birmingham restraurant proprietor. In a statement just before going to the chair the woman declared that "corn and canned heat" was responsible for her plight.

CHARLES COOPER WRITES

We notice in last week's edition of the Union-Banner that Brother Jackson seems to be worried about the Republican Executive Committee ruling that those entering the primary should agree to support the nominees.

I believe the motive that prompted this royal decree was for no other purpose than that of trying to keep out of our primary those of the oposing party who might enter our primary for no other purpose than that of helping to nominate some weak candidate whom they could beat in the general election.

I also notice in last week's paper that we now have quite a large bunch of candidates, most especially for the tax collectors office, this evidently must be a mighty good job, or else so many would not want it.

I notice that Mr. Billingsley of Thorsby has got in the race for tax collector. I do not know how our friend Mr. Billingsley will come out in the new work, but I can say for him that he made us a mighty good man while he was on the school board.

There was a strong fight made to do away with our school for the little fellows here at home. The fighting officials wanted us to join the Verbena School. Mr. Billingsley lined up with the school patrons here and let us keep what we had. I might mention the fact that every patron of our school wanted to keep our school.

I believe the people down this way are going to remember that Mr. Billingsley was "Faithful in small things."

I also notice in the Union-Banner that some parties have announced for commissioners, several people down this way would like to read an expression from them as to what they have in mind about the road working system.

It seems that there has been quite a lot of howling about bad roads. I believe that our present commissioners have done as well as any other set of men could have done working under the same conditions. During the past twelve months it has been my lot to travel over about fifteen counties and by my observation I find that our county roads average up much better than the other counties even though they are operated by Democrats.

We believe the system should be changed. The first change I would suggest would be to gather up all of those big road-working machines and dump them in the middle of Coosa River. Reading the report of the County Treasurer prompts the above suggestion.

Our next suggestion would be to let the road work out by contract, letting the contractor cover a period of four or five years. According to the Treasurers report of road receipts there would be about ten thousand dollars for each beat each year. In this case the contractor of a piece of road could work his son-in-law if he happen to have a working son-in-law.

We have a mighty good oversees in our beat, we believe that he does as well as anyone else could do under the same conditions. Too much lost time going from one road to another. In letting out the road work by contract, let the contractor be a man that lives on the road on which he is bidding, permitting said contractor to have only one section or division, similiar to the old style overseer plan.

According to my opinion we had better country roads when worked by the old overseer plan than we have now. Back then there was not ten thousand dollars of tax money for each beat. I do not believe there is a section of road in Chilton County that has not got one or more men living on it who are intelligent enough to keep up a section of road.

It seems that we have given the present system sufficient trial to be convinced that it has failed to get results. On Mt. Sinai God gave Moses a law, later he sent his son down to earth and made a new Testament.

It seems to me that we now need a new road-working plan. If you people will read the Treasurers report covering the past six months I feel sure that you will agree with me, that some kind of a change in the road-working system is necessary.

Wishing all a very merry time in the office-seeking race, I am,

Yours very truly,

Chas. Cooper.

QUICK RELIEF FOR COUGHING SPELLS

Famous Prescription Stops Them Almost Instantly

The phenominal success of a doctor's famous prescription called Thoxine is due to its double action. It immediately soothes the irration and goes direct to the internal cause not reached by patent medicines and cough syrups. The very first swallow usually stops even the most obstinate cough.

Thoxine contains no harmful drugs, is pleasant tasting and safe for the whole family. Sold on a money back guarantee to give better and quicker relief for coughs or sore throat than anything you have ever tried. Ask for Thoxine, put up ready for use in 35c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. Sold by Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama. As well as all other good drug stores.

IN MEMORY

On last Saturday night, January 18, about 9 o'clock God called little Jude McCoy Jackson home to rest.

He was the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jackson, formerly of Collins Chappel, but now of Thorsby.

The little babe was born January 3, 1929 and died January 18, 1930. Making its stay in here 1 year and 15 days. The little remains were laid to rest in Collins Chappel cemetery about two o'clock Sunday p. m., January 19. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. P. Lowery.

The little babe had been ill for about six months, and all personal services were rendered by doctors, parents and friends that could be, but when God calls, none can stay his hand. The little babe was carried to Montgomery to a specialist, but to it's parents deepest regrets they were informed that it could not recover. It leaves to mourn its loss, its father mother, three sisters and three brothers and a host of relatives and friends.

We wish to say to the grieved ones not to weep for little McCoy for he is much better off than we, and we must all try to live to meet him in a world above.

We wish to thank the doctors and friends for their kindness shown us in its sickness and death, and thank the people for the flowers.

Another indication that spring can't be so very far away is that the baseball comment is beginning to creep back into the sporting sections of the city newspapers.

PHENOMENAL GAIN IN TRUST SERVICES

By JOHN G. LONSDALE
President American Bankers Association

So phenomenal has been the increase of trust business that statisticians are unable to keep a true record of its advancement.

John G. Lonsdale

There are now something like 3,500 active trust departments in banks in America, while in 1900 only 165 active trust departments had been established.

In becoming the custodians or the guardians of the property of others, bankers assume what has been fittingly described as one of the "most exalted human relationships ever created by law." They become at once a big brother, a big sister, an advisor, or a confessor, sworn so to conduct themselves that clients will be won to them by their ability and integrity.

Thousands of little children have received an education and have been started off right in life through the trust department's safe keeping and guidance of the family estate, numberless widows have been protected from merciless stock swindlers, many thousands of business men have been relieved of troublesome details in the conduct of their business through the creation of a living trust and still others have safeguarded their business enterprises through life insurance trusts.

The favorable reaction of the public toward trust department service is not accidental. It may be traced jointly to the growing intelligence of the American people in financial affairs and to advertising to the world at large the merits of trust services. Advertising used in a sensible, judicious way is necessary, a power that has accomplished much good for humanity.

Among the detailed services rendered by a trust department the one that seems to be winning favor the fastest is the life insurance trust. Life insurance is the quickest known way of creating an estate. In reality it affords the possessor the opportunity of setting up a positive monetary safeguard for his family and then paying for it on the installment plan.

A married man is not fair to his family if he fails to carry life insurance. I would say to the young man, "Buy insurance before you buy the ring," and to the young woman I would say, "Marry no man so thoughtless as to scoff at life insurance."

...SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

By GRACE VIALL GRAY

YOU MUST COME TO DINNER

Gone are the days when Mrs. Newlywed dreads her first dinner party for the new in-laws! Biscuits and cakes, those traditional gambles of the amateur, hold no terrors for the modern bride, for, with self-rising flour at her right hand, Mrs. Newlywed is without fear and without reproach. And so is everything she cooks!

"You must come to dinner," she says, and come they must, these critical in-laws who dread this demonstration of amateur cuisine. The bride is calm at her debut. She's proud of her vegetable soup, and the cheese sticks she serves with it. Roasts are simpler and surer than any other meats and lamb was ever a standard treat at the in-law's home. So roast lamb it is, with mint jelly jelled in the refrigerator, and green peas.

Then comes that bane of life of every bride before the reign of self-rising flour—drop biscuits! With self-rising flour, however, all fear is gone, for the actual cooking is a matter of ten of the last minutes. The recipe is simply two cups of self-rising flour, two tablespoons of fat, and seven-eighths of a cup of milk.

Dessert is easy for the happy bride for the romantic pairing is obvious—Paradise Pudding and Honeymoon Cake. No terrors here! Follow these directions:

Honeymoon Cake.

½ cup fat
⅔ cup sugar
1 tsp. lemon extract
1½ cups self-rising flour
½ cup milk or orange juice
2 egg whites

Directions: Cream the fat; add the sugar; continue to cream until the sugar granules have dissolved; add the flavoring and flour alternately with the milk; fold in the egg whites, beaten stiff but not dry; pour into a greased and floured cake pan, and bake in a moderate oven about 30 minutes. Cool and spread the top and sides with orange frosting.

It is stated that counterfeiters are now engaged in issuing fake $1,000 notes. This is something that doesn't concern us any, personally.

FORMER CITIZEN OF THORSBY WRITES OF ITS PROGRESS FOR PAST 25 YEARS

Mr. Sam Thorson of Wesaca, Minnesota, is on a visit to his old home of Thorsby, after having been gone away for a quarter of a century. He writes back to his Minnesota friends telling them of some of the changes he finds in his old home town and in the Southland in general. Below we publish Mr. Thorson's letter in full:

Thorsby, Ala., January 21, 1930.

According to your request, I am going to give you in detail our trip South. As you know, we started on Saturday, the 11th, arrived in Chicago in due time, where we had a pleasant visit with our son-in-law and daughter over Sunday. We left Chicago Monday noon on the Dixie Flyer which is supposed to be one of the best trains out of Chicago for Florida winter tourists. Reaching central or southern Indiana we were delayed and detoured over 200 miles off from the route at Terra Haute, arriving at Evansville about 4 hours later. On account of the floods we were informed by railroad men at that place that the E. & T. H. Railroad was all under water for a distance of over 30 miles. We reached Decatur, Ala., on Tuesday where we enjoyed a pleasant visit with my brother and family. T. T. Thorson, with myself were the pioneers in building and colonizing central Alabama about 34 years ago, where the foundation of Thorsby was laid. My brother has large land interests in the vicinity of Decatur, where one of his sons is managing their cotton plantations and is successful. While my brother has retired from active business, he is living in a comfortable home in Decatur. We expect to stop there on our return trip and look further into the improvements of that section.

We next visited the city of Birmingham, where my wife has a sister, Mrs. Carl Petersen. Birmingham has made wonderful advancement, and anyone who has been absent from that city for 25 years as I have can hardly realize that it is the same town that has grown from about 30,000 to now approximately 300,000 population. The industries there are altogether in the iron manufacturing where the natural resources are unlimited, coal and iron are the main minerals with abundant lime rock.

Reaching our old town of Thorsby by car, I have never been so completely surprised in my life, to see the general advancement and industrious people who have developed this particular section. While much of the improvement here can be attributed to a general spirit of the natives of Alabama as well as the northern people who have taken advantage of developments from the great Alabama Power Company as well as the state at large, encouragements to good schools and road improvements. Extending through the entire extent of the state from north to south is a paved highway with beautiful scenery surrounding it. The farmers in Chilton County, tributary to this highway, have diversified their farming methods, gotten away from a great deal of the one year crop which is cotton, and have added fruits of different varieties as well as into the dairy in a small degree. I was told by our banker that over a hundred thousand dollars have been deposided with him from the strawberry crop alone, as a net profit to the producers. The county is adapted to a superior quality fruit and the season demands a higher price for this particular fruit. Many of the farmers here have gone into the nut culture quite extensively; pecan nuts are a favorite, while they are slow to start to grow. But once in bearing they are very profitable. When I look back upon this particular section of 25 years ago and see the thousands of acres of red land that were at that time covered by woods, it is unbelievable that so much could be accomplished in thas space of time.

Yesterday we had a pleasant visit at Mitchell Dam, which was constructed and completed about ten years ago at the aproximate cost of $15,000,00 by the Alabama Power Company, who extend their lines to every part of the state as well as to adjoining states, connecting with ten other dams which in all are considered the largest power development in the entire South. They have extensions, I was told, that reach clear across the United States and into Canada. The beautiful landscape scenery around Mitchell Dam are to be compared with those of Switxerland by travelers. All these improvements are paying taxes in Chilton County, which naturally adds to resources of county funds.

We also visited the Jordan Dam at Wetumpka which is a similar power institution. From there we visited the old city of Montgomery, capital of Alabama, which is a typical southern town. I could not see a great deal of improvement there from 30 years ago. While farming in that section is altogether cotton growing and all colored labor.

We expect to continue our visit here a little longer and if I can see anything of interest I will write you again. The weather here at the present is very mild and today is rained.

With best wishes to all of our friends in Waseca, I am, Yours very truly,—Sam Thorson.

Alred's Garden Guide
FOR FEBRUARY

February is the gardening month of the South. Time lost now can not be recovered. If our hints for January have been followed, you are now ready for active duty. We can lay down no exact rule for definite time of sowing and planting; this must be governed by the weather prevailing. But everyone should be right ready to take advantage of favorable conditions as they may come. We recommend the following varieties as suitable for planting in February:

BEETS—Crosby's Egyptian, Early Eclipse, Extra Early, Detroit Blood Turnip, and Perfect Model.

BEANS—Bush or Snap Shorts, Early Red Valentine, Stringless Green Pod, Prolific Stringless, Bountiful, Best of All Wax, and Golden Wax.

CABBAGE—Improved Drum Head and Flat Dutch. These are the finest stocks of late cabbage. If your plants have not been set out, look after your cabbage planting at once.

CARROT—Early Scarlet Horn, Half Long Scarlet, Scarlet Chantenay, and Long Orange.

MUSTARD—Sow now for salad. We recommend the Mammoth Southern Curled Mustard.

LETTUCE—Sow and transplant from spring or winter beds. Select Big Boston, Simpson, Hanson, Veribest, unrivaled.

ONIONS—Sets should be set out now or they will not form a bulb.

POTATOES—Our stocks are from Maine. Plant Houlton. Early Rose, Extra Early Sunrise, Irish Cobblers, and Early Ohio. For late or general crop use State of Maine or Green Mountain.

TURNIPS—Sow as early as the winter permits. They require quick growth, otherwise they will be tough.

Home economic's plays are to be given at Isabella High School February 15 at 7:30 o'clock. Doughnuts, a laughable 2-act play with a Home Economics flavor for ten females and three males. The girls want miss Tate's re-election and expecting the School Board want everything to go exceptionally well. Jack and Bill drift in trying to help the girls, make unintentional blunders. They mistake soap for powdered sugar, red pepper for cinnamon. The mistakes, however, are discovered in time and the boys help them out of a difficulty. The visitors who come are well pleased and turn out to be from the neighboring town instead of the Board. School kitchen setting.

Yes, We have No Baking Powder, home economics play, domestic tragedy (?) caused by Beth's inability to remember the right recipe, and the absence of baking powder, here and there is making a real heathen out of Bob. Mrs. Chaugeit, the doctor's wife, gives some good advice, and doctor gives some good medicine, so all ends well.

Kitchen band—music, old home songs—pantomimed.

Our basket ball girls played Vermont's team at Isabella court, Thursday afternoon, Isabella girls were victorious. The boys also played and Isabella's team won with a score of 24 to 2. The girls went to Plantersville Friday to play a game. The scores were 6 to 10 in favor of the opponents.

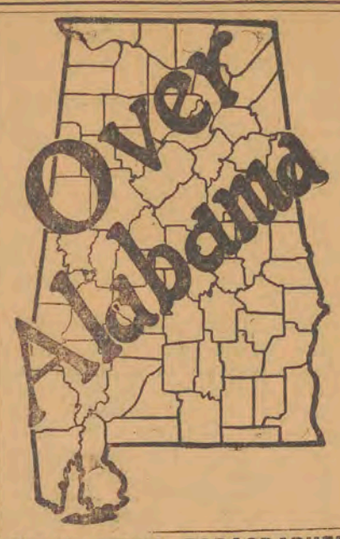
Remember to come to Isabella February 8th.

ADULTS CONTRACT CHILDREN'S DISEASES

Adults can and do, contract many children's diseases. And, usually, they suffer from them much more than children do. For instance, many adults contract worms, an ailment usually associated with children. Sometimes they suffer intensely and take expensive medical treatments, without realizing that worms are the cause of their troubles. Yet, the symptoms are the same as in children, loss of appetite and weight, grinding the teeth and restless sleep, itching of the nose and anus, and abdominal pains. And, the same medicine that surely and harmlessly expels round and pin worms from children will do the same for adults—White's Cream Vermifuge, which you can buy at Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama.

POULTRY RANKS ABOVE MOST CROPS AS MONEY MAKERS

Hens on American farms in 1929 produced eggs at the rate of 45,600 a minute, U. S. Governmnt statistics show, while poultry as a whole created a net income of more than $1,-181,000,000 for the farmers of the nation. This places poultry well above wheat, oats, fruit, potatoes, and a long list of other farm products in rank as money makers for farmers.



Growing realization of the profits to be made from greater attention to the farm flock is responsible for the increased interest the farmer is now taking in the old hen coop. Once the chickns were left to "the women-folks" by the farmer, who felt that poultry was a "pin money" proposition. Now, with farm poultry in the "big money" class, the head of the house is beginning to take upon himself a large share of the work necessary to successful poultry raising.

This greatly awakened interest in poultry as a major farm product has resulted in constant improvement of farm flocks during the past few years, particularly since leading hatcheries of the country banded together under the slogan, "Hatchery chicks for greater profits," to pledge improved stock to farmers.

In spite of this effort to make farm flocks sure-fire profit producers, many farmers have failed to realize the importance of good stock and of improved methods in obtaining best results from their hens. The old-fashioned hen coop is no longer satisfactory. New-type brooding and laying houses, sanitation and scientific management are replacing the old hit-or-miss methods.

Increased egg production is the first step to greater profits from the poultry flock. Hens must lay from 140 to 170 eggs a year to return a good profit to their owners, while the average for American farms is only 70 eggs per hen per year. Replacement of low-grade stock, and improved methods of caring for hens offer the two quickest methods of securing best results from the poultry flock, poultry experts advise.

In the manufacture of nitrogen for fertilizer and other chemical products the United States made an important contribution to the total supply for the first time in 1929. Federal authorities say that nitrogen fixed in the United States in 1929 was equivalent to 600,000 tons of Chilean nitrate of soda. This was three or four times the amount produced in 1928.

County Farm Agent's Notes

CO-OP POULTRY SALES ADD BIG MONEY

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 27—Plans have been completed for 50,000 farmers of 50 Alabama counties to sell one-half million dollars worth of live poultry cooperatively within the next five months, J. B. Sylvest, marketing specialist of the Extension Service, Auburn, announced this week. A heavier movement of poultry through the cooperative channel is expected this year than last when 35,000 farmers of 42 counties sold $353,888.20 worth of live poultry.

This year sales had a record opening last week when farmers of Henry Dale, Coffee, Geneva, Covington, Monroe, Escambia, Conecuh, Butler, Lamar, and Marion counties loaded nine cars of poultry. This makes eleven cars sold coopreatively during January, and four are scheduled to load this week.

The cooperative sales are being conducted by the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation operating with district agents, county agents, home agents, and the county farm agents. Mr. Sylvest said today that he expects to spend most of his time during the next four and a half months assisting farmers with their cooperative poultry sales. He is keeping in direct touch with the Eastern markets, observes very closely all holidays and other celebrations of the Jewish and Hebrew races who are the heaviest consumers of poultry.

In addition to keeping in direct touch with the consumers, Mr. Sylvest is keeping in direct touch with the county agents, home demonstration agents, and others interested in assisting farmers in their poultry sales. In this way he is keeping the farmers of Alabama informed about the poultry market and is assisting them in getting prices in line with the leading poultry markets of the country. He cooperates with the county agents and county farm bureaus in scheduling cars to appear at various points in Alabama when the farmers are ready to sell enough poultry to justify.

COMMENTS OF FARM LEADERS

"The staple of Alabama cotton has deteriorated until much of it is now shorter than mill requirements with the result that a heavy penalty is being placed upon growers," says Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute Auburn. "Meanwhile the farmers of India have improved the quality of their cotton until one-third of it competes with the American crop," Dr. Knapp continued. To help this situation the Experiment Station will work with farmers and spinners to the end that th quality of Alabama cotton may be raised to meet mill requirements.

"Strengthening the Cotton Cooperative Marketing Associations of the south in order that they may handle the farmers' cotton more economically and in larger volume is the methods through which farmers of the South can expect to reap benefits from the Farm Marketing Act and the Federal Farm Board," says Allen Northington, general manager of the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association and president of the newly created $30,000,000 American Cotton Cooperative Association.

"It is right that we should urge farmers for appointment on Federal Boards and Commissions," says Edward A. O'Neal, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, vice-prsident and chairman of the legislative committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation. "Agriculture is one of the greatest industries in this country. In the past appointments on these boards other industrial groups have been recognized and farmers left out. He has a right to demand this representation. Congress and the President in the past, to some extent, have recognized this demand and the farmer appointees excellent service.

FARM FACTS

Speed of the separator, warmth of the milk, fresh cows added to or dropped from the herd, and cleanliness of the herd are all causes of variations in the cream test.

No known drug or combination of drugs when fed to poultry will increase egg production. Says Dr. H. E. Moskey, veterinarian in the food, drug, and insecticide adminstration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Tularemia is contagious to humans and is carried by rabbits, squirrels, chipmunks, woodchucks, opossums, cats, pocket gophers, mice, wood rats, coyets, deer flies, and cattle ticks.

SOUTH-WIDE MEETING OF COTTON AND CORN GROWERS

Montgomery, Ala., January 27.—Alabama will be represented at a South-wide meeting and on a 10-day educational tour which has been planned for the 1929 cotton and corn-growing champions in recognition of their outstanding accomplishments in economic crop production.

Winners of the state-wide crop-growing contests in Alabama, Arkansas, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Texas, Florida, Louisiana, and Tennessee, will assemble at Jackson, Mississippi, February 6, to start an extended tour under the auspices of the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau, through Mississippi, Louisiana, and Florida. At their first meeting they will be guests of honor at a banquet which will be attended by prominent farm leaders of the South, including members of the Southern Agricultural Workers' Association which will hold its annual meeting in the Capital city at that time. The trip is given in recognition of the superior records in economical crop production made by the state winners, according to M. H. Pearson, Alabama Manager of the Bureau. It is the fourth annual tour which the Bureau has awarded the champions in the State crop-growing contests and, as in each previous year, every member of group of champions employed the most up-to-date methods, including the use of Chilean nitrate of soda.

Gibbs made the highest record in the 5-acre cotton contest with an average production of 830 pounds of lint cotton per acre. Hall won first place in the vocational agricultural cotton project, his average production on a 4-acre field being 683 pounds of lint cotton, while Barringer led the 4-H cotton boys with a record of 2,000 pounds of seed cotton on his one-acre plot.

The party of more than forty, including 4-H club members, vocational agriculture students, and farmers, accompanied by several county agents, will, on February 7, visit some of the most interesting sections of Mississippi, including a visit to the historic city of Vicksburg. The party will leave by train in the afternoon for New Orleans, where they will be met Saturday morning by the Mayor and a group of leading citizens.

The champion's party will embark Saturday afternoon for a two-day cruise across the Gulf of Mexico, landing at Tampa, Florida, early Monday morning. A bus trip through Florida, diagonally across the state from Tampa to Jacksonville, will take the party through some of Florida's largest citrus groves. Stops will be made at the famous bird santuary and Bok Memorial Tower at Lake Wales and at Lake Alfred where the Florida Experiment Station has done some extensive work in citrus fertilization. After spending Monday night at Orlanda the party will continue the trip to Jacksonville, where they will disband and depart for their homes.

HOG OUTLOOK GOOD HUSBANDRYMAN SAYS

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 27—Far-sighted Alabama farmers will not curtail their hog production to the present price outlook in the opinion of Prof. W. E. Sewell of the department of animal husbandry at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. Basing his opinion largely on the December pig survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, he forecasts that hog prices are not likely to go down within the next ten months. He declined to forecast further into the future.

"The fall pig crop of 1929 was practically the same as in 1928 for the United States as a whole," the animal husbandman said. "Ninety-eight and one-tenth as many sows farrowed pigs in the fall of 1929 as in the fall of 1928, and in the fall of 1929 the figues show that 99.8 per cent as many pigs were saved as in the fall of 1928. The number of sows bred, or to be bred, for farrowing in the spring of 1930 exceeds the number that farrowed pigs in the spring of 1929 by only 6 per cent. Of course, some of these sows will not farrow successfully. All of these figures indicate that the supply of pork for the next 10 months is not likely to increase or decrease over 1929. Therefore, prices should remain about the same."

Continuing Prof. Sewell said that at present prices Alabama farmers can make some money on hogs if they manage properly. Ordinarily hogs bring the best prices in April and September, and farmers should plan their breeding and feeding operations to have pork ready for these peaks, he added.

He named the proper use of forage crops and home-grown fattening feeds as an important factor in successful hog raising in Alabama.

Cheap egg prices will prevail in a few months. Seek a year-round market. The surplus of the spring season should be placed in cold storage. This can be done through the Farm Bureau.—G. A. Trollope.

In Lancaster, Wis., Mayor W. J. Bailie so experimnted with his Willow Twig apple tree that last year 40 kinds of apples hung from the limbs.

FLETA CLUB GIRL BEAUTIFIES HOME

Montgomery, Jan. 27.—Sara Evelyn Huffman, farm girl of Fleta, in Montgomery County, tells a stirring story of how membership in a 4-H club coused her to appreciate more fulley the value of beauty in the home.

"When my club voted to take the home management course, Sara said, "I was worried because I lived in an old rented house and could not see how I could improve it so I would not be ashamed when the club visited to inspect. I knew some of the other girls had nicer homes and would have very little trouble making their houses attractive.

"Our plan was to center attention on bedrooms. Mine was unceiled, and when I lay in bed I could look up through the rafters to the peak of the roof. I found some old planks under the house, and after much persuasion I am forced to confess a good many tears, I succeeded in getting my older brothers to ceil my room. Then I wanted the walls painted. I had chosen blue and yellow for my color scheme. I got some blue coloring and made some whitewash the right color. I was proud of my curtains, which were a cream with a border of blue and yellow and cream colored ruffles. I knew I could make pretty curtains, scarf, spread and boudoir pillows as I had several times been one of the leaders in club sewing.

"At least it was all completed and I am certainly proud of it. When our home demonstration agent, Mrs. Mamie C. Thorington, and the club visited my room they said it was one of the nicest in the club, and really showed the hardest work of any."

Sara's story is typical of that of many girls in Alabama who are now studying better home practices under the county home demonstration agents of the Extension Service, Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

A Price for Quality

Quality fiber has not been getting an even break on price in small lots in country markets, says the Department of Agriculture. Medium cotton often brings there no better price to the farmer than very short staple cotton. The Mayfield-Jones Act will gather data to show cotton buyers and spinners where the superior fiber is grown and will help to bring about a better local price differentiation.

New Distributors Coming

"Difficulty of distribution in the field has retarded high-analysis fertilizers. Up to a few years ago the machinery for applying fertilizers was designed to apply about 150 pounds or more per acre. Many of the fertilizer distributors now being made will apply satisfactorily less than 100 pounds per acre."—E. L. Larison, Anaconda Copper Co.

Got Any Azotobacter?

Azotobacter is the name of a brand-new microbe that scientists have found working in the wheat lands of the west. They say it puts nitrogen back into the soil at the rate of about 40 pounds per acre per year. Old Azzy is worth about $900,000,000 a year to farmers, the scientists figure—and all this time he's been working without thanks. Nobody even knew he was there, much less what his name was.

"I have sold V-C fertilizers for twenty years, and the results have been satisfactory."—A. W. Root, Dealer, Manheim, Pa.

Foundation of Prosperity

"Soil fertility is the foundation of agricultural welfare and is essential to a prosperous national life. A program that will preserve soil fertility and maintain our natural resources is more important to industry than we generally recognize. We must guarantee their birthright to the children of tomorrow."—Louis J. Taber, Master, National Grange.

They Earn Their Pay

Merchants have to get paid for their capital and time, just like other people. Merchants must make their profit if they hope to stay in business. Without profit there couldn't be any business. And if there weren't any business, any merchants, any stores, any dealers in V-C fertilizer, things would be in a bad way sure enough. The man who lays in a stock of fertilizer and keeps it ready for call is rendering a service everybody ought to be willing to pay him for. Remember the old saying—"You don't get anything for nothing in this world." The man who thinks he can is fooling himself.

NEW USES FOR COTTON

Many new cotton fabrics have been put on the market this year as a result of government experiments, says the New York Times. Cotton fiber experts from the Departments of Commerce and Agriculture and the Cotton Textile Institute are making a close study of the materials that can be made from cotton, and also of possible further uses for established cotton fabrics.

Every Farm a Factory

Farming is an industry, a manufacturing business. Each man's farm is a factory. The farmer takes air and sunshine and rain and seed and soil and V-C fertilizer and hard work, and manufactures a crop. Some factory-farms are run better than others and make more profit. The raw materials are the same in every case, but there's a lot of difference among the men, the bosses, the managers.

Fertilizers Are Dependable

"The industry itself, the laws, the advance of agricultural knowledge, and the education of farmers have created a fertilizer supply on which buyers may depend. The buyers of plant food have received, on the average, more than the sellers guaranteed."—E. S. Bayard, Editor, Pennsylvania Farmer and Ohio Farmer.

He Will Feel Low, Then

"If in the next world we have time for reflection as to what we did over here, then one may well

A clear, smooth, lovely skin enhances personal attractiveness. Men admire it. Women praise and secretly envy. More happiness and friends may depend upon it.

YOUR popularity may depend upon a clear, smooth, lovely skin. It is the accepted way of telling the degree of health a person possesses. Naturally a skin which bespeaks health attracts.

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of skin blemishes, lack of appetite, flabby flesh and loss of energy as an indication that the body's power of resistance is low—that there is a deficiency of red-blood-cells.

The way to the skin is through the blood. Strong, healthy blood nourishes the body and promotes smooth, clear skin.

Many thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking S.S.S. It is Nature's own blood tonic for raising the body's power of resistance to infection and disease, improving the appetite, building firm flesh and clearing the skin.

S.S.S. promotes healthy body building. It increases the number of red-blood-cells. It is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

S.S.S. All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

If you don't believe our race is getting hardier all the time, just reflect that it was only a few years ago that the girls were wearing flannels.

The Nationalist Party in Germany lacked 15,000,000 votes for carrying the recent election on the Young Plan, but Dr. Hugenberg, the Nationalist leader, is planning to contest the result. Dr. Hugenberg would make an ideal Democratic chairman for Pennsylvania or a splendid Republican chairman for South Carolina.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

The old and trite saying to the effect that "time flies" is true in politics perhaps in a greater degree than in any other profession or amusement, call it which you please. No sooner is one campaign completed, and the people have settled back to enjoy the peace and quietude which comes with the settlement of important questions, than another campaign is upon us.

It seems only a few days ago that President Hoover succeeded President Coolidge in the White House, and here we are again on the verge of another campaign. And a double campaign it will be in many states owing to the primary contests that are sure to come. The Democrats are looking forward to the coming campaign with more assurance than would have been deemed possible after the crushing defeat they received in 1928. The House of Represntatives is of course overwhelmingly Republican and doubtless will remain Republican unless there is a landslide out of all proportion to present expectations. The Democrats will make some gains in the House owing to the fact that the Republicans carried many normally Democratic districts in the landslide of 1928. But only those who are overwhelmingly optimistic believe at this time they can wrest control of the House from the Republicans.

On the other hand the Senate is a different proposition. In the upper legislative body the Republicans now have a small mojority—on paper at least. But it happens that the senators whose terms expire in 1930 were elected in the Coolidge landslide of 1924. Because of this, some Republican senators now represent states which are apt to be decidedly doubtful especially on off years. On the other hand the Democrats did so poorly in 1924 that the senators they elected that year seem reasonably safe in this off year election. The most notable exception is in the state of Iowa. The commonwealth of the tall corn is "rock-ribbed Republican" in politics, but in 1924 it elected Senator Steck, a Democrat, due to the desire of many Republicans that year to punish Mr. Brookhart for leaning toward the LaFollette candidacy. The Republicans may gain a senator in Iowa this year, but in most of the other states where the seats of Democratic senators are being contested the Democratic majority is traditional.

Of course there will be bitter primaries in many states and these may change the complexion of things. One of the most interesting contests to be waged will be in Illinois where Ruth Hanna McCormick, wife of the late Senator Me-Dill McCormick will contest for the toga of Senator Charles S. Deneen. Mrs. McCormick has already begun her primary contest. Like her husband, she is opposed to the entrance of the United States into the World Court and she so announced the fact in her opening speech the other day. The World Court may become one of the live issues in the Illinois campaign. If so it will attract great attention owing to the fact that he resolution of Uncle Sam's adherence to the World Court under the Root formula will come up in the Senate some of these days. Republicans seem to have avoided a contest in Kentucky where Senator Sackett has been appointed by President Hoover as ambassador to Germany. Representative Robinson, a powerful Republican leader, has been appointed by Governor Sampson to fill the vacancy and will doubtless be renominated. President Hoover and his advisors are credited with having played some very adroit politics in ironing out the Kentucky situation. Primary contests may develop in Massachusetts and Nebraska.

The Republicans will not have all the primary troubles, however. The specter of Al Smith can be seen again in the South. The Democrats thought that this ghost was settled when they carried Virginia last November. But now the Democratic organization in Alabama has barred Senator Heflin from the party and the senator threatens to run independently if not permitted to run in the Democratic primary. Of course the Republicans will gain nothing here no matter who wins but they will get much consolation out of the Democratic troubles. Another serious situation has arisen in North Carolina where Senator F. M. Simmons, a Democratic warhorse, is being opposed for renomination because he opposed Al Smith in the 1928 election. His opponent in the primary is Josiah W. Bailey of Raleigh, regarded as one of the most brilliant pubic men in the state. Senator Simmons has been prominent in national Democratic councils for years and the battle promises to be a merry one. Just what the result will be no one can forecast at this time, but it seems a good guess that these primary fights will not do the Democrats any particular good in the so-called border states. At any rate the 1930 political contests are now at hand. We spectators can only bring out our opera glasses again and exclaim, "On with the show."

J. H. MARTIN WRITES

In making my announcement for Commissioner for the First District of Chilton County, I feel like I ought to say some things to the Republican voters of the County.

I was born in this County, have lived here all my life, have some business of my own, and have been able to handle the same in such a way as to pay my honest debts.

When I was 21 years old, I qualified to vote and I have voted in every election since. I have never scratched a ticket. I have always worked for the nominees of our party. I have never criticised a single nominee of the Republican party. I have always been open in what I stood for. I have never been ashamed of any position I have taken. The people have always known where to find me on all public questions. I have always helped my party. I have urged all our people to qualify to vote. I have never asked for public office before, and in asking for the position of Commissioner of the First District, I feel like I can be of service to my people in helping them to build roads. I believe I know how to build roads. I have helped work the public roads many times.

In making my announcement, I realize what a job I am asking for. I know how difficult it is to get the worth of our taxes that we pay to build roads, but I feel like I can save the people some money, and I promise here and now if I am elected in November, that I will do my very best to discharge my duty. In handling the public money and in discharging my official duty I will try and represent all the people, but politically I will remain a Republican. If I am defeated then I will still be a Republican, and continue to work for my party as I have done. I certainly endorse the Commissioners action in paying off the old debt which is represented by bonds due in 1947. I wonder if there is an other case on record where any county has paid off a debt twenty years before it was due? If I am elected I pledge the people it will be my policy to pay the ballance of these bonds as fast as we can. I will try to improve in all County work as best I can. Voters remember we have not had a Commissioner on this side of the County in this district since we had any money to build roads with. Don't you think we ought to have a commissioner on the west side of the First District some time?

Now there is a good deal being said about the Republican Committee making all candidates tell how they voted in 1928 before they can have their names put on the ticket. Is there any thing wrong about this? Does any Republican want to keep it a secret how he voted? Is there any body that wants to fool the people by keeping them in the dark as to how they vote? Look around you and see who it is kicking. The Committee could have required me to have stated how I voted all my life and it would not embarrass me. It will not embarrass any Republican. It may embarrass some pretended Republicans, who have been trying to fool the people. Is it not the right of the people to know all about their candidates? How can any voter intelligently vote for any candidate unless they know how the candidate votes? What is a political party? What do we have primaries for? Is it not a fact that every voter that goes into a primary is honor bound to vote for the nominees? If every Republican is permitted to vote just to suit him, and not support the nominees, then how long would you have a party? Who has kept our party going? Those that supported the nominees. Suppose all voters would scratch at the same time, would we have any party now?

I am glad to let all the voters know how I have voted all my life, and I hardly think any Republican will object to this.

It is being talked that we have put up the bars. This is not true. Every qualified voter in the County can qualify as a candidate in our party, and every qualified voter can vote in our primary. Is this not broad enough? All candidates have to tell how they voted in 1928. Certainly no one can object to this.

Very respectfully,
J. H. Martin, Jemison, Ala.

THE JACK POT

BY "JACK" HIMSELF

And while you're thinking, think about your poll tax. HAS IT BEEN PAID? If not, pay it! If the race gets as hot as it looks like it might, you will want to take part later on. And remember, if you don't vote, you can't reasonably have a kick coming if a bad set of officials is elected.

It's going to be close among some of the candidates, and in some of the races, and one vote, YOUR VOTE, might get the man you want, majorities of from 10 to 30 votes have come to be quite common, and the greater number of candidates in the running the better chance for such a situation. It's going to be "nip" and "tuck", and maybe worse—it may be "nipper" and "tucker" than usual.

And, too, remember that helping to pick your officers is one of your real duties. You don't have to join in the rabble of politics to be a voter. But, too, a good, dyed-in-the-wool citizen takes interest in politics to SOME extent, any way, because he recognizes it as a duty to his neighbor and his government. Just remember that ours is "A government of the people, for the people, and BY the people." You might thing THAT over, too. Pay up—and vote.

Let's laugh a little. Did you ever hear somebody reading an article in a paper, hear his stumble over a strange-sounding name, and pause to remark, "Gosh, what a name," before proceeding with his reading. Without meaning any reflection on ANYBODY, no matter what the name, we want to discuss names for a while. Maybe will be more interesting than you think.

As to reflections on names, we couldn't intend a reflection, because a name which is quite common to you might sound funny or curious to another. So just join in the merriment with us, and if we happen to mention your name, take it in a good-natured manner and laugh it off.

For instance, we were in a store one day when six "drummers" came in and introduced themselves as Mr. White, Mr. Black, Mr. Brown, Mr. Green, Mr. Redd, and Mr. Blue. It later developed that they had all been in the army together during the World War—and in the Rainbow Division, at that. Quite a colorful group, don't you think?

Where did all the names come from, anyway? Indians took their names from the animals of the forest. For instance, a recent Indian entry in a beauty contest appeared before the judges in the usual bathing costume, and was listed as "Pretty Bear." Maybe it was in this way that other names were started, although there are names we notice at times, which, it seems, somebody just "thunk up."

Did you ever hear of Turnipseed, Lipscomb, Frost, and other seemingly strange names? Maybe they seem strange to you. But the latest we have heard of to excite our curiosity is a man (who operates a grocery store in Birmingham) whose name is Axlerod. No need to snigger about these names, though, because numbers of times people from the north and east get a big kick out of our very common names, such as Baker, Scroggins, etc.

Then, too, in our great country, a REPUBLIC, we have Kings and Queens and Princes, in name only, of course. We have Cotton, Catts, Kickers, and numerous other names, very common in some places, while in others they seem exceedingly strange. Just to show you—one of our best known names, and one which numbers some of our best people, is one which seems to one of the strangest to people of other sections—that is Popwell.

A long time ago, though, somebody asked "What's in a name?" Nothing, maybe. Of course the Smiths claim to have won the World War, ably assisted by the Browns, because there were more Smiths than ony other one name in the American Army, the Browns coming next. There were over a quarter million Smiths on Uncle Sam's pay roll, and over 1,000 "John Smiths." Now for another curious item.

A certain man in one of our neighbor towns was teaching a bunch of music pupils the other night, when he made the amazing and curious discovery that it is just as easy to play a score of music backwards as it is to play it forward. Bet you never thought of that before. We never did. But it is a fact, any way. Try it, you musicians. It makes any old, well known hymn sound like a brand new song you never heard before.

Now for that tooth. From time to time, different factions come out with the big idea that a two-party government, or at any rate, where there are two parties of almost equal strength, is good medicine for a government, be it city, county, state or national.

Some say, "Not so," but just give us your ear for a minute. Right here in Chilton County is one of the best instances to prove the centention that you will find anywhere. Right here will be found a County government without a parallel in the State of Alabama, and we doubt in the nation.

Of course, the Republicans are in the majority by a good bit, but there are enough Democrats and Democratic sympathizers to keep the Republicans always on their P's and Q's to see that the people's interests are considered in order that they may keep the people's confidence to get their votes and so stay in power.

Not that the "Repubs" wouldn't look out for the best interests of the people any way, but let's give the "Dems" that credit, if for no other GOOD—men in Chilton who are Democrats for various reasons and who are due some consideration for the good they do in helping to keep our affairs in the straight and narrow way.

Is there another county in the State that is paying off bonds before date of maturity in order to save interest charges? Not one! Of course, there are a few counties—mighty few, too—who owe nothing. But in most of these counties you generally find poor roads, poor schools, and the like. But that is beside the question.

It there any signifiance in the fact that here in our county, where politics is probably the hottest anywhere in Alabama, that we find (according to Democratic examiners, and our officials are Republicans) one of the best managed County governments in the State?

Doesn't this prove that two strong parties make the situation a healthy one, with each party alert to catch the least error made by the other? If those in power know that somebody is ever watchful of them, they naturally are more careful in their duties. Satisfied citizens make repeaters at the polls, and these votes keep 'em in office.

Like Uncle Joe Gray said:—If you can get the votes it's "awfully simple" to be elected; if you can't get 'em—well, that's just "simply awful." Poy your poll tax and vote!—"Jack".

The Man On The Corner

Some Sights He Saw— and Some He Saw Not.

I went by to greet Frank Callen upon his return to the Peoples Savings Bank last week. The first thing I thought to say was that he looked perfectly natural. I am sure he feels at home in the bank, because he has been a familiar figure there from the days of his youth.

A bank is an amusing thing to me. I always see something of interest there, even if it is nothing more than the piles of money behind the windows. Our banks are the fountains of our community business activity. From there flows the current that keeps our people happy, comfortable, and prosperous.

How glad we ought to be that the banks of Clanton are sound, conservative, and altogether well-managed. Much turmoil has ben witnessed in business in recent years; but not the least indication ever that any of the uneasiness pointed toward our banking institutions.

While I was at the Peoples Savings Bank, I happened to notice a picture hanging over the door to the big safety vault. A second glance told me it was a photograph of Uncle Pete Callen. I studied it and thought deeply and reverently of the good old man who meant so much to Clanton in his lifetime. It was upon his sterling character and keen business foresight that the Peoples Savings Bank was founded and built. I am glad that the younger men who came after him are being guided yet by the simple principles of sound business which he taught and practiced.

A few days ago I was at the Jefferson Davis Hotel in Montgomery. The occasion which brought me there was being held in the "Jefferson Davis Room." In that room there is a life-size painting of the President of the Confederate States of America. The picture speaks a silent message of the wonderful romance of the "Lost Cause" which stirred the hearts of the Southern people as nothing ever did before or since.

Some day I expect to see the Peoples Savings Bank build a fine new banking house in Clanton. It is pretty generally known that they are holding the old Pinckard Building and lot for that purpose. When the new building is erected I wish they would dedicate the directors' room to Uncle Pete Callen, and have a life-size picture of him in it.

Then I would guess that when the Peoples Savings Bank builds a new home, the First National Bank would also make such a move, and we would have two handsome new bank buildings instead of one. That would be fine. Our banks should have better and more commodious quarters. They need it, and are able to have it. It would be a distinct boost for Clanton and Chilton County.

When the Peoples Savings Bank is built and dedicated, there is another event of interest that will come off in the program. The oldest depositor of the bank will be distinctly honored, so I have heard it indicated. He is one of the outstanding citizens of Lomax. I think the plan will be something like this: To dress him up in a new suit of clothes, comb his hair, shine his shoes, and stand him up in the lobby to extend his greetings to all the friends and visitors of the bank that day.

I guess I might not give away a secret if I should tell you who the man is; but I had rather let the matter stand as it is so you will have the pleasure of guessing his name. If you can't guess it, you will surely be on hand when that day comes, and then you will be thrilled to see the secret revealed. This man came into the bank on the first morning it opened, more than a quarter of a century ago, and made a deposit. From that day to the present time, there has not been a single minute he did not have a deposit to his credit.

Down on the south side of town between the highway and railroad, I notice there is a clearing project under way. The thicket of trees is being cut down, and the appearance is wonderfully improved. I wish all the people who own land in the swamps around town would do likewise. If we can't get the swamps drained, we could make them look much better by clearing away the trees and bushes.

Particular reference might be made to the improvement that would be evidenced on the north side of town if the swamp between the cotton mill and the highway were cleared out.

MODERN EDUCATION REVERSES OLD IDEAS

Business Institutes Use the Plan of Getting People to Think Rather Than Merely to Learn

There is one general principle at the basis of all good teaching and it is that a person learns more readily by assimilating the experiences which he himself encounters than in any other way, says Harold Stonier, National Educational Director of the American Institute of Banking. This institute is the educational section of the American Bankers Association through which 35,000 bank men and women are receiving scientific instruction in their chosen business.

"The most advanced people in teaching today are emphasizing the importance of activity on the part of the student," he says. "In the schoolroom of former days we often heard such phrases as, 'Be still,' 'Learn by heart,' 'Don't do that,' 'What does the book say?' The newer education asks, 'What do you think?,' 'What was your reaction to that experiment?,' 'What did you discover?,' 'What reasons have you for your answer?'

The New School Calls for Action

"The 'expressing' school is taking the place of the repressing and listening school. The classroom is becoming an open forum, a studio of self-expression, a place of mental growth. The modern concepts of education are personal experimentation, individual investigation, critical discussion and creative self-expression. The pupil really learns only as he is able to assimilate the new meanings of facts and principles with his previous experiences. Activities therefore constitute the pivotal force around which are grouped the new factors in education. The primary responsibility of the teacher is to furnish a constant stream of activities which will afford the stimulating urge to mental growth.

"Education is a process of experiencing, and the program of the institute is so arranged as to give the greatest opportunity to gain by such experience. Through this we develop the art of thinking. Thinking has been described as the ability to handle experience and to bring it to bear on a problem. Effective thinking arises when we are presented with the choice of conduct. Our previous experiences become helpful as we marshal them and bring them to bear upon the matter of our choice."

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thorson of Waseka, Minn., were honor guests at a gathering of old time settlers of Thorsby, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reagan, last Saturday night. Some of the old settlers present were Mrs. Anna Villadsen together with her brother, Thomas R. Skove who resides in Cleveland, Ohio but is now a visitor in Thorsby. Mrs. Carl R. Petersen of Fairfield; Messrs. and Mesdames C. R. Foss, J. A. M Bosworth, Carl C. Petersen, J. O. Johnson, M. J. Soberg, Chas. A. Peterson, C. S. Howard, Ernie Hansen, Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald, Miss Esther Johnson, C. S. Carlson, John A. Carlson, Ed Petersen, E. F. Mead, Andrew Franzen, C. C. Turnquist, J. L. Foss and Miss Ruth Peterson.

Dr. S. C. Wood and his brother, N. I. Wood of Texas, have formed a partnership and will have offices and connecting rooms for a small hospital over Upchurch Drug Store in Clanton.

Cecil Each, one of our Thorsby boys, has just completed a course in the Goyne Electrical school in Chicago, as one in a class of forty-two students, returned home Sunday and left with his father Tuesday for Birmingham to meet an appointment mith a man there in reference to securing a position.

Rev. Each will give another of his interesting stereopticon lectures at the Congregational church at 7:15 Sunday evening, February 2nd; a collection will be taken to defray expenses.

Arrangements are being made to hold a series of special meetings at Congregational church February 9 to 16th inclusive. Miss Lucy Ayres, an ordained Congregational minister, will enduct the services.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pate, accompanied by Alta and Marie Each, spent Sunday in Montgomery and Wetumpka.

The two children of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Bice are quite sick—one with a cold and the other with tonsilitis.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Franklin now occupy the home they bought from Mrs. Ollie Tagg. Their little daughter, Peggy Mims, is quite sick with bronchitis.

Miss Lois Primm of Lay Dam, where she is principal of the public school, spent the week end with her home folks in Thorsby.

Last Friday evening some of the Lutheran church people went to the home of Miss Astrid Ekblad for a surprise party on her birthday; they took with them plenty of refreshments and presented her a purse of $20 in recognition of her faithful services as their church organist.

Mrs. J. O. Johnson entertained on Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thorson of Kaseka, Minnesota.

Miss Esther Johnson of Biringham was a week end visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Johnson.

On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thorson, Mr. and Mrs. James Bosworth and Mrs. A. E. Reagan motored to Montevallo to visit Alabama College for girls.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reagan entertained at dinner Sunday all of their relatives resident or visitors in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Addington and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hambright of Birmingham mere guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Petersen Sunday.

Mrs. Lucy Sharpe and Mrs. Agnes Snyder of Clanton were guests of Mrs. J. H. Goddard Saturday afternoon.

Thorsby Institute will offer the second number of its lyceum course next Tuesday evening, February 4, at Helen Jenkins Hall at 7:30 o'clock. Vierra's Hawaiians will be the attraction Hall. This company consists of four men and a young lady. Their program consists of songs, stories, and dances. A press comment says: "Vierra's Hawaiian players have a varied program, for the most part descriptive of the crooning, haunting melodies of their native land. They were most enthusiastically received, and the thunderous applause recalled the performers to many encores. Many who heard the offering called it the best performance of Hawaiian music they had ever heard." This should be a very popular number.

Mr. V. H. Sutlive entertained a number of his Thorsby Institute boys on Friday evening, January 24th. at the Boy's Dormitory.

Miss Mary Ella Garald was the leader of Christian Endeavor Sunday night. The society discussed doing bigger and better things for the church during the new year.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Carlson had as their guest last Thursday Mrs. Chas, Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bergensen and their son, Rudolph, of Chicago. The Bergensens are traveling to the southern part of the State for Mr. Bergensen's health. This was a great surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Carlson, as Mr. Carlson and Mr. Bergensen were very good friends in their earlier years. After thirty years they meet again, recalling their earlier friendship and other acquaintances in Chicago, now only to find themselves growing older.

Mr. Rudolph Burgensen is leaving his parents in Foley, Ala., whence he is to make an extensive trip to Miami, Cuba, Haiti and Honduras, Central America, and also stopping at several cities on the Gulf Coast.

Miss Agnes Gerald of Guntersville and Mr. I. S. Gerald and Ruth Gerald of Birmingham were visitors with the home folks in Thorsby last week.

Mr. Arnold Soberg of Birmingham spent the week end with his perents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Soberg.

Miss Jewell Bean of Birmingham visited Sunday at the home of parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bean of Collins Chapel.

The Congregational Lodies Aid will meet next week, Thursday, February 6th, with Mrs. C. A. Petersen.

Mr. Leonard Moody of Birmingham visited friends in Thorsby Sunday.

The P.-T. A. will meet this week Thursday afternoon with Mrs. James Bosworth.

The A. T. Clark Bible class surprised Mr. John Goddard on Tuesday evening. They went to Mr. and Mrs. Goddard's home about five o'clock and had supper with them and spent several pleasant hours there. It was a very enjoyable time both for the Goddards and for their visitors.

By Dr. L. D. LeGear, V.S., St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. LeGear is a graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College, 1892. Thirty-six years of veterinary practice on diseases of live stock and poultry. Eminent authority on poultry and stock raising. Nationally known poultry breeder. Noted author and lecturer.

MAKING BIG ONES OUT OF LITTLE ONES

Business took me into a small country court room recently. As I entered, a convicted chicken thief was just receiving sentence: "Thirty days on the rock pile Henry," drawled the judge and continued, "and when you get home again, Henry, get yourself some little chickens—honestly and try making big ones out of little ones for awhile instead of always having to make little ones out of big ones on the county rock pile the way you have been doing lately."

The soundness of this homely advice struck me very forcibly. I couldn't help thinking how much more profitable the poultry business would be if every one engaged in it could realize how many thousands of dollars are lost every year because poultry raisers generally are not doing all they should in the way of "making big ones out of little ones."

Over 20 years I adopted a plan of feeding young chicks which proved so successful that I have continued it without change ever since. Many have adopted it, tried all sorts of variations to it and have revolved all around it in various ways. Invariably, however, they return again to my original system. I know that any can profit by adopting my method so I shall describe it as fully as space will permit. I do not claim this is the best method, for there is no best one. If your present method gives the desired results, do not change.

A great many are now successfully feeding an "all mash" ration from the start to maturity; and not feeding any whole or cracked grain at all. Many others successfully start their baby chicks on a mash "starter feed' and in two weeks supplement it with commercial chick grain etc.

My method is quite different. When my chicks are about 48 hours old, I take them out of the incubator and put them into the brooding room that is warm, thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. The temperature under the hover should be close to 100 degrees, and the room should not be too cold. I give them at this time fresh buttermilk or fresh clabbermilk in clean vessels that are protected so they cannot get into the milk with their feet. I also provide them with water, with chick tablets dissolved in it, in clean vessels protected in the same way. I also give them baby chick grit, and charcoal and keep this before them at all times.

A few hours later I give them their first feed which is pinhead (steel cut) oat meal. This is the same kind of oat meal our mothers used to make mush out of when we (the older of us) were young. It can still be secured in all the larger cities. Rolled oats are too large to feed at this time unless broken up. I spread papers on the floor near the hovers and put the oatmeal on the papers. I see that all the chicks get on the paper and they are soon all eating. I leave this before them for about ten minutes.

The second feed may consist of either commercial chick grain or oatmeal. After the first day and for the first ten days I mix one part of oatmeal and two parts chick grain and feed what they will clean up in about fifteen minutes every three hours at 6, 9, 12, 3 and 6 o'clock. Milk as well as water should be kept before them all the time. Also tender grass or other green food should be provided every day. If milk is not available, one hard boiled egg should be ground up fine and fed to each 25 chicks each day.

I keep clean chaff or short cut straw on the floor of the brooder room and after the chicks are 4 or 5 days old, I scatter all their grain feed in the litter and make them scratch for it. During the second week I start feeding a dry mash made by mixing equal parts wheat bran, yellow corn meal, wheat middlings, oatmeal and if no milk is being fed, I add ten percent of good grade sifted meat scraps to the mash. For about a week I give them in hoppers at 9 and 3 o'clock each day what they will eat of this mash in a half hour. This, of course is fed dry.

When the chicks are about two weeks old, this dry mash can be kept before them all the time in hoppers. When I begin feeding the above mash, I discontinue the 9 and 3 o'clock grain feed and feed grain but three times each day. Also when I begin giving the dry mash I leave the oatmeal out of the grain and give chick grain only.

From the third to the sixth week, I continue feeding the baby chicks scratch grain in litter morning, noon and night. Gradually increasing the amount, but never giving them more than can be cleaned up in 15 minutes. At all times, keep before them mash, grit and charcoal. When six weeks old, a crumbly wet mash can be fed in troughs at noon, only what they will clean up in fifteen minutes, made by wetting the dry mash with milk, and leave off the noonday grain feed.

Beginning with the sixth week, I start feeding whole wheat , cracked corn and milo maize instead of fine chick grain or mix them together. Chicks now may eat whole sprouted oats and can also handle medium size grit and charcoal. Schedule and system of feeding remains as before, gradually increasing ration until the birds approach maturity. Then they may have the rations intnded for laying pullets and hens or breeding males.

It is most important to keep chicks growing every minute. That is what this schedule is intended to do and it will succeed if given a fair chance. You cannot raise chicks successfully, however, without constant attention to detail—neglect will never do it.

DEATH OF MRS PERRY MIMS

On the morning of January 17th, the death angel visited the home of Mr. Perry Mims and bore away the spirit of his loving wife, one of the most noble women of the community. Her death came as a shock to the whole community.

In the character of Mrs. Mims was blended many of the noble elements of womanhood. She was a faithful wife, loving mother. To know her was to love her, and to associate with her closely one could fully appreciate her many fine qualities.

She loved her family and friends, and was most charitable to all. She was devoted to her church and was always found doing the will of her Maker. We shall miss her, her husband, sisters and children will miss her. But we find consolation in this thought: Heaven has been made brighter by the transplanting of this beautiful flower.

She was endeared to her friends by the tenderest cares of love and of sympathy, and we deeply feel the shadow which falls upon us when one so great, so beloved is called to the great beyond. We tender our sympathy to the members of the family from whose circle a golden link has been broken, but some day if we live the life she lived we shall meet her where there is no more sorrow, pain or death. Let us think of her as having taken the journey ahead of us and try some how to rejoice as she rejoices where beyond these voices there is peace.

There is a brighter side. It is just through a thin veil where Christ is, and where she is too, now she sees and knows what we can only apprehend by faith in the Word of a Loving Savior.

The funeral services were held Saturday afternoon. Rev. Bell of Illinois, her pastor, officiating. Interment was made in Temple cemetery with Mr. Martin in charge.

Her grave was banked with exquite flowers, tenderly placed by loving hands. It was all we could do, and yet it seemed so little to testify in loving remembrance to the place she held in our hearts. She now peacefully sleeps, awaiting ressurection morn, when friends and loved ones again shall be united to part no more.—Mrs. Everie Tippett.

HEAVIER APPLICATIONS OF FERTILIZER PAY

Fertilizers pay well under cotton, according to results of 170 cooperative fertilizer tests that have been conducted during the past five years by the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. In many cases the profit from the use of fertilizer amounted to $25 or $30 and frequently to more than $40 per acre.

In these experiments fertilizer was applied at the rates of 325, 650, 975 pounds per acre. The use of 975 pounds of the mixture was often more profitable than 650 pounds. Due, however, to the small margin of profit over the 650-pound rate, the 975-pound rate is not generally recommended.

ONE THIMBLEFUL— A DAY'S FEED FOR ONE CHICK!

THINK OF IT! One tiny thimbleful . . . all the feed a chick can put in its little crop in one day. On this tiny bit it must live . . . grow . . . build bones . . . build muscles . . . start feathers. Think of the job feed has to do!

They must depend on feed for so many things! They get them all in Purina Chick Startena (mash) or Purina All-Mash Startena Chow . . . 12 different ingredients in every thimbleful. Cod-liver oil . . . dried buttermilk . . . alfalfa flour . . . granulated meat . . . these and eight others are there!

These 12 ingredients . . . think how carefully they must be mixed to make every thimbleful alike. Purina Startena and All-Mash Startena Chow are mixed over and over again . . . 960 times just to be thorough! You will find the same care taken with Baby Chick Chow (scratch) . . . to be fed with Startena until your chicks are six weeks old . . . and with Purina Growena (mash) and Purina Intermediate Hen Chow (scratch) . . . to be fed from then on until the pullets are laying at 16 weeks.

How little feed a chick eats . . . just one thimbleful a day . . . yet how important it is . . . how much depends on it . . . the chick's very life . . . its growth . . . what the pullets will do for you next fall and winter when eggs are sure to be worth good money. You can afford to feed only the best . . . Purina Poultry Chows.

IN MEMORY OF MATYLNE WRIGHT

The Death Angel saw fit to call from our midst Matylne, the 15 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Wright, on last Wednesday, January 22nd and wafted her Spirit home to God who gave it. We can't understand just why she was called away so young. But doubtless the Lord saw where he needed her in the heavenly home more so than here.

Matylne has been badly aflicted from infancy but went on day after day singing sweet songs of Zion, and never compland but was cheerful and freindly every day. Her cheerful smile and sweet voice will be missed here, she is doubtless singing a sweeter melody which will blend in a more perfect harmony with the angels in heaven than we ever heard here. Weep not for her dear parent and freinds only be good and prepare to meet her in heaven where there will be no pain and sorrow and death, but all will be joy, happyness and peac and praising the Lord with sweet singing for ever more.

The deceased was laid to rest in Shiloh cemetermy the following day, Rev. T. J. Deason officiating. She leaves to mourn her loss a father, mother and one brother and a host of relatives an dfriends.—F. I. Popwell.

FAVORS AKINS COLLINS FOR TAX ASSESSOR

Editor Union-Banner:

In reading your paper this morning I notice where Akins Collins has came out for Tax Asessor. Well, if all of the people and especially the working man, stand for him like I do, he will be elected by 3 to 0.

He is ready at all times to help a good cause, and I can state further that Akins Collins never met a stranger. Mr. Collins is an industrious young man. Don't care how bad you feel in the morning, and you meet that pleasant smile of Akins Collins, you feel better. I think the world of Mr. Pate and Mr. Rockett, but I think they ought to give other good Republicans a chance. We want to show that we have more good Republicans than is now in office. Well I will give you this for a starter. I will be back in two months. Whatever your bill is send months. If I have to walk back I am strong for the Republican party. I will be 61 years old on the 9th of February, and been through it all. I don't see how a working man can vote a Democratic ticket.—Chas. H. Rober, Whigham, Ga., Route 1.

This is the "MAKE SURE" METHOD of Fertilizing Cotton

OUT of all the experimental work and farm tests with cotton fertilizers during the past 50 years, there has developed this one method, safe and sure for cotton from North Carolina to Texas. It meets every need of the crop for plant food; reduces every risk; is economical; and guarantees you maximum return on your fertilizer investment. And it's so simple—

At Planting Time (for one acre)

25 to 75 lbs. muriate of potash.
300 to 400 lbs. superphosphate.
This gives you enough phosphate and potash; the Chilean Nitrate gives the crop the best possible start and encourages maximum growth during early spring.

30 to 40 Days After Planting (for one acre)

150 to 200 lbs. Chilean Nitrate of Soda side-dressing.
This gives the crop greater vigor and resistance to pests and disease; makes bigger bolls and carries more of them through to earlier maturity; increases yields and improves quality.

That's all there is to it! The important part of the recipe is the nitrogen. Chilean Nitrate can make a good fertilizer out of a poor one; will make a good fertilizer better. A little Chilean Nitrate at planting time and plenty of it later as side-dressing just about takes the gamble out of cotton farming.

If you cannot find out whether your planting-time fertilizer contains Chilean Nitrate; the way to make sure is to buy fertilizer low in nitrogen and mix Chilean Nitrate with it at the rate of 200 to 400 lbs. per ton. In this way you are certain of enough of the best nitrogen under your crop.

"IT'S SODA Profitable Crops NOT LUCK"

Bro. Bryan's Weekly Message

Written for The Union-Banner by REV. J. A. BRYAN, Pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, Alabama)

JOSHUA, THE CONSCIENTIOUS COMMANDER OF ISRAEL IN THE PROMISED LAND

We are standing now in the plains of Moab. This is another mile post along the journey before God's people enter the Promised Land. Moses goes up from Moab to Pisgah which was in the Plains of Moab and climbs to Nebo's summit and views the Promised Land. God tells him of his death and burial. And God buried him there and the inspired record is that nobody knows of his sepulcher even now.

We know nothing of the body of Moses after this except from the book of Jude. We find that the devil reasoned with Michael, the archangel, to obtain Moses' body. And secondly we know from the Gospels that Moses appeared upon the scene of the transfiguration of Jesus in compay with Elias on that memorable night. God buried Moses and He is a very good undertaker.

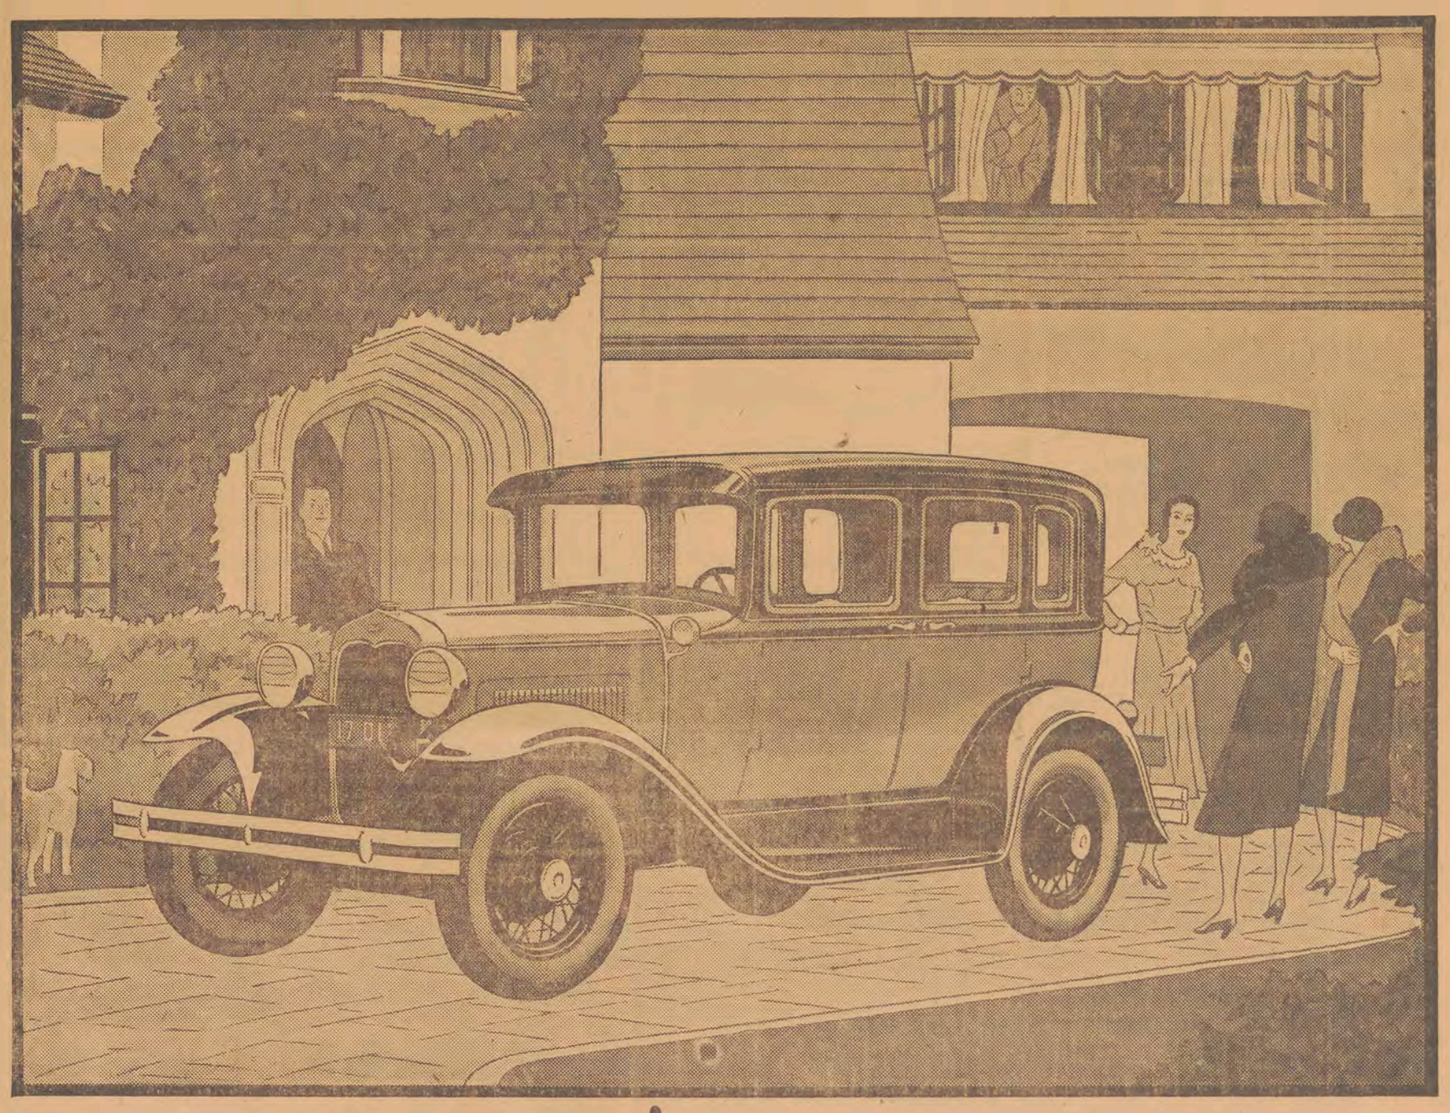
Joshua was appointed his successor right there in the plains of Moab on the east side of the Jordan River opposite of Gilgal and Jericho. Two years ago I saw that plain. I stood right where the Israelites crossed the Jordan. God in giving Joshua the commandership of this Israelitish army said: "Moses my servant is dead, arise, go over this Jordan, thou and all this people unto the land which I give unto them. Every place that the soul of your foot shall tread upon will I give unto you as I said unto Moses. From the wilderness and this Lebanon even unto the great river Euphrates, all the land of the Hittites, and unto the Great Sea toward the going down of the sun, shall your coast be. There shall not any man be able to stand before thee all the days of thy life. As I was with Moses, Joshua, I am here to be with thee. God, then looking this faithful follower and servant over with pleasure, said, "I will not fail thee, nor will I forsake. Only be thou strong and of a good courage, and turn not to the roght nor the left."

The journey now continues and the fight begins. Spies were sent out from Shittim to spy out the land, especially Jericho. We would speak more about Jericho but the Saturday before Christmas we spoke on the subject: Crossing the Jordan and capture of Jericho. Anyway the only persons spared at Jericho were Rahab, the harlot, and her family because of her kindnss in protecting the faithful spies. Jericho, as I said, was captured by Joshua and the Hebrew army. Its walls fell and the city was completely destroyed by fire. Achan broke God's law by stealing a Babylonish garment, silver, and a wedge of gold of the spoils of Jericho and then lying about it all. God caught up with Achan's lying just as he does with people now.

Joshua is still viewing out the land and working out a plan for its capture and possession. He found the land fertile and many palm trees, cedar trees, and olive trees. One thinks of how Joshua found the land visiting there now and beholding its fertile fields and valleys and beautiful palm trees at the location of old Jericho and along throughout the country. There is a miserable little hamlet with a few mud huts and poverty-stricken people, blind and almost helpless not far distant from ancient Jericho toward Gilgal the first encamping place of the Israelites in the Promised Land after crossing the Jordan under the leadership of Joshua.

Ai was a city on the hills to the north of Jericho. In Joshua's first attempt to capture it we find that the whole Israelitish army was defeated. This was because of sin in the camp in the person of Achan. So Joshua found out that the defeat was not because of a small body of soldiers but because of Achan's sin. After this revelation from God Joshua got busy and found out where the sin lay and got it out of the way. With sin out of the camp he with his army captured the city easily though greatly outnumbered by its inhabitants. So the Israelities who had sinned, because of Ashan's sin were defeated by the inhabitants of Ai in their first charge after removing the sin were given a great victory.

As we move on we think of Joshua who built a great stone alter on Mount Ebal unto the Lord God of Israel. and on that alter of stones he offered burnt-offerings, and sacrifices of peace offerings unto the Lord. Then he took tables of stone and wrote a copy of the law of Moses as written in the presence of the children of Israel, and read them both blessing and cursing according to all that is written in the book of the law unto all the congregation of Israel including the women, and the little ones, and the strangers that were conversant among them.



Now Joshua, a man of great ambition for the right, continues the conquest of the land. The Gibeonites who did not live very far from here came with another lie and then another, altogether practicing deception upon Joshua and the Israelitish army. They had heard of Joshua's capture of Jericho and Ai and they at once began to prepare to safeguard themselves from an attack and complete capture by working deceit. They made as if they were ambassadors to Joshua when they appeared before him with all the old sacks, and rent wine bottles, and old worn out shoes on their feet and old garments torn and hanging loose about them. Also they had with them old molded bread for the purpose of making him think they had traveled from a far country and their food and clothes were old and unfit.

Listen to their lying tongue just like many other people today. They walked up boldly in ront of Joshua and said without a conscience of how dreadful and awful it is to tell a lie and said, "We have come from a far country to make a league with you." Watch them lie just as people do now. "We have come so far that ous shoes are worn with use and our dress is almost worn off us. See this old style bread which was hot and fresh cooked when we left home. But we have come in the name of the Lord God because we have heard of all he did for the children of Israel at the hand of Moses down in Egypt and of what he did for the kings of the Amorites beyond the Jordan and Sihon, king of Heshrbon, and Og, king of Bashan.

So Joshua made a treaty of peace with them, and much to his sorrow in a day learned that they were his closest neighbors and therefore capital liars with which he must contend. It seems that Joshua led his army against this band of professional liars and smote them not because the princes of the congregation had sworn unto them by the Lord God of Israel. They said, "We will let them live because of our oath but they shall be hewers of wood and drawers of water for the congregation and for the alter of the Lord."

After this all the kings around Gibeon leagued together, that is Adonizedec, king of Jerusalem, Hoham, king of Hebron, Piram, king of Jarmuth, Japhia, king of Laschish, and Dehir, king of Eglon to smite Gideon because she was allied with Joshua. But in this you will see God's plan being worked out in the fulfilment of his promise. The Lord never breaks a promise. Here we see that Joshua goes bravely forward at God's command to do his bidding at a monent's notice. The Lord discomfitted this great army of the kings and delivered them into the hands of Joshua. This alone with the capture of Jericho and Ai was fulfilment of God's promise. Remember that it took great courage and effort on the part of Joshua and his army to take hold of God's premises. We have the promise of seed time and harvest, but he does not give the harvest until we plant the seed and cultivate the soil.

New Beauty for the New Ford

THE NEW FORD TOWN SEDAN

In the Town Sedan you see a distinguished example of the unbroken sweep of line which adds so much charm to all the new, roomy Ford bodies. Radiator, hood, cowl, lower roof line, fenders, wheels — every point of design reflects the new style and beauty that have been placed within the means of every one. All of the new Ford cars are finished in a variety of colors.

ANOTHER STEP FORWARD

THE introduction of the new Ford bodies has set a high standard of motor car value. From the new deep radiator to the tip of the curving rear fender, there is an unbroken sweep of line—a flowing grace of contour gaining added charm from the rich and attractive colors. « « « «

You will take a real pride in the smart style and fresh new beauty of the Ford just as you will find an ever-growing satisfaction in its safety, comfort, speed, acceleration, ease of control, reliability and economy. In appearance, as in mechanical construction, craftsmanship has been put into mass production. New beauty has been added to outstanding performance. « « « « « « «

A feature of unusual interest is the use of Rustless Steel for the radiator shell, head lamps, cowl finish strip, hub caps, tail lamp and other exposed metal parts. This steel will not rust, corrode or tarnish and will retain its bright brilliance for the life of the car. Here, as in so many other important details, you see evidence of the enduring quality that has been built into the new Ford. « « « « «

Notice is hereby given, that acting under the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and under the terms of said mortgage, the undersigned will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash in front of the Courthouse door of Chilton County, Alabama, during the legal hours of sale on February 15th, 1930, the following described real estate, situated in Chilton County, Alabama, to wit:

Lot 1 of block R and lot 5 of block Q, in the town of Jemison, according to the latest survey and map of said Town as recorded in the office of the Probate Judge of Chilton County, Alabama, being the same lots conveyed by E. A. Burns and Ella Burns to J. W. F. Garner as lots 23 and 25 and further particularly described by deed from said E. A. and Ella Burns to said J. W. F. Garner which is hereby referred to for said particular description, dated November 15th, 1892, and duly recorded in volume 44 at page 566-67, record of deeds of said Chilton County, except as modified by said latest survey and map, and except a part of said lot 25 as the same was formerly called, which has heretofore been conveyed by said granters herein to W. A. Reynolds. Said lot 1 block R, being 210 feet in length, running parallel with and adjoining the L. & N. Railroad right-of-way, east of the center line of said railroad and 114 feet wide. Said lot 5 block Q, being 210 feet in length, parallel with the lines of said lot 1, block R, and separated therefrom by a 20 foot street, and 145 feet, more or less in width on the Northerly end or side and 151 feet more or less on the Southerly side or end.

This sale is made for the purpose of satisfying the indebedness secured by said mortgage as well as the expense of foreclosing same and the proceeds there of will be applied in accordance with the terms of said mortgage.

This the 14th day of January, 1930.

BANKERS FIND GROUP BANKING WIDESPREAD

Over 13 Billion Dollars of Bank Assets in Affiliated Systems Numbering 1,850 Members—In Nearly Every State.

Over 1,850 banks with more than thirteen billion dollars in resources are shown to be associated with chain or group banking systems in the United States in facts recently gathered by the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association. The chairman of the commission, R. S. Hecht of New Orleans, pointed out that the facts indicate that "almost 7½ per cent of our banks and over 18 per cent of our banking resources are in the great net of group or chain banking that now covers almost every part of the country."

The commission's facts comprised chain and group banking affiliations in the broadest sense of the term, the report said. They included those groups in which the controlling element was a particular bank, there being reported 78 instances of this class involving 407 banks and about $6,473,000,000 in combined banking resources. They included also groups in which a non-banking holding company, not subsidiary to any particular bank, was in control and of this class 28 instances were found, involving 380 banks and nearly $5,335,000,000 in resources. The report also included groupings in which control was exercised by individual persons and these cases numbered 167, involving 1,071 banks and about $1,468,000,000 in assets.

The Total Figures

The total was over $13,275,000,000 in aggregate resources. Some of the systems comprised 50 to 100 banks each. Head offices of the groups were found in all jurisdictions, but nine of the states and the District of Columbia.

"We have not included in these figures," the report says, "banking groups in which a commercial bank, a trust company and an investment house, and sometimes a savings bank, are tied together by some form of stock holdings and operated as complementary elements in an organization rendering complete financial services. We have held that such groups are similar to a departmentalized bank and different in the purposes and operations from a chain or group banking system.

"For purposes of the present report we define chain or group banks as systems in which centralized control, whether corporate or personal and either rigid or informal, directs the operations of two or more complete banks, not functionally complementary, each working on its own capital and under its own personnel and located in one or more cities or states."

Commenting on the question whether the rapid development of chain banking was in the nature of a reaction against restrictions imposed on branch banking by the banking laws in many states the report says that observation does not wholly confirm this theory since chain banking is prevalent in some states where virtually no restriction is imposed on branch banking, as well as in those where the establishment of branch banks is prohibited. It adds:

The Question of Branch Banking

"However the facts do show that anti-branch banking laws have been a factor in some cases, and probably in some sections, in the spread of chain banking. Instances have come to our attention where expansion along chain bank lines has been carried out by state banks whose expansion along branch bank lines was stopped by the passing of state laws prohibiting further branches. Yet whether expansion would have been along branch bank lines if the laws had imposed no barriers, it is impossible to say. There is obviously a well developed banking opinion in some sections that the chain bank method brings to outlying banks the strength and efficiency of a big organization without depriving them of their local individuality and sympathies. In view of the mixed factors noted, we feel it is unsafe to generalize as to what bearing branch banking laws have on chain developments.

"The recent era of rapid chain bank developments has found specific reflection in some state legislative action tending to restrict or control chain or group banking. Also we find a sharp difference of opinion among state bank commissioners who have expressed their sentiments regarding chain banking."

In a foreword to the report, issued in booklet form by the association at its New York City headquarters, Chairman Hecht says that "the Economic Policy Commission does not take a stand in advocacy of or in opposition to this new method of concentrating banking resources through the affiliation of banks into groups and chains, but is simply offering as a fact finding body what we believe is the first complete national picture of this rapidly growing movement.

Lesson for February 2

PUTTING GOD'S KINGDOM FIRST

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 6:1-24 (Print vv. 5-13, 19-21, 31-33).

GOLDEN TEXT—Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Being True to Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Being Loyal to Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Being Loyal to Christ.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Putting First Things First.

Having set forth in the previous chapter the standards of the kingdom, Jesus now exhibits the underlying principles which control the subjects of the kingdom.

I. As to Giving (vv. 1-4).

Alms were not to be given before men to be seen of them. Doing alms before men is not condemned as that would contradict Matthew 5:16, but the doing of them before men to be seen of them. To seek publicity in doing our alms is to miss the reward of our heavenly Father. The true child of the kingdom will seek privacy in doing righteousness, that he may have the open reward of the Father.

II. As to Praying (vv. 5-15).

1. False prayer (vv. 5, 7).

This consists in (1) Praying to be seen and heard of men (v. 5). Many of the prayers uttered in public are false, for there is more thought of what the people think than of what God thinks. (2) Using vain repetitions (v. 7). This does not mean that we should ask but once for a given thing. We have examples of Christ and Paul praying three times for the same thing (Matt. 26:39-46; II Cor. 12:7, 8). It means the using of meaningless repetitions. The reason is, "Your Father knoweth what things ye have need of before ye ask Him."

2. True prayer (v. 6).

Since prayer is a transaction of the soul with God, there should be a real desire for fellowship with Him which moves one to meet Him in the secret place.

3. The model prayer (vv. 9-15).

This involves (1) Right relationship—"Our Father" (v. 9). (2) Right attitude—"Hallowed be thy name" (vv. 9, 10). (3) Right spirit—"Give us our daily bread, forgive us our sins, lead us not into temptation" (vv. 11-13).

III. As to Fasting (vv. 16-18).

The true reasen for fasting is to be found in the opportunity it gives for a clear vision of God. Those who have thus seen God will make it manifest in a joyful countenance.

IV. As to Earthly Riches (vv. 19-24).

The Lord knew the temptations which would befall His children in their earthly pilgrimage and the anxiety to which it would lead; therefore He set forth the proper attitude toward them.

1. The nature of earthly riches (vv. 19-21).

(1) Uncertain (vv. 19, 20). Earthly treasures corrode, or are taken from us, therefore we should lay up for ourselves treasures in heaven where they are absolutely safe from corruption and from thieves. (2) Seductive (v. 21). Christ called riches deceitful (Matt. 13:22). It is not wrong to possess earthly treasures, but when earthly treasures possess us, they become a snare unto us. Excessive attention should not be given to earthly treasures.

2. The effect of earthly riches (vv. 22-24).

(1) Blunt the moral and spiritual perceptions (vv. 22, 23). Those who become enamored of the things of this world soon become irresponsive to spiritual things. When the heart is upon earthly treasures, it is taken from God. The double eye is disastrous to spirituality. (2) They render null and vold all service (v. 24). As soon as one's heart is stolen by riches, he is rendered unfit for spiritual service.

V. As to Faith in the Heavenly Father (vv. 25-34).

1. Be not anxious about food and clothing (vv. 25-34).

Because (1) It shows distrust of God (v. 30). God is able to supply His children's needs. (2) It is useless (v. 31). Anxiety can bring nothing. While bringing us nothing, it weakens our service. (3) It is heathenish (v. 32). Those who have not learned to trust God may worry over temporal affairs, but those who know Him as a loving Father, will be free from care.

2. Be anxious to seek the kingdom of God and serve Him (vv. 33, 34).

This means that worldly affairs should be subordinated to spiritual affairs.

POPLAR SPRINGS

Last Sunday was our regular preaching day. Rev. W. P. Lowery delivered us a wonderful message. There was a large crowd attended.

The Poplar and Maple Spring singing society met here Sunday at 2:30. The directors were Messrs. W. M. DeVaughn, L. T. Grant, O. L. DeVaughn, W. F. Gilliand, Archie DeVaughn, Jesse Jones, Emmett Wilson and S. M. Yates.

The pianists were Miss Gracie Wilson and Mrs. Lawton McDowell. The singing was enjoyed by all who was present.

Messrs. Evon and Jim Mims, and Misses Gladys and Gracie Wilson and Ruby Patterson were the dinner guests of Misses Lena and Irene Traywick Sunday.

Mr. Dalton Connell who is at work in Milledgeville, Georgia spent the week nd with his mother at Coopers.

Misses Ruby Patterson and Lena Traywick spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Ress Driver of Clanton.

Misses Lillian Blalock and Hercie Lee Jones dined with Miss Ora DeVaughn Sunday.

Mrs. Henry Patterson and children were the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Traywick Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Downs visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Traywick Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Latham Wilson and daughter, Nell, were the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Patterson.

Misses Marvreen Cox and Evelyn Downs were the dinner guests of Misses Pearl and Gertie Patterson Sunday.

Every body remember Sunday School at 10:30 a. m., and B. Y. P. U. at 6:30 p. m. every Sunday.

PLEASANT GROVE—JEMISON

Rev. Browder filled his regular appointment Sunday. His topic for the morning was "Home life," and for the evening service the topic was "the world or what do you know about the world." The attendance was good for both services.

Group No. 2 was in charge of the B. Y. P. U. program, rendering a very enteresting missionary lesson in the Old Bible. We were very sorry that our quizz leader, Mrs. T. P. Franklin, was unable to be with us on account of illness. Miss Gwendolyn Clements took charge of the "Bible drill". Next Sunday night Group No. 1 will be in charge and extends a cordial invitation to all.

Group No. 1 of the B. Y. P. U. delightfully entertained Group No. 2 with a social Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Price. Singing and playing games were enjoyed until about 10 o'clock, when we were invited to the dining room where punch and cake was served to 54. The table was beautifully decorated with American beauty roses and ferns. For a center piece a beautiful white cake with pink B. Y. P. U. letters were used. After every body was served, this cake was cut and passed around. We wish to thank all who helped make the social a success.

Mr. Henry Hatcher of Montevallo spent the week end with home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Adair and children went to Birmingham Sunday afternoon to get their son who has been attending school in Birmingham.

Messrs. Euell, Paul, and Carl Dawson and J. M. Miskelley of Pleasant Grove, and Mr. Marvin Merchant of Free Springs gave a musical intertainment at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Green of Providence last Saturday night.

Last Wednesday evening Miss Vina Davis and Mr. Joe Cory were married. Rev. J. N. Scott officiating. The bride is the lovely daughter of Mr. Willie Davis of Providence. Mr. Cory has been making his home here with his brother-in-law, Mr. Carol. They will make their home with Mr. Davis the coming year.

FIDDLERS CONVENTION

On Saturday night, February at seven-thirty o'clock a fiddlers convention will be held at Isabella the school auditorium. Everyone whether they are fiddlers or not, invited. Three prizes will be given The first is five dollars; the second is two dollars and fifty cents and the third is one dollar. Don't miss an evening of fun. Admission will be twenty and thirty cents. You be there.

Mr. A. N. Miner, better known as "Shorty," was a visitor to Clanton last Sunday. Mr. Miner is now with the Nettles Grocery Company, as manager of their store on Montgomery Street, in the city of Montgomery.

Mr. William Green Atkinson of Jemison was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday.

One New Year prediction which is safe to make is that they will have a hot election down in Alabama during the year 1930.

APPORTIONMENT AND DISTRIBUTION OF PUBLIC FUNDS FOR EDUCATION IN THIS STATE

State Funds Classified into 3 Groups

In Alabama, publis school funds for educational purposes are available from two general sources, namely, ad valorem taxes, which have been levied specifically for education, and legislative appropriations. The distribution of the funds from each of these sources will be discussed in this article.

I—Ad Valorem Taxes for Education

County Taxes

By constitutional enactment any county in Alabama may levy a tax of four mills on the assessed valuation of the entire county, the proceeds of which are to be used to provide schools for the children in those counties. This means that for every one hundred dollars of assessed valuation in a county 40 cents may be received for the schools of that county. Of this sum 10 cents must be spent for lengthening the school term. The remaining 30 cents may be spent for school purposes in accordance with rules and regulations prescribed by the county board of education. In doing so, the board must maintain, so far as practicable, a uniform term throughout the entire county.

District Taxes

The Constitution gives school districts the power to levy and collect a special three-mill tax for public school purposes. The funds arising from this special tax in any district must be used for the exclusive benefit of the public schools of that district. These funds must be apportioned and expended in accordance with such rules and regulations as the county or city board may prescribe.

State Taxes

The Constitution provides that a three-mill tax shall be levied and collected each year on the total assessed valuation of property within the entire state and that the proceeds from this tax shall accrue to the public school fund to be apportioned to the several counties of the state by the tenth of October or as soon thereafter as practicable. The public school fund of which these moneys are a part is now known as the General Education Fund, the distribution of which will be discussed later in this article.

II—Legislative Appropriations

State funds made available for education in Alabama by legislative enactment may be divided into two different groups. One of thease would include all appropriations which are made to institutions of collegiate grade and to eleemosynary institutions. These appropriations are payable either upon the requisition of the state superintendent of education or the principal officer of these institutions. The amounts to be received by these institutions are fixed by the appropriating act. For this reason these approtpiations will receive no further consideration in this article.

The second group of legislative appropriations metioned above includes all those which are to benefit public elementary and secondary education. Several bases are employed in apportioning the funds included in this group. In order that these bases may be more generally understood, they will be reviewed in this article.

In some cases the bases for the apportionment of these funds are prescribed by the appropriation act, but in other cases the legislature has left the determination of these bases to the State Board of Education. The distribution of all of these funds is made by the State Board of Education. Hence a distinction is made in this article between the apportionment and distribution of funds. By the apportionment of a fund is meant the determination of the amounts which each county can receive. By the detribution of a fund is meant the release of the amounts apportioned to the various counties. In the distribution of a fund a county or city may not receive the entire amount apportioned to it due to failure to meet the conditions prescribed for full participation therein.

These bases provided for the apportionment of these funds are such that they are classifiable into three groups. In the first group are those funds in the apportionment of which the bases are wholly prescribed by legislative enactment. In the second group are those funds in the apportionment of which the bases are entirely prescribed by the State Board of Education. In the third group are those which do not belong wholly to either the first of second group. In this third group, therefore, are those funds in the apportionment of which the legislature has either prescribed a basis for distributing a portion of them or has prescribed a partial basis for their apportionment. After these prescribed bases have been followed, the State Board is given the responsibility for completing their apportionment and distribution.

The funds belonging to each of these groups are shown below:

The funds in each of these groups will be discussed briefly in order to show the bases which are now being used in their apportionment.

Funds in Group 1—Apportionment Prescribed by Legislature

As indicated above, each of the funds in this group is distributed by the State Board of Education according to bases which are prescribed in the legislative acts apportioning the same. The State Board of Education distributes these funds, but they are disbursed by the county and city boards of education in accordance with rules and regulations prescribed by them, except as provided by law.

General Education Fund.—Money in the General Education Fund, constitutionally known as the Public School Fund, accrues to the credit of that fund during each fiscal year. The State Board of Education is required to apportion this money early in October. These funds must be apportioned among the several counties in the state in proportion to the number of children of school age in same, according to the latest returns from the school census. The school age is from 7 to 20, inclusive, and the school census is taken every even numbered year. For 1929-30 this fund amounted to $4,180,170.73 and the school census of 1928 was such that each county received $5.06 for each child shown to be of school age by that census in addition to such amounts as were due under the law. As was shown in the November issue of the Alabama School Journal, the per capita apportionment of this fund has been increasing.

Bonus Fund.—This appropriation makes $268,000 available annually to the counties of the state. This amount is made available in order to reward counties which levy and collect a county-wide school tax. Each county receives from this fund one thousand dollars each year for each one-mill county-wide school tax levied and collected that year. Since the Constitution provides that only a four-mill county-wide tax for school purposes may be collected, it is clear that a county can receive a maximum of $4,000 each year from this fund.

Agricultural School Fund.—The legislative act which makes this fund available specifies that each of the eleven state secondary agricultural schools shall receive annually $7,500 payable quarterly upon the requisition of the state superintendent of education.

Rural Library Fund.—Appropriations aggregating $25,000 are annually available from the state for the purpose of establishing and maintaining libraries in the rural schools. Of this fund each county may receive an equal portion so that $373 are available each year to each county for the above named purpose. This amount is available in units of $10 each, but before any such unit may be received by a county, it must raise locally $20 for the same purpose. On January 1st of each year all amounts which have not been claimed by the counties are consolidated into a common fund available to any county which meets the above condition. It is therefore possible for a county to receive more than its original pro rata share from this fund.

Attendance Fund.—In order to provide means for a better attendance and physical and health program in Alabama, there is annually appropriated the sum of $850,000 to be known as the Attendance Fund. The act appropriating this money prescribes that it shall be apportioned to the several counties of the state in proportion to the aggregate attendance during the year next preceding that for which the apportionment is made. During the year of 1927-28 the children enrolled in the public elementary and high schools of the state attended a total of 68,581,604 days so that each county last year received 1.239 cents from this fund for every day of school attendance therein during the preceding year. Due to the increased attendance in the state, this per diem figure has been decreasing.

Funds in Group 2—Apportionment by State Board of Education

The bases for the apportionment of the funds in this group are determined by the State Board of Education. The State Department of Education then apportions and distributes them in accordance with these bases.

Illiteracy Fund.—The School Code of 1927 provides that the state board of education shall be charged with the responsibility for the removal of illiteracy in Alabama. For this purpose there has been appropriated a total of $50,000 annually. This may be spent for the removal of adult illiteracy, for the training of atypical children who are not now provided for in the state child-caring institutions, and for providing proper educational opportunity for persons in the penal institutions of the State. The amount to be spent for these services is left to the discretion of the State Board of Education.

Vocational Education Fund.—Having accepted the federal vocational act and federal rehabilitation act, Alabama legislatures have appropriated moneys to match any funds allotted to Alabama from the federal treasury by these or any subsequent federal acts. For the year 1929-30 the sum of $562,713 is available for the advancement of vocational education. Of this amount $176,908 is from the federal government. Of the total amount available the following sums are for special services: $44,611 for civilian rehabilitation; $15,000 for physical restoration and $7,500 for the service of the blind. These funds are administered by the State Board of Education for the promotion of vocational education in agricultural subjects, trades and industrial subjects, home economics and for the rehabilitation of disabled persons. This board is authorized by law to co-operate with the federal board of vocational education and can pay to county boards of education who employ vocational workers a pro rata portion of the cost of instruction in approved vocational courses.

Revolving Fund.—"The state board of education is specifically charged with the duty of equalizing public school facilities throughout the state, in so far as it may be practicable, and in order to make it possible to increase the length of school terms in rural districts and to care for that and other worthy purposes for which no adequate appropriation has been made, the said state board shall expend so much as it may deem proper of the amount set aside annually by legislature appropriated to the state fund for the use of the state board of education, provided at least 80 per cent of the amount appropriated, if used, shall be expended for lengthening of public school terms and otherwise bettering conditions in rural schools. . . . ."(1927 School Code, Sec. 59.)

High School Fund.—The 1927 legislature appropriated to the state board of education the sum of $411,000 annually "to be apportioned to the several counties of the state for the further support and maintenance of more nearly adequate high school facilities." That state board has authority to determine the bases upon which this fund shall be apportioned, but is required to prescribe conditions for its disbursement so that the purposes for which this amount is apportioned may be guaranteed. The act creating this fund also states that the state board "shall have authority to set aside and expend such an amount of this fund as may be necessary for the proper administration and supervision of secondary education." This fund is now apportioned mainly in proportion to the average daily attendance of rural high school children in the several counties.

This fund should not be confused with the County High School Fund, which is one of those in the third group of funds to be considered later.

Group 3—Apportionment by Statute and by State Board of Education

County High School Fund. — An annual appropriation totaling $315,- is made to meet the regular annual appropriation of $3,000 to each of the county high schools and the annual conditional appropriation of $1,500 to each such school. In addition to specifying these apportionments, the law provides that "the State Board of Education may use annually so much of this appropriation as may be deemed necessary for the proper supervision and inspection of the high schools of the State." as required by law. Since there can be only one county high school in each county, and since each of the 67 counties now has a county high school it is evident that if all of these schools qualify for the conditional appropriation of $1,500 the bases prescribed by law for the apportionment of this fund would require $301,500, leaving only $13,500, to b spent for the proper supervision and inspection of high schools.

Rural School House Fund.—Annual appropriations aggregating $350,000 have been made for the erection, repair and equipment of rural school houses. Out of this sum, the state board of education may annually set aside such an amount as may be deemed necessary to procure expert assistance in the drawing of plans and specifications, in the preparation of estimates of bills of materials, in the inspection of buildings, and for such other expenses incident thereto as are deemed necessary. The remainder of this fund must be apportioned equally among the several counties of the state. Before any of the amounts apportioned to the several counties can be released, these counties must meet the conditions prescribed by statute for participation in this fund.

On September 1st of each year all counties which have not exhausted their apportionments must contribute out of their unexhausted balances amounts sufficient to cover the applications on file from those counties which have exhausted their apportionments. Each county which has an unexpended balance is required to contribute the same proportionate part thereof as the total of the excess applications bears to the total of the unexpended balances. All excess applications are approved if the unexpended balances provide sufficient funds with which to do so, but if they do not, the funds available are divided among the counties in proportion to the excess applications on file therefrom. The October Alabama School Journal shows how the balances were apportioned on September 1, 1929.

Equalization Fund.—The 1927 legislature appropriated to the state board of education the sum of $900,000 annually to be used exclusively for the equalization of educational opportunity in the public schools of Alabama. That legislature set up bases for measuring the need for the funds with which to provide a minimum educational offering in the several counties. It left to the state board the task of administering this fund equitably and in order to do so that board was given authority to supplement these bases in determining the minimum program which could be equalized with the funds available for that purpose.

The bases prescribed by statute and those adopted by the state board require a fuller treatment than can be given in this article. A discussion of this fund will, therefore be postponed until later.

OAK HILL

The United Singing Society met in regular session here Sunday afternoon, with a good attendance for a cold day and muddy roads.

The singing was extra good and everybody seemed to enjoy it immensely, for scarcely anyone left the room during the two hours of almost continuous singing.

We had the pleasure of listening to such able directors as Burl Martin, W. G. Culp, G. C. Powell and Ellis Martin. The society's regular directors were Collins, Appleton, Hayes and the Glasscock brothers.

Those who accompanied at the organ were Misses Genie Collins, Emma Campbell and Mrs. Belle Dorminey.

The society will meet for practice at Collins Chapel Thursday night of this week, and will meet with New Salem next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. We invite all individuals and classes to be with us and take part in these song services. Come whether you sing or not. Your presence will be appreciated.—Secretary.

BIGGEST SNOW OF MANY YEARS VISITS CHILTON COUNTY

A heavy all of snow began to fall in Clanton about nine o'clock Wednesday morning, and continued to come down increasingly until noon While the temperature did not permit it to lie on the ground long after falling, it is considered the heaviest snow seen here in many years. If all the snow that fell had stayed on the ground, if would perhaps have been four or five inches deep.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK ELECTS SAME OFFICERS

Steady Growth Shown Since Organization of Bank In 1919

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National Bank of Clanton was held on January 21, 1930. The same staff of officers as of the past year were elected, as follows:

A. M. Grimsley, chairman of the board of directors; E. E. Upchurch, president; G. C. Walker, first vice president; D. I. Deramus, Jr., Second vice president; J. C. Page, cashier; C. O. Jones, assistant cashier. These are the same men who have composed the official staff of the bank since its organization.

The First National Bank of Clanton was organized November 17, 1919. it has been paying dividends every year, with a substantial amount added to the surplus account, as well. The original capital stock of the bank was $30,000.00. The present surplus account is $50,000.00, with undivided profits of over $5,000.00.

When a bank attains a financial standing where surplus and undivided profits are more than the capital stock, it is nominally recognized in this country as an honor roll bank. It is a distinct credit to Clanton that both of our banks have this distinction.

The First National Bank of Clanton is the only national bank in Chilton County, and is the only national bank between Birmingham and Montgomery. This bank, as as are all national banks, is a member of the Federal Reserve System of the United States, which is the strongest financial system in the world.

The present resources of the First National Bank of Clanton are nearly three-fourths of a million dollars, and are considered ample to serve all needs of the field of its operations.

Discussing the growth of the bank, Mr. John C. Page, cashier said: "Our institution has been built upon the solid rock of safety and service, with every possible consistent courtesy extended to our friends and patrons at all future with optimism and confidence, assuring all who come to us that we will appreciate your business, whether it be much or little."

HILL'S SALE LAST WEEK WAS A BIG SUCCESS

The special 25-cent Sale put on by Hill Grocery Company last week went over as the biggest success in the history of the store, according to Mr. J. W. McEathern, manager.

"We are very grateful to our many friends for their hearty response to our special offerings, and for their steady patronage day after day. Our policy is the most and best for the money, and our friends can always be assured that whatever else happens, they can depend on Hill's to take care of their grocery needs in the very best possible manner. We thank you each and everyone, and invite you to keep on coming to see us."

I. G. A. PRESIDENT WILL SPEAK ON RADIO MONDAY, FEB. 10TH

Mr. J. Frank Grimes, founder and president of the Independent Grocers Alliance of America, will speak over Mr. K. W. Henderson's radio station, KWKH at Shreveport, La., on Monday, February 10th at 9:15 p.m., central time.

Governor Long of Louisiana, Attorney General C. C. McCall of Alabama, and other prominent personages have recently spoken from this station on the subject of the importance of the independent merchant to the prosperity of the nation. This general theme will also be the subject of Mr. Grime's address on this occasion.

Mr. Grimes is founder and president of this national organization of independent wholesale and retailers, which is already organized in 36 states of the Union, and enjoys the very greatest buying and merchandising power of any such system in the entire world of food distribution.

TAFT RESIGNS AS CHIEF JUSTICE SUPREME COURT

Washington, Feb. 3—Chief Justice William Howard Taft, of the United States supreme court, today submitted his resignation to President Hoover.

Taft now is recuperating at Asheville, N. C., from a breakdown caused by overwork. President Hoover has not acted upon the resignation of the 71-year-old head of the supreme court who was appointed by President Harding.

The resignation was presented by Robert Taft, Cincinnati, son of the chief justice and was understood to have been offered because of the chief justice's ill health.

Taft, the only man in American history ever to hold the posts of president and chief justice, was appointed to the highest judical post in the land by President Harding June 30, 1921. He succeeded Chief Justice Edward Douglas White, who had been appointed by Taft in 1913.

Return Is Planned

Young Taft said his father's health had not improved during his stay at Asheville, N. C., where he went several weeks ago. The chief justice will soon return to Washington where his family believes he will be more comfortable.

President Hoover probably will act on the resignation today or tomorrow, it was said at the White House.

Taft left here about three weeks ago for Asheville, N. C., to recuperate from a breakdown caused by overwork and grief over the death of his brother, Charles P. Taft, which was accentuated also by recurrence of an old bladder ailment.

The death of his brother, with whom he was very close, was a very great blow to the chief justice, and it was shortly after his return here from the funeral at Cincinnati that the chief justice gave up his place on the bench for a rest.

Upon the resignation of Chief Justice Taft, Charles Evans Houghes, a former justice and the 1916 Republican nominee for president was appointed to the chief justice post.

WARREN MADE MANAGER OF A & P STORE

Mr. J. B. Warren has been made manager of the A & P Store in Clanton. He was duly installed with appropriate ceremony last Saturday night. Mr. Warren is a young business man of much promise. He is a native of Chilton County, having been reared at Mitchell Dam, where his father has been connected with the operation of the Alabama Power Company for several years. His friends here are glad of his promotion.

Old Peoples Service At Friendship Again

Ministers and All Old People To Meet Fifth Sunday In March

At the regular preaching service last Sunday at Friendship it was announced that the Old Folks and Ministers Meeting, which was held last year and made an annual affair, will be held again this year on the fifth Sunday in March. This event last year created a great deal of interest among the old people, and it is expected this year to be even better than last year.

All old people and ministers are asked to keep the date in mind and try and arrange to come. If you do not receive a personal invitation, be there any way, and you will be more than welcome.

Rev. A. L. Foshee, the pastor, was present last Sunday at the 11 o'clock hour and delivered a fine sermon. The crowd was small, but everyone seemed to enjoy it just the same. It is hoped that more will be present next preaching day which is the third Sunday at 11 o'clock.

The singing society will meet the fourth Sunday afternoon, and it is hoped that all singers who can will arrange to be present. Friendship will have singing only once every two months, so as to give the singers a chance to go to other places who hold their singings on the fourth Sunday. It is hoped that other churches will adopt this same plan; and if they will, we will be able to have much better singings and there will be one in reach every Sunday.

The matter of a singing school at this place has been discussed very enthusiastically here of late. It is probable that Prof. W. M. Devaughn will teach a school here some time about the first of July. But no definite announcement can be made as yet; you will probably hear more of this matter later.

PERRY GORE ENTERS RACE FOR CO. COMMISSIONER

The race for county commissioner of the Second District in the Republican primary of August 12th, is to be at least a three-cornered affair. The third entry was made on Tuesday when Mr. Perry Gore authorized his announcement as a candidate. The other two already announced are present commissioner, T. A. Maddox, and Uncle Dock Gentry.

Mr. Gore is well known, and a citizen of the very highest integrity. He lives in the Collins Chapel community, where he is universally recognied as one of the most worthy citizens by his neighbors and friends.

As long as we have men like Perry Gore, Dock Gentry, and Tommie Maddox to pick our commissioners from, we feel sure that Chilton County is still safely in the ways of good government that have been so firmly established by the officials that have had charge of our public affairs in years past.

AIRPLANE WRECK NEAR CLANTON ON LAST FRIDAY

Pilot and Companion Escape Without Injury, Plane Damaged

An airplane headed for Miami, Fla., piloted by a young man named Jack Adamson, was forced to land in a field near Providence church in Beat 16, about 4:00 o'clock last Friday afternoon. Engine trouble was given as the cause of the emergency landing.

The pilot, realizing that he must bring his ship to the ground, circled around until he located a field that looked like a possible safe landing place. When the plane struck the ground, the landing apparatus made fast in the solf earth, and she went over on her head stopping bottom side up.

There was one other man in the plane besides the pilot. Both escaped without injury. The landing gear of the ship was torn up, the propellor damaged and the left wing cracked. A small hole was torn in the fuselage.

The landing was made in a field across the road in front of the home of Frank Lumpkin. Mrs. Lumpkin saw the ship as it came down and was somewhat frightened, as she decided that it was headed directly into the house. Immediately after the plane hit the ground a number of people in the community rushed to the place to extend aid to the stricken men. But they were able to get out without assistance.

The airplane was loaded on a truck Sunday and carried to Montgomery to be repaired.

VAUGHAN QUARTET WILL SING AT CALERA, ALA.

The Vaughan Radio Quartet will sing at Calera Sunday, February 16, at the Alabama Holiness Singing Convention, which will be in session at the Church of the Nazarene. Everybody is invited to come and bring lunch and books.

JOE CALLOWAY TO CONTINUE WHIPPETT AGENCY HERE

In an interview with Mr. Joe Calloway Monday morning, he stated to a Union-Banner representative that he will continue his agency for the Whippett and Willys-Knight automobiles in Clanton. The shop and repair department of the business has been sold to Spurgeon Calloway, who will continue to run it at the same location next to The Union-Banner office.

The Whippet agency will continue in the same building. The front will be used by Joe Calloway for the new car business, and the rear will be used by "Spuds" for the repair shop.

Concerning the drug store business which he recently bought from Leonard Farley, Mr. Calloway states that re has employed Mr. Calvin Lenoir and Mr. Gladys Johnson to take care of that business. Mr. Calloway will divide his time between the two places, and keep them both going.

ROBERT H. BEAN DIED AT HOME LAST MONDAY

Member of County Board of Education Victim of Pneumonia

Mr. Robert H. Bean, age 56 years, died at his home in the Collins Chapel Community at an early hour Monday morning, February 3rd. He had been sick for a week with pneumonia.

The death of Mr. Bean removes from his community one of its most valuable citizens. His usefulness was not confined to his own community. As a member of the Chilton County Board of Education, for some years past he has given of the best that was in him for the welfare and progress of the school system of the county.

Mr. Bean is survived by his wife, Mrs. Docia Bussey Bean, and six children: Mrs. Clyde Meade, of Thorsby; Miss Jewel Bean, of Birmingham; Misses Henrietta and Lottis Bean; one son, Horace; the latter three are at home and are students at the Collins Chapel School.

Elbert Bean of Clanton, Oscar Bean, of Tallassee, J. D. Bean of New Salem, and John Bean, of Birmingham, are brothers of the deceased.

The body was brought to Clanton Monday by Martin and prepared for burial. The funeral was held at New Salem Tuesday morning conducted by Rev. Z. Y. Appleton. Burial was in charge of the Masons, of which order Mr. Bean was a member. He was also a member of the Baptist Church at New Salem.

UNITED SINGING SOCIETY AT CANE CREEK TONIGHT

The United Singing Society of the northern part of the county will meet for practice with the Cane Creek class on Thursday night, Feb. 6th. All who are interested in advancing the cause of sacred singing have a cordial invitation.

Clanton Kiwanis Club Held Birthday Celebration Last Thursday Night

The Kiwanis Club of Clanton celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of the founding of Kiwanis International with a special meeting on last Thursday night at the Clanton Baptist church. In addition to the members of the club the wives of the members and a number of other visitors were present.

Dr. V. J. Gragg, president of the Clanton Club, presided at the meeting. The program was in charge of the Committee on Kiwanis Education, L. C. Warr, chairman, assisted by E. A. Childs, Reymond C. Smith and Earle Thomas, members of the committee.

Two new members were received into the Club: Mr. S. R. Powers, superintendent of Lay Dam, and Mr. John Hollis, superintendent of Mitchell Dam. The address of greeting to the new members was extended by Kiwanian Ernest Childs, in a very impressive manner.

When the program was turned over to Mr. Warr by President Gragg, Mr. Warr introduced past president, C. E. Stapp, who in turn introduced Rev. Keener Matthews, pastor of the First Methodist church of Bessemer, as the speaker of the evening. Rev. Matthews, who is a member of the Bessemer Kiwanis Club, used as his subject: "Why I am a Kiwanian." His speech was a masterpiece in every respect. He completely captured his hearers with his wonderful sweep of thought and his intensely interesting presentation of the great reasons that prompt men to come together in the work of Kiwanis.

A delightful song was rendered by Miss Hilda Hart. The reading by little Miss Dorothy Dowling was most heartily enjoyed. Mrs. W. E. Huddleston played the piano and rendered a delightful rag-time number.

With Rev. Matthews, there came from Bessemer Mr. Baumgardner, president of the Bessemer Club; Gordon Vail, secretary; and Jones Deadwilder, a member of the club. Each of these gentlemen spoke briefly, bringing the greetings of Bessemer Kiwanis, and expressing their delight at being present as guests of the Clanton Club.

Music was in charge of Percy M. Pitts, who directed the club in singing a number of Kiwanis songs.

A delightful dinner plate was served by the ladies of the Missionary Society of Clantan Baptist church.

REV. BIBB MILLS HERE LAST SUNDAY

Rev. J. Bibb Mills, superintendent of the Alabama Anti-Saloon League, was in Clanton last Sunday. He preached at the Clanton Baptist Church at the eleven o'clock hour, presenting the cause of the Anti-Saloon League in its fight to further emphasize the benefits of prohibition.

Rev. Mills stressed the fact that the forces of prohibition of the liquor traffic have not ceased to fight with the passing of the open saloon in America. He also reminded his hearers that the fight on the part of the liquor interests to restore their business to a legal status is being made with great force in many ways.

At the close of his address, he made the usual appeal for subscriptions to the fund that maintains the Anti-Saloon League in its campaign for prohibition of liquor.

ON UNITED STATES GRAND JURY

Eric Hart, Jesse Baker, and J. Wiley Littlejohn, are in Montgomery this week, serving on the grand jury of the United States District Court. Mr. Hart is foreman of the grand jury.

M. A. Gore and R. M. Robinson were summoned for duty but were excused and returned home Monday afternoon.

COTTON GINNED PRIOR TO JANUARY 16, 1929 AND 1928

The Department of Commerce, through the Bureau of the Census, announces the preliminary report on cotton ginned by counties, in Alabama for the crops of 1929 and '28. The total for the State was made public Thursday, January 23, 1930, as being 1,296,446 for 1929 and 1,087,328 for 1928. Chilton County's report shows 18,943 for 1929 and 15,420 for 1928.

W. M. U. MEETING

On January 23, 1930 the W. M. U. quarterly meeting of Chilton County Association met with Jemison Baptist church. It was a very cold day, still, the people did not forget their love for our saviour's work, as quite a large number was present, all eager to tell of their work. Mrs. Dawson of Waverly Alabama, our state young peoples leader was with us, and gave us a wonderful message of help and encouragement on our W. M. U. work, and several others a like message.

May we ever "be steadfast and laborers together with God."—Yours in His work.—Mrs. W. H. Raybon, Secretary.

Will Bean Candidate For Tax Assessor

Former County Superintendent of Education again In Political Fight

A name well known in Republican political circles throughout Chilton County is that of W. T. Bean, who has been in public life here one way and another since 1912. This week Mr. Bean announces his desire to serve the people in the office of Tax Assessor, and accordingly makes his announcement as a candidate in the Republican primary to be held on the 12th day of August.

Mr. Bean was reared on a farm in Beat 12. He taught in the public schools of the county a number of years prior to being elected as county superintendent of education in 1912. He served six years in that office, rendering verp outstanding service to the cause of education in Chilton County.

This significant statement is made by Mr. Bean regarding his services as county superintendent: "I served six years in this position and retired because I was a firm believer in not over two terms for an officer in succession under ordinary conditions."

From 1919 to 1924 Mr. Bean was engaged in the mercantile business in Clanton with his brother, Wiley M. Bean. For the past five years he has been back in the school business, serving as principal of the Thorsby Public School. While not actually at his school work, he has devoted some time to farming at his place on the Lock 12 Road near Clanton.

In 1922 Mr. Bean made the race for Probate Judge of Chilton County in the Republican primary. While he was not successful, he feels that he made a very creditable race.

"I have made political speeches in almost every community in Chilton County," said Mr. Bean, "and have been an active party worker and speaker in every campaign since I entered politics in 1912. I have never voted anything but a straight Republican ticket."

JESSE BAKER IS CANDIDATE FOR TAX ASSESSOR

Grandson of Uncle John Baker, First Republican In Chilton County

Mr. Jesse Baker prominant merchant and business man of Clanton has entered the race for Tax Assessor of Chilton County. Those in close touch with politics in Chilton County seem to recognize in Mr. Baker a candidate who will have to be seriously reckoned with when the votes are counted in the primary of August 12th.

Mr. Baker has been in business in Clanton for many years. When he first began his dealings with the public, he was clerk in various stores of Clanton. By his shrewd business ability and careful saving of his earnings, he soon was able to go into business of his own. At present he is one of the owners of the Clanton Cash Store, one of the leading business institutions of the city. He is also interested in the Ideal Dry Goods Store at Maplesville, and in the Baker and Deloach Store at Jemison, successors to the R. M. Hubbard Store.

As a Republican, no man in Chilton County can claim a straighter line of descent than Jesse Baker. He is a grandson of old Uncle John Baker, who for many years in his early life, bore the distinction of being the only man in Chilton County to vote the Republican ticket. When Uncle John stood single handed and alone in his support of the Republican party here, he was firm in his prediction that some day his party would become the governing power in the county. He believed its principles would stand forever, and as long as he lived he remained true to the standard. It was one of the glories of his old age to see his prediction come true, and to see enough of his neighbors vote the Republican ticket to elect Republican county officials.

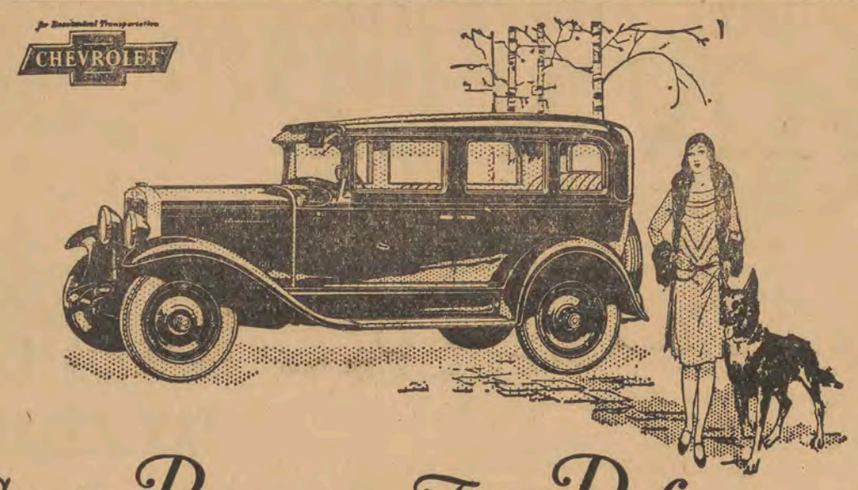
Jesse Baker is well qualified to fill the office of Tax Assessor. He served as county treasurer by appointment of the Commissioners Court, for one term some years ago. He intends to make a strong, clean and honorable fight for the nomination in the primary. If he is the Republican nominee, he will be a strong candidate to carry the party standard into the final campaign for the general election in November.

PUGH QUITS WOCO PEP PLACE

Mr. M. M. Pugh has given up the management of the Woco Pep Filling Station on the corner opposite the court house. The place will be run by the Woco Pep Company under the direction of R. J. Sumner, local distributor of Woco Pep in this territory.

Mr. E. E. Smith has been employed by the Woco Pep Company, and will be at the station from now on.

FROM J. M. ARLEDGE



Mr. J. M. Arledge, one of our subscribers to The Union-Banner in Shelby County, sent us a note along with his subscription renewal Monday, saying: "Maybe your snow didn't last, but ours did. We have still a good bit of it laying about in spots."

PEOPLES TELEPHONE COMPANY URGES PATRONS TO PAY OFF

Do you want the Peoples Telephone Company to continue to operate? If you do you will have to pay your central fee, and it must be paid right away. The company hasn't enough money to operate on much longer, and unless those who have not paid come in and do so within the next few days, something will have to be done that the board of directors do not know about now if the central office is continued in operation.

House rent, lights, fuel and the salary of the operator must be paid, and it takes money to do these things so the board of directors urges every one who holds a Peoples phone to pay your central fee at once and let's keep this service going. It is the cheapest telephone service in the world, and it is something that the people out in the country especially cannot afford to be without.

If the company goes dead we will more than likely lose our franchise and we will probably not be granted another if we should want to start it up later. So we had better keep it going while we can. Think the matter over and act now.—Board of Directors, Peoples Telephone Company.

Greater Beauty - Finer Performance

Never has a Chevrolet car won greater praise for its appearance than the new Chevrolet Six. Its new Fisher bodies reveal in every detail the artistry that has made the Fisher name famous throughout the motor car world. In beauty of line and color, in balance and harmony of design, they represent one of the greatest style triumphs in Fisher history. Upholsteries are richer and more durable. The instrument panel carries a new and more attractive grouping of the control instruments. Seats are wider and deeper. In fact, not a single feature has been overlooked that would add to the comfort and convenience of both driver and passengers.

In addition to its new beauty, the new Chevrolet Six represents a remarkable advance in every phase of performance. Its improved six-cylinder valve-in-head engine has been increased to 50 horsepower—giving faster acceleration, and greater reserve power. Steering has been made safer and easier. Four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers provide exceptional riding comfort. Fully enclosed, internal-expanding, weather-proof brakes give positive braking control. WOULD YOU KNOW ONE IF YOU SAW IT?

If you ever came face to face with a germ, would you recognize it? Of course it is not likely that you ever will see a germ, unless you own a tremendously powerful microscope, for you would have to magnify one over a thousand times to make it as big as a pin head. But you should recognize the fact that these tiny germs can get into your blood streams through the smallest cut, and give you typhiod, tuberculosis, lockjaw, blood poisoning, and many more dangerous and perhaps fatal diseases. There is one sure safeguard against these dangers—washing every cut, no matter how small, thoroughly with Liquid Borozone, the safe antiseptic. You can get Liquid Borozone at Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama.

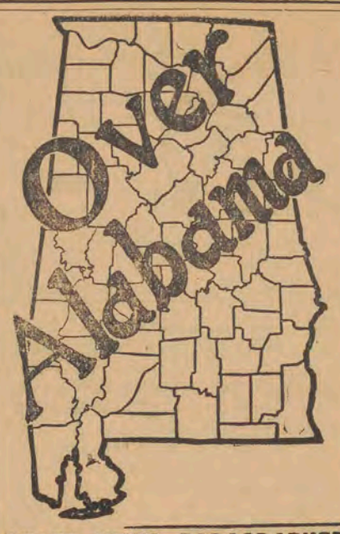
FARMERS PLANT TREES

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 3—Planting of forest trees obtained from the State Forest Nursery was engaged in by one hundred eighty-three landowners during 1929, according to the compilations of the State Commission of Forestry. The most popular species were long-leaf and red pines, black walnut, loblolly and slash pines and black locust, the amount of long-leaf pine being more than the other five together.

The young trees from the States Nursery went in small lots ranging from a dozen or twenty up to more than thirty thousand. Many of the seedlings were used for experimental purposes only, although in most instances they were devoted to reforesting land upon which natural reproduction had not readily ensued.



The planting done in 1929 was in Autauga, Baldwin, Barbour, Bibb, Bullock, Butler, Chambers, Calhoun, Elmore, Chilton, Choctaw, Clarke, Clay, Cleburne, Colbert, Conecuh, Cullman, Escambia, Fayette, Greene, Henry, Houston, Jackson, Jefferson, Lauderdale, Lee, Lowndes, Macon, Madison, Marengo, Marion, Mobile, Monroe, Montgomery, Perry, Pickens, Pike, Randolph, Russell, St. Claire, Shelby, Sumpter, Talladega, Tallapoosa, Tuscaloosa, Walker, Washington, Wilcox and Winston counties, a total of forty-nine counties as compared with seventeen in 1927 and thirty-one in 1928. The leading counties were Calhoun, Montgomery, Baldwin, Pickens, Butler, Cleburne, Jefferson and Mobile.

Mr. F. W. Denty, former citizen of Clanton, now living in Birmingham, came down last Sunday for a brief visit with old friends here. NINE-TENTHS PREVENTABLE

Nine-tenths of all diseases of the American people can be traced directly to constipation, doctors say. Constipation throws into the system poisons which taint and weaken every organ of the body and make them easy victims for any germs which attack them. Prevent constipation and you will avoid nine-tenths of all diseases, with their consequent pain and financial losses. Herbine, the good old vegetable cathartic, will prevent constipation in a natural, easy and pleasant way. Get a bottle today from Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama.

NATURE THOUGHT OF EVERYTHING

Nature thought of everything when the human body was made. When the body is about to become ill, nature planned danger signals to warn us. Thus, if our children grind their theeth when they sleep, or lack appetite, or suffer from abdominal pains, or itch about the nose and fingers, we should know that they may have contracted worms. Then, if we are wise, we buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and safely expel the worms. Thus we avoid the danger of very serious trouble. White's Cream Vermifuge costs only 35c a bottle, and can be bought at Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama.

County Farm Agent's Notes

NAMES VEGETABLES FOR PLANTING NOW

Auburn, Ala., February 3, 1930.—Many vegetables can be planted in February to erase the damage done by freezes and give Alabama tables an adequate supply of the palatable, health producing products of the garden. Julian Brown, of Auburn, enone of the all-year garden, and extension horticulturist at the Alabama Polytechnie Institute, made this statement in his February garden suggestions to Alabama farmers.

The exact date of planting varies with the section of the state and weather conditions, the specialist said, but practically all of the following vegetables may be planted some time in February: asparagus, beets, Brussels sprouts, broccoll, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, chard, collards, kale, kohl rabi, lettuce, mustard, onions, parsley, parsnips, English peas, Irish potatoes, radish, rhubarb (roots), spinach, turnips, and tendergreen.

Asparagus should certainly be in every home garden, he contiued. One-year-old crowns should be set immediately if possible. Mary Washington is a leading variety. Brussels sprouts, broccoli, cabbage, and cauliflower should also be planted as early as possible. They all do best when planted in a hotbed and cold frame and later transplanted to the open field. Cauliflower, particularly, is a cold weather crop, and must be started early and rushed to maturity before the arrival of hot weather. Broccoli is an Italian vegetable and has not been widely grown in Alabama, but should be given more consideration.

The specialist recommends rhubarb for North Alabama only because it requires a cool season. It is a very heavy feeder and requires rich soil and heavy applications of fertilizer, he added.

OIL FROM ENGINE STOPS SCRUBBING

Marion, Ala., Feb. 3—To prevent scrubbing and improve appearances, farm women of Perry County are treating their floors with crank case oil, stain, varnish, paint, and other materials. Last month floors in four homes were treated with crank case oil taken from automobile engines.

The work was done under the direction of Miss Regenia Matlock, home demonstration agent, who says that the simple, inexpensive finish improved appearances and eliminated work. In each case there were several children in the family and the mothers had much scrubbing to do. The oil was applied hot.

During the same time eight floors were varnished and waxed, and three painted. Plans are to refinish and paint the walls.

MRS. DUGGAR WINS IN GARDEN CONTEST

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 3—Mrs. Vera Boyd Duggar of Hackleburg, Marion County, has been judged the best home gardener in Alabama. She won first place in a contest sponsered by the Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute and Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau. Announcement of this was made known by Julian Brown, extension horticulturist of Auburn, who served as judge.

In announcing the award Mr. Brown said: "The contest started March 1 and closed November 1. Throughout all this time Mrs. Duggar had a good variety of vegetables in her garden. When the contest ended she was harvesting 19 vegetables and had 13 others growing for winter use."

Other winners were announced at the same time. First place among 4-H club girls in North Alabama went to Mirial Alverson of Hamilton, Marion County; for Southeast Alabama to Irma Brown of Banks, Pike County; and for Southwest Alabama to Altha Rigsby of Georgiana, Butler County.

The women winners recieved $350 in prizes from the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau, and the grils were awarded a free trip to the state 4-H club camp to be held at Auburn next summer.

A cotton fiber sorting machine, for separating the fibers according to lenth is being devoloped by Dr. R. W. Webb of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The new machine is expected to be more satisfactory than present machines of this type as an aid in determining quality of cotton fibers.

Tests with certified Isish potato seed conducted for three years at the University of Tennessee Agricultural Experiment Station resulted in an average yield of 183 bushels per acre. The yields from commercial, uncertified seed grown under the averaged 102 bushels per acre.

ELECTRICITY SERVES ALABAMA FARMERS

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 3—Beginning six years ago the electrification of Alabama farms has developed until 1,400 miles of transmission lines are now serving 8,000 rural customers. This report was brought to county and home agents and other agricultural workers of Alabama by E. C. Easter, chief agricultural engineer of the Alabama Power Company, builder and operator of the lines. The extension workers were gathered at Auburn for their annual mid-winter conference, January 6 to 11, during which they discussed important farm problems.

Continuing his progress report, Easter said that rural transmission lines have been extended into 63 of the 67 counties of the State and that from an economic standpoint hydro-electricity is now within the reach of every Alabama farmer.

During 1929 four hundred miles of lines were erected and are now serving 1550 customers. Easter said that from 60 to 75 rural lines are in progress all the time and that the aim of the Alabama Power Company is to continue rural electrification developments indefinitely.

As lines have extended into rural sections farm people have taken advantage of the service. As they become acquainted with its advantages new jobs are assigned to electricty, which has proved itself to be an efficient and economical servant on farms as well as in farm and urban homes.

Rural electrification was started in Alabama in January, 1924, by the Experiment Station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute in cooperation with the Alabama Power Company. The Extension Service immediately joined the initial promoters and the three have worked togther in keeping Alabama in the front rank among states in electrification of farms.

URGES TIMBER AS FARM ENTERPRISE

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 3—For the production of timber as a farm crop Alabama presents natural opportunities equal to those offered by any like-size portion of the world in the opinion of Colonel Page S. Bunker, state forester, who addressed county agents and other farme extension workers of Alabama gathered here for their annual mid-winter conference, Janunray 7.

"We have long growing seasons, giving abundant time for tree development, centers of population to furnish a market are close at hand, and there are 23,000,000 acres of land in the state unsuited to crop production that will pay a profit in timber if it is properly managed," he explained.

Movement of the pulp industry southward was mentioned by the forester as a stimulus to the timber industry. Pulp mills are already in operation at Tuscaloosa and Mobile, and others are expected to enter the state soon, he added.

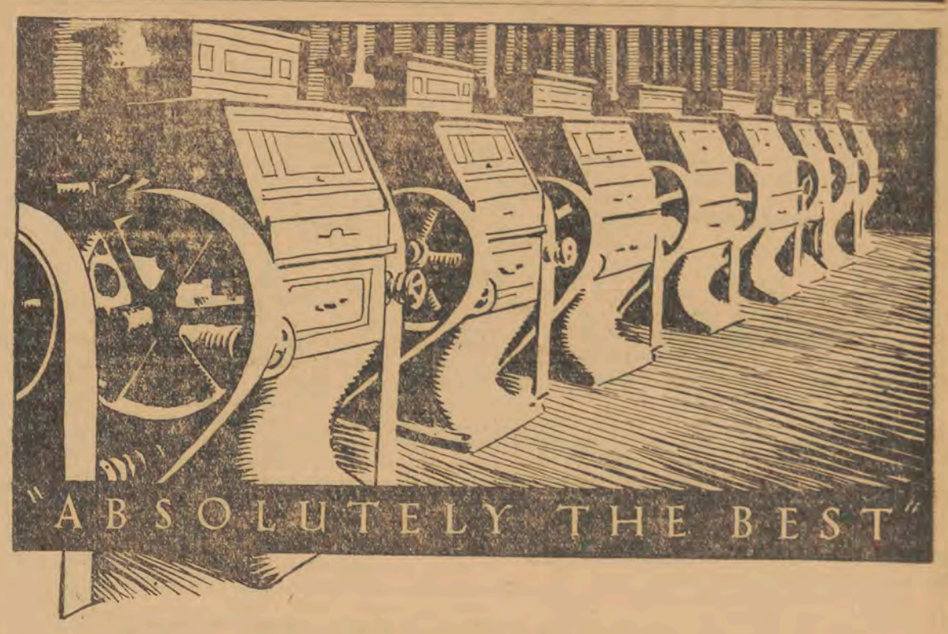
Prevention of forest fires, discriminate cutting, and the use of better business methods by farmers in making contracts for sale, he declared, are steps that should be taken to place the timber business on a more scure basis.

Col. Bunker did not advise planting of trees for timber in Alabama except in rare cases, but instead urged conservation and proper management of stands already growing.

The state forester led a discussion which continued two hours and was part of a program including discussions of the important practical farm problems which began January 6 and ended January 11.

Dr. C. L. Isbell, head of the department of horticulture and forestry at Auburn, participated in the discussion and called attention to the fact that there is an unusually good crop of seed of most trees this year.

FARM WOMEN MAKE MONEY



Huntsville, Ala., Feb. 3.—(Special)—Making doorstops out of oilcloth and doll heads is proving a profitable business for Mrs. George Milan, farm woman of Meridianville, Madison County. To date she has made 125 doorstops, which she sells for $1.00. She began last May.

Miss Elizabeth S. DeLony, home demonstration agent, who has assisted with the enterprise, reports that Mrs. Milan enjoys making the doorstops and that she has had a steady market since she began. The articles are made at odd moments. Though Mrs. Milan's products meet keen competition she sells steadily, because of excellent construction.

This is one o fthe ways, Miss DeLony said, that farm women of Alabama make pin money to use in buying things for their homes. Women in other counties make similar articles during spare times and find a ready market. They are assisted by home demonstration agents.

The United States imported more raw silk, sugar, furs, newsprint paper, coffee, tin, wool, woodpulp, diamonds, raw cotton, gasoline, flaxseed, lumber and numerous other products in the first nine months of 1929 than in the same period a year ago. This is shown in a bulletin, "Our World Trade," just published by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which points out that American import trade in the first nine months of 1929 was the greatest for any similar period in history.

Mayor W. J. Bailie of Lancaster, Wis., grew 40 kinds of apples on one tree last season.

SPELLS OF BACKACHE

"I HAVE used Cardui at intervals for sixteen years, when I suffered from weakness, and it always helped me," says Mrs. J. W. Jinright, R. F. D. 2, Troy, Ala.

"Mostly I was afflicted with bad spells of backache. At times I felt as if my back would break. I would drag one foot after the other, in a helpless sort of a way, and once I got down in bed. My husband urged me to take Cardui, and I soon found what a fine medicine it really was.

"When my second child was little, I was in very bad health. I did not pick up as I should have. I was weak and sickly. I do not believe that I would have come through, but for Cardui."

MACHINERY VALUE IS DEMONSTRATED

Anniston, Ala.,Feb. 3—That a tractor and other improved machinery of the modern type can be operated successfully on rocky and rolling land is being demonstrated by two sons (Olin G. and Lloyd) of R. T. Faulkner, who lives near DeArmanville in Calhoun County.

For many years Mr. Faulkner had lived on and operated this farm, using one-mule-single-plow outfits. When his boys grew up they became dissatisfied with this method of farming. Olin G., the elder of the two, decided to leave the farm but reconsidered when Mr. Faulkner decided to buy a tractor and equipment for efficient operation of his farm without unnecessary drudgery.

A general-purpose tractor and equipment replaced half a dozen one-mule outfits. Now the farm is being operated entirely by tractor power with the exception of a little hauling and small jobs for which three mules are kept. Last year, 1929, the boys had 160 acres in corn, 75 acres in cotton, and 75 acres in small grain and hay. Lloyd, the younger of the two boys, is now a student at Auburn, taking agriculture, preparing to return to the farm.

The Faulkner land is not level and it is not smooth. Much of it is rolling and rocky. Yet the boys and their father combined little fields into big fields. They removed fences, cleaned up hedges, and filled in ditches so that their general-purpose tractor and equipment operates to their satisfaction. With it they remove much of the drudgery from farming and converted small scale one-mule farming into a profitable business.

Preparatory to extending their operations they have bought a second tractor. Extra labor is required for chopping and picking cotton. Most of the other work is done by the two brothers with their two tractors and equipment.

There are now more than 121,951, 850 people in the United States, according to the Census Bureau. The Immigration Bureau says that in the entire county there is one birth every 13 seconds, one death every 28 seconds, one immigrant entering the country every 1 and one half minutes, one emigrant leaving the country every 5 minutes.

A filing case included in the furnishings of the boy's room gives him a chance to start business habits early.

If you use a brooder, February 1 is a good date to commence and April 30 a good date to complete hatching.

A MILLION DOLLARS FROM CLUB MARKETS

Auburn, Ala., Feb 3—More than a million dollars worth of miscellaneous farm products have been sold direct from producers to consumer by the curb market method since the first curb market in Alabama was established six years ago at Gadsden. This is reported by Miss Helen Johnston, state home demonstration agent, extension service, Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Total sales for the six years on the 21 markets now operated in the state have reached $1,218,822.46, Miss Johnston said. Receipts for products sold in 1929 amounted to $406,316.11.

In developing the markets farm people have been guided by home demonstration agents. They report that sellers have found a demand for numerous products of farm, garden, and orchard which they did not realize they could sell before the markets were started. From the sales farms and homes are being improved and better equipment added.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Of the 46,580,000 men and women in the continental United States, who, in 1928, earned money with which to support themselves and their 72,726,000 dependents, about 35,000,000 chose their occupations from among eight great industries. These, in the order of number of employees, are manufacturing, agriculture, mercantile, transportation, government, construction, mining, quarries, and oil wells, and banking. Figures are given out by National Bureau of Economic Research, New York.

The average cost of living in the United States increased 0.7 per cent in the six-month period from June, QQ— n V.dha0 esruvl fitfacmhr 1929, to December, 1929 according to a semi-annual survey in 32 cities which has just been completed by the U. S. Department of Labor. The average cost of living in December, 1929, was 71.4 per cent higher than the average for 1913; 20.8 per cent lower than in June, 1920.

There are 22,000,000 dairy cows in the United States and the average production per cow is 4,600 pounds of milk yearly. But the cows in dairy herd improvement associations have an average yield of 7,457 pounds of milk yearly. O. E. Reed, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Dairy Industry, figures that if all cows in the United States could reach the dairy association average 14,000,000 cows could do the work for which 22,000,000 are now required.

HATCH EGGS EARLY GET BETTER RESULTS

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 3—More eggs, better prices and larger profits are in store for poultrymen who hatch early. This statement was made by Prof. G. A. Trollope, head of the poultry department at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, and he gave exact figures as evidence.

"Ten early hatched pullets produced 2,394 eggs, valued at $79.63, in 51 weeks in the Alabama Egg-laying contest at Auburn," Trollope stated. "Ten late-hatched pullets in the same contest produced 1,722 eggs, valued at $59.06, in 51 weeks."

He gives February 1 as a good date to begin and April 30 as a good date to complete hatching. Some advantages of early hatching were stated by him as follows: "Pullets grow more rapidly and become more vigorous; pullets secure better size and body weight; chicks are brooded with fewer losses; more eggs are laid during the season of highest prices; and chicks are less susceptible to disease."

The Scottish Republic (Russia) believes in the efficacy of farm machinery. Prof. E. J. Stirniman of the University of California agricultural engineering division has been employed by the Grain Trust of the Soviet Government to show them how to use machinery. The trust has about 2,500,000 acres in 15 or 20 units. Prof. Stirniman will have 42 assistants.

In the manufacture of nitrogen for fertilizer and other chemical products the United States made an important contribution to the total supply for the first time in 1929. Federal authorities say that nitrogen fixed in the United States in 1929 is equivalent to 600,000 tons of Chilean nitrate of soda. This was three or four times the amount produced in 1928.

Allen Northington of Montgomery, Ala., was elected president of the American Cooperative Association—potentially the greatest agricultural organization of its kind in the world—at a meeting of the board of directors of the body in Washington, January 14. The new cooperative, set up by the Federal Farm Board, is capitialized at $30,000,000.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

In spite of the spread of internationalism along certain lines it would seem that free trade sentiment is not increasing with any greater degree of rapidity in Europe than in the United States. In fact the latest dispatches from Europe would indicate that the prospects of the removal of tariff barriers are at present rather dim with a tendency to grow dimmer.

We have read a great deal in the newspapers during the past few years of the advisibility of free trade in Europe. The countries of the old continent have been advised to adopt the free trade which has always existed between the states of the United States. For a time it seemed that sentiment was growing rapidly for the attainment of such an ideal and that at least the worst of the tariff barriers might be eliminated between the continental nations and Great Britain. But now the tide seems to be running the other way. Latest news from London tells of great resistance in that country to the purposed League of Nations tariff truce. In the industrial centers of France and other continental nations, we are told, there are considerable indignation against the proposed tariff truce. In England, it is declared, more than seventy trade associations have gone on record against the League scheme declaring that it would ruin British industry. French industrial captains are said to believe that it would injure French industry, too.

Since the World War, innumerable tariff barriers have shut off the various countries of Europe. As stated above, during the past few years a campaign has been waged to remove or lower these tariff barriers. The League of Nations proposed to make a start by declaring a tariff truce. This was to be done by pegging the tariff rates and agreeing not to raise them.

This might be likened in a way to the proposed naval limitations. And most of the countries in Europe evidently got the idea. For they immediately commenced raising their tariff barriers again, doubtless on the theory that the higher these rates were the better position for a compromise they would be in when the delegates gathered at Geneva to "talk turkey" on the limitation of tariff rates. As a result the talk about reducing the tariff barriers in Europe, up to this time, has only resulted in raising them, and with the protests pouring in from industrial centers in the various European countries gainst agreements for a "tariff truce" the real difficulties in the way of concerted action to be realized.

It is evident therefore that some of the industrial nations of Europe, which have higher manufacturing costs than some of the other industrial nations are beginning to fear that a general lowering of tariff might be disastrous to their business. So it would seem that the American theory of protecting our workmen and our standard of living in the United States against cheap alien competition, is taking some root in Europe. Of course the industrialists of the nations across the sea still maintain that Uncle Sam is mistaken in protecting home industries against European competition, but they are becoming willing to admit that they may need some of it themselves against their own near neighbors. But to the average citizen on this side of the big pond it will occur that if some of the industrial nations of Europe need to protect the manufacturing costs and living standards against European competition it is all the more necessary that Uncle Sam do so, for the simple reason that he has more to protect.

It may be added that the basis for a protective tariff which exists in the United States does not exist to the same degree elsewhere in the world. Our protective tariff is based upon the necessity of protecting high standards of wages and living against lower standards. When France doubles the tariff on motor cars, it is not because French standards of wages and living are higher than ours, because they are much lower for the workers. The same thing applies when it comes to European quotas against American moving pictures, amounting to a partial embargo. So that the European high tariff system has no general basis other than the theory that these nations want to do their own work, and supply their own markets.

While it is often argued that European tariffs are only retaliatory to American tariffs, the record shows that they are dictated by real or supposed national necessity and are not reciprocean in nature. A study by the American Department of Commerce shows that in addition to tariff, the several European nations have some fifty other methods of interfering with the free flow of imports. This tariff situation in Europe shows clearly that the European nations are looking out for their own interests, not ours, at a time when there is frenzied preaching in the United States of the theory that it is our national duty to look out for the general welfare of the world even at the sacrifice of our own just rights and interests.

RELIGION AND THE REPUBLIC

George Washington, in his farewell address, said that "religion and morality" were "indispensable supports of the republic." The unorthodox Walt Whitman wrote: "I say that the real and permanent grandeur of these states must be their religion."

Our civilization was established, our government was founded by men of a religious cast of mind. If they were not all personally religious, their mode of thought had been fashioned in a religious atmosphere. A church was almost the first structure erected by the colonists, both at Plymouth and Jamestown. It was an austere religion at Plymouth, a light-hearted religion at Jamestown but religion was the most important ethical influence in both these cradles of American civilization, and in the Maryland of Lord Baltimore and Charles Carroll of Carrollton.

No form of ethics other than taught from the pulpit and at the fireside by religious fathers and mothers has had any serious hold on the American people. And in the decay of religious influence we may find much of the explanation of the loosening of moral ties and consequent growth of vice and crime in this country.

Religion has been pretty much dropped out of the scheme of things in America. The family prayer that used to be first on the day's program in most American homes would be regarded as a curiosity today. The discipline maintained in the churches of a half century ago would today be inconceivable. People do not talk about or thing about religion much.

Yet what subject could be more important to thoughtful men than destiny? There can be no intelligent philosphy which leaves out of consideration the thought of a Creator. Scientists may yet be able to prove that men evolved from lower animals, or even from inert matter. But what mind can grasp the idea of anything starting without some superior force to start it?

And what man, knowing the human spirit, can believe that men are only an assemblage of chemicals, thrown together and allowed to dissolve without meaning or purpose? Who can fail to recognize the spark of Divinty in a man himself? Who can believe that the flame of life is a mere product of physical combustion which can be snuffed out like a brief candle? Who can contemplate the command man has atttained over physical objects, and the victories of the human spirit over self, and space and matter, and still believe that men have only the destiny of weeds and stones?

Reverence for God and worship of God therefore becomes the natural act of every normal human being, and the discovery of His laws and His plans for life and destiny Is the duty of every thoughtful man and woman.

JASPER DENNIS ON THE SCHOOL BOARD

Following the death of Mr. Robert Bean, the members of the Chilton County Board of Education met Tuesday anl elected Mr. Jasper N. Dennis to succeed Mr. Bean.

The Union-Banner congratulates the Board on this selection. And we feel that we may also congratulate the people of Chilton County upon the fact that Mr. Dennis is in the future to be a member of this most important part of our county's public function, the administration of the school business.

Mr. Dennis is an able man. He is a man who thinks broadly and deeply, and best of all, he thinks for himself. He is a man who has the interests of our county's boys and girls at heart. He has come from the ranks of the poor and unknown into a place of prominence as one of our best business men.

His sympathy for and understanding of the underprivileged boys and girls is one of the beautiful ideals of his sterling manhood, and we are glad that he is to have the pleasure and privilege of serving them as one of the administrators of our public school business.

THE JACK POT

BY "JACK" HIMSELF

It is well known, and always has been, so far as we can find, that farmers will not stick together. That old saying that you "can have any knid of union except a Farmer's Union," is just about as true as they make 'em.

Just noted (in looking over a copy of the Banner of January 16, 1905) a letter written by Mr. F. A. Gulledge, of Verbena, in which he urged farmers to cut down their acreage, mentioning that as a part cure for some of the farmers' ills at that time.

And, too, you will remember that about two years ago we had another revival of that same sentiment. All down through the years since 1905, and possibly on several occasions before then, somebody would raise up from time to time and offer reduced acreage as a help to farmers in securing better prices for their products.

If people have known for years. why in Sam Hill don't they do it? If a bunch of business men in a certain line find that they are being "kinder pushed around" they get together and do something about it. They come to an agreement among themselves, and STICK TO IT. Why don't farmers do that? Think it over.

We hope you all enjoyed the part of the JACK POT last week which dealt with the subject of curiosities in names. We just uncovered another, although it is just a little different. Here 'tis.

When Uncle J. M. (Monroe) Parrish, of Beat 16, gets ready to make a hurry call for his two sons-in-law, and really wants 'em quick, their names are a great help to him. Instead of going all around by the "old blue hen's nest" to call them in, he just calls "Hey, 'G. C.'" and they both come on the double quick.

Here's the catch. The two sons-in-law are G. C. Powell and G. C. Walker. See? That's a bit odd, don't you think. Just happened to think of that one day last week. Uncle Monroe had a good chuckle out of it himself when it was mentioned to him.

If you have heard K. W. Henderson's: "Hello world, dog-gone yu," (and who hasn't heard it or heard of it), surely get a great kick out of it, in one way or another. There's a kick in it for you, no matter which way you take it. If you are WITH him, you get your kick out of the way he hands it to the chain stores. And then, if you are NOT with him, you will get yours out of the way "he makes a fool of himself", to quote a chain store operator.

It's a funny thing. One independent grocer in Clanton says he, and lots of his brother grocers, wouldn't have him put off the air for anything. And, one chain store manager says his big boss has said the same thing. How do they get that way?

Maybe it's like this. The independents figure he molds public opinion in their favor, while the chain grocers have decided that he disgusts his listeners and provides them with worlds of free advertising. "Ol' man Henderson", as he is coming to be called, must be a genius to so satisfy two contestants like that. Maybe you can't serve two masters, but he comes about as near as the next one, we think. How about it?

For the last several weeks the rural letter carriers at the Clanton post office have had awful roads to contend with. Each morning there has been great contention among them, each holding that his was the roughest and muddiest. The force finally decided the prize lay between 1, 2, and 5. These routes are carried by Grady Harris, John Armstrong, and J. J. "Jack" Mims, respectively.

We think they can quit squabbling about it now—Grady takes the cake. One day last week an airplane fell and wrecked a few yards from Grady's road. Now, he comes through with the idea that his MUST be the roughest, when even airplanes can't fly over it without wrecking. Convincing, eh? Pretty good argument, to say the least of it.

In addition, this article wouldn't be complete without presenting these three carriers' main contentions in the three-sided argument about their bad roads, before Mr. Harris climaxed his argument by the airplane incident.

Carrier No. 5 states that he wore out the steering gear of his car in two months, from bad roads; No. 2 says he doesn't get in the ditch any more, he STAYS in it, but he don't know when he is in the road and when in the ditch as it's all just alike; and, No. 1 has patrons (who have lately moved on his route) who are waiting for Spring to come to tell where the real road is, so they can put their boxes on the regular route—there are so many detours in places there is no way of telling. They might erect their box posts now, only to find later that they were 'way off the road the route really runs.

AMERICA HAS ONE REAL PALACE

There is in existence in the United States one real palace which has an undisputed right to the name. This is the "Palace of Governors" at Santa Fe, New Mexico, which has been used by Spanish, Mexican and American governors. Among the famous Americans who have occupied the palace are General Phil Kearney and General Lew Wallace, the latter of whom wrote part of his great work, "Ben Hur" while living at the palace. In an interesting article on this hostoric building in the current issue of the National Republic, Mr. Louis H. Warner, chairman of the Pueblo Lands Board, says in part:

"Of the nearly one hundred rulers who have based their activities here, there were governors general, Pueblo leaders, Mexican jefe politicos or political chiefs, Federal and Confederate colonies, civil and military governors. Here the courts sat, the subordinate officials acted, the legislative assemblies of what name or character gathered. This place has been the scene of all sorts of juntas: delegations of Indians journeyed for miles to offer allegiance, to pay their respects after the annual pueblo elections, to seek aid or to register complaints at the treatment they were receiving.

"In 1675 seventy or more Indians came bringing presents of buckskin, chickens, beans, and other articles, hoping thereby to receive the release of forty-three men sold into slavery at the mines for connection with certain witchcraft charges preferred against them at the Pueblo of San Ildefonso. Here, Billy the Kid, that noted outlaw of the Lincoln County Cattle War, came in the dead of night for an interveiw with Gen. Lew Wallace. Here the last three chapters of Ben Hur were written and the previous chapters brought here in manuscript were revised.

"Here, Kearny abolished for all time the exorbitant charge of $8 per sheet for government paper held to be necessary in all contracts and legal papers. Here the orders were issued for the erection of Fort Marcy on the heights to the north and east of the town. From here Kearny started on his expedition to California; Doniphan first against the Navajos and later to Mexico, both in the fall of 1846. From here went Governor Perez to his death in 1837 and Governor Bent ten years later. Here Gonzales, an Indian, was elected governor, after the death of Perez, with the aid of Armijo, only to be killed by the summary order of the latter a few weeks later.

"Here Lieut. General Philip H. Sheridan danced in 1879 and here Calhoun, the first Indian agent, came in 1849. No doubt Sherman, Miles and Wood were frequent visitors, as was Kit Carson. From here went the expedition in 1862 to Missouri, from here also went the military expeditions at various times against the Apache, the Ute or the Navajo. Here Colonel Price, a former congressman, organized the expedition to Embudo, Taos and Mora, following the tragic death of Governor Bent. Here Padre Martinez presided over the first session of the council after the territory was organized in 1851. Here the Kearny code, which was to become the basic law of the territory, was drawn up and proclaimed.

"Functions of every character have occurred here; social, political and civic. Probably the most exciting of all was the siege of 1680, when the building became a veritable fortress. Probably the Spaniards, who had gathered there for their last stand, would have been successful had their water supply from an acequia which was near, not been cut off. After this the result was inevitable."

RELIGION AND THE REPUBLIC

The religious institutions now existing represent the effort of our fathers to discover and apply the Divine will. Easy enough it is to pick flaws in them, to quarrel with their doctrines and the practice, but they represent more thought applied to this first of problems than most of us have ever given to it.

It sometimes seems that the churches themselves do not fully appreciate the prime importance of their mission. They are the natural nurseries of character, the exponents of underlying truth so vital that the discussion of fine points of doctrine within them seems trival.

There are fields in which pulpits are no better instructors of humanity than other existing agencies. Secular topics can be as intelligently discussed by editors, statesmen and lecturers as by preachers. But surely no minister of the gospel afire with his real message could lack a hearing. The importance is to measure up to the importance of the message.

In an era of confused thinking, of groping, of pessimism, that religion which is able to give inspiration and guidance to men and women and formulate that character, which, as Washington said is essential to good citizenship, is the greatest force for the good the world knows. This republic is going to be saved or destroyed just one man at a time, and those who are able to inculcate in individual Americans these cardinal beliefs and principles essential in a good father or mother, a good neighbor and a good American are potentially our greatest agents of civic safety and progress.

Judge S. M. Adams of Montgomery was a visitor to Clanton a few days during the past week.

The Man On The Corner

Some Sights He Saw— and Some He Saw Not.

Charley Wyatt, of Titus was on the streets of Clanton Tuesday shaking hands with his many friends. He brought The Man on the Corner greetings from several of my friends across the river—the Glenns, the Hulls, the Barnetts, the Varners. All of them are mighty good folks whom we knew before they left their old homes around Dollar Postoffice.

Well, it seems that another war has broke out in Clanton. This time it is Independent Merchants against the Chain Stores. Like all other wars we ever saw, this one will have to be settled by the jeans britches boys of the country. It is simply going to be a fight for the dollar that is spent in Clanton for something to eat. Most of those dollars are turned loose by the folks in the country.

In these days of the much talked about "Hoover prosperity," it appears to us that the fellow who has the dollar to spend is looking for the place where his dollar will get him the most. It is up to him to pick out the place that suits him the best.

I am delighted with the selection of Jasper Dennis as a member of the County Board of Education. He takes the place made vacant by the death of Robert Bean, and will serve for the unexpired term of Mr. Bean, about three years. Mr. Dennis is able to render service of inestimable value to the cause of education in Chilton County. And in accepting the place, it goes without saying that he will do it.

Taking the whole educational outlook of Chilton County into consideration, I think I can see that our people are coming to feel a better interest in the great cause than they had a few years back. We need better schools in Chilton County. We need the very best possible school administration. We need the best sentiment possible for broader educational things among the rank and file of our people. I am glad that I am able to see such things coming more and more in every step that has been taken concerning our school business in recent years.

There is a field full of candidates in the Republican primary in Chilton County this year, and still more to bud out yet. They will not be without votes, if last Saturday is to be taken as a sign of the political times. As the last day for paying poll tax came, there were voters by the hundreds waiting in line to get into Tom Rockett's office to pay up. And it looked to me like there were plenty of Republicans in the bunch. Well, boys, it is up to you now to get 'em if you can.

I heard a new name for Seventh Street the other day as I was hanging around the corner. One fellow said it is Gasoline Alley. I guess he got the idea because it is a perfect nest of filling stations. There are stations at which automobiles may fill up with gasoline and oil. And while the automobiles are getting filled, the passengers can likewise get filled up at one of the numerous cafes, restaurants, and soda fountains.

I knew a fellow in North Alabama a few years ago who conceived a name for hot dog stands that proved a money maker for him wherever he went. When he got to a new town he picked out the busiest place he could find and put up a hot dog stand. He called it "The human filling station." He was an artist in his line, and while the new was on his project, business was rushing. Before the rush subsided, he would sell it out to some unsuspecting and less artistic native and move on to the next town to repeat the process. He built "Human filling stations" in every town in North Alabama, and sold everyone of them off at handsome premiums.

I believe folks in this part of the country have plenty of money to spend for the things they need and want. I got my idea from watching the crowds at the sale of Chicago Sales Company last week. They were there in droves, and they spent money and bought merchandise.

Clanton's offer to the Government of a location for the U. S. Veteran's Hospital has been sent to Washington. It comprises about 900 acres of land around Lomax. The station at Lomax is about the center of the proposed site. I think there are at least three places on the 900 acres that would make the finest location for the hospital. Our next hope is that the committee of the Veteran's Bureau will come to Clanton before long and give us a chance to show them around.

I see the big passenger busses continue to stop right in the busiest street in Clanton, and mess up traffic miserbly every time they do it. All I can do about it is to write a line now and then. I hope the police or the mayor or somebody like that will see one of those busses with the street all choked up, and decide to do something about it.

Board of Registrars Propose To Strike Many Names From List of Voters in Chilton County

There appeared in the Chilton County News last week a list of names which are proposed to be stricken from the list of qualified voters in Chilton County. There are perhaps a number of people on this list who have been maintaining their voting privileges in this county while living elsewhere. It will no doubt be of interest to them and their friends to know that the Registrars propose to cut them off. We are publishing the list this week as a matter of public information for the readers of the Union-Banner.

In connection with the proposal the statement of the Board of Registrars in The News last week says:

"Notice is hereby given that the Board of Registrars of Chilton County, Alabama, will strike from the list of registered voters of said County the hereinafter named persons, who appear thereon, for cause shown to said board, unless said persons appear before said board of registrars on the second Monday and Tuesday in February, 1930, and show cause why their names should not be stricken from said list of voters."

The proposed list to be stricken is as follows:

"Gratitude To Sargon Is Beyond Words"

MRS. WM. N. COCHRAN

"Ever since I was a comparatively young woman I suffered from stomach trouble and nervousness. I was terribly constipated, bilious, rundown and miserable. The way Sargon ended my troubles seems little less than a miracle.

"The first normal bowel movement I have had in years I owe to Sargon Soft Mass Pills. My gratitude to the Sargon treatment is beyond words."—Mrs. Wm. N. Cochran, 1147 Harrison St., Portland, Oregon.

Sargon's fame is based on actual results—not empty promises. Millions use it—millions praise it! Alred Drug Company, agents.

JURY WILL PROBE PROHIBITION VIOLATIONS

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 3—A special federal grand jury called to investigate prohibition law violations in Montgomery and the middle district of Alabama was organized here Monday by Judge William I. Grubb, Birmingham member of President Hoover's law enforcement commission.

The body will be charged by Judge Grubb upon completion of organization work. Its invstigation will be in charge of Grady Reynolds, United States district attorney for the district, who requested the special session.

The district attorney announced that presentations were in his possession with which he hopes to obtain true bills against 250 defendants in more than 150 cases. The grand jury is expected to remain in session the entire week.

Judge Grubb has been designated to sit on the bench in this district pending appointment of a successor to the late Judge Henry D. Clayton.

Eric Hart, Mayor of Clanton, is foreman of the grand jury. Two other Clanton men, Jesse Baker and Wiley Littlejohn, are members of the grand jury.

Mrs. Yeager, of the Yeager Studio, Montevallo, was a visitor to Clanton Monday. Mrs. Yeager produces the very finest kind of pictures at her splendid plant. Look in Upchurch's window and you can see her display of samples of her work. She says she is getting a lot of orders for pictures from Clanton, and all of her patrons here are well pleased, as is everyone who has pictures made at the Yeager Studio.

DOUGHNUTS

Doughnuts can be quickly and easily made at home. So easy is it to make doughnuts today that the doughnut jar should never be empty.

By using self-rising flour for making the doughnuts we can save considerable time in the mixing process and our doughnuts are always the same. The leavening or baking powder, and the seasoning and the salt have been combined in the proper proportions and have been mechanically mixed.

LOCAL FOURSQUARE CHURCH HAS NEW PASTOR

The Foursquare Church of Clanton, on the east end of Second Avenue, will have preaching every Sunday hereafter. For the first time since joining the Foursquare movement the local church has a regular pastor. At the end of the revival held by Sister Locy in the warehouse last August, she set the church in order according to Angelus Temple's rules and regulations. At the beginning of the new year the church asked for a pastor.

The new pastor is Rev. H. B. Calentine. He is a graduate of the Angelus Temple ministers' school, which is known in the West as the International Institute of Foursquare Evangelism. He comes to the local church highly recommended by the officials of that institution. Rev. Calentine's family consists of himself, his wife, and two sons, Philip and Clifton. They will occupy the Glaucus Baker house in South Clanton until a home can be built for them adjacent to the church.

Rev. Calentine and family, accompanied by Miss Earlmedia Hagenbaugh, of Los Angeles, arrived last Saturday, and Rev. Calentine gave a short message last Sunday. Miss Hagenbaugh will leave in a few days for Chattanooga, to do young peoples work in that city.

10:00 a.m.—Sunday School.
11:00 a.m.—Communion service.
6:00 p.m. — Crusader's regular weekly meeting (young people's work).
7:00 p.m.—Sermon, "A Cry from the Depths," Rev. Calentine.

This will be Rev. Calentine's first real sermon in his new place, although he delivered a message last Sunday evening on "Transformation." All are invited and urged to attend and hear this message.

Hereafter, Rev. Calentine will fill the pulpit at 11 a.m., and at 7:00 p.m., each Sunday. There will be Sunday school at 10:00 a.m., and Crusaders meeting at 6:00 p.m., each Sunday, also. All are invited to all services.—J. Mat Johnson.

STATE CAPITOL News

An intensive drive against illiteracy is being waged over the state, with the obect of giving Alabama as high a rating as possible under the 1930 Federal census. Rapid progress in this work has been in recent years, especially since the 1927 legislature made a generous increase in the state appropriation for the work.

Reports from Parent-Teacher associations locating men and wemen, boys and girls, who cannot write their names are coming in to the State Department of Education from all parts of the State, according to Miss Clutie Bloodworth, who is in charge of the campaign against adult illiteracy in the State. "Write your name" campaigns are being rapidly organized in the localities sending in lists of fifteen or more people who cannot read and write. The taking of the federal census will begin in April and Alabama's rating in the nation as to literacy will stand for ten years on the 1930 U. S. census", Miss Bloodworth stated.

"Alabama City is the first large community to begin the teaching of adults to write their names after the preliminary survey.

Walker County began in July an "Each one teach one" campiagn and interested citizens and teachers have continued the seeking out and teaching of all white people who could not write.

The contribution of $26,350 from the Rosenwald Fund, appropriated for the year October 1929-1930 will enable the counties to receive aid in matching the State's appropriation.

The census of 1920 showed that 8.1 per cent of the white voting population of Alabama could not write, and 12 per cent of the children 7 to 20 years of age. The last school census of 1928 showed that the State had made a 43 per cent reduction in children's illiteracy.

Each county as a unit should make vigorous efforts to teach every illiterate within its borders before this April.

That Postmasters are prohibited from accepting furs, skins, pelts, or any part of a wild bird or animal in violation of the State laws, is reiterated by F. A. Tilton, Assistant Postmaster General, in cummunication to Commissioner I. T. Quinn of the State Department of game and Fisheries.

As the statutes of Alabama prohibit the transportation of game by any common carrier unless same be in the personal possession of the owner, it is therefore clear that both Federal and State governments will prevent mailing game of any kind. This is a matter of importance as hunters frequently deside to send game to friends living either inside or outside of the State.

The shipment of game is prohibited in order to discourage the taking of an excessive bag by a hunter, and to prevent the sale and shipment of game by those who would commercialize and destroy the wild life of the State.

Alabama laws further provide that pelts and skins may not be shipped except when same have been taken in accordance with the laws of the State, and the number of the license or licenseses under which such pelts and skins were taken must appear on the package.

State Highway bonds totalling $600,000, which had been retired by the state, were destroyed, as required by law, by Governor Bibb Fraves, Attorney General and State Treasurer, January 29th. These bonds were from the first road bond issue of $25,000,000, and 4,650,000; in addition 521,000 worth of bonds have been retired from the second $25,000,000 bond issue which was authorized in 1927.

INDUSTRY DEPENDS UPON AGRICULTURE

During the last decade much has been done and more has been said about organization and cooperation among farmers, says P. O. Davis, editor, Alabama Polytichnic Institute, Auburn. Men and women in every walk of life have heard it. When such is the case there is always an underlying cause. If intelligent men who are leaders in their professions and occupations think intensively about a problem and work with determination to attain its solution, the good of the public is involved.

Such is true in the case of organization and cooperation among farmers, Mr. Davis said. "Agriculture is the big basis industry of the nation. It produces the raw products for food and clothing—the two primary needs of civilized human beings. It supplies 60 per cent of the raw products going into industry and it furnishes about half of the market for industrial products. Therefore, industry depends upon agriculture for raw products, and also a market of finished products."

The welfare of agricululture is vital to every man, woman, and child in the nation.

Facts reveal that agriculture as a whole is not paying as it should. Consequently, every industry has suffered. The depressing effects of agriculture were reflected immediately in the various lines of business as well as the professions.

MAN CAN'T SLEEP, GETS NERVOUS, HATES PEOPLE

"I could not sleep and got so nervous I hated everybody. Since taking Vinol, I can sleep 10 hours and feel full of pep all day."—Julius Bender.

For 30 years doctors have prescribed Vinol because it contains important mineral elements of iron, calcium and cod liver peptone. The very FIRST bottle brings sound sleep and a BIG appetite. Nervous, worn-out people are surprised how QUICK Vinol gives new life and pep! Tastes delicious. Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama.

Lesson for February 9

WARNINGS AND PROMISES

(TEMPERANCE LESSON)

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 7:1-29 (Print vv. 1-12, 15-27).

GOLDEN TEXT—Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down and cast into the fire.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Obeying Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Keeping the Law of Christ.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Truth About Alcoholic Beverages.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Cutting Down the Corrupt Tree.

I. Concerning Censorious Judgments (vv. 1-12).

1. The sin and folly of (vv. 1-5).

This prohibition should not be so construed as to forbid our making an estimate of the lives of those about us, for "by their fruits ye shall know them." Neither should it prevent us from administering rebuke to those who deserve it. It is not wrong to condemn the errors and faults of those who are in the way of sin. It does not mean that sin should go unrebuked until we ourselves are perfect. It rebukes readiness to blame others and to magnify their weakness and error.

2. The duty of discrimination in dealing out holy things (v. 6).

The Gospel should be preached to all. We should turn from those who reject and treat with contempt the Gospel message.

3. Qualification for discrimination (vv. 7-12).

(1) A life of prayer (vv. 7-11). Only those are able to rightly divide the word of truth who live a life of prayer. (2) A disposition to treat others as one would be treated (v. 12). It is not merely to refrain from doing injury, but positively to do for others that which we would desire to have done unto ourselves under similar circumstances. No man can live this rule unless he has been born from above and abides with Christ.

II. Entrance Into the Kingdom Urged (vv. 13, 14).

There are two ways only before each one—life and death, heaven and hell. The narrow gate is the way of life. While the gate is strait and the way narrow, it is an open gate and the only gate to life, and all are invited to enter. The gate which opens to every good thing in life is strait—restricted. The way of Jesus Christ is not the way of the crowd.

III. Warnings Against False Teachers. (vv. 15-20).

1. Their real existence (v. 15).

Ever since God has had a people, false prophets and teachers have appeared among them.

2. Their nature (v. 15).

(1) They are hypocritical. The devil does his most successful work by masquerading as an angel of light (II Cor. 11:14, 15). His ministers appear in this way and turn people from the narrow to the broad way. (2) They are destructive. This is suggested by their being ravening wolves. It is when the wolf is in sheep's clothing that it does its most destructive work. False teachers are doing their most deadly work while pretending to be loyal to the Bible and Jesus Christ.

3. The unfailing test (vv. 16-18).

"By their fruits ye shall know them." Every tree bears its own kind of fruit. One may search the universe in vain for an exception to this rule. It is equally true in the spiritual world—there is a vital connection between faith of heart and fruit of the life.

4. Their ultimate end (v. 19).

Although God has infinite patience and bears long. He will see to it that this evil work does not go on forever.

IV. The Dangers of Empty Profession (vv. 21-23).

1. Merely calling Christ Lord will not answer for doing his will (v. 21).

2. One may do supernatural works and not be saved (vv. 22, 23).

Not all supernatural worlds are divine. There is a supernatural world of evil. It is the business of every believer to test the Spirit (I John 4:1, 2).

3. Separation from God (v. 23).

One may have been a Sunday school teacher or a minister and have performed many mighty works and yet hear from Christ the awful words, "I never knew you; depart from Me."

V. The One and Only Safe Way (vv. 24-29).

1. Hear the sayings of Christ (v. 24)

To do this one must give attention to reading the Word of God.

2. Do what Christ commands (vv. 24-29).

Hearing and doing the teachings of Christ is building upon solid rock. Hearing and not doing Christ's sayings is to build upon the sand.

Properly Protected

If a man have Christ in his heart, heaven before his eyes, and only as much of temporal blessing as is just needful to carry him safely through life, then pain and sorrow have little to shoot at.—William Burns.

Faith

By faith we understand that the worlds have been framed by the word of God, so that what is seen hath not been made out of things which do appear.—Epistle to the Hebrews.

LOMAX, ALABAMA

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please give me a small space in your paper to say a few words in regard to Mr. J. H. Martin's letter which appeared in last week's Union-Banner? Mr. Martin's letter endorses the executive committee's resolution, and from the tone of his letter he must think it is a wonderful document. Mr. and Mrs. voter examine this resolution. Without provisions it says: If a voter votes in the primaries and fails to support the nominee in the general election the voter would be immoral and dishonorable. It makes no allowance as to what might come against the nominee's character. Those who voted in the primary would be immorable and dishonorable to fail to support said person in the general election.

Mr. Martin, you said it was being talked that we have put up the bars. But that was not so. But every qualified voter in the county could qualify as a candidate, and every qualified voter could vote in our primary. Mr. Martin, let me ask you why was such a resolution passed. I agree with you that any voter can vote in the primary. Then for what reason was the resolution passed?

Did you ever in your life hear of the Republican party in any county, in the state, or in any state in the United States requiring a candidate to take an oath as to how they voted in a previous election, before they can have their names put on the ballot, and also branding the voter as being immoral and dishonorable who fail to support the nominee? I do not think you have.

Why should Chilton County Republicans be brought under such strenuous rules? Don't our politicians know that there are a lot of Republicans in Chilton County who will not be a Toad for them? Just lap in everything that they pitch at them.

Now, it is not my purpose to create discord in our party. But when I see politicians imposing unfair rulings on the voters—on the good old honest Republican voters of Chilton county—I think they should be interrupted.

Is there any voter in our party who might hold their nose with one hand and hand in their ballot with the other hand? It is my opinion that the resolution was made for the voter who regards honesty, and not for the dishonest voter.

Who was it that said there were no dishonest candidates and voters? Yours respectfully,—A. A. Jackson.

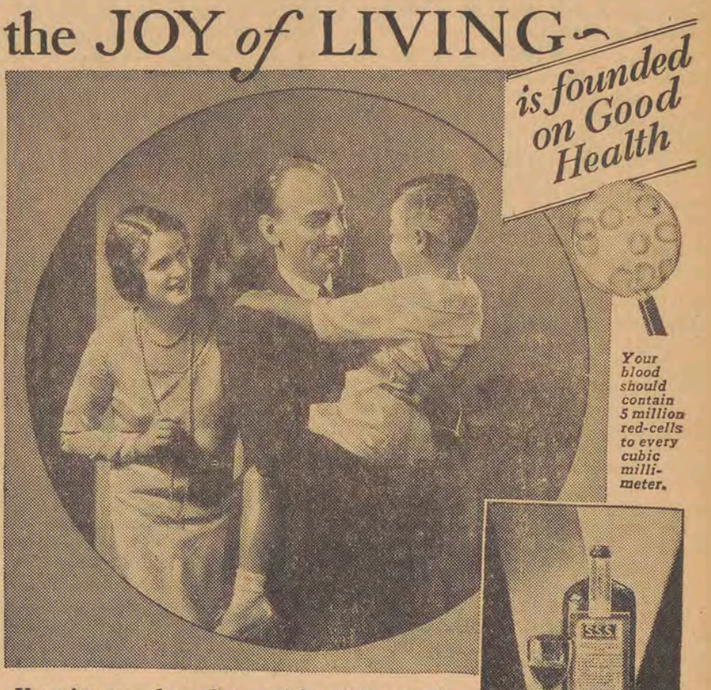
LIBERTY HILL

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Foshee and children of Montgomery spent Sunday, January 26th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Zack Lowery, it being the birthdays of Mrs. Foshee and Marvin Lowery. Mr. and Mrs. Foshee spent Saturday night with his mother, Mrs. Emma Foshee.

Quite a bit of building has been going on for the past few months in our community. Mr. Zack Lowery and Kermit Lowery have built bungalows, while Mr. William Ward, O. C. Duke and E. P. Littlejohn have remodeled their homes. Liberty Hill is picking up.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus Littlejohn all spent Friday in Birmingham shopping.



Mrs. Emma and Eula Foshee attended preaching services at Salem Sunday.

Miss Nora Wood of Samaria community spent the past week end with Mrs. Alpheus Littlejohn.

Several from this place went to Salem Sunday afternoon to the singing.

Next Saturday and Sunday are our regular preaching days. Let's all do our best to attend. Also we have singing in the afternoon.

the JOY of LIVING

is founded on Good Health

Your blood should contain 5 million red-cells to every cubic millimeter.

Your joy may depend upon rich, red-blood-cells

A HEALTHY body is vigorous, strong and sound. It is man and woman's greatest asset. It demands that the red-blood-cells shall not be decreased in number.

The red-blood-cells are its workers—5,000,000 to the cubic millimeter. It is dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin.

You owe it to yourself and family to give S.S.S. a trial. It promotes healthy body building. It helps Nature build rich, red blood. For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping people regain and retain their strength and charm. It is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and is easy to assimilate. Pleasant to take. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

You will be delighted with S.S.S. blood-building and tonic effects. Take at mealtime. At all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Alred's Garden Guide
FOR FEBRUARY

February is the gardening month of the South. Time lost now can not be recovered. If our hints for January have been followed, you are now ready for active duty. We can lay down no exact rule for definite time of sowing and planting; this must be governed by the weather prevailing. But everyone should be right ready to take advantage of favorable conditions as they may come. We recommend the following varieties as suitable for planting in February:

BEETS—Crosby's Egyptian, Early Eclipse, Extra Early, Detroit Blood Turnip, and Perfect Model.

BEANS—Bush or Snap Shorts, Early Red Valentine, Stringless Green Pod, Prolific Stringless, Bountiful, Best of All Wax, and Golden Wax.

CABBAGE—Improved Drum Head and Flat Dutch. These are the finest stocks of late cabbage. If your plants have not been set out, look after your cabbage planting at once.

CARROT—Early Scarlet Horn, Half Long Scarlet, Scarlet Chantenay, and Long Orange.

MUSTARD—Sow now for salad. We recommend the Mammoth Southern Curled Mustard.

LETTUCE—Sow and transplant from spring or winter beds. Select Big Boston, Simpson, Hanson, Veribest, unrivaled.

ONIONS—Sets should be set out now or they will not form a bulb.

POTATOES—Our stocks are from Maine. Plant Houlton. Early Rose, Extra Early Sunrise, Irish Cobblers, and Early Ohio. For late or general crop use State of Maine or Green Mountain.

TURNIPS—Sow as early as the winter permits. They require quick growth, otherwise they will be tough.

their LIVES are in YOUR HANDS!

DOWNY LITTLE THINGS . . . not long out of their shells . . . how much they must depend on you for the things they need to live and get big. They need a feed filled with nourishment. A feed which will build bones quickly . . . building muscles strong . . . change fuzz to feathers in a hurry . . . all this they demand . . . and yet their little crops can handle only one tiny thimbleful of feed a day! What a job for feed!

Consider Purina Chick Startena (mash) for this job! In every thimbleful are twelve ingredients! Cod-liver oil . . . dried buttermilk . . . alfalfa flour . . . granulated meat . . . these and eight others are there . . . each one with a real job to do. Purina Startena is mixed over and over again . . . 960 times just to be thorough! And you will find the same care taken with Baby Chick Chow (scratch) . . . to be fed with Startena.

Your chicks . . . what they do for themselves . . . what they do for you . . . is entirely in your hands. They eat so little . . . yet it counts so much . . . that you can afford to do only one thing . . . feed Purina Chick Startena!

MR. TURNIPSEED WITH JAMES SIGN SHOP

Mr. B. M. Turnipseed, professional sign painter, has accepted a position with the James Sign Shop, of Clanton. He began his work Monday morning of this week. Mr. Turnipseed will have charge of the painting of signs in the shop, and will be in charge of the business in the absence of the manager, Mr. Frank James.

Mr. Turnipseed has brought his wife and two children to Clanton to live. They are at the Wilson Hotel until they can secure a house.

POPLAR SPRINGS

Rev. Malcolm Lockhart will preach at this place next Sunday morning at eleven o'clock.

We have Sunday School at 10:00 o'clock a. m., and B. Y. P. U. at 6:00 o'clock p. m.

Everybody is invited to attend our services at all times.

WALNUT CREEK

I want to announce that there will be Sunday School at 10:00 o'clock and preaching at 11:00 o'clock, by Rev. P. Lynch, next Sunday.

Our singing society will meet at 2:00 o'clock. We haven't had any singing for the past two or three months on account of bad weather, so, if the weather permits we will have singing Sunday afternoon. Everybody come and let's get our singing back on foot again. Bring both books, Showalter and Stamps, and don't forget the date, Sunday February 9 at 2:00 o'clock.—Bill Coggins.

Dental inspection will be instituted for the students of the Chilton County High School, according to a statement by Prof. Warr this week. Examination will be made free by a local dentist. This is a movement on the part of the State Board of Health and the State Board of Education to further safeguard and preserve the health of school children.

WANTED ROOMS—For light housekeeping; man and wife and two children; would consider renting small house. Apply at James Sign Shop, Clanton, Ala. 2-6-1t-pd.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

On January 31st Uncle John Campbell celebrated his 80th birthday at his home near Jemison.

He invited his friends and neighbors in to help enjoy the day, and in spite of the fact that the ground was covered with ice and snow, a very large crowd gathered from far and near.

His older brother, Uncle Andrew Campbell, age 85, was present. He came by auto from Robertsdale, with his son, W. L. Campbell and family. At 11 o'clock the crowd assembled and had the honor and pleasure of listening to one of the highest educated preachers of the Alabama Conference, Brother Lott, pastor of the Jemison charge. His text was, "A good name is better than Precious Ointments," found in Ecclesiastes 7 and 1. He preached a wonderful sermon on the value of a good name. And in concluding the service he congratulated Uncle John on the life he had lived and his good name. He says, "I have never heard anything against Uncle John." After the service was over four tables were spread serving twelve or more persons each. Brother Lott asked a blessing, and everyone enjoyed the splendid dinner. A beautiful birthday cake was presented by a friend, Mrs. Margie Terrell of Birmingham.

After dinner the presents were opened by Uncle John. He received many nice gifts; among them was an unusual one—a pipe. Uncle John doesn't smoke, but he was proud of it because it was very odd and had an interesting history. It was purchased by James Terrell from the father of Floyd Collins at the Lonely Sand Stone Cave in Kentucky. The pipe was a natural briar root, unimproved, and it resembled a huge spider.

The family of Uncle John was present, except one son and one daughter. His two sisters were there and one brother; one brother was absent. The day was happily spent by all, and when all had said their words of cheer and congratulations, they departed with the hope in their hearts that they would have the pleasure of attending many more birthday celebrations with Uncle John.

—A Friend.

Mr. and Mrs. Kin Vinson of Milledgeville, Georgia, spent the past week end with relatives and friends in Clanton. While here Mr. Vinson sold his home near the Grammar School to Mr. Felix Woodyard.

Mrs. L. C. Duncan, Betsy Ann and Dorothy Duncan, of Birmingham, were visitors at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Crumpton in Clanton the past week end.

ISABELLA NEWS

Much work in home improvement has been made in this community through the joint efforts of Miss Cora B. Maddox, vocational home economics teacher, and Mr. Earl Thomas, vocational agriculture teacher.

The girls in Miss Maddox's home economics department all have home projects which they do on the outside in their homes to improve them in many ways. Much interest is being shown in this phase of the work. During the last year the following have painted their houses with Davis Ever Bright Paint: C. L. Lecroy, H. R. Oden, C. C. Williams, A. J. Lecroy, Luther Patterson, J. W. Williams, E. R. Bearden and R. T. Williams. There are many who have started flower gardens, putting out shrubbery etc. The people are grateful to these teachers for their interest in their community.

The vocational girls will give two home economics plays, titled, "Doughnuts" and "Yes, we have no Baking Powder" on February 15th at seven-thirty.

Come and enjoy the fun. Music will be furnished by the kitchen band. Old home songs pantomimed, which will give everyone a thrill to recall the feelings of each song. Admission 15c and 25c. The proceeds from the play will go to the home economies department.

FORMER CHILTON CITIZEN WRITES ABOUT ROADS, ETC.

Chelsea, Ala., Feb. 1, 1930.
Editor of The Union-Banner:

Please give me space in your paper to say a few words. I notice in last week's issue of The Banner that there is some dissatisfaction about the present system of road working in Chilton County. You know that when our blessed Saviour came from heaven to earth to dwell among men they grumbled at many things that he did and said. So we need not be surprised. Gentlemen, I wish the writer of the article in last week's paper, Mr. Cooper, could be our rural carrier one week out on Route 1 from Chelsea, Ala., Shelby County; His views on roads would be changed. We have very little help here from road machines—work is principally done by the old method.

Now, it is not the people up here, for we haev mighty good folks. It is no system by which to keep up the roads. Mr. Cooper, the way I see the situation in Chilton County, of which I am a voter, is that we should be very glad of our roads. They are far ahead of many other county's roads; and we still have money in the treasury to keep on improving our roads with.

Mr. Cooper, you speak of doing away with the road machines and going back to the old system of road work. I have been in Shelby County some little time in the saw mill business, and you realize that I have some road trouble, and our principal way to work roads is the pick and shovel plan. This plan makes me think of the law that you mentioned that was given to Moses on Mt. Sinai by our Blessed Saviour. You remember that this same law that was given out just here that it remained a law to govern the people until its fulfillment when our Lord sent his Son from heaven to earth not to condemn the law but to fulfill it. So this is the way I see the old road law. It was all right back in its day but the day of its fulfillment came and a new and far better system was set up.

One of our county road machines is worth more on the roads one day than fifty men were worth under the old law in the same length of time. I am not guessing for I have actually been on the roads doing the work myself and I had good help; but it will not build roads for this age.

The best thing that I can see for Chilton County is for our good people to get together all of one mind and one accord, not to fight the improvements of our county but stand together for better roads, better schools and the most important thing of all for better churches and Sunday schools.

Well Mr. Editor, I want to say in conclusion that I was in Chilton County a few days ago and noticed a keen interest manifested among our citizens for the coming election. We have a splendid bunch of candidates to select from this time. All of my ticket is on the list but one and I had the pleasure of shaking his hand while in Clanton. But don't get uneasy, voters, for he is coming later.

I want to congratulate the Judge of Probate and our commissioners for their splendid road work in the year 1929. Yours for the ticket.—W. J. Vinzant.

Dr. J. P. Hayes has been sick for the past week with pneumonia. His many friends hope that he may soon be well.

Spring football practice has been started at the Chilton County High School, for the benefit of those students who may wish to come out for football at the beginning of the new session of school this fall. Prof. Warr mentions a new plan of foot ball whereby students in the future may be able to play for six years instead of four. Under the new plan a student may play foot ball from the seventh grade through the twelfth grade, provided in all cases he shall have passed all his academic work satisfactorily.

Are You expecting a Baby?

THOUSANDS of expectant mothers are now cheerful and happy. Their waiting months have been made comfortable and they will be better prepared when the great moment of childbirth arrives. This has also been true of countless thousands of expectant mothers for over 60 years who have used "Mother's Friend," that time-tested, scientifically-prepared skin lubricant and pain-reliever which originated in the prescription of an eminent obstetrician.

Mother's Friend lessens pain

You, too, may enjoy the comfort "Mother's Friend" gives. It is so soothing and relaxing! It is used externally only—gently rubbed into the skin. Brings relief promptly. Very valuable in keeping the breasts in good condition. Also puts you in fine shape for the approaching ordeal.

Free Book "Mother's Friend" is on sale at all drug stores. $1.25 per bottle. Try a massage with it tonight and notice the ease and comfort it gives. A booklet on "Things to Know Before Baby Comes" will be mailed in plain envelope, free, on request. Address Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. 12, Atlanta, Ga.

MRS. LILLIAN SANDERS DIED IN MONTGOMERY

Mrs. Lillian Sanders, age 41, died Tuesday at St. Margaret's Hospital in Montgomery. The body was brought to Clanton by Mell Martin and prepared for burial. It was shipped Wednesday morning to the home of Mrs. Sanders at Brooklyn, Ala., Near Greenville.

Mrs. Sanders was a nurse who was trained at St. Margaret's. The cause of her death was cancer.

MT. PLEASANT NEWS

An entertainment was given by the Junior I and II classes at Mt. Pleasant Junior High School, in honor of the Junior III class, Friday night, January 31st at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Mastin. It was sponsored by the faculty of the school.

"IF NOBODY CARED"

This slogan was first adopted by an organization of mercy and charity in one of their drives for funds. It is not the purpose of raising funds that this article is written, but to place square before the people some facts pertinent to this issue. In setting forth facts we are asking you:

DO YOU CARE FOR YOUR HOME TOWN?

The subject today is one for serious consideration to every man, woman and child in Clanton and surrounding territory.

We believe in our town; we are a part of it; we love it. It is our HOME. Our pride and interest is for the WELFARE OF OUR PEOPLE. We believe in and subscribe to everything HELPFUL. We own and pay taxes on our homes, our automobiles and trucks, buildings and lands; we support the Churches and Schools. Our hands are not empty when disaster befalls our neighbors, and we hold near and dear to us their bonds of friendship; and oftimes these friends and neighbors "dip muffled oars and pass to the other side" and our duty and devotion give them the last respect to their final resting place.

Yes! We Care! We Are

THE INDEPENDENT MERCHANTS

Frankly speaking, our livelihood is centered in our business and you have helped us where we are today, and we have always been and still are grateful. But there seems to be more misapprehension on a part of our people to think we are not as good merchants as the chain store. To this we reply, You Are Wrong.

If any Independent merchant would have the effrontery to make demands of a customer such as the Chain Store employs continuously, the customer would be insulted, and rightly so.

Go to any Banker and ask him what represents the bulwark of this country. His reply will be

CONFIDENCE AND CREDIT

Ask the most successful financiers, the men who are in positions of great importance, and they will tell you the wheels of commerce would not turn a single day without Credit and Confidence. Yet, you are told by the Chain Store, "No credit"; "No Confidence."

The Independent Merchant, with years and years of experience in which he has proven his worthiness, is better prepared to serve his customers. The Independent Merchants grant credit and have confidence. Upon a personal request or a telephone call, they quickly respond by placing in YOUR HOME a variety of any of the BEST of merchandise manufactured, thereby rendering service of which the Chain Store is lacking.

We believe in you. That is why we extend confidence and credit. Let us go further, search out the truth. Take for example:

Our Schools. Did the Chain Store furnish anything to help build them? The Independent Merchant did. Our Churches. Did the Chain Store furnish any capital to help build them? The Independent Merchant did. Did the Chain Store do anything to help build our town and make it a pleasant place in which to live? The Independent Merchant did.

Did the Chain Stores build homes or furnish capital for building homes to those who were unable to own their own homes? The Independent Merchant did. Did the Chain Store build warehouses so the Farmer could store his cotton at a reasonable figure and not be compelled to allow his cotton exposed to the weather or force it on the market at its lowest price? The Independent Merchant did. Does the Chain Store buy the farmer's cotton when he is unable to find a market for it? The Independent Merchant does.

WHERE DO WE STAND?

Answer this question; give your SUPPORT and INFLUENCE where it belongs

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

Thorsby people were given a rare treat in the second number of Thorsby Institute Lyceum Course. A group of Hiwaiians put on a very interesting entertainment Monday night.

Most of us have but a dim idea of the apperance and customs of people from other lands. Although The Hawaiians Islands, 1,000 miles west of San Francisco, have long been under American government, the people have many ways and customs peculiar to themselves. The troupe consisting of four men and one woman were provided with a variety of instruments which they handled with the skill of masters, and they were so versatile that it seemed to make no difference whichone they were playing. There were different types of Ukelele, large and small, a distinctive Hawaiian musical instructments, invented there but later introduced in other parts of the world. Their music was for the most part in minor chords, with a moan or wail, but the rhythm and harmony were very effective and often beautiful. A notable feature of the playing of all members of the company seemed to affect the whole body and stimulate visible action which seemed to amuse the audience.

All had good voices which in both ensemble and solo work were of high class. Although each one could talk English their singing was mostly in Hawaiian, giving the entertainment something of a grand opera aspect. Mr. Vierra, the leader, had a wonderful bass voice, his wife, the lady in the company, has a sweet though rather light soprano voice. The second bass had a good voice; the first tenor, a rather large man with a bald head, not only had a regular Caruso voice of remarkable range, but physically seemed to be as agile as a cat. The second tenor had a remarkably sweet voice, and fitted well into the program.

A notable feature of the entertainment was a half hour lecture on Hawaii by Mrs. Vierra. With a splendid speaking voice, which must have been audible in all parts of the hall, she gave vivid pictures of Hawaii and its people. She had a pleasing stage presence, and her language indicated a classical English education. For its unique character, instructive information and pleasing variety, it was an entertainment one will not soon forget.

It has been said that "Half the world does not know how the other half lives." Rev. Each gave an illustrated lecture at the Congregational church Sunday night to a full house. His subject was, "Following the Axe, The Seine, The Shovel and The Plow." All familiar objects in a way, but very important where they become the main feature in industries by which thousands of people gain their living and support their families, and the recognition of the fact that "A Man's a Man for all That," and wherever he works he should have opportunity to cultivate the religious and spiritual side of his nature. The pictures vividly portrayed, and the lecture described activities in lumbering, fishing, mining and pioneer farming, together with the efforts of home missionaries to give religious advantages to these often migratory groups. Such lectures give an object lesson in the hard places and work men and women are called on to provide the necessary material for many of our great industries and the raw nature of the work if keeping abreast of civilization among them. The life of a home missionary and his family among such people is no more "flowery beds of ease" than the people themselves enjoy else there would be but little sympathetic co-operation, by which even in the midst of such rough surroundings foundations are laid deep and strong on which to build the community life of civilization.

Beginning next Sunday morning at Thorsby Congregational church, Miss Lucy Ayres, an ordained Congregational minister and a field worker, recommended by Rev. Knighton H. Bloom, D.D., Congregational superintendent of several states in the South East, will conduct for eight days a series of special meetings, to which the public is cordially invited. Rev. Each met Miss Ayres at Blue Ridge, N. C., last summer and speaks of her as a quiet, unassuming young woman, well versed in religious work.

Rev. J. W. Jones announces that next Sunday will be his regular preaching day, morning and evening, at the public school house.

Mrs. Ben Franklin, who has been ill for several months, is still "enjoying poor health," as Widow Bedott is made to say regarding Hezekiah, her husband, who had a lingering illness.

Mrs. G. F. Harper is entertaining as guests her two sisters, the Misses Carrie and Nannie Burke, of De Funiak Springs, Florida.

Mrs. R. R. Franklin will entertain the Y. W. A. at her home next Tuesday, February 11th.

Miss Elizabeth Robinson, who has been assisting at Thorsby Institute for the past month, returned to her home in Birmingham Tuesday.

Miss Helen C. Jenkins, who has been spending the past six weeks in New England in the interest of the Thorsby Institute, returned Tuesday.

Gresham Lowery, son of Rev. W. P. Lowery, who has been singing for various broadcasting stations in the West, is at home with his parents in Thorsby. Mr. Lowery spoke in chapel at T. I. Wednesday morning. Everybody at the Institute is glad to welcome him as a former student and graduate.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Gillam of Clanton were guests of Mrs. Richardson Sunday.

The people of Thorsby and vicinity will be pleased to learn that we are not to lose Mr. Alton A. Cox and his estimable wife from our community. As an assistant at the I. G. A. store for several months, Mr. Cox won a host of friends. On Wednesday of last week he bought out D. L. Ward's store. Under the new management the store has been completely renovated and will be opened for business on Saturday of this week with a complete line of groceries and an attractive Dry Goods department. It is planned that Mrs. Cox will give considerable time to the business. They have adopted the name of Alton A. Cox Cash and Carry Store. We feel confident that with the experience that Mr. Cox has had in the mercantile business, these young people will conduct a place worthy of patronage. We bid them God speed in their new venture.

We understand that Mr. D. L. Ward will now be at liberty to embark in a business for which he has long cherished a desire. As we have not learned of anything definite along this line, we await developments.

R. D. Gibbons tells us that he has made a change in the product served at his filling station, and is now the only station in Thorsby that handles Gulf gas and oil.

Mr. Madox was leader of the Christian Endeavor meeting last Sunday night. "How May Endeavorers Crusade with Christ?" was the topic discussed. Not many of the topics and questions were read; because of this fact the meeting was much more interesting. All of the young people who do not attend another society are cordially invited to come next Sunday.

Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Robinson and son spent Sunday with Mrs. T. W. Robinson. Mrs. Tom Robinson and son, Charles, are visiting Mrs. T. W. Robinson for a week.

Miss Dessie Robinson of Birmingham was a week end visitor here.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thorson of Waseca, Minn., left for Birmingham on Monday. They were accompanied by Mrs. A.E. Reagan and Grandpa Turnquist. The rest of the Turnquist, Foss and Bosworth family went up Thursday, where they will all celebrate Grandpa Turnquist's 81st birthday at another daughter's home in Fairfield, Ala.

Born on Friday, January 31st, a son, to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garrick. Congratulations.

EXPRESSION RECITAL AT VERBENA HIGH SCHOOL

The expression department of Verbena High School will have a recital Friday night, February 7th, under the direction of Miss Bernice Peoples. The public is cordially invited. Admission Free!

Miss Jessie Belle Spear had as her guests Sunday afternoon Miss Jewel Price, Miss Gulma Traywick, Miss Ruby Tucker and Miss Ednor Tucker, Miss Catherine Strength, and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Moore.

PLEASANT GROVE—JEMISON

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Miskelley had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Bill Davenport and little daughter, Lorine, of Macedonia, and Mr. and Mrs. Hermie Hodgens and children.

Mr. Euel Dawson and Mr. Will Clements were in Clanton Saturday morning on business. Also Mr. M. C. Childress was in Clanton.

Miss Laura Adair charmingly entertained a number of friends Saturday night; at a late hour sandwiches and hot chocolate were served.

Little Miss Myrtle Rogers, who has been staying with her aunt, at Piper, has returned home and started to school at Pleasant Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miskelley were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Franklin Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Popwell and children and Miss Eula Bell Williams visited the Franklins Sunday afternoon.

Sunday school is progressing nicely now. Mr. G. W. Spivey has been elected second assistant superintendent; Miss Gwendolyn Clements has been elected teacher of Class 5; and Miss Eloise Mae Rasco of Class 4, or the Junior Class. The topic for the B. Y. P. U. lesson Sunday night is "The Preservation of the Bible."

Bro. Bryan's Weekly Message

(Written for The Union-Banner by REV. J. A. BRYAN, Pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, Alabama)

GOD'S CALL

Friends, I wish you to study some verses of God's word with me this morning. In the 12th chapter of Genesis and the 1st verse God said to Abram, "Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will show thee." Ur of Chaldee and Babylon where the tower of Babel was erected was a distinctively heathen country. It was idolatrous absolutely turned over to idol worship from above the Euphrates River and above the location of the Garden of Eden, between the Euphrates and the Tigris rivers and beyond the Lebanon Mountains.

You know we can't limit the power of God. We have the same kind, loving, powerful, almighty God of today that came to Abram and called him from a heathen country unto a land which he would show him. I believe we are living to-day in the time of Isaiah, Jeremiah, Daniel, Ezekiel, and the time of Joshua crossing the Jordan with the host of Israelites and advancing to take the land of Canaan. Over and over again Joshua says that the Lord fought for his people.

When God called Abram and Sarai out of the Ur of the Chaldees He said, "Abram, get thee out of this idolatrous country with Sarai thy wife and go into a land which I will show thee," Abraham did not turn upon the Lord's call and say to him, "I would like first to see the land before I go." He knew that he could trust God with that little light he had. No, Abraham was not a man to question God's plan but instead he trusted God in that simple childlike faith.

It seems to me that God is calling to the church to-day saying, "Can't people jouney out of Ur of Chaldee into a land which I will show them?" What are we going to do about God's call? Abram unhesitatingly started out on the journey he knew not where. He came right on down by Damascus on that same road over which Saul of Tarsus traveled. Here he stopped and built an altar and called on the name of the Lord. That is, he was putting Christ first in his life by seeking closer fellowship with him. Surely there never was a time when you and I need more to call on the name of God than now. We need a deepening of our Spiritual lives by putting Christ and his church first in our lives.

The reason life is so hard for you and for me is that we are looking too much and stressed too greatly the material side of life. The judge, the merchant, the preacher, the business man sitting up late at night and pondering over the material side of life with great drops of sweat pouring down his forehead will never remedy a distressing situation. The distressing situation is really the lack of spiritual life by not putting Christ and the doings of Christ, His kingdom first in our lives. I fear greatly that the love of money and a life of ease in God's kingdom is taking the precedence of love for God and placing him second in many lives today. Yet it all belongs to God and we can have none of it only as he lets us. And when we make God second in our lives we violate the first commandment: Thou shalt have no other gods before me. O how dangeruos it is to love the material blessings which God gives us better than we love God, the giver.

There is too little communion, praying to God in our country and too much talking and criticism. We want the spiritual life of the church deepened. We need men, women, boys and girls who will lay down their lives for Christ. That is what we all need to be willing to do, and not until we are can we expect to help in the hastening of Christ's kingdom. I want to see the spiritual life of the church deepened and thereby souls saved for Jesus Christ. I want to see God working on the hearts of men and women.

Watch old king Balak and the wise seer Balaam and note how God worked on Balaam's heart. He made prophesy of the coming Messiah in such words as these: "I shall see Him, but not now: I shall behold Him, but not nigh: There came now a star out of Jacob, and a sceptre shall rise out of Israel, and shall smite the corners of Moab, and destroy all the children of Sheth." Balaam was really a missionary to the house of Israel by blessing them instead of listening to the devil in the person of Balak and persecuting them.

Now we are interested in missions and that very star of Jacob which God tell about through Balaam and which guided the Gentile world to Jesus Christ is yet guiding an eager seeking world to him. The Bible itself is a missionary book. Jesus Christ was a great missionary from heaven to earth. I often think about the fact that where would you and I have been had it not been for our Scotch ancestors who took God's word under their arms and walked to church to worship God. How thankful I am for those great missionaries for Jesus Chist.

One of the prophets said that a fountain would be opened to the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem for sin and uncleaness. That fountain was none other than Jesus Christ himself. He is the great missionary who cleansed the hearts and lives of the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. He it is who sends forth missionaries in his cause. There are more missionaries today in Jerusalem than there are Jews. It is a mistake to say there are more Jews than any other nationalities in Jerusalem because other nationalities out number the Jews there. Yet it is a city set on a hill on that old hiatoric road north and south through Jerusalem holding within its walls all the history of Judah from the time of David's exile. And so in its rebuilding think of Malachi and Joel pleading for a most earnest worship within its bounds then think of it in the days of the New Testament how Jesus Christ the great missionary there pled for more worship to the heavenly father.

In the 7th chapter of 2nd Chronicles and the 14th verse God says, "If my people which are called by my name shall humble themselves and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways: then will I hear from heaven." When the child of God humbleth himself in prayer and works God has promised to hear and answer them from heaven. God also in that chapter says unto the house of Israel and to us, "I have chosen and sanctified my house that my name may be there forever: and mine eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually." God was and is seeking to be enquired of by his people.

Even the angels in heaven are missionaries. When the angel came to the frightened shepherds on the hillsides of Bethlehem they were missionaries announcing the birth of Christ. They said, "Fear not, for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day a Savior which is Christ the Lord." God so loved the world that He gave His only Son, this blessed Jesus to die on Calvary for our salvation of sin.

Jesus Christ must be represented by the church of which He is truly the head. God so loved the world He gave His first great missionary who has left us an example for such a life in him. He has moved with compassion when He looked upon the multitude as sheep without a shepherd. That is they were faint and tired and ready to give up because life's burden was too great for them. My friends, thousands of people are just like that today. It is all on the account of sin.

The church today has the greatest call it has ever had. But, if I sit up with my ears closed and never hear God's call I am an unworthy, unprofitable servant. In the last of the gospel according to Matthew Christ says to us, "Go ye forth and teach all the nations, baptising them in the name of the Father and the Son, and of the Holy Ghost." Christ did not teach those immediately around you but he said, "Go ye and teach all nations."

A little Scotch girl once wrote a letter to the dear Lord Jesus. She placed it in a stamped envelope and addressed it to Mr. Lord Jesus, Heaven. The postman looked amazed and perplexed at the address. He opened it in the presence of his wife and read its contents of this effect: "Dear Lord Jesus: We have a nice little church building and quite a good many poeople come to it to worship thee. But Dear Jesus there are so many who do not come. Send them to worship with us because we want all the people everywhere saved. Dear Jesus I want to be more faithful myself that others may see that I live like Thee. I close this letter with much love. Your servant Mary. How we do so much need to commune in like manner as that little girl with the dear Lord Jesus.

To be successful the farmer must become master of his own industry, master of it all the way from the time he buys seeds, feeds, and fertilizer to produce raw material on through the stages of grading, processing and marketing in the most finished form the farm can turn out, is the view of Edward A. O'Neal, President of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation.

There are now more than 12,000 cooperative organizations handling over two billion dollars worth of business. Farmers and business men must realize that the great need for the organization of agriculture. We talk about it and think about it and great advances have been made and wonderful accomplishments. Yet, we are just at the beginning. Through organization our efficiency can be multiplied many times. One of our great leaders in agriculture has said that there is a possibility of 800 per cent in the productive power of our farmers. I have seen this done myself.

BEST FERTLIZER FOR COTTON STATED

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 3—To enable Alabama farmers to use ready mixed fertilizer in approximating the Auburn method of fertilizing their cotton the Alabama Experiment Station has made certain modifications in the Auburn method and the Alabama Farm Bureau, adhering to its policy of keeping up with improved fertilizer methods, has announced that it will distribute to the farmers the necessary ingredients to follow the modified method.

The new recommendation is not meant to discourage home-mixing but is merely a substitution of same for farmers who use ready-mixed goods. Home-mixing has been quite satisfactory, and farmers who home-mix will profit by continuing this practice.

How to Mix Fertilizer for Cotton

Use 400 pounds 16 per cent Super-Phosphate, (acid), 50 pounds of nitrate of soda or 40 pounds of sulphate of ammonia, 50 pounds muriate of potash, on each acre under seed. Apply 150 pounds of nitrate of soda or nitrate of lime at first cultivation after chopping—apply before any squares appear.

How To Mix—Mix thoroughly just before planting 8 sacks (200 pound size) phosphate, 1 sack (200 pound) nitrate of soda or 150 pounds sulphate of ammonia, 1 (200 pound) sack muriate of potash on clean hard ground or floor with hoes and shovels. For mixing smaller lot, cut the above amounts half.

How To Apply—Use 500 pounds mixture per acre under seed and side dress at the time above stated with 150 pounds nitrate of soda or nitrate of lime per acre. Run shovel or scooter ahead of planter to mix fertilizer with soil.

How To Use Ready-Mixed Goods and Follow Auburn Recommendations

Prof. Funchess makes the following recommendations to the farmers using ready mixed goods and wishing to follow the Auburn plan:

"Those farmers who use a ready mixed fertilizer under their cotton and later apply a side dressing, may approximate the present Auburn method by using a 12-2. 5-5 (2.5 per cent nitrogen of 3 per cent ammonia) fertilizer under their cotton and side dressing of 30 pounds of each 100 pounds of 12-2. 5-5 fertilizer applied before planting their cotton. to approximate the so-called Auburn maximum, there would need to be applied before planting 500 pounds of 12-2. 5-5 fertilizer followed by 150 pounds of nitrate of soda or nitrate of lime as a side dressing. The minimum may be approximated by applying 250 pounds of 12-2. 5-5 fertilizer before planting and following this with 75 pounds of nitrate of soda or nitrate of lime as a side dressing.

Lincoln Tribute

Commemorating a famous forensic battle seventy-three years ago. A bronze statue of Abraham Lincoln unveiled at Freeport, Ill., scene of the Lincoln-Douglas debate on August 27, 1858.

Out of the mists of the past the majestic figure of Abraham Lincoln, the debater, emerged in bronze, on August 27, last, to take its rightful place in Freeport, the city which he made a landmark in American history in his memorable debate with Stephen A. Douglas, August 27, 1858.

In the presence of a throng far in excess of the 15,000 people who crowded into Freeport seventy-one years before, an heroic statue of Abraham Lincoln was unveiled in that city. The great crowd that made its pilgrimage to Freeport on that occasion was unlike that of seventy-one years before. Then the greater part were farmers and plain folk agitated over the issue of slavery, which they came to hear clarified. Last year the throng came to pay tribute to the greatness of Lincoln.

Of particular interest was a venerable group of men and women whose enviable distinction was that they had heard one or more of the debates between Lincoln and Douglas in the summer and fall of 1858. Also conspicuous in the group of distinguished visitors was an official delegation from the legislature of Wisconsin, then in session, which unanimously adopted a resolution to send a delegation to the unveiling.

The statue, which is a gift to Freeport by W. T. Raleigh, prominent manufacturer, is the first statue of its kind and the first one to mark one of the seven debate spots of the Lincoln-Douglas campaign. It represents Lincoln in the earlier period of life, before he wore a beard and when in his strong mid-manhood. It stands in a natural setting of trees in Taylor park.

IN MEMORIAM

On December 23, 1929, the last remains of Mrs. Martha J. Adams, wife of Judge S. M. Adams, were laid to rest in their family lot in the Clanton cemetery.

She was the daughter of Elijah Whatley, a prominent and respected citizen of Perry County, and was born August 9, 1845. Early in life the providence that directs the life of we mortals, destined that she should meet with Judge Adams, who like herself was young in years and just laying a firm foundation for the long, checkered and useful career that has been his. Their acquaintance soon developed into that tender sentiment of love that was pure and true enough to last through the long, long years that have elapsed and that even seemed to burn with a brighter and holier rediance as life's sinking sun fades away in twilight that ushered in the shades of that last final night.

Several years ago this most devoted wife and mother suffered an accident that made of her a cripple, but with a fortitude that was sublime she sat day after day and year after year in her rolling chair, while the radiance of that wonderful love and devotion never wavered, but she remains to the end that same devoted, sacrificing wife and mother as ever.

Mrs. Adams left behind her her husband, Judge S. M. Adams; a son, Mr. Enoch Adams of Thorsby, a sister, Mrs. C. V. Heath of Clanton, besides other relatives broadly scattered over the country.

Judge and Mrs. Adams have buried in their lot here three children—one son, Dr. J. B. Adams, two daughters, Mrs. Leila Hester, wife of T. J. Hester; and Lillie Adams.

The body of the faithful mother is sleeping with these loved ones here while her spirit has gone to visit them in that eternal home beyond the skies and, no doubt, they are looking forward to the time when those left behind arrive over there— and what a glorious family reunion that will be in that "beautiful city not built with hands, eternal in the skies."—A Friend.

UNCLE WASH POWELL SUCCUMBS TO ILLNESS IN BLOCTON FRIDAY

Former Chilton Citizen Buried At West Blocton Sunday

Older residents of Chilton County were grieved to learn of the death last Friday morning of Uncle Wash Powell of West Bloction, Ala. Mr. Powell, at the ripe old age of 76, passed away at his home, and was buried in the Bloction cemetery Sunday at 11 o'clock. Uncle Lige Parrish, Aunt Mat Mims, J. W. P. Murphy, Uncle Tom Powell and others went from here to the funeral.

Mr. Powell, who has been known here as Uncle Wash for the past several years, was born and raised in Chilton County, a brother of Tom J. Powell of Concord, who is the only surviving brother. There are no sisters left. Mr. Powell has one son and two daughters Willie Powell of Ensley, Mrs. Greeley Stamps of Birmingham and Mrs. Ruperd Bearden of West Blocton.

Wash Powell was a noted singer in his day. Back thirty years ago when "Sowing Precious Seed by the way," was new Uncle Wash Powell could more than make it ring. And to say that he enjoyed it doesn't half express it. A good old gospel singer has gone to his reward.

WORK PROGRESSING ON HIGHWAY TO ROCKFORD

There has been so much rain this winter that the grading on the highway from near Verbena to Rockford has been greatly retarded; but for the past few weeks the work has been pushed on rapidly. Two steam shovels are now employed on the job, and the grading is now in progress on the big hill just west of Corinth church. We understand that the grading on the Coosa side of the river is completed and the camps have been removed. The graveling crew will go to work on the east side of the river within a few weeks.

The new road will be opened for traffic from the cement highway to Corinth church within a few days; but it will be impassable during rainy weather until the fresh dirt gets settled down and graveled.

We understand that the county will grade and build an improved road from near Carinth church on to Mitchell Dam. The Power Comany is making some improvements on the road inside their camp reservation at Mitchell Dam.

Two Are Victims of Shooting Affray

A shooting affray in which John Headley is said to have used a shot gun Sunday night resulted in Luther Mims and Vernie Smith getting some bird shot in the back and sides of their heads. Neither of the boys were badly injured, however, they went to the hospital to have the shot picked out and the wounds dressed.

Luther Mims is the son of Johnnie Mims near Mastin's poultry farm, and Vernie Smith is the son of Tom Jeff Smith of the same community. The boys are about 17 years old. The boys were shot near the home of John Headley, who lives near Mr. Mims.

Headley was arrested early Monday morning charged with assault and attempt to murder. He was released on bond.

NEGROES ARRESTED AT VERBENA

Deputy Champion of Verbena brought in Hubie McCall and Julius Chatman Sunday night and placed them in jail. McCall was charged with driving a car while intoxicated, and Chatman was charged with public drunkenness. One of them made bond and the other remains in jail.

The negroes are said to have run their car into another car on the cement highway near Verbena.

ARRESTED FOR PUBLIC DRUNKENESS

Chief of police, Boockholdt arrested Odis Jones in Clanton Tuesday afternoon, charged with public drunkenness. Jones was turned over to Sheriff Collins. He was placed in jail and later released on bond.

REEDIE TAYLOR OPERATED ON

Mr. Reedie Taylor was operated on in a Montgomery hospital four or five days ago. Late reports say that he is getting along nicely. We join the many friends of the young man in wishing him a speedy and complete recovery.

SHOOTING SCRAPE AT COTTON MILL SATURDAY NIGHT

About 9 o'clock last Saturday night a young man by the name of Morton Tyus, was shot by another young man named Reedie Traywick. A 32 caliber pistol was said to have been used; the bullet entered Tyus's throat just below the collar bone and came out on his back. The bullet is said to have gone between the jugular vein and the guzzle.

Tyus, the son of Hall Tyus, was rushed to the Central Alabama Hospital, where he is said to be resting fairly well. Sheriff Collins was called and brought Traywick to jail, where he is lodged awaiting developments of the victim. Traywick is the son of Ben Traywick of Highland community.

WHERE DO THEY ALL GO

Have you ever thought about how many different cities and towns The Union-Banner is mailed out to? Ever so often somebody comes into the office and gets to talking on this subject, and nearly every one of them asks the question: "Where do they all go?"

VISITOR TO CLANTON GETS IN TROUBLE

A rather suspicious looking character came up to Chief Boockholdt on the streets Tuesday afternoon and began talking. The man, of about middle age, looked like there was something wrong, and finally Boockholdt found that he was drinking rather heavily and told him he would have to straighten up if he staid in Clanton. The man said he was on his way to Birmingham, but he did not leave. His next appearance was in Cleve Headley's barber shop where it seems that he went to apply for work as a barber and incidently fell in love with Cleve's necktie and tried to buy it for fifteen cents. When he was refused both work and tie, he began to get a little rough and Boockholdt was called. He took charge of the man who gave his name as E. H. Taylor, on his way from Montgomery to his home in Birmingham.

With quite a bit of trouble Taylor was carried to the jail and turned over to Sheriff Collins. He is now in jail charged with public drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

DRY APPROPRIATION IS KEPT IN SENATE BILL

Washington, Feb. 10.—The $33,000,000 appropriation for prohibition enforcement was maintained in the treasury department appropriations bill reported today by the Phipps appropriations committee.

Days of the senate last year succeeded in raising the appropriation decided to make no effort to alter the present appropriation in view of the proposed transferal of enforcement from the treasury to the justice department.

The trasfer bill passed the house late Saturday and will be taken to the senate today. No extensive hearings are planned. It will be referred to the judiciary committee, controlled by drys, and probably reported for the consideration in the same form in which it passed the house.

Home Economics Present Plays

There will be two home economics plays staged at Isabella high school auditorium February 15th at 7:30 o'clock. The two plays are titled: "Doughnuts," and "Yes, we have no Baking Powder."

Come and enjoy the plays. Kitchen band and old Home Songs pantoimed. Admission 15c and 25c.

The proceeds from the play will go to the home economics department. Come, let's enjoy the evening laughing, and have lots of fun.

Husbands of wives are especially invited to come see why they have stomach ache sometimes.

MAYOR'S COURT MONDAY

In Mayor's Court in Clanton Monday of this week, the following cases were disposed of:

Oscar Miner, disorderly conduct, fined $25 and costs.

Henry Sawyer, negro, assault, given $10 and cost and 60 days labor for the Town.

MRS. W. M. COX DIED AT MITCHELL DAM TUESDAY

Mrs. Nancy Belle Cox, age 47, wife of W. M. Cox of Mitchell Dam, died Tuesday morning at 1 o'clocvk. The remains were buried Wednesday a.m. at 11 o'clock at Chestnut Creek cemetery, Coopers.

Mrs. Cox has been in very bad health for the past several months, and death must have come as a glorious relief to her much suffering. She is survived by her husband and three or four children.

FORD CAR PRODUCTION THIRD OF U. S. TOTAL

Nearly every third passenger car, truck and taxicab produced in the United States last year was a Ford. The industry as a whole produced 5,358,361 units in 1929, according to official figures compiled by the United States Chamber of Commerce. Ford production in the United States was 1,709,945 cars and trucks.

C. A. C. BOYS DEFEAT THE MONTGOMERY TEAM 32-10

The Clanton Athletic Club boys basket ball team snowed the Montgomery Teachers under with a 32 to 10 score at Maddox Warehouse last Tuesday night. The score at the end of the first quarter was 4 to 2, Clanton; at the half it was 18 to 4, Clanton. Here several substitutes were put in for Clanton. These played most of the third quarter, and held the Montgomery team scoreless, but made only 2 points themselves. The "wrecking crew" was put in again in furr force in the last quarter; the Montgomery team took advantage of a little careless passing in the last quarter to run their score to 10, while Clanton was adding 12 points to their column.

The Montgomery outfit showed a hard-scrapping bunch, but were simply playing out of their class. That Clanton team is really good in any company and their pass work is about as nearly perfect as they get. Time after time Clanton took the ball from the tip-off through the goal without an opponent's hand being on it. Besides being good at the goals, and near perfect pass work, the Clanton club boasts one of the fastest teams on anybody's court. In short, they possess speed, machine-like pass work, and keen eyes for the goal, and as one would naturally expect, these three make for a winning combination. It would be hard to pick a star from the game Tuesday night. Each man just looked like a perfect machine.

One of the smallest crowds that has come out was in attendance on Tuesday night. Let's back the locals. They are a gang any town would be proud to boast as its representative on the court.

COMMITTEE APPROVES SELECTION OF HUGHES

Senate Expected To Endorse Nomination For Supreme Court

Washington, Feb. 10.—The nomination of Charles Evans Hughes to be chief justice of the supreme court was approved, 10 to 2, by the senate judiciary committee today.

Chairman Norris, Republican, Nebraska, and Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, voted against Hughes.

The action virtually assures Hughes confirmation by the senate.

The only important protest against confirmation was filed by Henry L. Doherty, millionaire oil man of New York, head of the Cities Service Corp.

Doherty charged in a letter to Chairman Norris that Hughes' appointment "will lead to disintegration of the court."

Faulkner and Long Face Court Charges

Former Shelby Officers will be Returned to Birmingham from Federal Prison

Curtis J. Falkner, former sheriff and James L. Long, former deputy of Shelby county, who are serving sentences in federal prisons following their envictions last year on charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws, were to be returned to Birmingham Wednesday to face charges of violations of the narcotic acts.

Hassell C. Moss, arrested with Falkner and Long, also will face trial.

The three were arrested in Birmingham with a quantity of narcotics valued at more than $1,000 after Falkner and Long had been convicted on prohibition charges and while they were under bond awaiting sentence.

Falkner and Long were each sentenced to two years on prohibition charges. Falkner was sent to Chillicothe, Ohio, while Long went the federal prison at Atlanta.

"Are you going?" "Sure, I'm going! I want to see that red-headed country boy—Obadiah Stump." Don't you?

THIRTY-TWO ARRESTED IN ALABAMA LIQUOR RAIDS

67 Stills Destroyed by State Prohi Officers, Report Says.

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 11.—State law enforcement officers Tuesday reported that prohibition raids over the week end had resulted in the arrest of 32 persons and destruction of 67 stills in seven Alabama counties.

Dr. and Mrs. N. I. Wood had as their dinner guests Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Camthorne and daughter, Miss Marguerite Camthorne of Ensley, Mrs. E. H. Richards of Memphis, Tennessee, Mrs. J. E. Hawkins, Central Park Birmingham, and Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Wood and son, Frank of Thorsby.

J. M. (TUG) WILLIS ANNOUNCES FOR SHERIFF

And, the reason why he is putting himself up for this important place, is not to just be against the other fellow, but because he wants to be Sheriff of Chilton County. And that if he gets it, he expects to get it on his man, without any flim-flaming and slanging. And my policy is, said Mr. Willis, equal rights to all and especial favors to none.

Mr. Willis said in making his announcement for Sheriff that he fully realized the responsibility that he had upon his shoulders. Because he has had some experience along that line himself. He held post No. 1 as guardsman at the Warior Steam Plant under the supervision of the Government and Alabama Power Company in time of the World War. He also has had quite a bit of experience with the Alabama Turpentine Company, handling convicts for Mr. T. L. Smith, as well as with the Sheriff and Commissioners.

At any rate, if the good people of Chilton County see fit to give him the nomination for Sheriff he will make every effort to win in the general election, and should he be the winner there, he will not let his people fall down on what they do for him, for he thinks he is fully able to handle the office with credit to his people and to himself. Mr. Willis said to tell the people that he would express himself more fully on the duties of a sheriff in the near future. Mr. Willis said not to forget to tell the people that he was born in Tallapoosa County, in 1880, and came to Stumps Hills with his father at 6 years of age, and has counted himself a Stumps Hillian ever since.

My record will show as to my politics. I voted independent up until 1914, 16 years ago. I have voted a Republican ticket ever since, and the reason why I did so was for the simple reason that it was the best for my people and for myself, said Mr. Willis.

ROBERT H. BEAN

We are called upon to record another distinct loss to Collins Chapel and vicinity in the death of Mr. Robet Bean, who passed away Monday morning, February 3rd, aged 56, at his home in Collins Chapel community.

Mr. Bean was an endefatigable worker in his chosen line. But withal he did not neglect his family or duties to society.

He was an ardent Christian man, and devoted church member, interested in all good religious and school activities, and kindly offices among his neighbors.

He was a master worker in whatever he undertook.

A touching incident is related by the family who saw in his sick room the implements he had used so long. His papers, glasses, tobacco, etc. just as he might leave them when called from the room.

He was a man who made and kept friends who respected him for sterling entegrity, kindly spirit and a life of service. Seldom has a larger out pouring of the people of Collins Chapel and the community together with friends and relatives from Birmingham, Wetumpka, and many other places, that assembled to pay their last respects to him last Tuesday morning.

The floral offerings were profuse and very beautiful. Funeral services were held at New Salem Church. Rev. Appleton officiating, assisted by Rev. Jones of Thorsby.

A quartet choir consisting of Miss Genie Collins, Mrs. Ernest Porter, Mrs. Gerald Hubbard and Mr. Akins Collins, and others whose names I did not get. Mrs. Akins Collins furninshed the music. Burial was in New Salem cemetery. Mr. Martin director.

He leaves a widow; five daughters; Mrs. Clyde Meade, Thorsby; Miss Jewel Bean, Birmingham; Miss Pauline, Henrietta and Lotus. One son, Horace; two sisters and four brothers to mourn his loss.

JUDGE DICKINSON OF AUTAUGA OUT FOR STATE SENATE

Judge John A. Dickinson of Prattville was in Clanton Tuesday on his was up into Shelby County to do some canvassing. Judge Dickinson is now in the race for the Democratic nomination for the State Senate from the Fifteenth Senatorial District.

Among other things Judge Dickinson said: "I am going to make the fight to a finish for the State Senate, and I believe with the help of my many friends I will come out on top. Tell the Chilton voters that I am depending on them."

Mrs. W. M. Wyatt and Mrs. Jean Wyatt went to Birmingham Wednesday. They were accompanied by G. D. Retherford.

PRESIDENT HOOVER AND PARTY FISHING OFF FLORIDA KEYS

Party Enjoying Splendid Vacation and Good Fishing

Long Key, Fla., Feb. 10.—President Hoover's fishing party arrived at 6:20 a. m. today. It was still dark when the chief executive's train rolled into the station and the Hoover party remained on board for some time before detraining. Breakfast had been prepared for the presidential party abord the houseboat "Saunterer," which, for the next week will be the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hoover and their party.

A group of vacationists greeted the presidental train on arrival here. Officers of the "Saunterer" and "Kilkenny," commerce department houseboat, which will carry Laurence Richep, Hoover's secretary and other members of Hoover's party forecast a clear day to inaugurate the president's fishing vacation.

TAFT'S CONDITION IS REPORTED IMPROVED

William Howard Taft is gaining strength steadily and improvement in his condition was announced by his physicians Tuesday.

Dr. Francis R. Hagner said after his morning visit that the former chief justice ate a good breakfast, is gaining strength and is in better condition than at any time since his return from Asheville last Tuesday.

Altho the former justice is not regarded as out of danger, physicians appeared encouraged regarding his condition. He is able to sit in a chair for a few minutes each day and his appetite seems to be increasing.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY GETS 263 PROHIBITION INDICTMENTS

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 7.—With the 92 indictments involving 232 persons returned Friday by the federal grand jury, a record of 263 alleged violators of the prohibition laws were indicted.

The grand jury also made it hot for thieves. Thirty persons were indicted for grand larceny. Remembering what Judge McCord admonished them about indicting vagrants the jury brought seven true bills against loafers.

In murder indictments two were against women, Mrs. Mattie Holley and Mrs. Bertha Ellison. The Former is charged with killing a negro, John Ellis, while Mrs. Ellison must answer to a charge of drowning her eight months old daughter, Eleanor Mae Gardner.

J. D. Teal New Nettles Manager

The local store of the Netties Grocery Company has recently undergone a change in management. Mr. J. D. Teal, a young man of Montgomery has been placed in charge of the Clanton store.

Mr. Teal knows his groceries, as the saying goes, as he has been connected with the Nettles firm in Montgomery for seven or eight years. He is a young unmarried man with broad experience in the management of grocery businesses, and his winning personality will certainly make for him lots of friends and customers in Clanton and Chilton County. We welcome Mr. Teal in our midst.

Mr. T. L. Lowery, former manager of the Cdanton store, goes from here to the Nettles Store in West End, Montgomery, the same place which Mr. Teal left to come to Clanton.

JIMMIE TAYLOR MARRIED TO MISS LILLA HEFLIN FEB. 5

A recent marriage of much interest was that of Mr. Jimmie Taylor to Miss Lilla Heflin, both of Clanton.

They young couple was united in the holy bonds of wedlock by Rev. J. W. Jones at his home in Thorsby.

Their many friends extend congratulations and best wishes.

STATE CAPITOL News

According to S. H. Blan, State Auditor, early indications are that poll tax collections this year will fall below anticipations, and will fall below the collections of the last election year, which was 1928.

In 1928, toward the close of January, many tax collectors over the State wrote or wired the Auditor's office for extra poll tax books. This year only two counties made requisition for more than their usual supply, these counties being Mobile and Dallas, where poll tax payments were heavy.

Poll tax payments closed on February 1st, and the tax collectors are required by law to have their poll tax books returned to the State Auditor by February 15th. The State Auditor then checks these books to verify their correctness from a monetary standpoint. He then sends the poll tax books to the Probate Judge of the respective counties for filing and reference there.

While the State is put to considerable expense in printing and distributing the poll tax books and checking the same, the State does not keep any of the poll tax money. Every dollar of the same is certified to the State Department of Education, to be returned to the county where the tax was paid, to be used for school purposes there.

According to information from the State Department of Agriculture, farmers in South Alabama have already made their plans for the 1930 crop of cotton, and other crops. In North Alabama the freezing weather and heavy snows have delayed the prepartions for spring plowing, while in Middle Alabama plowing has been started but has been delayed by recent heavy rains.

The present price of cotton is not encouraging to increased acreage for 1930, and farm economists are encouraging decreased acreage. Last year was a record year for fertilizer application in Alabama, and it is hardly likely that this record will be again broken in 1930, especially when the low price of the staple is considered. A high price for cotton might stimulate an increased acreage, but the cotton market is slow and draggy and has even dropped well below the Federal loan limit of 15.64 cents per pound for middling seven-eights inch basis. The big farm question in Alabama naturally revolves around cotton, since of the ewelve principal crops in this state cotton is nearly equal to the other eleven.

Safe farming, as outlined by the Department of Agriculture, means the production of cotton as a cash crop, with the farmer raising enough to eat and feed in addition, so that he cannot suffer if cotton is low. At present, it was stated, many farmers are in want because the price of cotton is below cost of production to most farmers.

The Department also advises farmers to produce cotton on their best land, to avoid wet bottoms and also hilly soils that need constant terracing and to plant on fairly level lands that will hold fertilizer and admit building up. The total cost per acre of producing cotton is given at $34.72, and it is pointed out that a large yield and a good price are needed to make cotton raising profitable. If land will not average at least one-third of a bale per acre, it cannot produce cottoon at a profit, the department states.

Governor Bibb Graves in a recent address broadcast from station WAPI paid tribute to the radio as an agency which is contributing to the rebuilding of the family circle by making home life more enjoyable. The Governor pointed out that while other modern inventions have tended to disrupt home life, the radio keeps the family by their own hearthstone. The Governor's address featured the observance of the first anniversary of the establishment of the broadcasting station at the State Department of Agriculure. The Chief Executive urged Alabamians to have confidence in themselves and the future of their state and not to be depressed by temporary unfavorable economic conditions.

Lesson for February 16

JESUS HEALING AND HELPING

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 8:1-9:34.

GOLDEN TEXT—Himself took our infirmities and bore our sicknesses.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Healing and Helping.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Healing and Helping.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus the Friend of the Needy.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Meeting Human Needs.

I. Jesus Heals a Leper (8:1-4).

1. The dreadful disease (v. 2).

Leprosy, the most loathsome and hopeless disease known, in the Jewish ritual, was regarded as a symbol of sin. As leprosy was incurable by man, so only the divine physician could cure sin.

2. The leper's faith (v. 2).

His cry was most pitiable, but his faith was strong. He fully believed that Jesus was able, but not certain that He was willing to heal him.

3. Jesus' power (v. 3).

He put forth His hand and touched the leper, bidding the disease depart, and instantly the man was cleansed.

II. Jesus Heals the Centurion's Servant (8:5-13).

1. The disease (v. 6).

The victim of paralysis is helpless and disqualified for service.

2. The centurion's humility (v. 8).

He first sent the Jewish elders and then his friends (Luke 7:3, 6), because he felt his unworthiness. The case of this servant was so grave that his master brushed aside his timidity and personally appealed to Jesus.

3. The centurion's faith (vv. 8, 9).

He believed that if Jesus would but speak the word, his servant would be healed.

4. The wonderful power of Jesus (v. 13).

He did not need even to see the helpless man, but only to speak the word and it was done.

III. Jesus Heals Peter's Mother-in-law (8:14, 15).

She was sick of a fever. Jesus was invited into Peter's home to heal this woman. Upon entering the home He touched the hand of the patient and the fever left her, and she arose and ministered unto them.

IV. Jesus Casts Out Demons (8:28-34).

After stilling the tempest, Jesus crossed to the other side of the sea into heathen territory.

1. Met by two men possessed by demons (v. 28).

These men were in a desperate condition (see Mark 5:1-17 and Luke 8:27). So fierce were they that no one could safely pass that way. They wore no raiment and no chains were strong enough to hold them.

2. What they knew about Christ (v. 29).

They knew that He was the Son of God and that He had come to destroy the devil and his work. Among the demons there is no doubt as to the deity of Jesus Christ and as to the judgment to come.

3. Christ's power to deliver from the devil (vv. 30-32).

The demons quailed before Him, not daring to dispute His power.

V. Jesus Heals a Woman With an Issue of Blood (9:20-22).

1. Her helpless condition (v. 20).

She had been a great sufferer for twelve long years, not only from the disease, but at the hands of the physicians (Mark 5:26).

2. Her faith (v. 21).

Her faith was so strong that she believed contact with the Master's garment would secure needed help.

3. Her confession (v. 21, cf. Luke 8:47).

She thought secretly to get the blessing, but Jesus perceived that virtue had gone out from Him, and had her make a public confession.

4. Christ's words of encouragement (v. 22).

He told her that it was her faith, not her touch that saved her.

VI. Jesus Opening the Eyes of Two Blind Men (9:27-31).

1. Their persistence of faith (v. 28).

These poor men had heard of the wonderful works of Jesus and desired to be healed.

2. The intelligence of faith (v. 27).

They cried unto Him as the Son of David, which showed that they recognized Him as the promised Messiah. The prophet had foretold such to be the works of Messiah (Isa. 29:18; 35:5; 42:7).

3. The challenge of faith (v. 28).

In reply to His challenge, they gave Him a definite answer.

4. The triumph of faith (vv. 29, 30).

Their faith brought them into touch with the Lord of life who revealed His power by opening their eyes.

Heroes and Cowards

Great occasions do not make heroes or cowards; they simply unveil them to the eyes of men. Silently and imperceptibly, as we wake or sleep, we grow and wax strong, we grow and wax weak, and at last some crisis shows us what we have become.—Canon Westcott.

Faith

Faith is an almighty thing like the Eternal God Himself; therefore God seeks to prove and try it.—Luther.

WEST CHILTON

We welcome Friday with its bright days, so different from the big freezes and snows of January.

The severe weather of the past month put quite a check in farm operations in this part.

We note there is one consolation for the defeated candidates this year. That is they need not feel lonesome because there will be so many of them.

With regret we learned of the death of Robert H. Bean. We believe every rural school in Chilton County should honor the birthday of Robert Bean. He was a devoted friend of the rural schools. In fact that was the keynote of his campaign when elected to a place on the Board of Education.

We learn that the son of Jeseph Smith Sr. near Randolph, is quiete ill with pneumonia.

L. G. Posey has erected a new filling station at his residence.

Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Crumpton of Beat 2 came down Saturday afternoon to visit their son and daughter.

Rev. Dyer of Randolph filled his appointment of preaching at Union Springs. Preaching a good sermon those in attendance report.

We like the keynote of Mr. J. H. Martin's campaign "A commissioner on the west side of his district." Indeed it looks right for the district to consult and respect each other's needs, and each district should consider the wishes of the different parts of his own territory.

Here in West Chilton we have never had but 2 commissioners in our history. Not withstanding we have people qualified to fill the place. But our people are averse to holding office. They shrink from its responsibilities. In fact, are not office seekers.

Mr. L. G. Posey is moving his saw mill from near Jemison to the Allen Chapman place east of Oakley. Mr. Clyde Atchison will run the mill, and has moved his family from Jemison over east of Ashley.

We are informed that Mrs. E. G. Cofer, who is visiting her daughter in Birmingham is quite low.

A letter from a friend in the North considered it a rare privilege to listen to King George of England on the radio. The same privilege was enjoyed by Mr. John S. Waldrop and probably others in West Chilton. Hence the evidence that we are living in a new world. A new dispensation. A new era. "Can'st thou send lightnings, that they may go, and say unto thee, here we are?"

UNION GROVE

The sniging was opened by the President, Mr. Akins Collins. Prayer by Mr. P. M. Martin.

Directors were Messrs. Enoch Traywick, A. H. Glass, Floyd Little, Lorenza Sanders and Jasper Ooaks.

Organists were Miss Genie Collins, Mrs. Belle Dorminey and Miss Jessie Dorminey.

The singing society meets with Mineral Springs next Thursday night February 13.

The singing is called off at Collins Chapel next Sunday afternoon on account of the all-day singing at Calera.

On the fourth Sunday afternoon the United Singing Society will meet at Jemison and will go to Providence, northwest of Jemison on the second Sunday afternoon in March.

Please remember places and dates as the singing is changed to different places at different times so we can keep up with the singing by watching the paper.

Give the chicks starting mash on paper or cardboard when they are 36 to 48 hours old. The all-mash starter is preferred.—H. R. Bailey.

YOUTHFULNESS and BEAUTY are dependent upon a strong body—firm flesh—a clear skin

NOTHING is more beautiful, more inspiring, more glorified than the supreme manifestation of Nature in the human body. Those sparkling eyes, that clear skin, that firm flesh, and that vigor of action denoting vitality, bespeak loveliness and internal healthfulness.

The why of a clear skin

A clear, smooth, lovely skin speaks of rich, red blood within. It is Nature's outward reflection of internal healthfulness.

Men and women, both, justly covet admiration and all may expect such satisfaction to its fullest extent if they are the possessors of a clear, unblemished skin.

If you are unfortunate in this respect you owe it to yourself and friends to remove the cause. Nature will then provide the complexion which is so much desired.

More important still, strong healthy blood nourishes the body and fights against infection and disease.

S.S.S. THE GREAT BLOOD TONIC SINCE 1826

Loss of strength flabby flesh and skin eruptions are but a few of the symptoms of a deeper and more dangerous trouble—a lack of the normal count of red-cells in the blood.

And so, is it not our birthright to be masters over our own bodies? To be sure not much is said openly about personal handicaps—skin blemishes—sallow complexion—poor health—but secretly they influence many important affairs.

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of skin blemishes, lack of appetite, flabby flesh and loss of energy as an indication that the body's power of resistance is low—that there is a deficiency of red-blood-cells.

This is why so many thousands, seeking youthfulness and beauty, have taken a course of S.S.S. It helps Nature restore the blood to its normal state. Without plenty of rich, red-blood-cells there would be no strong, sturdy, powerful men or beautiful, healthy women.

How S.S.S BUILDS STURDY HEALTH

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping people regain and retain their strength and charm. It promotes healthy body building. It increases the number of red-blood-cells. All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical. © S.S.S. Co.

Alred's Garden Guide
FOR FEBRUARY

February is the gardening month of the South. Time lost now can not be recovered. If our hints for January have been followed, you are now ready for active duty. We can lay down no exact rule for definite time of sowing and planting; this must be governed by the weather prevailing. But everyone should be right ready to take advantage of favorable conditions as they may come. We recommend the following varieties as suitable for planting in February:

BEETS—Crosby's Egyptian, Early Eclipse, Extra Early, Detroit Blood Turnip, and Perfect Model.

BEANS—Bush or Snap Shorts, Early Red Valentine, Stringless Green Pod, Prolific Stringless, Bountiful, Best of All Wax, and Golden Wax.

CABBAGE—Improved Drum Head and Flat Dutch. These are the finest stocks of late cabbage. If your plants have not been set out, look after your cabbage planting at once.

CARROT—Early Scarlet Horn, Half Long Scarlet, Scarlet Chantenay, and Long Orange.

MUSTARD—Sow now for salad. We recommend the Mammoth Southern Curled Mustard.

LETTUCE—Sow and transplant from spring or winter beds. Select Big Boston, Simpson, Hanson, Veribest, unrivaled.

ONIONS—Sets should be set out now or they will not form a bulb.

POTATOES—Our stocks are from Maine. Plant Houlton. Early Rose, Extra Early Sunrise, Irish Cobblers, and Early Ohio. For late or general crop use State of Maine or Green Mountain.

TURNIPS—Sow as early as the winter permits. They require quick growth, otherwise they will be tough.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE 90 DAYS MAKE!

TODAY A TODDLING CHICK . . . in 90 days a proud pullet about to lay. There's something to think about! Tiny bones and little muscles have grown several times in size . . . a delicate fuzz has sprouted into hundreds of feathers . . . a chick weighing grams has grown into a pullet weighing pounds . . . all in 90 short days!

A wonderful change . . . and only one thing can do it . . . good feed! This year consider Purina Startena Chow (mash) and Purina Chick Chow (scratch) or All-Mash Startena Chow for the first six weeks . . . and then Purina Growena and Purina Intermediate Hen Chow until your pullets are laying at 16 weeks.

FAMOUS CIVIL WAR GROUP

President Lincoln and his officers in the White House. The President and General Hancock seated. Behind them, Admiral Farragut, Gen. William Sherman, Gen. Thomas Meade, Gen. U. S. Grant, General Hooker and Gen. Phil Sheridan.

Lincoln's Struggle For an Education

The temperament of a student and continuous and hard personal study made Lincoln an educated man, but his actual schooling was very meager. He went to school, altogether, for less than a year, Albert J. Beveridge tells us in his "Abraham Lincoln, 1809-1858." The time was divided among several schools. The first were in Kentucky, where Thomas Lincoln and his family were living in a cabin on Knob creek. "Sometime during the sojourn of the Lincoln family on Knob creek a school was opened in the vicinity by one Zachariah Riney, a Catholic, and Sarah accompanied by her little brother went to this school for a few weeks. Later, another school, taught by one Caleb Hazel, was attended by the Lincoln children for an even briefer period. . . . 'It was from that place (Knob creek cabin),' writes Haycraft to Herndon, 'that young Abraham commenced trudging his way to school to Caleb Hazel with whom I was well acquainted and could perhaps teach spelling, reading and indifferent writing, and perhaps could cipher to the rule of three, but he had no other qualification of a teacher except large size and bodily strength to thrash any boy or youth that came to his school."

Schooling in Indiana.

The next schooling was in Indiana, where the family had moved, in an attempt to better fortune, which had always been bad. "When there were enough children in the settlement to justify the starting of a school, Andrew Crawford opened one in a cabin of unhewn logs, two or three miles from the hut of Thomas Lincoln. Like all others of the time it was a subscription school, the teacher taking his pay in skins or farm produce, far more valuable than the 'wild-cat' paper, which then was the only form of money. . . . The Lincoln children went to Andrew Crawford's school for a while during the winter 1818-1819. The school was held in 'a rude pole cabin with huge fireplace, rude floor of puncheons and seats of same, and a window made by leaving out a log on the side to admit the light, often covered with greased paper to keep out the wind.' Spelling, reading, writing and 'ciphering to single rule of 3 no further' were taught in the haphazard manner of the period and region. It was a 'blab' or 'loud school,' the children studying vocally. Punishment was administered by whipping or making the child wear the 'dunce cap.' 'When we went to Crawford he tried to learn us manners,' relates Nathaniel Grigsby, showing the pupils how to enter a room, the formalities of introduction and the like. . . . But the teacher gave up after one season, it appears, as frontier school promoters sometimes did. Thereafter Andrew Crawford disappears from the chronicles of Pigeon Creek pedagogy, Lincoln was then in his tenth year and he did not again go to school until he was about fourteen or fifteen.' What he learned from Crawford we do not know; a little simple reading, perhaps, and how to form words with a quill pen—certainly not much more, since he could not write well until four or five years later."

Few School Books.

Lincoln's last school was also at the Indiana settlement. "A year or two after the coming of Sarah Lincoln (the stepmother), another school, about four miles away, was started by one Azel W. Dorsey. It was exactly like that of Andrew Crawford except that Dorsey did not try to 'learn manners' to the children. Abraham went to this school for a short time. . . . The school books from which the teacher gave out his lessons were the Bible, Webster's, or Dilworth's spelling book, Pike's arithmetic and a song book. . . . It was at Dorsey's school that he perfected that clear, distinct chirography, so like that of Washington and Jefferson; and here, too, he learned to spell with that accuracy which was to become a tradition in the neighborhood. He did all the writing for the family and, indeed, for everybody in the settlement. Even more important to his avid mind was the fact that he learned to read with ease and fluency. . . . So ended the education of Abraham Lincoln in schools, except for a short and broken attendance in 1826 at a similar school taught by William Sweeney. Including the two schools in Kentucky the boy went to school for less than a year. . . . There was, indeed, no reason for him to go longer to these backwoods teachers—they 'could do him no further good; he went to school no more.'"

Only Bare Walls Left of House of Tragedy

Ford's theater, at Washington, is directly across the street from the little brick house in which Lincoln died. This house contains the famous Oldroyd collection of Lincoln relics which the federal government purchased at a cost of $50,000. The Yates bill provides for the transfer of these bits to the remodeled theater.

Only the shell of the theater now remains. The balconies, seats and stage were removed many years ago, and it is now properly a dusty relic of history. Row upon row of files filled with mysterious government charts about patents and other matter that have accumulated through the years are lodged here.

The leading rule for man is diligence. Leave nothing for tomorrow which can be done today. Never let your work fall behind.—Lincoln.

Faith in Almighty

I am satisfied that when the Almighty wants me to do or not to do any particular thing, He finds a way of letting me know it.—Lincoln.

OREGON WOMAN IS OWNER NATIONAL CHAMPION COW

Builds Up Herd Around Great Producers

Yielding 1,000.62 pounds of butter fat in an official 365-day production test Tiddledywink's Quality Girl, pure bred Jersey cow owned by Mrs. Florence Gale Neal of Oregon City, Oregon, has brought renown alike to her owner, her state and herself. Already a world Jersey champion by virture of previous records, Tiddledywink's Quality Girl now gives her owner the distinction of being the only woman to breed and test a jersey cow making a 1,000-pound butter fat record.

In her test lanting a year Tiddledywink's Quality Girl yielded 1,000.62 pounds of butterfat, the equivalent of 1,250 pounds of butter, and 17,278 pounds or 8,036 quarts of milk, netting Mrs. Neal a profit of $976 above feed cost.

Tiddledywink's Quality Girl did not receive exceptional care while on test. For six months of the time she stayed in the pasture day and night. Throughout the 365 days she was milked entirely by machine. In a provious test she became the world champion senior 4-year old Jersey producer, 305-day tests, with her record of 828.44 pounds of butterfat, the equivalent of 1,035 pounds of butter and 12,845 pounds or 5,974 quarts of milk. She has been awarded two medals of merit, the highest medal award of the American Jersey Cattle Club, for these two outstanding test records.

Mrs. Neal owns a Jersey herd that is recognized as one of the leading herds of the Pacific Coast. She went to Oregon from Connecticut in 1920 and her herd has been developed in the past nine years. To date cows in the herd have won ten Silver Medals, six Gold Medals and two Medals of Merit for high production. Mrs. Neal's Jerseys are entered every year in the leading dairy cattle shows of the West, and always bring home some of the blue and purple ribbons. At the present time the herd includes four grand champion cows and several junior champions.

Mrs. Neal's farm is located near Oregon City. It comprises about fifty acres of land and is modernly equipped with sterilizing plant, electric refrigeration and all equipment necessary for a sanitary, efficient dairy plant. Milk products from this farm, because of their high quality, command the top market price.

Mrs. Neal is assisted now by her three sons, Richard in charge of the dairy, Robert in charge of the farm work, and John, the show man, but she is the active head of the business she has created.

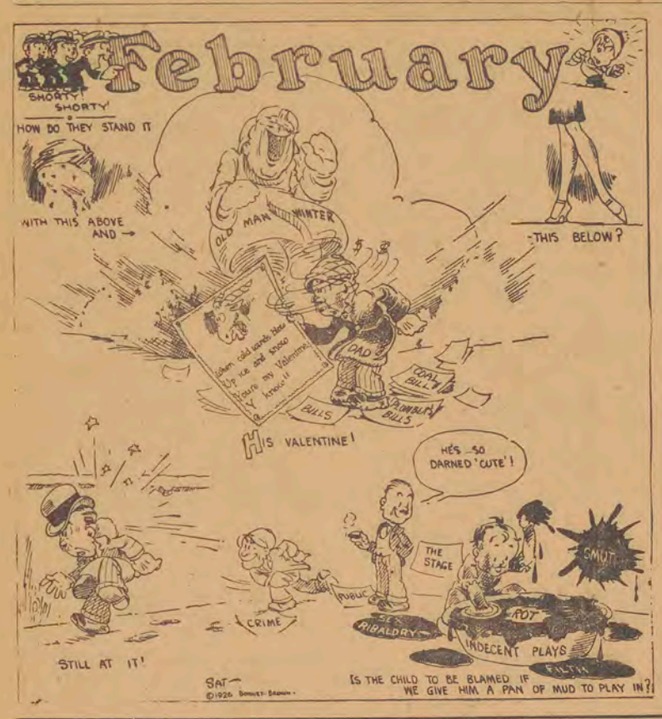
MANY SAFETY DEVICES IN THE NEW 1930 CHEVROLET

Evidence of the manner in which the automobile manufactuer is furthering the cause of safety by eliminating the hazard of mechanical mishaps is shown by the many safety features incorporated in the new 1930 Chevrolet.

Notable among the safety devices in the car are the Chevrolet-designed internal brakes which are new in their field. Many a motorist has had the unnerving experience of descending a long mountain grade to find his brakes becomes less effective the farther he descends—a failure known technically as "fadeout" and due to heat generated between the brake shoe and drum which warps the shoe and lessens the contact of the brake lining with the drum. The hotter the brakes get, the less effective they become.

Tests on the General Motors Proving Ground show that fadeout has been eliminated in the new Chevrolet brake by a method of construction known as the "articulated shoe type," which compensates for heat distortion, and assures uniform braking facilities under all conditions of temperature. The wear on the brake lining also is uniform, and assures far greater service out of a set of linings than old type brakes.

Test Chevrolets on the proving ground have obtained as high as 28,000 miles on a set of linings. It is pointed out that the average motorist will obtain considerably greater mileage in view of the severe driving to which test cars are put. Further tests show the brake will stop a car traveling thirty miles per hour in two and two-tenths seconds within a distance of 48 feet.



The brakes are internal expanding all around, operating with equal efficiency on all wheels. The parking brake is separated and operates on the rear drum. Adjustments are easily accessible without the removal of any plates.

Another safety feature of the new Chevrolet is the non-glare windshield on the new Fisher bodies. By the simple expedient of tilting the windshield slightly inward, instead of mounting it vertically, the reflected light of an approaching or following headlamp is deflected downward away from the driver's eyes. The twin-beam headlights, which enable the driver to throw the light on the road out of the eyes of an approaching driver, are a further Chevrolet contribution to greater safety of the highways.

BRING UP YOUR CHICKS IN THE WAY THEY SHOULD GO

Chicks are a good bit like children in a great many ways. With proper training, both will develop into valueable members of their respective branches of society. Much has already been said in this series of articles on the subject of environment. I have stressed the need for clean, comfortable quarters, ventilation, adequate range sanitation, and other phases of the subject. Heretofore, however, I have had no opportunity to mention one very important matter which is the training of young chicks in what a friend of mine has humorously called barnyard etiquette.

I begin training my chicks the moment I transfer them to the brooder room. As soon as possible I begin scattering their grain ration in the litter so they will have to scratch for it thus giving healthful exercise. I also watch them carefully and guide them into the heated area of the hoover whenever they need such direction. whenever I find chicks huddled together, I place them under the hoover. It may be necessary to do this quite often during the first week.

Crowding is another danger that can be greatly lessened by early training. I prevent huddling in in corners by placing chick wire or boards diagonally across them. They must be watched carefully, however, for if they cannot crowd into the corners, they will often pile together in football scrimmage style right in the middle of the floor. Watch your chicks at all times, but especially at evening and gently force them apart if they show any tendancy toward crowding. There will always be need for watchfulness in this respect until they are actually roosting.

Crowding is only one of many bad habits chicks will develop if not watched carefully or if not given proper feed exercise and space. All these habits may be overcome if proper action is taken the moment they show up.

One quite serious habit, toe picking or Cannibalism, usually results from lack of animal protein in the feed or sufficient exercising room. If they have plenty of room to scratch and exercise naturally, there is less danger of it. If too closely confined they will seek other forms activity one of which is picking at one anothers toes. Sometimes a chicks toes will be injured and the sight of blood attracts others. Once they taste blood the picking may become general, causing serious injury and even death to considerable numbers.

Whenever this habit is noticed, take steps to enlarge the quarters or divide the chicks into smaller groups so they will have more room. It is a good idea to add more meat scraps to their mash or milk to drink. You will also probably find that there are one or two ringleaders causing most of the trouble and teaching the others bad habits. If so, take them out of the pen and keep them out until the injured toes have healed. Paint the injuries with tar, which has a disagreeable taste and discourages Toe Picking.

Feather eating or pulling is another habit that often leads to chicks literally pulling each other and eating them, or to eating one another up, starting usually at the tail. It is due to much the same causes as Toe Picking and should be overcome in the same way. Remove the injured chicks and apply tar as for Toe Picking. Do not put them back until they are thoroughly healed.

One very important phase of a chick's early training is teaching them to roost. This can be quite easily done if started before the chicks are too old. By putting them on the roost a time or two at night, they will take to the roosts nicely.

Build temporary roosts 12 to 18 inches from the floor, with an inclined runway to the first roost,all the roosts being an the same level, the same as for other roosts. Build it so that the chicks cannot drop between the roosts and the walls, and cover the under side of it with 1-inch netting. This prevents the chicks dropping from the roosts to the floor and also keeps them out of the droppings. The chicks will in all probability take to these roosts naturally and quickly without crowding, but they should be watched a few nights to prevent crowding. These roosts should be from 2 to 3 inches wide, which will help prevent crooked breast bones in both chicks and poults.

More Milk for Less Money

MANY herd owners find Quaker (16%) Dairy Ration is ideally suited for feeding in combination with home-grown roughages. Perhaps you, too, can use this clean and fresh concentrate to good advantage. Let's talk it over and see if this isn't the feed to get you more milk for lowered feed costs.

COLLINS CHAPEL NEWS

Last Monday, February 3, the death angel bore away the spirit of Mr. Robert Bean. Mr. Bean had been sick about a week with pneumonia, and was 56 years old.

He is survived by his wife and six children: Mrs. Clyde Meade, Miss Jewel Bean, Misses Pauline, Henrietta, Lottis and one son, Horace Bean.

The funeral was held at New Salem, of which he was a member, Tuesday morning, conducted by Rev. Z. Y. Appleton. Martin was in charge.

Last Thursday evening Thorsby Institute motored over to play a game of basket ball with the boys. It seemed as if the teams were evenly matched, for they tied the score four times. At the last, Chapel made two points more, with the score of 25 to 23. Both teams played a nice clean game.

Last Thursday night the girls went to Clanton. We played in the Maddox warehouse. The score was 27 to 8 in favor of Collins Chapel girls.

We have been having prayer meeting at this place every Wednesday night, but we have changed this date to every Tuesday night. Everybody has an invitation to come and spend an hour discussing God's word.

There will be no singing at Collins Chapel Church Sunday for the singers are going to Calera to sing.

FOURSQUARE GOSPEL CHURCH

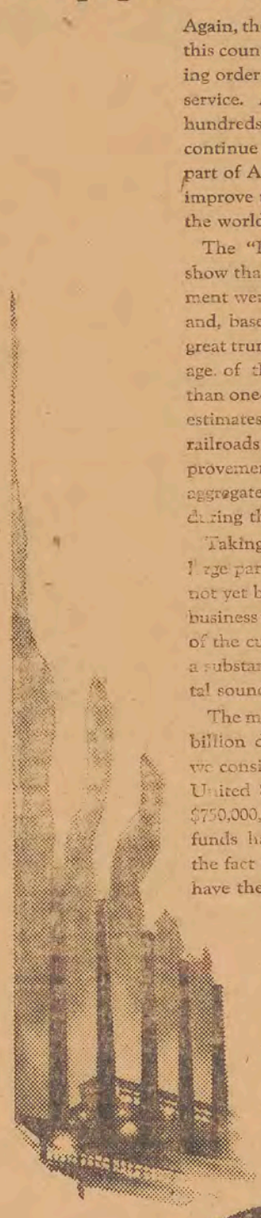
The Sunday School at Foursquare Gospel Church is now growing steadily. Several new enrollments have been made recently.

Communion service was held last Sunday, with Rev. H. B. Calentine in charge. Rev. Calentine is the new Foursquare pastor, sent here recently from Angelus Temple, Los Angeles. He will be with the local church during 1930.

The Crusaders (young people's division) gave an interesting program, at 6 p. m. consisting of talks, vocal solos, duets, and quartets, and instrumental music.

Following the Crusaders meeting, Rev. Calentine preached an interesting sermon, "A Cry From the Depths." Rev. Calentine is an interesting speaker, and much favorable comment has been given on his work Sunday night.

A number of visitors were present Sunday night. We were glad to have them, and welcome them back again. We are always glad to have visitors. Any young people are invited to come and take part with the Crusaders, also.



CANE CREEK

On last Thursday night, Feb. 6, part of the singers from the United Singing Society met to sing with us here at this place and did some good singing. Mr. W. L. Sanders was appointed chairman . After singing one song, prayer was offered by Mr. J. N. Miner. Those who directed were: Our next Tax Assessor, Mr. Akin Collins, Mr. E. C. Traywick, Floyd Little, Mrs. Zula Rutherford and Lillie Mae Weldon. Organists, Mrs. Aikins Collins, Mrs. Belle Dorminy, Miss Genie Collins, and Lillie Mae Weldon. The singing was one of the best we have had here. We were all glad to have the ones who came to help us sing and invite them back any time they can arrange to come and be with us. If you can't arrange to come to our Sunday afternoon singings come any night and we will be glad to have you all or any other singers who will come, for we invite all and we want everybody to feel welcome when they come her. Rmember our 4th Annual Singing the 4th Sunday in June, 1930. We expect to have a good singing then.

We have Sunday School each Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Our regular preaching days are the first Sunday and Saturday in each month. Rev. A. E. Trice is our pastor.

Rev. M. Lockheart will preach for us the 4th Sunday morning, Feb. 23, at 11 o'clock, and singing in the afternoon beginning at 1 o'clock. Visitors are always welcome

RAILROADS evidence their faith in fundamental soundness of the Country by record-breaking investments in equipment and other improvements.

Again, the great steam transportation lines of this country have come to the front with buying orders for added equipment and bettered service. Again, thousands of workers and hundreds of industries have profited, and will continue to profit, by the investment on the part of American railroads in continuing to improve the freight and passenger service of the world's finest transportation system.

The "Railway Age" furnishes figures to show that, during 1929, orders for new equipment were the largest in the past five years, and, based on information furnished by the great trunk lines having one-half of the mileage of the entire country and doing more than one-half of the business, this magazine estimates that the total expenditures of the railroads for new equipment and other improvements during the year just started will aggregate $1,050,000,000, or 25% more than during the year 1929.

Taking into consideration the fact that a large part of the orders placed in 1929 have not yet been filled and will, therefore, afford business to manufacturers in the early months of the current year, this presages and assures a substantial contribution to the fundamental soundness of this country.

The magnitude and economic value of this billion dollar program is emphasized when we consider the capital expenditures of the United States railroads have averaged over $750,000,000 yearly since 1922, and these funds have been invested notwithstanding the fact that at no time during such period have the railroads as a whole earned an adequate return on such investments, as permitted by law.

Readers of this newspaper should digest and appreciate these facts and show their appreciation by patronizing the steam railroads of America for both freight and passenger service. Travel by train---ship by train ---leave the automobile at home for the family.

SEEKING TO SAVE LOST SOULS ONE BY ONE

I wish you to think this evening of some of the scenes in Christ's ministry and notice just what is emphasized by the teaching and the example of our Lord Jesus Christ in seeking to save lost souls. I will try prayerfully and honestly to give you my impressions as gleaned from God's word of leading men and women to Jesus Christ.

In the life of our Lord men were led to Him "one by one." This led Mr. Moody to say that hand-picked fruit was and is the best. Our Y. M. C. A. Secretary told me the other day as we were coming from the Continental Gin Company that he had a letter from the Y. M. C. A. Secretary in Philadelphia speaking of the time when John Wannamaker was its Secretary. On the fly leaf of the Bible which John Wannamaker used he found this reslution made at the beginning of a certain new year: "By the help of God I will try to lead one young man to Jesus Christ each day during the next three hundred and sixty-five." O my freinds, if you and I could just write that down and resolve to do that this year. O if all Christians everywhere would just love the Lord Jesus Christ to such an extent that they would pray to God and do their level best to lead one soul to Jesus Christ in each day of the year 1930 what a great ingathering of souls this old world would experience.

Stop and think over the fact that in some of the churches in our Land last year it took seventeen persons to lead one soul to Christ. In some of the other churches there was an average of sixty-five persons to every five brought to Christ. O my friends, the great importance of just trying to lead one man to the Lord Jesus Christ. Writing this to you I think of a hymn we used to sing in Moody and Sanky revivals:

"Throw out the life line across the dark wave, There is a brother whom someone should save. Somebody's brother, O who, then will dare To throw out the life line his peerils to share? Throw out the life line, Throw out the life line. Someone is drifting away. Throw out the life line Throw out the life line, Someone is sinking to-day."

This evening perhaps you have a dear loved one to whom you should try to get to Christ. Perhaps I have a loved one whom I should speak to about theis soul. Perhaps there is a member in the Bible class who is waiting for your interest expressed in his or her soul's salvation. Perhaps someone associated with you in business is just drifting away because you have not manifested an interest in the all importance of their accepting Jesus Christ into their hearts and lives. Just think of the many who are drifting, drifting, drifting into sin and its direful consequences away from mother's prayers, the church of Jesus Christ and everything that is good and pure and holy and Christ-like. Think of them drifting into eternal doom and yet you and I never speaking to them about their soul's salvation.

We speak to our friends about the snow, the markets, our country's resources the latest novel, the intellectual and moral fiber of some great man or woman and many other minor matters f the law when we fail in the all important mission of getting men and women to Jesus Christ. Each man and woman we meet has a soul, a soul, S-O-U-L- to be S-A-V-E-D. And you have to go out to that hill outside to Damascus Gate of Jerusalem along that great highway leading from Jerusalem to Damascus to find the value of a human soul. There look upon Jesus as He bowed His head amid rending rocks and darkening skies with His heavenly Father's face veiled from Him, suffering a broken heart because of your sins and my sins and the torture of death by crucifixion. That is the price of your soul.

You say, "How do you know that you have a soul?" You know that you have a soul because you can think about God and the world to come. The little birds of the air, and the beasts of the field can't think about God and His glories laid up for the faithful in Him, but man can think about God in all His loveliness. Man has a soul and it is worth more than the sun, moon, and stars, the cattle on a thousand hills, gold and silver, the coal in these hills which surround Birmingham. The price of a soul was set by Jesus Christ Himself when He poured out His life's blood for you and for me on that rough and rugged cross of Calvary.

Just think of the persons who came to Christ during His earthly ministry and were saved. I have just read the 1st chapter of the Gospel according to John. Beginning at the 34th verse John, the beloved disciple of Jesus says, "I saw and bare record that this is the Son of God." That wilderness preacher, John the Baptist, saw and bare record and so led others to see that Jesus came to Jesus upon hearing the witnesss and testimony of John the Baptist and wilderness preacher.

John after being led to Christ by the wilderness preacher became one of the most ardent and zealous followers of Christ, and a great writer in the New Testament. He does not, however sign his name to his writings, no doubt because of his humility. He speaks of himslef as "that disciple whom Jesus loved, that other disciple, the beloved desciple, the disciple who leaned on Jesus's bosom," one of the two who heard John the Baptist's instruction: "Behold the Lamb of God" and followed Jesus." But think of this John the brother of James and the son of Zebedee who looked at Christ coming over the hills of Judea to the Jordan giving testimony of the loving, powerful, sin-forgiving Jesus whom John the Baptist had been preaching to them about.

John introduced them to Christ but just watch their preparation to lead others to Him. These two disciples said to Christ? "Master, where dwellest Thou?" In response to their interest Christ invited them to come and be with Him. This they did. They went and stayed with Jesus the remainder of the day. Are you staying with Jesus Christ? Are you living in Him? If we would just stay with Jesus Christ, place our hand in His, and sit down with Him for counsel we could lead more souls to him.

One of the two which heard John the Baptist speak and followed Jesus was Andrew, Simon Peter's brother. He first findeth, notice He first findeth his brother Simon and leadeth him to Christ saying, "we have found the Messias, which is, being interpreted, the Christ." I see him as he placed his arms around his brother and speaks those tender words about the Christ whom he had been led to. Andrew led Peter and Peter led Philip to Christ and philip led Nathaniel to Christ, one by one.

One by one is God's way of leading souls to Christ. As pastor of one church in this city for forty-one years and six months I have noticed that the people I have seen led to Christ, generally speaking, were led one by one. Did you ever speak to your brother about his soul's salvation? Did you ever speak to your husband or wife about his or her soul's salvation? Did you ever speak to your pupil about his soul's salvation? Do you take time to ask your pupils to give their hearts and lives to Jesus as you tell them about Him who died on Calvary and arose the third day from Joseph's tomb for our justification?

When Jesus was in Jerusalem, that is on the Mount of Olives, because He a was not permitted to spend the night in Jerusalem; a man rich in the world's goods came to Him by night seeking salvation. This was Nicodemus, and Jesus told him that his heart must be changed. Nicodemus accepted Christ into his heart and life. It was he who went with Joseph and took up the dead body of our Lord and placed it carefully in Joseph's new tomb.

In the 4th chapter of the Gospel according to John we read that Christ must needs go thru Samaria. He walked from Jerusalem taking leave at about half past four o'clock that morning. So we find Him at about noon or a little after, under a blazing Palestinian sun sitting on the stone curb of that well. A woman came to the well from Sychar about a quarter of a mile away. Watch Christ in His tact for winning her soul. He said, "Woman, give me to drink." She said, "Sir, how is it that you being a Jew speaketh to me a Samaritan., for the Jews have no dealing with the Samaritans?" Then Christ said to her, "If thou knewest the Gift of God (notice, the Gift of God) and who it is that saith unto thee, "Give me to drink" thou wouldst have asked of Him, and He would have given thee living water. Thus in His tact and love for her soul Christ led this poor woman whose only possessions no doubt was her clothes which she wore and the pictcher which she carried. She who had little earthly goods and whose eyes no doubt were many times filled with tears caused by sin was led to Christ by Christ. He valued her soul above all else. Did you ever lead a soul to Christ? Did you ever fully consider the value of a soul?

That woman went forth a witness bearer for Christ and led others to Him. You and I must be witness beareres for Christ if we would help led souls to Him. Suppose we try to speak to one man each day this year about his soul's salvation. Jesus called the fishermen away from their business of catching fish, not because it was not all right for them to so toil, but because they must not spend all their time fishing. He wanted to make them fishers of men also. Paul no doubt was led to Christ by the beautiful countenance of Stephen in his dying words as he, Paul, held the cloaks for the men to stone him.

In the 12th chapter of Daniel and the 3rd verse we read these thrilling words about leading souls to Christ: "They that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars forever and ever." O would you not like to shine as the stars forever and ever? Will you not speak to someone you have never spoken to before in regard to their soul's salvation? Just ask them if they are a Christian, and tell them about the loving Saviour. Remember that Jesus Christ says to us, "Thou shalt be witnesses unto me even unto the uttermost parts of the earth." Will you help lead souls to Christ? Speak to someone to-day about the Saviour.

Held in Tuscaloosa jail since last December following his arrest on a 15-year-old murder charge, Jesse Monroe Traweek has been released upon recommendation of Solicitor Ed de Graffenreid, who said all witnesses in the case had died or could not be located.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. G. A. HUGHEY

On January 30, 1930 the Death angel visited the home of Mr. G. A. Hughey and took from the home the loyal, faithful, wife and loving mother.

Mrs. Hughey, Rossa Alice Johnson was born January 9, 1891 in Perry County near Marion, Alabama and spent most of her life there with the exception of a few years spent in Oklahoma and Chilton County, Ala.

She became a member of the Free Will Baptist Church at the age of 16, and was a devoted Christian thoughout her life.

At the age of 24, she was married to Mr. G. A. Hughey, and served well her part as a faithful wife and loving mother.

Although Mrs. Hughey made her home in Chilton County only a few years she won, through her gentle and noble character, a number of friends who will greatly miss her. All those who knew her can only say, "To know her was to love her."

Left to morn her loss are her husband and two sons, age 14 and 8 years, her mother, Mrs. Isaac Johnson, Sprott, Alabama, and seven brothers; Mr. J. J. Johnson, Mr. C. E. Johnson, Mr. E. H. Johnson, and Mr. J. E. Johnson, Sprott, Alabama. Mr. D. W. A. Johnson, Blocton, Ala., Mr. A. S. Johnson, Billingsley, Ala., and two sisters Mrs. Julia Nichols and Miss Lillie Johnson, Sprott, Alabama. besides a host of relatives and friends. Her father, Isaac Johnson, went to his reward about twelve months ago.

Funeral services were held at new Cedron Church, near Billingsley, on January 31, Rev. Paul Oden officiating. Interment was made in the new Cedron Cemetery.

Luncheon clubs of Alabama are planning to eat delicious broilers produced by farmers of the state. Nineteen counties raised broilers on a large scale, and now have them ready for the diners.

Five Copies of Lincoln's Speech At Gettysburg

Abraham Lincoln's address at Gettysburg is unique among his speeches in many particulars, one of which is that there are in existence at the present time no less than five copies of it in Lincoln's own handwriting. In only a few cases is there a single copy of other speeches. The first inaugural, for instance, was composed in Springfield and set up in pica type in the office of the Illinois State Journal, and, after some interlineation and the addition of a closing paragraph suggested by Secretary Seward, was delivered from the corrected proof, and not from the original manuscript. So far as I am aware the manuscript was not brought away from Springfield by Lincoln nor preserved in the printing office. The Journal for many years had been accustomed to receiving editorials and other matter in his hand writing, and neither the editor, Simeon Francis, nor any one of his compositors took thought that this was to become a document of historic interest and that the original would be valuable.

Copy Not Preserved.

Most of Lincoln's speeches, if written out, met a like fate. If the copy came back from the office with the proof, Lincoln tossed it into the waste basket, and no one rescued it. After he became President, of course, he knew and every one knew that his handwriting would be in demand, but no one looked for the time when his letter to General Hooker would sell at auction for $10,000. So most of his speeches perished in the original manuscript, perished in the very process of preserving them in print; and of the few that were preserved there is usually only one copy.

The five copies of the Gettysburg address, two are in the Library of Congress. One of them is mainly in ink, written on a sheet of paper headed with the usual "Executive Mansion" caption. The other sheet is ruled letter paper of the same size, and with wide spaces between the lines. It is the paper that was commonly used in the White House for speeches or documents likely to need interlineation, and is identical in quality with that used by the President for the second draft of the Gettysburg speech and for the second Inaugural. The writing on the second sheet of the first draft of the address is in pencil. The pencil was used also to erase a few words at the bottom of the first page.

The second Library of Congress draft is a fair copy of the first draft. It is written wholly in ink.

Without stopping here and now to give my reasons, I believe that the first page of the first draft was written in ink before Lincoln left Washington. If he completed this draft at the time, and there was a second page in ink, he became dissatisfied with it and cast it aside. I think he wrote the second page, in pencil, in Gettysburg, probably on the night before the delivery of the address. The second Library of Congress draft I think was written in Gettysburg on the morning of the delivery. The place of writing was in the home of Judge Wills, facing the public square.

Just to dispose of a question which is sure to rise, whether Lincoln did not write the address upon the back of an envelope on the train on his way from Washington to Gettysburg, let me answer that he may have made a few penciled notes, and for this purpose may have used the back of an envelope, but he did not write the address as a whole in any such fashion. In my judgment the two Library of Congress drafts were both written before the delivery of the address. Of the other three we know the history. They were all written after the address had been delivered.

Five Texts of Speech.

The first two copies vary but little from each other. The last three copies vary but little from one another. How they vary I have set forth in interlinear versions in my "Life of Lincoln." The important fact is that we have five texts in Lincoln's handwriting, no two of them exactly alike, and that they fall clearly into two groups, two in one and the earlier group, three in the other and the later group, and that we know in detail the history of the last three.

Intermediate between these two groups in Lincoln's own hand are a number of other versions printed at the time. First of these is the Associated Press report prepared by Joseph L. Gilbert. He did not pretend to have taken down Lincoln's exact words, but reported the speech partly in shorthand and checked up in a hasty comparison with Lincoln's manuscript. The second was a special report used in one Philadelphia newspaper, one Cincinnati newspaper and in the local newspaper in Gettysburg. It was a very poor report. The third was, as I judge, the one report that tells us exactly what Lincoln did say. It was made by Charles Hale of the Boston Advertiser, one of the official Massachusetts commissioners. His written affirmation to Gov. John A. Andrew, that Lincoln spoke very slowly, and that Hale was able to get the precise wording, is as good as the oath of a court stenographer certifying the accuracy of his version.

We know, I think, what Lincoln intended to say, what he did say, what he was reported to have said, and what he wished he had said.

Surely Lincoln's Words.

Neither of the drafts of Lincoln's manuscript made before the delivery of the address contains the two words, "under God." Both say, "that we here highly resolve . . . that the nation shall have a new birth of freedom." But every stenographic report, good, bad and indifferent, says "that the nation shall, under God, have a new birth of freedom." There was no common source from which all the reporters could have obtained those words but from Lincoln's own lips at the time of delivery. It will not do to say that Stanton suggested those words after Lincoln's return to Washington, for the words were telegraphed by at least three reporters on the afternoon of delivery and published all over the country. Nor will it answer to say that Seward suggested them the night before as words that would convey to the people assembled a suggestion of piety, for John G. Nicolay gives a clear history of the writing of the second draft on the morning of delivery, and the second draft does not include those words.

But all three of Lincoln's copies that were made after the address had been delivered do contain the words of the three or more reports made while he was speaking, "under God." Lincoln said those words; the several independent reports that went to the wires at once agree that he said them; and Lincoln certainly wished to be remembered as having said them, for he wrote them into every one of the three copies which he made for permanent record.

Where, then, did Lincoln get those words? He got them, I think, out of his own stock of phraseology. He was not given to the careless use of religious phrases, but this one he used at other times. It came to him as he sat on the platform at Gettysburg, inspired by the sense of solemnity that the occasion brought upon him. The journey, the reception of the night before, the parade, the sight of the battlefield, the long and eloquent oration of Edward Everett and the growing depth of feeling as his own time came to speak, roused in him a deeper sense of the nation's need of reliance in God than had been in his mind when he was engaged in the work of writing.—William E. Barton, in the New York Times Magazine.

Childbirth

"Mother's Friend relieved me of the strain and the pain that came from the stretching of the skin and tissues," writes a young mother. "I did not suffer as I have heard other women say they did. My doctor recommended Mother's Friend to me."

Countless thousands of expectant mothers have had the same experience with "Mother's Friend." Naturally, mothers have recommended it to their daughters.

"Mother's Friend" is a scientifically-prepared skin lubricant and pain-reliever. It originated in the prescription of an eminent obstetrician, and has been in use for 60 years.

You owe yourself the comfort "Mother's Friend" gives. It is so soothing and relaxing! It is used externally only—gently rubbed into the skin. Brings relief promptly. Very valuable in keeping the breasts in good condition. Also puts you in fine shape for the approaching ordeal.

"Mother's Friend" is on sale at all drug stores. $1.25 per bottle. Try a massage with it tonight and notice the ease and comfort it gives. A booklet on "Things to Know Before Baby Comes" will be mailed in plain envelope, free, on request. Address Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. 14, Atlanta, Ga.

TWO MONTGOMERY BANKS MERGE IN $20,000,000 UNIT

Consolidation Comes after Session with Federal Reserve Officers

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 11.—A $20,000,000 banking institution, one of the largest in the South, was in operation here Tuesday following absorption of the Fourth National Bank of Montgomery by the First National Bank, a deal consummated at a conference of officials of the two institutions and the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, which lasted until near the break of dawn Tuesday.

A. M. Baldwin, chairman of the Board of Directors of the First National, said affairs of the Fourth National a $6,000,000 institution would be taken over immediately by the First National, and all checks drawn on the former would be paid upon presentatin at the First National.

The Fourth National did not open for business Tuesday, although a notice that its affairs were in charge of the First Natinal served to assuage fears of a few excited depositors who staged a mild run on the bank nearing the close of Monday's business.

An Explanation for a Parent

IT WAS one of the hottest days in the year in the town down South where certain friends of mine live. The thermometer on the front porch registered 106 in the shade at noon. Shortly after dinner the three children of the household—Mildred, aged three; Jackie, aged five; and Anthony, who was seven, were reported missing. They were not to be found in the big yard nor about the stables.

Their mother grew uneasy. She instituted a search of the premises. Finally, when every corner and cranny had been visited without results, she bethought her that there was just one spot she had overlooked. This was the attic. It did not seem possible that any human being willingly would linger for a single moment in a place which must be incredibly hot. Nevertheless, the lady climbed the garret stairs. As she lifted the trapdoor a breath of terrific heat, like a blast from a furnace, struck her in the face. But what she saw made her forget her own discomfort.

In a corner where a gable of the tin roof came close down to the floor, and under a sort of bower of grotto formed of blankets and cover-lids taken from the store of winter bedding, sat the two younger children. Neither of them had on a stitch of clothing. Their small pink bodies glistened with perspiration. To and fro in front of their snug retreat paced the older boy, majestically. He also was nude except that on his head he wore a huge coon-skin cap which he had resurrected from the ancient trunk.

"In the name of Heaven!" exclaimed the astonished mother. "Children, what on earth are you doing in this stifling place: You'll be sunstruck."

Master Tony raised an authoritative hand to check her.

"Don't bother us, please, mother," he bade her. "We're acting a piece out of the Bible." He pointed toward his brother and sister. "That's Adam and Eve yonder."

"Well, if that's Adam and Eve, who are you, pray?"

"Me?" He seemed surprised that she had not recognized him. "Why, I'm God, walking in the garden in the cool of the day."

For nut bread proceed as follows:

¼ cup sugar
2 tbsp. fat
1 egg
1¾ cups self-rising flour
1 cup milk
1 cup nut meats broken in small pieces

Place the sugar, fat and egg in a bowl; beat until thoroughly blended; add the flour and liquid alternately, then add the nuts; pour into a greased bread pan, and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) about fifty minutes.

"As the cotton farmer has not yet been able to control the selling price of his crop, low cost of production per pound gives the best assurance of largest profit. High yield per acre means low cost per pound. Liberal use of proper fertilizer is one of the surest ways of increasing yield and lowering cost. Thousands of tests and the general experience of farmers have proved the wisdom of using liberal applications of high analysis fertilizer. Fertilize cotton with 600 to 800 pounds per acre to increase yield, lower cost and obtain greater profit."—Ward H. Sachs.

Can Get Official Grading

For 40 cents per sample, any grower or owner of cotton can get an official statement of the quality of his fiber. He is expected to ask for a form, fill it out, and send it back with his samples to the United States board of cotton examiners at New Orleans, Houston, Galveston or New York, or to the appeal board of review examiners at Washington.

The use of cotton for making automobile tires and other rubber goods has more than doubled since 1920, says B. Youngblood in The Country Gentleman. Almost a million bales of cotton are now used annually by these industries alone.

Co-ops Turn to Research

"One of the most significant developments is the attention given by the cooperatives to research. Twenty or more associations have research departments. The use of crop and market information by these organizations is placing them in the forefront among merchandising concerns."—W. M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture.

COTTON-GROWING made little headway in this country before the cotton gin was invented, writes A. F. Lever in The Country Gentleman. The trouble was that one good field hand could grow more cotton than a dozen could de-lint.

"We are now selling five times as much V-C as a few years ago."—Allen & Thomasson, Skipwith, Va.

Better Use for Poor Lands

"Much of the poorer land which now produces at a loss can be profitably used for the growth of pine forests and the production of turpentine and rosin, for which there are excellent prospects of expanding markets."—Dr. H. G. Knight, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

"Farmers are well pleased and V-C sales are steadily increasing."—J. R. NEELY, Dealer, Thompson, Pa.

High Analysis Best

Demonstrations of high-analysis fertilizers under cotton will be conducted by the National Fertilizer Association at many points in the southeast this spring. The purpose is to show farmers and fertilizer dealers the false economy of using low-analysis goods just because the price per ton looks cheaper. Other activities planned by the Association will show in practice the recommendations of national and state experiment stations and other agricultural authorities.

Low yields of cotton per acre mean high costs per pound.

"THERE ARE ABOUT 100 different species of cotton. Of these, only two are grown in the United States—Sea Island and the short-staple varieties of Gossypium hirsutum. Of the latter species there are more than 200 varieties cultivated."—William S. Myers.

Thick Cotton Pays

Close-spaced cotton will fruit earlier and produce larger yields than thinly spaced cotton, announces, P. H. Kime, plant breeder for the State College experiment station at Raleigh, N. C. Mr. Kime says the station's tests have proved this conclusively.

According to the tests, better yields are obtained when the hills are spaced 8 to 12 inches apart in the row, with two or three plants to the hill. An earlier crop results when the cotton is left thick, Mr. Kime declares, because a larger number of blooms are produced during the first few weeks of the blooming period. This is especially important under boll weevil conditions, for the weevil gets most of the bolls formed after August 15 and sometimes after August 1. Leaving the cotton thick in the row prevents the excessive vegetative growth that usually results in late fruiting and heavy weevil damage.

Chop your cotton as early as possible, Mr. Kime advises. This gives the plants more room, loosens the soil around them, gives them an earlier growing start. Block the cotton out a hoe's width.

AT YOUR SERVICE

In the head office of Virginia-Carolina Chemical Corporation at Richmond, Va., there is a bureau that stays mighty busy answering questions from farmers and giving advice about soil management. It is the V-C Agricultural Service Bureau. Have you ever needed it? Is any big soil management problem bothering you and your neighbors? The Bureau is there just to be of service to you, your county agent, your community. Use it freely.

DALLAS COUNTY MAN

Editor, The Abbeville Daily Independent: You asked me to write an article for your paper. Which I am now trying to do, but, do you know that I am no writer as I was raised between the plow handles, when DEMOCRACY ORIGINATED, — but what about Democracy any how? Tom Heflin took the principles of Democracy with him to Washington and Raskob and Al Smith stole the party and took it to New York: and as Tom Watson would say we have things in a "mell of a hess". Now the Exalted 27, at Montgomery on Dec. 16th, consisted of two unlucky numbers; twice 13 is 26, and one left to go to the priest to pray off our sins, but he did not have money enough, so we are still in purgatory.

Democracy means a government for the people, by the people, and for the people, free speech, free press and free assemblage, but the modern definition in Alabama is the rule of 27. When I went to school we had what we called the rule of three, but by multiplying by 9 we have the awful 27! It is going to be a MAN'S job to beat Tom Heflin, and bull-doze has not always worked in Alabama Some of the same 27, tried in Alabama when Hon. Lamar Jeffers ran for representative against the Sylacauga banker ("McDowell I think") a few years ago, when some of the 27, sent word to my beat, Plantersville in Dallas county. It had to go for the banker, or our share of the school funds would be withdrawn from our schools here, it worked to a certain extent in our beat, but Lamar Jeffers is in CONGRESS JUST THE SAME.

And I can't refrain from mentioning the old Kolb and Jones days when Reuben F. Kold was elected Governor of Alabama by the largest majority any man ever got for Governor, of Alabama, but was counted out, or stolen out, by the tactics of Raskobism, Smithism that controls the great 27 of today.

I can't see how any good protestant could ever vote for any Roman Catholic for any office. While some of them are good people, but not by any effort from Rome. They boast that they intend to make America Catholic, and that a man nor a woman is ever legally married, unless by a Catholic priest; and that all children born from such couples are bastards.

A man cannot be Roman Catholic and Democrat at the same time. That is simply impossible. Oil and water will not mix. The 27 is inviting the anti-Smith Democrats to come back to the Democratic party, but they fail to recognize the fact that we are the Democratic party, and the pure stuff, a yard wide and out of long staple, and if they want us back and will bathe, put on clean clothes and apologize, we will take them back, under the watchcare of the church, as we Baptists put it. Very recently we had two criminal cases tried in Dallas county courts, one a white man for killing another white man, the other a negro who stole a cow, and they were both sent to Kilby prison for five years in each case, so you see human life has the same value as stealing a cow in Dallas county, Alabama, and that is the value placed on the Hon. Tom Heflin by Raskob and Al Smith Democrats.

Yet Mr. Heflin is one of the members of congress who is trying to legislate for the good of the masses. I am truly glad you are trying to get out a paper that will tell the truth politically speaking. Of two daily papers in Birmingham, I think I have spent 10c each on them, and 25c for the Montgomery Advertiser in my short life of 79 years. My wife takes the Selma Times-Journal in order to find out who was killed by accident yesterday and how many babies are born in the Baptist hospital. Let those who sneer at the idea of Rome making America Catholic sneer on. They say it can never be done but never is quite a long time, and my opinion the first massacre of St. Bartholemew will be nothing to the second. When Noah was building the ark, a lot of sinful fellows said they did not believe it was going to rain anyhow, but the good Book says it did. I have read thousands of pages, about Roman Catholicism and it is simply awful. Thousands of poor girls locked up in Catholic convents and because of the good shepherd, and can no more get out than you could escape from Kilby prison and why let Rome roll on?

Yours very truly,
W. T. PIERSON, Sr.

THE INDEPENDENT MERCHANT

After all, who pays all the bills? Where does your living come from? The farm, now the farmer spends his money where it goes farthest. You say trade with your home town merchant. Why don't you independent merchants give as much for a dollar as the chain stores? We can't help but notice the difference in 14 and 18 pounds of sugar per dollar. You say trade with your home merchant who gives us credit. Why does he give credit? Because he wants that interest. He don't care so much about us farmers, he cares for that money we spend with him. Another article, will you notice about when the independent merchant give to help on our church and schools, he adds a little more on his goods and we farmers, after all, pay the bill. Where do we farmers stand? Help our selves if we can. Yes, We can help our selves, if we go at it right. We are wearing our rags and strings and work hard. We raise corn, cotton, we gather it and you independent merchants wouldn't be caught shaking hands with us if you didn't want our trade. So what is it that you care for? Is it the man or the money? You readers decide for your self. By the time we farmers pay fertilizer bills, grocers and taxes, we have not got enough left to buy our flour, and yet you raer back and say we independent merchants help the farmer. Help him get in debt if you can and then ask for mortgage on our home and let us go for a while, the first thing we know you have our home and, "Go old farmers, I can't help you, you are too poor." Is it the man you help or your self? Come on old farmer and let us buy our sugar where we can get 19 pounds per dollar. Let us order from mail order houses where we can buy our goods for less money.

I went all over town trying to buy a pair of ladies shoes. You independent merchants wanted from $3.75 to $5.00 per pair. I ordered from a mail order house for $1.98 just as good. Is that helping the farmer? No. I know a man who had to buy a wagon. He went to the independent merchant, he wanted $100 for a wagon. He came home and ordered his wagon from a mail order house. It cost him $63. Now who helped that farmer? Was it the independent merchant? I leave it to the readers to say. Come on old farmer, don't let the merchant blind you any longer. It is not you he loves, it is your money. He will sell you a sack of worms and call it a sack of flour. He don't care just so you eat it or don't come back. He don't care, if you pay for it, whether it be clean or not. Do you call that help in the right way? I will ring off and come again.—A farmer.

PLEASANT GROVE

Health of this community is very good at present.

Most all the farmers are getting ready for another crop.

We are glad to say that we can have services again at Pleasant Grove, in the new church.

Rev. J. Limbrick delivered a fine sermon Sunday at 11 o'clock. He could not be with us Sunday night on account of illness of his wife.

Mr. Jim Culp and Miss Rosa Broadhead were happily married Sunday p. m. at 2 o'clock, at the home of Rev. F. A. Gibson, with few friends present. The community extends their congratulations, wishing them a long and happy life together.

Mrs. Ella Clack, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Clack of Birmingham, also Mrs. Jewel Gordon of Washington, D. C. were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Best Sunday, and attended the service at the new church.

Rev. J. H. Limbrick and Tommie Williams dined with Rev. F. A. Gibson Sunday.

Mr. Lonnie Ray and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Mims.

Miss Maudie Durbin dined with Misses Minnie and Simmie Headley Sunday.

Miss Gladys Sanders dined with Misses Esther and Marzel Mims Sunday.

Little miss Jettie Mims spent Saturday night with Little Miss Elsie Merl Griffin.

Miss Lottie Henley dined with Mrs. Tom Fox Sunday.

Mrs. Henry Scott and Mrs. Harvie Culp dined with Mrs. Mollie Scott Sunday.

Little Orelous Headley dined with Kenith and Roy Durbin Sunday.

Mr. John Barefield was in Clanton last week.

SALE FOR PARTITION

The State of Alabama, Chilton County:

By virtue of an order of Hon. L. H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, made on the 4th day of January, 1930, I, Omar L. Reynolds the Commissioner named in said order, will sell to the highest bidder for cash, at public sale, at Court House door, Clanton, Alabama, between the hours of 11 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M., on the 15th day of February, 1930 for the purpose of disributing among Martha Franklin, Horace Mims, Nora Collins, J. D. Mims, a minor, joint owners on the following terms: Cash, the following described property, viz:

The South Half of that certain island in The Coosa River, lying between the Counties of Chilton and Coosa, in the State of Alabama, and being located about one and one-half miles South of Lock 12; said island containing about 100 acres, more or less, and the South Half of said island containing 50 acres, more or less, and being South of a wire fence ruinning East and West across said island; said island being known as the Johnson, Gandy and Bill Mims Island.

This January 4th, 1930.

Omar L. Reynolds, Commissioner

MOUNTAIN CREEK

With much interest and admiration I read Brother Vinzant's letter in last week's issue of the Union Banner.

Since Bro. Vinzant is now parked in Shelby County, I feel that he was perfectly justified in boosting Chilton County roads.

If the Brother should drop around in Clay and Randolph Counties then no doubt he would think that things were pretty good in Shelby County.

In my former letter I stated that our roads were much better than the roads in some other counties I had visited. I stated further that I felt confident that our officials were doing the best they could under the present system.

I do not choose that we should return to the old Overseer plan; what I would like to see would be to let the roads out by contract to the farmers who live along said roads.

Yes I will agree that a road machine will move as much dirt as fifty men can move, and that is where the main trouble comes in. Moving so much mud up in the roads.

Those machines cost thousands of dallars to buy in the first place, then it takes other thousands of dollars to buy gas, oil and equipment. This money kisses Chilton County Good Bye.

Many farmers have good teams idle many days during the winter that could be used to good advantage in hauling gravel and putting in the bad places. In this case the money could stay at home at least for a while longer.

Eventually a system as out-lined will be practiced in this county and other counties, why not now.

I have been told that more than seventy-five letters have been sent to the judge here of late requesting that those large road machines be taken off of the road at least through the winter.

I have been told that they will be off of the roads until the First of March.

Brother Vinzant if you will read the last four paragraphs of the "Jack Pot" written by "Jack" himself in last week's issue of the Union-Banner you will be given more Light on the Subject.

I am not wanting to critize any of our officials as I think we have a fine bunch of men. What I am howling about is to see if we can do something that will get better roads and at the same time give the citizens of the County a chance to earn this money which is being sent away from home.

I am hoping that Brother Vinzant will soon move back to Chilton County. I left the County once myself, but am mighty glad I got back home.

I notice that Mr. Willie Bean has thrown his hat in the political ring for Tax Assessor, so now when Mr. Walter Gillespie gets his hat in the ring for Sheriff, several of us down this way will have our voting list complete for the August primary. With best wishes to all.

CHAS. COOPER.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Best spent a few enjoyable hours with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Headley Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Klinner are spending a few days in Selma this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Durbin spent a few enjoyable hours with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Headley Sunday p. m.

The surprise party at Miss Gladys Sanders' last Wednesday night was enjoyed by a large crowd. Several interesting games were played.

We are glad to learn that Charles Edwin Mims, who has had pneumonia, is able to be out again.

The singing at Pleasant Grove Sunday afternoon was enjoyed by a large crowd. The directors were: Mr. Sam Henley, Minnie Headley, Inez McKee, Mack Durbin, Mrs. Eula Culp, Mrs. Etta Durbin, Mrs. Zella Scott. Organists were Mrs. Zella Scott and Mrs. Eula Culp. We cordially invite everybody to come to our singing on the 2nd. and 4th Sunday evenings.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Robert Bean and family desire to publicly express our grateful appreciation of the many kindnesses and helpful service rendered by their friends and neighbors during the illness, death and burial of their husband and father, Robert Bean.

We especially want to thank Dr. S. C. Wood for his kindness and sympathy shown us during the sickness and death of our husband and father, also the nurses, Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Thompson of Birmingham.

We sincerely appreciate the beautiful floral offerings sent in at the time of the funeral.

LIBERTY HILL

Our singing society met here Sunday afternoon with a small crowd, but we had some splendid singing. Those who directed are: Messrs. Kermit Lowery, Mr. Robinson from Verbena, D. T. Melton, J. W. Lowery, Houston Melton and Hiram Littlejohn. We also had a solo by Mr. Robinson. Pianists were: Mrs. Lela Thornton, Mrs. Zelma Littlejohn and Mrs. Lucile Lowery. The singing was opened and closed with prayer by our chaplin, D. T. Melton.

We invite everybody to our singings and also our preaching service on each second Sunday. We have, in our estimation, one of the best preachers in the state.

ALPHINE

We are all glad to see the bright rays of sun drying out the muddy roads. They have been bad beyond comparison to ever before, we have so much to be thankful for in 1930.

The W. M. S. is still pressing with taht sweet sprit of interest.

Tis good to see them all wearing the badge for others showing their love for humanity.

The 3rd Sunday is our preaching day. Come we welcome you.

"Two years ago my health began to fail, grew steadily worse and finally about a year ago I had to retire from active service entirely. My bladder was over-active, getting me up as many as ten and twelve times in a night. This pulled me down, broke into my sleep and made me very nervous. I had very little appetite, steadily lost strength, and no medicine gave me anything but temporary relief. Then I started Sargon and my improvement was steady, I sleep fine and feel great. EASTVIEW NEWS

As I haven't seen anything from Eastview in so long thought I'd try to let folks know we are still on the map.

People of this section are beginning to farm since this nice weather opened up. You can hear "Gee and Haw and Whoa" everywhere. That's the most important thing we have to write about.

Mr. and Mrs. Tobe Spear and little daughter Juanita and Mr. and Mrs. Tatum of Montgomery visited Mr. and Mrs. Lumford Spear Sunday.

Miss Velma Patterson and Mr. C. A. Johnson spent a few enjoyable hours with Miss Ruby Morris Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Peyton Gibbons and daughter Nell of Deatsville visited Mrs. Betty Patterson Sunday.

Mrs. Dave Driver has been on the sick list for quite a while. We hope her a speedy recovery.

Miss Ada Bowles of Bethsalem spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bowles.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Patterson spent the week-end with the latter's father, Mr. Josh Adams.

Mr. Cliffor Driver and his sons, Julian and Charles, spent the week end with Mr. Driver's mother, Mrs. Dave Driver.

Mrs. C. D. Price and daughter, Jewell visited Mrs. Buna Patterson Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Patterson and baby daughter, Dorothy spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Patterson.

EAST VIEW

There are several new comers moved into our community. We welcome them in our midst and extend to them a cordial invitation to worship with us at church and if they have no church home near them we invite them to make our church their church.

Mrs. Lola Nelson spent last week with her sister, Mrs. John Lett of Verbena.

Messrs. J. P. and Leonard Rushing and L. Speer made a business trip to Cooper Saturday p. m.

Messrs. J. W., Royal and Otis Coggins of Mt. Springs, were the guests of Rev. A. C. Nelson Friday.

Mr. Howard Smith who has been at work in Detroit, Mich., and Canada for some time is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Smith of East View, this week.

Mrs. A. C. Nelson who has been ill for several days is not able to be out yet.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Rushing were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Griffith Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Wells were the dinner guests of Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Nelson Sunday.

Our Sunday School is still growing. We had 60 on roll and 49 present in class Sunday. That was very good. Come back again.

Misses Ida Bell Dobbs and Gertrude Smith were the guests of Miss Cornelia Nelson Sunday.

Mr. Lewis Strength is visisting his mother, Mrs. Sallie Strength this week.

Mrs. Sallie Strength visited Mrs. A. C. Nelson Sunday.

Mrs. Clara Rushing visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. Lish Strength last week.

Come to Sunday School next Sunday.

LITTLE ECONOMIES AID FORD IN PARING COSTS

The Ford Motor Company was able to reduce the price of the Ford car and to increase the minimum wage of its employees by the almost daily development of new economies through better manufacturing methods.

A recent instance of this is a new hard chrome plating and heat treating method for hard surfacing tools used in the manufacture of Ford automobiles.

Steel, of which the tools are made, after being treated by the new method has been found to give 218 hours of service in certain grinding operations as against four hours, the limit of service under old conditions.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

Last year, according to "Industry and Labor," Americans bought more than one billion dollars worth of foreign goods—which could have been produced by American workmen in American industries. These purchases cost American labor employment for about 750,000 of our own working people.

These figures are interesting to say the least The American worker is the highest paid worker in the world and he has the highest standard of living. The scale of wages paid and the standard of living demand constant employment and this is only possible if the big home market is protected for the American worker.

Yet the free traders would have us believe that the farmer would be benefitted by a lower tariff on manufactured articles. The figures above quoted indicate that employment for 750,000 workers and high priced American workers was lost last year by the importation of foreign goods. Now if these American working days are sacrificed to keep European mills busy it is evident that the American worker cannot buy so much of the products of the American farmer for himself and family. It is no answer to say that this will increase our shipment of farm products to other countries. Four-fifths of what the American farmer raises is consumed in America. The European worker is paid only living wage and a poor living wage at that. The European economic system is built on cheap wages with foreign trade as the paramount consideration. Therefore no matter how much we import from Europe we cannot expect the worker in the European factories to buy our American meats and provisions in any quantities sufficient to offset the loss in the home market. Meat on the European worker's table is a rarity, and will continue so, no matter what our tariff rates may be, until such time as the European nations adopt American economic principles.

Not only is this true, but it is equally a fact that America imported last year many millions in products which could be raised or produced on the American farms. An increase in the farm tariff will help to correct this situation, but this is only half a remedy, and will remain limited, unless the job of the American workingman is protected too, so that he may pay good prices for the things which he purchases from the American farmer.

If the tariff was ever a local issue it is no longer so. To have real prosperity in America we must have prosperous farmers and prosperous city dwellers, and we can only have this through a broad application of the protective tariff principle to farm and factory alike, an application which will equalize the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad.

The tariff fight in Congress has been a long and tedious one. There are signs now, however, that the Senate will soon be through with the tariff bill and that an agreement between the two houses is not impossible. It is indeed to be hoped that we will soon get an adequate tariff law. No one thing would contribute more to the restoration of American prosperity.

GENEROUS AMERICA

In spite of our national knockers it canbesaid without fear of contradiction that the United States is a great deal of time in making money but at the same time we give away a lot of it. The figures prove this abundantly, and show that the United States is the most philanthropic nation on earth. For instance, in the year 1929 we exceeded all records in the amount of money given for public and charitable purposes. The bequests of this kind in the United States during the year amounted to two billion dollars, and this is an increase of a hundred and twenty million over the best preceding year. Two billions of dollars is a sizeable sum, and if money talks, as it is usually credited with doing, it must have something to say about the generosity of the American people.

The gifts went for religious, educational and charitable purposes, for the promotion of the fine arts, for increased playgrounds and public recreation. Churches, hospitals, schools and various institutions of a social and charitable nature were remembered.

More and more each year the successful in a financial way, is coming to regard his money as a public trust. He is coming to realize that since he can not spend all of it in a personal way, the best way to get a lasting memorial for himself is to do something wit hit that will be of benefit to the people of this and succeeding generations, so gaining for himself a kindly memorial in the hearts of men.

Let our record of public benefactions stand as an answer to those who sneer and the idealism of the United States and paint us as a nation of money grabbers. The Cincinnati Enquirer well stated recently:

"It is such a land, such a people, such individuals with the essence of divinity in their souls that is traduced and maligned by those social relutionaries who see in Russia, for example, the korkings of "a great ideal, and who constantly urge a change of the principles of government and society which have brought America to the peak of prestige and power the country enjoys today.

"This is a land of labor and business, but its great souls find time and opportunity to send the sun days of happiness, comfort, uplift, education and gentle practical charity into the lives of millions."

FARMERS URGED TO PLANT GOOD STAPLE COTTON SEED

County agent Stapp is making an effort to get farmers of Chilton County to plant cotton that will give high yields of good staple cotton.

Mr. Stapp states that the recent report of the Alabama Experiment Station shows that the average result of nine tests in central Alabama over a period of four years shows an average yield of 467 pounds of lint cotton of 15-16 inch staple per acre for leading variety, against 366 lbs. of lint cotton of less than 7-8 inch staple for some of the lower yielding varieties.

Farmers desiring to plant one of the highest yielding varieties of good staple should see County Agent C. E. Stapp at once in order that he can arrange to get several cars of the best available planting seed for this year.

Ruby Fay Williams, three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Williams of Birmingham, was buried at Clanton cemetery Monday afternoon, funeral conducted by Rev. Childs.

THE JACK POT

BY "JACK" HIMSELF

Ugh! Warm weather. Have to get up early. Feel bad — even worse than that. Work time. Redbirds daring "Old Man Winter" by perching on a willow sapling and chirping at the world generally. Coming spring-time again, folks!

J. N. Dennis giving his Dodge sedan fits between his farm and town work. Gee, but that's a busy man after the sprigs of green begin to show around in places. Jasper Dennis is a "dirt" farmer—the scent of newly-turned soil is sweet perfume to his nostrils.

More candidates. Candidates here—candidates there. No way to escape them. Candidates to left of us—candidates to right of us. Candidates front and rear. But let 'em come, and keep on coming—it's been said "the more the merrier".

Old ground hog saw his shadow. More bad weather. Notice, we said MORE. But we're used to it, now. Can't expect any worse than we've had, already.

Fishin' time again. Some of the old stand-bys already dragging out their hooks and lines. Poles appearing on the sidewalks at all the drug stores.

Folks getting busy along all lines. See all kinds of plows 'n' things going out to the farms. Stalk cutters, steel beams, planters, guano distributors, a few mules being bought.

Somebody says if we have a bad winter, with lots of snow and the like it is a good sign of a good crop year. If that's the case, we'll never get it all harvested this fall.

New post office going up. Rumor has it that a filling station will be built on the corner now occupied by the post office. Yep! Another one.

Pretty soon we expect a law to be passed to reserve all corners for future filling stations. That won't change things much, though. There's one on NEARLY every corner now.

An auto salesman giving some poor gink the "works". On the next corner a candidate is doing the same for another fellow. Poor guys—we certainly pity 'em. They're in for it sure.

Bring your gas masks along when you come to town now. You'll need 'em. If it isn't one gas-pump after you, it's two — sharpshooters, too. They train 'em to shoot true. If your name is on a few auto prospect cards or candidates' lists, it's just too bad for you. You're a marked man—better go to Mexico and be President. You stand a better chance to survive there, even if they DO kill nearly all their Presidents—some of 'em are bad shots—here they're ALL good.

"Jess" Baker talking to a voter. "Jess" has one distinction, any way. He is the only candidate who can boast of being a blood relative of "the father of the Republican party of Chilton County".

You know "Jess" is "Gran' Pap" Baker's grandson. And that's just what some of the Democratic know-alls of other days called "Gran' Pap" Baker, when he cast the ONLY Republican vote polled in the County.

Did he draw the horse-laugh? Certainly. But he got 'em TOLD. He told 'em he would live to see the Chilton County court house filled with Republican office holders. And he did! And what a kick he got out of reminding those Democratic hooters that they had called him "the father of the Republican party of Chilton County".

And, proud! How we wish he could be alive now on election days to see HIS party sweep to victory in Chilton County—time after time. We hope that some where, some how he looks on and rejoices to see his honest convictions borne out by the landslides of Republican majorities here—and know that HE started it all.

Just noticed a head-line in a Birmingham paper: "Steel Heads Visit City". Gosh! We knew folks were getting hard-headed, but we never did even dream they had gone that far with it. We always thought "marble-tops" were the limit.

Another traffic tie-up on Seventh Street. A bus takes up half of it, and about that time a bread truck blocks the other half, while the driver makes his delivery of buns. A minute passes. Two minutes. Three. Tooting horns. Wrinkled brows. Bad language. But SURELY Seventh Street can't be too narrow for a highway. CAN that be the reason? Seems so. Let's see—didn't somebody mention the fact that Seventh Street was too narrow while discussion was under way as to the best location for the State highway?

A court house wedding. Somebody says: "Life is one foolish thing after another; a courting pair is two foolish things after each other".

Old warm weather is bringing out the street walkers' army on Saturday afternoons. Now, let's see—how does that song go? "Two by two, they go . . . . . " Aw, heck, you finish it.

Gotta save some for next week. Just heard a bell of some kind. Might be a dinner bell. Got to find out.—"Jack".

A Chicago woman has brought suit for divorce and charges among other things that her husband permitted four saxaphones in the home. This ought to come under the ban against cruel and unusual punishment.

The old fashioned weather prophet predicted a long cold winter because the squirrels had heavier fur coats than usual this year. And we will have to admit the squirrels certainly knew their onions this time.

Press dispatches indicate that the French delegates at London are much discouraged by the lack of creative plans at the naval conference. Well, we supposed that the delegates were interested not in creative plans but in plans for scrapping.

If the price of wood pulp increases and it is found that our newsprint can be made from cornstalks, maybe in ten years from now the slogan for the farmer will be, "raise more cornstalks and preserve the freedom of the press.

When a jury reported in court in Pittsburg the other day, the foreman, who was a woman, reached in her purse for the verdict and then had to tell the judge she had misplaced it. Doesn't that sound home-like?

The next squeeze may not be in the stockmarket but in woman's fashions. The latest announcement from Paris is that the waists will be tighter in the new dresses.

A South Carolina judge has ruled that jurors may taste home brew in liquor law violation cases to ascertain whether or not the home brew is intoxicating. This rule may make it easier to get men to sit on the jury.

THIS YEAR'S PRIMARIES

Whether the year 1930 will be a good business year or not, remains to be seen, although the signs now are distinctly encouraging. But there can be no doubt that 1930 will be a real campaign year. The so-called "off year" campaigns seem to get more strenuous as the years go by. This is especially true since the almost universal application of the primary system which means that in most of the states the candidates must go through two campaigns.

During the past fow years there has been somewhat of a reaction against the primary, and legislation adopted has been designed to restrict rather than to widen its use. The fact remains, however, that in more than forty of the states primaries are still used to select candidates for the Senate and for the House of Representatives. The six states which now have the convention system are Idaho, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Delaware, New Mexico, and Utah. Only one convention date has been fixed up to this time and that is in Idaho, where the conventions will be held on August 26. Georgia has a primary but the date is not fixed by law as in other primary states. The date for the state-wide primary there is set by the Democratic organization.

Not all of the states nominate and elect governors this year but a great many of them do. Of course one-third of the states will select senators, and all of them will select members of the national House of Representatives. The states which will elect governors this year are, Alabama, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Iowa, Maine, Minnesota, North Dakota, Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Arkansas, Nebraska, Ohio, Wyoming, California, South carolina, Michigan, Nevada, Arizona, Colorado, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, New York, and Maryland. The states named here in the order in which their order in which their primary elections occur.

"HE IS A NICE CHAP, BUT—"

Chop that "but" off your sentence. It is the things you say after that conjunction which make you disliked. Men cannot be standardized and if you could make them all as much alike as carbon copies of the same letter, this would be a sorry world indeed. Learn to love men because of these little differences from your standard of manhood, just as you love a piece of handwork for its variation from machine products of which a thousand are duplicates. Just say, "He is a nice chap," and stop there.

OUR PRESENT POLICY

In a recent address at Philadelphia Vice President Charles Curtis said:

"It is a pleasure to call your attention to the fact that since the World war the people of the civilized world have engaged in the most important movement—world peace.

We would like to see the time when nations will settle their disputes by methods other than war. As a government and as a people we are doing and will continue to do everything possible to bring this about, but we have no desire to and will not be drawn into other countries political quarrels, nor into entangling alliances with other nations.

It seems to us that this sums up the present policy of the United States in a nutshell. That the United States is willing to do all it can to promote peace is evidenced by the record. In 1921 we called the naval limitations conference and made considerable sacrifices in the way of battleships in an effort to promote international disarmament. We promted the Kellogg peace pact which is the most important step yet taken by the nations of the world toward world-wide understandings in the interests of peace. We have gone to the London conference with a willingness to do what we can to further the cause of the limitation of armaments and are only insisting that in the final agreement we shall have naval parity, something which our position in world affairs, our world trade and national wealth entitle us to.

We feel that we can best promote the cause of world peace by keeping the skirts of the United States free from foreign entanglements and alliances with the nations of Europe. All efforts to involve us in such entanglements will only create suspicion and distrust in the United States. We are willing to go as far as any nation along the path to universal peace, but we feel that we can be of greatest service to world peace if we retain our national sovereignty and independence of action.

The British say that they want to abolish all battleships which is a pretty good indication that the British believe that they have something better up their sleeve.

One forward looker says that woman will never be really free until she can loaf like a man. In order to do this she will have to learn how to spend most of her time "in conference."

PEANUTS WANTED—I want to buy a quantity of peanuts. If you have any for sale, see me.—W. W. Fox, Clanton, Alabama. 2-13-tf.

The Man On The Corner

Some Sights He Saw— and Some He Saw Not.

The man who has been on the corner is not there this week, but instead he is in the bed at Dr. McLester's infirmary at Birmingham, we hope for only a few days. He is not bad sick, but is there taking treatment for a chronic ailment that has been bothering him for several months. Any way, this is just to tell you the reason that the man on the corner is a different man this week. After you read it all a time or two maybe you can understand it and guess at the name of the scribe.

Standing on the corner last Saturday morning we noticed half a block away across Second Avenue a tidy dressed man of middle age approaching us, and he had a big broad half-devilish smile on his face. At the second glance we saw that it was that good old former Clantonian and printer-publisher, Clyde J. Davis. After shaking our paw, about the next thing after saying howdy, he told us how glad he was to see The Man on the Corner appearing again in the dear old Banner. "It brings back fond recollections to me of my former days in the Banner office with Frank Crichton, Audley Johnson, Bob Marcus, and several other boys of the older school."

Mr. Davis is now with Bradstreet's Commercial Agency and is stationed at Dothan, Alabama, but he slips out over the State sometimes to get a little fresh air and see the boys. He tells a good one about a lady merchant in southeast Alabama who had just ventured out into the sea of merchandising. Upon entering her store he told her his name and that he was with Bradstreet's in Montgomery. They talked on a while about business conditions etc., and eventually the lady asked: "What street in Montgomery did you say you lived on? I have a brother living on Lawrence Street." Now, how's that one?

A pile of brick, scrap lumber, etc., may be seen down toward the railroad. That is where Glenn Boyd and Nip Johnson are building the new postoffice. There will be several nice things about having the postoffice down there and some not so desirable—especially to those near the court house section of town. It will be mighty far to walk. And too, you are going to see several changes in business houses down in the neighborhood of the new postoffice. There is already talk of moving hither and thither.

That new fire whistle sure is a wow. Somebody tried it out Saturday night; it was not exactly a false alarm but was the next thing to it. Somebody said it was a Ford car caught on fire and somebody else said it was a goober parcher. At least the fire was out before anybody hardly found it. But we are glad at that—better be an alarm and no fire than a real fire with or without an alarm.

A man can't stand on the corner long without hearing and seeing some politics. Will Bean passed by about a hundred yards away; he threw up his hand, smiled and said good evening. We would have known he was a candidate if we hadn't read last week's paper. And George Murrah is a little politer than usual. Well, that's just natural, and people like it too; only they ought to smile and present a cheerful countenance whether they are candidates or not.

Well, in passing we must say that the Republicans have out a fine string of men seeking office this time. There is something mighty attractive about the tax offices—there's a hotter scramble for that than for Sheriff or the County Board of Education of Commissioner. Probably there's more work than honor—and pay—to these offices.

Beg pardon, but we must mention our old friend Davis again. He was back in Clanton Monday, and was talking about fellows changing jobs. He said he had never had half a dozen jobs in his life but had always worked, and continued: "They say that a rolling stone gathers no moss; but somebody also said that a sitting hen never gets fat. So both these conditions leave a fellow in bad shape don't they?" When Davis left he said: Give my best regards to Mack, and be sure to put my name in the Banner."

Now, we are going to call it a day and go in. Some of the sights we saw would not do to put in print, else somebody would be shocked terribly; and there are probably some others that ought to be mentioned, but we will have to save some till next week. We hope that Mack will be back on the job by that time, feeling much improved. Of course, we believe that a big long vacation down to Palm Beach or Gulfport or somewhere else would do him more good than medicine. However, that's his business; so so long.

P. S.—Now I've gone and played it. Just as we got the type set for this column, here comes a big letter from Birmingham with two cents due—and it's from the genuine Man on the Corner. Guess he was sitting on the corner of the bed as he wrote. But we are going to give him some of the medicine he has many times fed to his friends who sent in something for the paper a little too late—leave it out till next week. But we will promise the readers of the column that it is a jim dandy and you had better look for it in this space next week. It has some ideas that will interest you and do you good too. Now, so long again.

The man who really knows himself may not know so much after all.

Most flappers are not as bad as they are painted.

Home is where a man can cut the head lettuce with a knife.—Toledo Blade.

PAPER MADE IN ALABAMA

We were interested particularly last week in the appearance of The Rural Advocate, the weekly newspaper of Tuscaloosa, when it came out printed on paper made in Tuscaloosa.

While the brown wrapping, or kraft paper which is made there is not very well adapted to printing purposes, we are glad to see the industry and home-boosting spirit of The Advocate in using it one week in order to impress on its readers one of the really big businesses that is going on at Tuscaloosa.

And by the way, we might say in passing, that while The Advocate is one of the baby newspapers of the State, we find it is highly interesting every week. Editor Shelton is making a newspaper that is out of the ordinary in its content.

Mr. R. L. Veazey of Mulberry was a visitor to Clanton last Thursday. Mr. Veazey is in the business of hatching chicks for the market, as a side-line to his other farm operations. While he is not in the business on a large scale, yet he is well prepared to give good service, and can be depended upon to furnish quality chicks to any who may wish to place a small order with him.

County Farm Agent's Notes

COFFEE COUNTY FOLKS STUDY BEST PICTURES

Enterprise, Ala., Feb. 10.—The study of pictures engaged organized farm women, boys, and girls of Coffee County during the past month. They were given instruction by Miss Allye Hughes, home demonstration agent.

Pictures appropriate for living rooms, dining rooms, bed rooms, school rooms, and other places were viewed and discussed. Copies of well known works by eminent artists were used.

Thirty-one demonstrations were given with a total attendance of 420. Of this 36 were boys. Those studying learned not only which pictures are appropriate for different places, but also how to hang them, and something of the proper appreciation of creative work, Miss Hughes reports.

A survey taken showed that 85 per cent of homes represented in the 22 clubs had an average of three calendars in the bed rooms and living rooms. The number was reduced.

STATE PAIL NOT FILLED BY COWS

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 10.—If the Alabama milk pail contained enough to supply the needs of the State it would hold 181,869,000 gallons of milk. But Alabama dairymen fall short by 67,500,000 gallons in filling this pail. Valueing milk at 20 cents a gallon, this means that milk producers are failing to get $13,500,000 they would get if they adequately quenched the milk thirst of the commonwealth.

These figures are presented by Prof E. W. Burns, extension dairy specialist at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, in connection with a plea for more dairy herd improvement work.

The statement as to needs is based on the theory that Alabamians should consume as much milk as the average United States citizen. In one form or another the average American eats or drinks 1,042 pounds or 121.1 gallons of milk yearly. To supply this for the State, Alabama cows would have to give them 181,869,000 gallons of milk. In 1929, according to figures just released by F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician of Montgomery, they gave only 114,369,000 gallons.

This amount of milk was produced by 353,000 cows giving on the average only 2,780 pounds each. This is very low production per cow, Prof. Burns said, and added that if the dairy industry is to prosper better animals must be used. He recommended rigid culling.

In this connection he reported figures showing that cows in five Alabama dairy herd improvement associations averaged 5,370 pounds of milk per cow for 1928-29. If all the cows in Alabama were as good, calculated the specialist, only 182,750 would have been needed to give the 114,369,000 gallons produced in 1929 by the 353,000 cows now on Alabama farms.

TREES PLANTED BESIDE BULLOCK COUNTY ROADS

Union Springs, Ala., Feb. 10.—The woman's Club of Union Springs has planted a mile of trees along the highways leading out of town. The departments of the club are planting crepe myrtles between these trees an dotherwise beautifying the roads by planting flowers and shrubs at entrances.

The other clubs of Bullock County intend to beautify their roads by cooperating with the Union Springs Club. This is being done as a part of a state-wide movement being sponsored by the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs and the State Council of Home Demonstration Clubs.

Mabel L. Feagin, home demonstration agent for Bullock, is helping with the movement here. In other parts of the State, she says, home demonstration agents of the Extension Service, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, are sponsoring beautification activities.

RURAL FACTS

No farm is well managed without some record of its business.

Spread of noxious weeds can be prevented, to a great extent, by careful handling and buying of seed.

Be certain to get catalogs from reliable dealers, and do not fail to provide for flowers as well as food crops.

More power and more machinery will make many Alabama farm enterprises more profitable.

FARM RELIEF SOLUTION WILL COME FROM FARMERS

Solution of the farm relief problem will come from the farmers of the United States themselves, rather than from any governmental aid, according to William H. Danforth of St. Louis, founder of the Ralston Purina Campany, who was one of the principal speakers during a record-breaking convention of Southern feed dealers sponsored by that organization January 27 and 28 at Atlanta, Georgia. Mr. J. L. Ruffin of Clanton, Alabama, returned today from the convention, which he stated was the most enthusiastic ever held under the sponsorship of the Ralston Purina Company.

Application of business methods to farming will bring the surest relief to those engaged in the agricultural industry, Mr. Danforth stated during his talk. "The use of accurate records on all livestock and poultry is absoultely essential for the farmers of today. In this way only can he detect the profit-makers or the profit-takers in his herds of cattle and hogs and his flocks of poultry. By careful checking on each animal and bird on his place he can cull out and use only the high producers and money makers.

"Carrying the business attitude of today further into farming," Mr. Danforth continued, "the farmer has learned that the steady cash income from diversified agriculture is one of his chief helps. This is especially true in the South, where it was formerly thought only cotton could be produced profitably. These men are now turning to dairying, poultry raising and hog raising to supplement their fram income. Within the past five years millions have been spent in the erection of milk condensories, cheese factories, creameries, poultry fattening plants and in some cases packing houses, which privide markets for surplus products of the cow, pig and hen.

"As there is a constant cash market for the farmer for milk, cream, chickens, eggs, lamb, pork and by the sale of these he is able to pay cash for his feed, tools, farm implements, seeds and other commodities, it is naturally the one-crop farmer who is now suffering the most desperate financial condition. Naturally, the farmer who has this ready cash coming in regularly can pay cash for what he buys and thereby get a lower price on his puhchase."

During the convention, Mr. J. L. Ruffin said, emphasis was put on new merchandising ideas which will help Southern feed dealers render better service to the farmers of poultry and livestock in their communities. It was pointed out by the various speakers during the convention that only by receiving cash can the dealer help the feeder in getting the most from his money. A feed dealer, he said, cannot lend money as cheaply as a bank, and it stands to reason that credit purchases must cost the customer more than cash buying. "Merchants" said Mr. Ruffin are giving their customers who pay cash advantage of a lower price per ton for the prompt payment of bills.

The convention, which was attended by seven hundred aggressive feed dealers from Atlanta, Georgia, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, and West Virginia, Alabama, was one of a series promoted by the Ralston Purina Company for the purpose of assisting the dealers in taking a prominent part in relieving the farmer of financial distress. Besides the business sessions, entertainment was furnished Monday night at a banquet for the dealers, during which a musical program was given by a group of girls from Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Georgia, assisted by members of the St. Louis convention staff of the Purina Company.

FEW FOREIGN BORN IN MARINE CORPS

Washington, Feb. 10.—Nearly all of the recruits who enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps in 1929 are native born, according to a report of enlistments for the calendar year compiled by Marine Corps Headquarters here. Of the 5,622 enlistments, only 149, or less than three per cent, are foreign born.

Each state contributed its quoto of recruits, Pennsylvania leading with 385, New York next with 356, and Georgia third with 282. Illinois, Missouri Massachusetts, North Carolina and Ohio produced approximately 250 each, and the remaining states fewer numbers. Nevada's quoto was only three.

Thirty-two of the sea soldiers came from Canada, eighteen from Russia, sixteen from Italy, ten from Germany, an equal number from Ireland, and nine from England. Several countries are represented by only one recruit each, among them, Bulgaria, Lithuania, Greece, Bohemia and Belgium.

In recent years only native born or fully naturalized citizens have been accepted for an original enlistment in the Marine Corps. As a result, the proportion of native born to those of foreign birth has been increasing steadily.

Funerals for scrub sires mean new life for dairy farming.

ARBOR DAY CHANGED

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 10.—A change in the date of Arbor Day has been recommended to Governor Graves by the State Commission of Forestry. Heretofore the first Friday in March has been regularly observed, but many suggestions for setting a date in the fall rather than in the spring have been received. Arbor Day, or Tree Planting Day, is observed generally among the states, the exact date varying considerably. In some cases the state legislature has legally set a certain day to be observed as Arbor Day, while in other states the matter is left to the Governor.

While tree planting can be done from late fall to early spring, as a rule it has been found most satisfactory to concentrate on this work during some particular season instead of extending it over so great a part of the year. Since the forestry interests of the state are nearly always much occupied with fire protection matters during the winter and spring, it is felt that the planting work should be taken care of before that time. The latter part of November and the early part of December are particularly suitable for such activities. Various women's clubs and other organizations have suggested a date during such season and in view of all of the circumstances the Commission of Forestry has decided to second their recommendations.

MT. PLEASANT JR. HIGH DEFEATS UNION GROVE

In a hotly contested battle last Saturday afternoon the Mt. Pleasant basket-ball lads came out on the large end of the score over the Union Grove team, on Union's court, 15 to 14.

This game was the most interesting and the most exciting one yet played by either team.

At the end of the first half Union was clinging to the lead, 11 to 8, but at the beginning of the second half the Mt. Pleasant boys came out of their slow movements, which was evident all through the first half and ran up a 5 point lead.

Hodgens with 6 points and Littlejohn with 7 were high scores for the winners.

Glass, Jones, and Chandler were the main scores for Union.

The game was replete with thrills and excitement as a large crowd was lined around the court cheering for both teams.

These two teams meet on the indoor court at Clanton next Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Be there, for these two Jr high teams have developed a strong friendly rivalry between them and a real thriller for Jr. high teams will be forth-coming.

On Friday afternoon, February 21, Enterprise Jr. High plays Mt. Pleasant on the Mt. Pleasant court.

Middle Life Suffering

"THREE years ago, I was in bad health," says Mrs. J. B. Bean, of Kirbyville, Texas. "I was going through a critical time, and I suffered a lot.

"My back hurt almost all the time, and my legs and ankles ached. My head hurt me until sometimes I would be almost past going.

"As I had used Cardui before, and knew how much I had improved after taking it, I got a bottle and started taking it. I continued to use it for several months. After awhile I regained my health, and I feel that I could never have gotten through that awful time without Cardui."

OFFICER DIES AFTER SCUFFLE ACCIDENT

Tuscaloosa, Ala. Feb. 11—William Hamner, 23, Northport motorcycle officer, died early Tuesday from bullet wounds said to have been accidentally inflicted Monday night during a friendly scuffle with Clarence Thorson, Tuscaloosa sanitary inspector. He will be buried here Wednesday.

DOCTORS DISAGREE

When children are irritable and peevish, grind their teeth and sleep restlessly, have digestive pains and disturbances, lack of appetite, and have itching eyes, nose and fingers, doctors will not always agree that they are suffering from worms. Many mothers, too, will not believe that their carefully brought up children can have worms. The fact remains that these symptoms will yield, in a great majority of cases, to a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, the sure expellant of round and pin wirms. If your child has any of these symptoms, try this harmless, old fashioned remedy, which you can get at 35c per bottle from Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton.

New Jobs As Organists Open to Modern Women

Radio Star Advises Sister Musicians to Look About Them

New York City.—Thousands of professional feminine organists, many of whom now earn pitifully small salaries playing the organ in small town churches, are unaware of a splendid new field open to women with the capabilities possessed by these organists.

It is Ann Leaf, famous radio organist, who sends out a passionately sincere appeal to her sister artists not to neglect this new opportunity.

"There are now, at this moment, some five thousand positions open in the larger theatres of the country for organists," she asserts. "Women should be able to fill the greater number of these positions, could fill them, if they would only open their eyes to the opportunities awaiting them as commercial organists.

"Any woman who can play popular music is a potential organist. The organ has probably done more than any other instrument to musicalize the early jazz. It can interpret the modern type of music perfectly. 'The Church Upon The Hill,' a foxtrot song for which I get many requests, could not have been played on the old organ with any degree of beauty, but with a modern organ, it sounds marvelous. It is hard for many women to bridge the gap between the choir organ and the modern console, but experience has taught me that the best dance music can be gotten from this new instrument."

The commercial jobs of which Miss Leaf speaks, pay from one hundred and fifty to two hundred dollars a week.

Miss Leaf shatters the tradition that only a husky person can play the organ. She is four feet eleven inches tall and weighs less than a hundred pounds. She got her training as church organist in Omaha, and has held some of the highest-paid musical jobs in the United States.

A GREAT DISCOVERY

When Pasteur discovered, in 1852, that the infection of wounds was caused by malignant bacteria, he performed a service of inestimable value to mankind. Since then medical science has been producing better and better antiseptics, to kill these germs that may enter the smallest cut and give us diseases such as typhoid, tuberculosis and lockjaw. Now, all you have to do to be sure that these dreadful germs will not infect a wound, is to wash that wound, however small, thoroughly with Liquid Borozone, the modern anticeptic. You can get Liquid Borozone, in a size to fit your needs and purse, from Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton.

EARLY LINCOLN PORTRAIT

The earliest portrait of Lincoln taken just before he was 40 years old. This was fourteen years after he courted Ann Rutledge, but he must have looked very nearly like this at that time. Woodrow Wilson said of this portrait: "It seems to me both striking and singular. The fine brows and forehead, and the pensive sweetness of the clear eyes, give to the noble face a peculiar charm. There is in the expression the dreaminess of the familiar face without its later sadness."

Lincoln's Writing Treasured

A card on which President Lincoln had written with a pencil a message to Senator James Lane, the first man elected to the United States senate in Kansas, is treasured by the senator's daughter, Mrs. A. D. Johnson of Lawrence.

"Will Senator Lane please excuse me tonight? A. Lincoln." That was the message the President scrawled on the senator's own calling card. It was a reply to some invitation the senator had sent to the Chief Executive.

I wish so to conduct the affairs of this administration that if, at and when I come to lay down the reins of power, I have lost every other friend on earth, I shall at least have one friend left, and that friend shall be down inside of me. —Lincoln.

THE USEFUL WAFFLE

When in doubt, have waffles. The ingredients are staples on hand in every household. The uses of the waffle run the course of breakfast, lunch, the impromptu tea party, dinner or supper. There is no food more adapatable, none more variable in its uses, none quicker and easier of production, than the waffle.

The breakfast waffle is never wasted. Capacity reached, the batter that is left can be put away in the refrigerator, and used again at lunch or at the light supper in the evening and, still better, at the impromptu afternoon tea.

Breakfast waffles are served with butter and sugar, or butter and sirup, with bacon or with sausage, depending on the likes and dislikes of the waffle-fed family. There are varieties in even the breakfast use of the useful waffle.

For lunch or the impromptu afternoon collation, jam or jelly or marmalade can be used instead of butter, and for creamed chicken or sea food, the waffle makes an ideal base at supper time. The useful waffle is adaptable to any circumstance or to any taste.

JUST LIKE AN OSTRICH

A medical authority says that a person who tries to cover up skin blemishes and pimples with toilet creams and powders is just as foolish as an ostrich that buries its head in the sand to avoid danger. Skin eruptions are nature's warning that constipation is throwing poisons into your blood stream and weakening your whole condition. Remove the constipated condition and you will strengthen your system against disease and clear up your disfigured skin. The best way to do this is with a course of Herbine, the vegetable medicine that acts naturally and easily, which you can get at Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton.

UNIVERSITY NEWS

University, Ala., Feb. 10.—Dr. John R. McLure, director of the University of Alabama summer school has announced that the second annual state conference for school board members, city and county superintendents, supervisors, elementary and high school principals, and other school officials will be held during the week beginning June 16.

This conference, which was attended last summer by more than 400 educators, including 300 school administrators, supervisors, and board members, has become a feature of the University of Alabama summer school program, Dr. McLure declared.

The outstanding feature of the conference will be a series of lectures by Dr. N. L. Engelhardt, professor of education, Teachers College, Columbia University. According to prominent educators, Dr. Engelhardt's daily lectures throughout the conference will offer an unparallelled opportunity to school officials of the state.

Dr. Englehardt is well konwn to teachers and school officials in Alabama. He has visited the state a number of times and has collaborated in several important educational surveys made in the state in recent years notably in Montgomery County and the survey of state normal schools.

Dr. Englehardt is said to be one of the leading recognized authorities in school administration. He is author and co-author of books on school administration and standard systems of school records and reports well known to men throughout the country.

He has conducted or shared responsibility in school surveys of Atlanta, Augusta, Jacksonville, Tampa, Baltimore, Chattanooga, Beaumont, and other cities.

Mr. Guy H. DeShazo made a business trip to Montgomery Tuesday of this week. He was accompanied by O. L. Hedden of Isabella.

FIVE TO BE TAKEN BACK TO PRISON

Chilton negro fails to return to prison after Christmas Holidays

Montgomery, Ala. Feb. 11—Transfer agents were enroute Tuesday night to cities in four states to return five Alabama convicts who are being held for the State Convict Department, three as escapes and two as parole violators.

Bonnie Morris, Sentenced in Chilton County to life imprisonment for first degree murder, is in custody at Jacksonville, Fla. He was one of five convicts who failed to return at the expiration of a Christmas parole.

Earl Brown, Montgomery, County, was one of the three convicts in a sensational escape from the Kilby prison farm several weeks ago after overpowering a guard and stealing an automobile. He was caught in Chattanooga and is awating return to complete a term imposed for a narcotic law violation.

Brown escaped Jan. 18 with three confederates, Walter Smith, Talladega, County; Will Yarbrough, Jefferson, County, and Chessie Lee Kornegay, Tuscalosa. Kornegay was captured at Tuscaloosa. Smith and Yarbrough are at large.

Nick Magoulas, Jefferson County liquor law violator, who is charged with violating his parole, was reported captured at Akron, Ohio. Frank Patterson Jefferson, County negro, sentenced for grand larceny, is held in Fort Worth, Texas.

Charlie Hines who escaped from the state gravel pit at Brent, Perry County, in October, 1929, is held in Wayensboro, Tenn.

SUPT. URGES A BETTER PLAN FOR SCHOOLS

Will Try To Provide For Teaching Adults Who Can Not Read or Write

Last week in visiting one of the schools I was checking up on the books in the library. This was a small school and I was interested in knowing how much the books were being used and how well they were taking care of them.

Last summer an Opportunity School was taught at this place. One man who is above fifty years old attended the school. Until that time he could neither read nor write but was one of the students who learned very rapidly. The teacher told me that this man was now reading the books which the school had purchased in their library and was enjoying them immensely.

In discussing this matter with some people since visiting this school I have stated that the amount of good gotten out of the school by this one man is enough to more than justify the cost of the entire school for people who attended the school last summer. I have known this man all my life and he has always been a valuable man in his community. I have known his desire to read and write. He is now having an opporthnity to enjoy good books and get a new insight to life.

Not many days ago we felt that after people were grown that they had reached the age they could learn no more in school. We have found in our own county in the Opportunity School work that this old idea was entirely wrong. I do not recall any child who has ever learned as rapidly as some of the older people who attended the Opportunity schools.

At the present time the State of Alabama is putting on an intensive campaign in an effort to teach every man and woman to read and write by April 1st. This may seem an impossibility but yet it is not impossible for many people at least.

It is a humiliating fact that Alabama stands fourth from the bottom in total white illiteracy in the Union. A fact still more humiliating to the people of Chilton county is tnat our county stands twenty-eighth from the top in the counties of the State in illiteracy.

I would be glad if the readers of this article would furnish the teacher of the local school with a list of all adults who can neither read nor write. If you will do this the teacher will then send the list to me and we will make an effort to have those who wish to learn to read and write taught. Let me urge every citizen to do his or her part in making it possible for everyone to read and to write.

Yours for a better educational system.—B. Lawrence, County Superintendent of Education.

Bring lunch for yourself and dog, so that the crowd will not be so small in the afternoon. Keep your thinker in your cocoanut percolating and we will outnumber the other hunts in the county when the count is made.—J. C. Miner.

PERRY BODY SHOP IN NEW LOCATION

The Perry Body Shop, Perry Littlejohn, proprietor, has been moved into a new location. The shop now occupies the building on Sixth Street, between Clanton Laundry and The Little Paint Store.

The new place makes possible an enlargement of facilities. Many new woodworking appliances have been added, and the scope of work will be broadened to take in several new phases.

In addition to building automobile and bus bodies, the shop will turn out all kinds of specialties in woodwork. Mr. Littlejohn has built a special machine which is adapted to doing almost every known kind of finishing work with wood.

The line of work is extended to include repairing of furniture, sewing machines, phonographs, pistols, guns, locks, stoves; building ice boxes, refrigerators, cedar chests, radio cabinets, sewing tables, spinet desks, and porch sets. Automobile tops built and re-covered; windshield and window glass cut and fitted; upholstering

On Tuesday, the twenty-fifth of February, 1930, Mr. and Mrs. Mullins will be at home to their friends from four to six in the afternoon and from seven to nine in the evening. No cards.

Standard Station Is Open For Business

M. M. Pugh, Manager; Assisted By Durwood and J. L. Teel

The new Standard Oil Company Service Station, No. 121, in Clanton, is now open and ready for business. The management of the place is under direction of Mr. M. M. Pugh, an expierenced automobile service man. He has as his helpers, Durwood and J. L. Teel, who are also familiar figures in the gas station business in Clanton. Mr. Pugh formerly had charge of the Woco Pep station in front of Courthouse. The Teel boys were formerly with Dief's Service Station for a long time.

The new Standard station is located on the Highway across from the Dixie Cafe. It is a brand new place from start to finish, just completed according to the most modern plans devised and constructed by the Standard Oil Company. It is one of the most attractive looking places for motorists in this part of the State.

Discussing his plans for the operation of the business, Mr. Pugh said: "We will not be satisfied to give merely as good service here as the other stations give. Our determination is in every case to make our customer feel that he has gotten a better service than he gets elsewhere."

From time to time Mr. Pugh expects to add to his business a line of automobile accessories, tires, tubes, etc.

"There is only one thing I want you to tell the folks for me," said Durwood Teel. It is this: "We have here absolutely the best machine for greasing cars that has ever come down the pike."

ARTICLES SENT IN FOR PUBLICATION WITHOUT NAME

The Union-Banner has time and again given notice through the paper that all articles sent in for publication should bear the name of the writer. If the name of the writer is not known, it is the policy of this paper not to publish the article.

An article bearing no name except "A Farmer" came to us through the mail last week, and through an oversight was published, without our knowledge of the name of the writer. As stated above, this is contrary to our custom and policy, so we will ask that the writer of the article in last week's paper headed "The Independent Merchant" and signed "A Farmer" send us his name for our records and information.

Also all who wish to write to the paper in the future on any subject, please sign your name to the article. If you do not wish your name used we will omit it from the printed article, but we must know it.

CHILD WELFARE OFFICE IS MOVED

On account of the crowded condition in the office of the County Superintendent of Education, the Child Welfare Department, in charge of Mrs. C. E. Stapp, has been moved into the offices formerly occupied by Dr. Marcus, in the Gore Building.

Anyone wishing to see Mrs. Stapp will find her in the new location all day on Saturdays and Mondays, and on afternoon of Thursdays. She finds that it is necessary to maintain certain office days in order that she may have more time to visit schools and make the necessary visits that the Child Welfare work demands over the County.

SCHOOL TAX ELECTION APRIL 8

The voters of Chilton County will have another opportunity to pass on the question of a one-mill tax for school purposes. In response to a petition duly presented, the Commissioners Court has ordered the election to be held on the 8th day of April.

It is proposed to levy the one-mill tax for a period of ten years from September 30, 1930. School authorities of Chilton County are very much interested in the approval of this proposition by the voters, as it is necessary that we have this levy in order to bring Chilton County into the full participation of certain school funds of the State under the present laws.

It requires a three-fifths majority of the voters to pass this proposition. In previous elections the tax has failed because it did not receive three- fifths majority.

Home-Coming Day At Walnut Creek

Reunion of Present and Former Members Will Be Held March 9th

Walnut Creek church being the oldest place of worship in the community in which it is situated, and the place where most of the older people of the neighborhood got their first Christian experience, the present members there desire all present and former members to come together in a reunion service.

The services will be held in the old time way; old time songs will be used and will be lined before singing them, as in the old days.

Bro. F. A. Gibson, one of the oldest ministers, will be present if able, and will read the old hymns, and take such other part as he desires. He will also be asked to preach at the 11:00 o'clock service.

A goodly number of the older people from the different denominations are expected, and the afternoon service will be an old time prayer and praise service.

Everybody is invited to come and bring your dinner, as it is an all day affair, and enjoy the day.

Hear the old folks hold service in the old time way.

JEFFERSON COUNTY TO SPEND $650,000 ON ROADS IN YEAR

Jefferson county will have spent between $650,000 and $700,000 for repair and upkeep of its roads at the end of the fiscal year October 15, says Harry C. Culverhouse, Board of Revenue member with jurisdiction over county highways.

Of this amount Culverhouse said approximately $400,000 would be spent in the convict department. The remaining $200,000 to $300,000 will be spent in building bridges and other items.

BASKET BALL SCHEDULE FOR THIS MONTH

Clanton Team Will Tie Up With Some of Best In the State

Clanton's crack basket ball team has had a wonderfull season so far, having lost only two games during the season, and both of these to the Southern Dairies, team of Birmingham, by close scores. To those who may not know, this team is know as the Clanton Athletic Club team, and has built for itself an enviable "rep" in Birmingham and other nearby cities where it has played. The "first" team is composed of Philip Foshee, Alton and Roy Connatser, Elwin (Doodle) Gore and Dock Baker. All of these fellows are home boys—born and raised right here in Chilton County, and take it from us, this team is far, far above the average. A bunch of able substitutes are available, too, including Jim Wade, Geo. Johnston, Bill Simpson, Luther Culpepper, and others.

The management of the local team has booked several good games for the local fans for the balance of February too. All of the following games should be good. The competition for the locals is made up of good teams from different sections of the State, an effort being made to get, when possible, the strongest team from those sections.

Friday night, February 21st the Standard Oil Company's team from Birmingham, leaders of the Birmingham Office League, will play on the local court at Maddox Warehouse.

Saturday night, February 22nd, the Birmingham Electric Company's team, leaders of the Birmingham Industrial League, will play here.

Monday and Tuesday nights, February 24 and 25 a team from the Marion Military Institute, Marion, Ala., will play here.

Wednesday night, February 26, the C. A. C. team will meet a picked team from Birmingham, at the opening of the new auditorium at Calera.

All of these games will start promptly at 7:30. Be there at all of them!

ANNUAL FIDDLERS CONVENTION BE HELD AT VERBENA

Verbena annual Fiddlers Convention will be held in the high school auditorium Friday evening, March 7th, at 8:00 p.m. Prizes for fiddlers, orchestras, banjoists, and for the best hog caller. Fiddlers write Secretary P.-T. A., Verbena, Ala.

GOOD SERMONS LAST SUNDAY AT FOURSQUARE CHURCH

The Sunday School at the Foursquare Church, east end of Second Avenue, Clanton, is increasing steadily. Since the new pastor has come, attendance in all departments has been better. The Crusaders have been putting on good programs every Sunday evening.

Last Sunday, at the morning preaching hour, Pastor Calentine preached a fine missionary sermon. In the evening, his topic was "Working power in the Blood."

The program for next Sunday is as follows:

10:00 a.m.—Sunday School.

11:00 a. m.—Preaching, by Pastor Calentine; subject, "The Tree that was cast in."

6:30 p. m.—Crusaders.

7:30 p. m.—Evangelistic message, "The man who ran away from God."

Each Wednesday evening, beginning at 7:30, prayer meeting is held, followed by Bible teaching by Pastor Calentine.

We thank all visitors for their attendance, and invite them to attend any and all services.—J. Matt Johnson.

C. A. C. BOYS LOSE TO SOUTHERN DAIRIES

The Clanton Athletic Club boys lost their second game last Saturday night. This game was lost to the Southern Dairies team of Birmingham, by the score of 30 to 24. Both defeats the Clanton boys have suffered this season have been at the hands of this team. No others have been able to take their measure. The other game was lost in Birmingham several weeks ago.

The locals put up a good fight, keeping the score tied most of the time. Several times the lead changed hands. Long shots proved the deciding margin of victory, the Milkmen making several shots from near the middle of the court.

MOUNTAIN SPRINGS

Our Sunday School is doing very nice work now; we hope it will do more and better work when Spring opens up.

Last Saturday and Sunday were our regular preaching days; the weather being so bad Saturday we failed to have service, and on Sunday our pastor, Bro. Nelson, was called away to see his mother who was stricken with paralysis. We were indeed very sorry to hear of her illness, but hope for her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Minnie Moates visited her father, Mr. Leeander Giles, Sunday, who is very ill. Hope for him a very speedy recovery.

Mrs. Rosa Headley is back home from spending a few days with her uncle, Mr. C. G. Mims at Clanton.

Mrs. F. M. Driver is spending a few days with her son, Mr. Dewey Driver.

Mrs. Maggie Coggins visited her mother, Mrs. Belle Coggins, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Otis Coggins wan in Walnut Creek community Sunday afternoon.

Come on people and let us make this year one of the best years we have had in our Sunday School, for this is one of the best things that anyone can engage in. Everybody come next Sunday and be on regular time. Let us make a good rule: just think. We can do what other classes have done and more. Our Sunday school must grow and glow and go; and I must help to make it so.

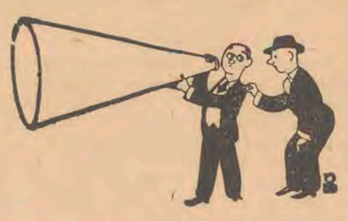
—Maggie Coggins.

Mrs. P. D. Wilson has returned from Chattanooga where she spent a few days last week visiting her brother, Dr. Joe Johnson, and her daughter, Miss Sopie Mullins. Mrs. Wilson informs us that Dr. and Mrs. Johnson are now gone on a visit to Mexico.

PROVIDENCE B. Y. P. U.

As our little Union meets in regular services we can see a vacant place that can never be filled here in this world any more. Our hearts are sad—very sad indeed—as we look around in our little band of workers, and find that our dear friend and co-worker, Marvin Merchant, has been taken from among us. We all miss him; O, how we miss him! He was ever so faithful and loyal to his community.

Dear Lord, we ask thee to lead, guide and direct each of us; help us to so live in this world that when the cold hand of Death claims us from this world that we can say, "Well done, thy good and faithful son." Bless this dear father and mother and dear sisters; help them to realize that God's will be done and not ours. May they ever be watching and waiting for God's angels to come and carry them to the other shore, where they can be reunited with their dear ones forever more.—A Member and Friend.



CAKE WALK

There will be a Cake Walk at the home of E. D. Coggins Saturday night, February 22nd. Everybody is invited. Boys, bring your girls; and take a walk for a dime. Be lucky and get a cake; proceeds for Pleasant Hill church.—Everee Coggins.

Mr. and Mrs. Omar Reynolds are the proud parents of a new baby boy. Mrs. Reynolds and the baby came home from a Birmingham hospital last Saturday.

To Washington

Soldier and statesman, wise beyond telling,
Mighty in war, yet greater in peace,
All through the years our love and devotion
For you and your victories shall only increase.
The years shall but add to your fame and your prestige,
For time shall reveal to a greater degree
Your wisdom and greatness, your love and your vision,
Father and friend of this land of the free!

Our hearts thrill with pride as your deeds are recounted,
We glory because we can claim as our own
A hero and statesman the whole world honors,
As splendid and noble as ever was known.
And down from the north to the shores of the southland,
From the east to the west, along every far way,
Of this mighty and wonderful nation he founded,
We honor and cherish his memory today.

Tribute of Nation Laid at the Feet of Washington

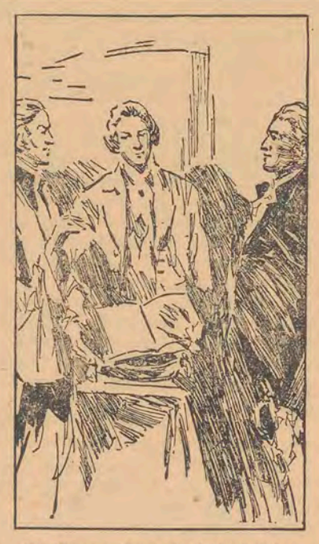
No President, no American in fact, has ever during his lifetime captured the popular fancy of a whole nation as did George Washington in 1789, Evelyn Thorpe writes, in the Boston Herald. He alone stands as the idol of an adoring populace.

When Washington, as President-elect of the American people, began the long trip from Mount Vernon to New York in April, 1789, for the first inaugural ceremonies of the nation, he modestly expressed his wish and intention to avoid notice and display as he journeyed through the states. But the people were too delighted at his election, too grateful for his splendid services in their behalf, too proud of his victories, too conscious of his greatness, to permit him to pass unnoticed. A fig for his modesty! He was their hero; they would adore him. True to the spirit of democracy, the people had their way. He was eulogized, feasted, feted and acclaimed from the moment he left the shelter of Mount Vernon until he entered the door of the President's house in New York city.

Hardly had he left his own dooryard when his friends from neighboring Alexandria captured him and escorted him to their little village for a neighborly farewell. Here, he was at home; these were his friends. They had prepared for him a great dinner to which the community's finest were invited. There was cordial good fellowship, eulogistic farewells and hearty well wishing for this great man who was peculiarly their friend and neighbor. Washington was more than grateful for their confidence and love and this frank expression of it touched him deeply.

Welcomed at Philadelphia.

He arose before daylight to continue his journey from Baltimore, but it was not too early for the Baltimoreans to do full honor to their departing guest. At 5:30 in the morning they started him off on his journey amid the cheers of the people and the boom of cannon.



Philadelphia was the largest city through which he was to pass and they had made extensive preparations there. The city was gayly decorated, impressive triumphal arches spanned the highways; streamers, flags and evergreens made the old city a festive scene. There was banqueting, speeches, music and fireworks. The honored guest was greeted with great enthusiasm and frequent shouts of "Long Life to George Washington, the father of the people!" It was a busy and happy day for them all.

The next morning found the gay city disheveled by the torrential rains which were relentlessly descending, making sorry havoc of the previous day's splendor and delaying Washington's start for Trenton until nearly noon. He rode in his own closed carriage accompanied by Lieut. Col. David Humphreys, an aide-de-camp on his staff during the war, and Charles Thomson, secretary of the Continental congress, who had journeyed to Mount Vernon to notify Washington of his election to the Presidency, and who was now escorting him to New York.

Again Crossed Delaware.

They arrived at the old stone ferry house at Colvin's ferry on the Delaware early in the afternoon. Patrick Colvin, himself, owner of the ferry, was on hand to personally conduct the Presidential party safely across the Delaware! What memories must it not have stirred of that earlier crossing of this river with his tattered troops in those dreadful winter months of the war! How well we know this historic incident which has been the inspiration of artist and poet in their attempts to portray the dramatic in history.

Trenton's leading citizens waited on the other shore, eager to extend a welcome. He was also greeted here by "an admiring concourse" of the inhabitants of Bloomsbury who had joined the Trentonians on the river's bank. "The battery fired a salute and the troop of horse and light infantry companies formed the escorting column into the village of Trenton." It was peculiarly fitting that Trenton should plan a great welcome. This was an historic spot and George Washington had made the history. Here he had captured a body of Hessian mercenaries under Colonel Ball, "who had done all that bad men could do to injure the good people of the Jerseys." At this very spot also he had withstood for hours the advance of the British and afterward performed one of the masterly movements of the war. During these eventful weeks he had "nearly freed the entire state of an insolent foe." These circumstances, now recalled, gave New Jersey its first opportunity to do honor to its deliverer. The people of "the Jerseys" were most grateful to Washington for the successful culmination of the Revolutionary struggle.

Washington Taking the Oath of Office, April 30, 1789.

Women's Unique Greeting.

The women were particularly sensible to the security his valorous deeds had procured for them. They were to have their share in honoring him and had planned a unique reception. At no other place, so far as the records indicate, did women play so definite and prominent a part in the succession of hero worship. Washington was deeply moved and grateful.

Here at the bridge, the site of a noble victory of war, the women of Trenton planned the spectacular part of the festivities. "On the north side of the bridge an arch about twenty feet high was raised, supported on one side by seven and on the other by six pillars. The arch was nearly twenty feet wide and about twelve feet in length. Each of the thirteen pillars was entirely covered with masses of evergreens and wreaths of laurel, and the arches above were closely twined about with the same material and festooned inside with long ropes of laurel and the flowers of early spring. On the south side of the archway, the side which first appeared to the Presidential party, an inscription in large gilt letters on a blue ground was fastened, and beautifully ornamented with flowers: 'The Defender of the Mothers will be the Protector of the Daughters.' On top of this mass of evergreens was a large sunflower which was intended to emblemize the American people who turned toward him as the only sun which would give life and warmth to the body politic."

Children's Tribute.

The structure had been erected the day previous by workmen in charge of Benjamin Yard; and the ladies had been busy all the morning putting in position the wreaths and emblems which they had with such taste prepared. Beneath this arch General Washington must pass to enter Trenton. As he came to the high ground on Mill hill, some 200 yards below the creek, the beautiful triumphal arch appeared. But as he passed through the archway with uncovered head a still more lovely sight greeted him. On the one side of the arch he saw six little girls dressed in white, carrying baskets of flowers; on the other side thirteen young ladies to represent the several states, who were dressed in similar style and also had baskets filled with flowers. Behind all these were a number of the matrons of the town and neighboring villages. As Washington entered the arch the six little girls began to sing a beautiful ode which had been written by Major Howell and which, under the instruction of Rev. James F. Armstrong, they performed with excellence.

After the tribute of respect at the archway the escort proceeded to Samuel Henry's City tavern, on the southwest corner of Second and Warren streets, where General Washington dined with the principal citizens of the place and held a reception in the parlors of the inn. Late in the afternoon he took carriage for Princeton, Rev. Mr. Armstrong accompanying him that far on his journey. It is generally understood that they spent that night at the residence of the president of the college, Rev. Dr. John Witherspoon. During the afternoon a copy of the song with which the little girls had greeted him at the Trenton bridge had been given him.

Washington's Gratitude.

All of this, contrasted as it was with the earlier memories of Trenton, stirred Washington to the depths of his emotions, and before Mr. Armstrong departed on his return to Trenton, Washington had written a beautiful expression of his gratitude for the love and confidence which had been evidenced in Trenton toward him. This letter he asked Mr. Armstrong to deliver for him to the women of Trenton: "General Washington cannot leave this place without expressing his acknowledgements to the matrons and young ladies who received him in so novel and grateful a manner at the triumphal arch in Trenton, for the exquisite sensation he experienced in that affecting moment. The astonishing contrast between his former and actual situation at the same spot, the elegant taste with which it was adorned for the present occasion—and the innocent appearance of the white-robed choir who met him with the gratulatory song, have made such impressions on his remembrance as he assures them will never be effaced."

Not much of the long journey was now left for Washington, for he had only to go to Elizabethport, where he was to embark on the remarkable barge which was to carry him across the river and up the bay to New York. Everywhere the people turned out to see him and to cheer him, making the whole journey one long triumphal procession, the like of which no other President has ever experienced.

Tush!—"Jimmie," said a mother to her quick-tempered small boy, "you must not grow angry and say naughty things. You should always give a sotf answer."

When his little brother provoked him an hour later Jimmie clinched his little fist and said, "Mush!"

MOUNTAIN CREEK, ALABAMA

Like a thunder-bolt from a fair sky came a letter from county agent Stapp last week inclosing a nice size check bearing the notation that it was in payment of use of cotton in county exhibit at the State Fair.

Now when a county agent will take the trouble upon himself to go to a farmer friend and select a few stalks of cotton and take them to the State Fair, he evidently has the interest of the farmer and the county at heart. I take this method of publicly thanking Mr. Stapp for his nice letter and check, also for the interest he manifested in my little cotton patch.

I notice in last week's issue of The Union-Banner quite an interesting letter from a party who signs as "A Farmer." I do not know just who this party is, but he really did step on the Home Merchant rather hard. Inasmuch is I am somewhat interested or rather engaged in the position of "pulling the bell cord over a hard tail," or if you choose to term it—chauffeuring a mule across the field, I naturally entertain a brotherly feeling towards this party whom we know as A Farmer.

In Genesis the 3rd chapter, 19th verse we notice that God told Adam that "By the sweat of his face he might have bread." I feel confident that Adam must have taken up farming after leaving the beautiful Garden of Eden, as we notice quite a lot of sweating going on in the farming business. Since the farmer has to put forth so much personal effort in order to earn his dollars he really ought to receive full value for his dollar when he lets it go.

However, in view of the above remarks, we should not be "penny wise and dollar foolish." We should remember that the chain stores and the mail order houses are not running a give-away business. We should not be like a cat fish—swallow the whole hook and run off with the line because it has a nice bait on it. We should imitate the little minnow who eats the bait and leaves the hook go.

I realize that we have some home merchants who seem to be void of plinciple and seem to think that the farmer should give him all he makes, while on the other hand, we have a large number of first-class citizens engaged in the mercantile business who will give us a fair deal.

It stands us all in hand to give some consideration as to whom we spend our money with. All things being equal in the aggregate I feel that we should give our home people the business.

I had occasion to buy a fifty-pound can of lard today, and upon investigation I found that the chain stores did not offer any saving. So now, Mr. Farmer, if your home merchant does not treat you fair, next time you are in Clanton call on Mr. DeLoach with the Clanton Cash Store; I feel that he will give you a square deal. He will sell you a plug of Brown's Mule tobacco for fifteen cents and other things at the right price

I am for the home merchant, so long as he does the right thing. Let us keep as much money at home as possible. I feel sure that Mr. Deloach would have gotten the wagon for you for a good deal less than a hundred dollars.—Chas. Cooper.

Motherhood
massage brings comfort

Complete relaxation and comfort is very necessary to the expectant mother's well being. Nervousness, discomfort and pain exhausts that strength so vital at this particular time.

Thousands and thousands of expectant mothers have passed through this period in their lives with the aid of "Mother's Friend," that time-tested, scientifically-prepared skin lubricant and pain-reliever which originated in the prescription of an eminent obstetrician.

Mother's Friend lessens pain

You owe yourself the comfort "Mother's Friend" gives. It is so soothing and relaxing! It is not a drug to be taken. It is used externally only—gently rubbed into the skin. Clean and pleasant to the touch. Brings relief promptly. Very valuable in keeping the breasts in good condition. Also puts you in fine shape for the approaching ordeal.

"Mother's Friend" is on sale at all drug stores. $1.25 per bottle. Try a massage with it tonight and notice the ease and comfort it gives. A booklet on "Things to Know Before Baby Comes" will be mailed in plain envelope, free, on request. Address Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. 10, Atlanta, Ga.

How Ford Methods Cut Cost of Distribution

Lower profits in selling save you at least $50 to $75 in addition to the many savings in manufacturing

TWENTY-SEVEN years ago the Ford Motor Company was formed to provide reliable, economical transportation for all the people. That original purpose has never changed. The constant effort in every activity is to find ways to give you greater and greater value without extra cost—frequently at lowered cost. This applies to distribution and similar important factors, as well as manufacture.

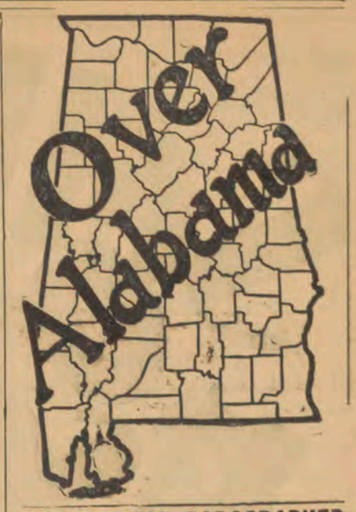
For the Ford Motor Company believes that its full duty is not only to make a good automobile at the lowest possible price, but to see that there is no waste, extravagance, or undue profit in any transaction from the time the car leaves the factory until it is delivered to your home. It is obvious that hard-won savings in production will be of little value if they are sacrificed later through excessive selling costs.

EVERY purchaser of a motor car has the right to know how much of the money he pays is for the car itself and how much is taken up by dealer charges. If these charges are too high, one of two things must happen. Either the price of the car must be raised or the quality lowered. There is no other way. The money must come from somewhere.

In the case of the Ford, the low charges for distribution, selling, financing and accessories mean a direct saving of at least $50 to $75 to every purchaser in addition to the still greater savings made possible by economies in manufacturing. Ford charges are not marked up or increased to cover a high trade-in allowance on a used car.

The profit margin on the Ford car has always been fair to both the dealer and the public. Within the past three months, it has been possible to effect still further economies. Today, the discount or commission of the Ford dealer is the lowest of any automobile dealer. The difference, ranging from 25% to nearly 50%, comes right off the price you pay for the car.

THE business of the Ford dealer is good because he makes a small profit on a large number of sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales. He knows, too, that the extra dollar-for-dollar value of the car makes it easier to sell and more certain to give satisfactory service after purchase.



Consider also that the Ford car is delivered to the purchaser equipped with a Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, an extra steel-spoke wheel, and bright, enduring Rustless Steel for many exterior metal parts, in addition to four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers and fully enclosed four-wheel brakes.

If for any reason you wish to buy certain small accessories, you will find that these, too, are sold at the usual Ford low prices. Replacement parts are also available at low prices through Ford dealers in every section of the country.

THESE are important points to remember in considering the purchase of a motor car. They show why it is possible to put so much extra quality into the new Ford and still maintain the low price. They are also the reasons why more than 35% of all cars sold today are Model A Fords.

What this Doctor did for Humanity

As a young man the late Dr. R. V. Pierce, practiced medicine in Pennsylvania and was known far and near for his great success in alleviating disease. Finally he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and put up in ready-to-use form, his GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY, the well known tonic for the blood. This strength builder is made from a formula which Dr. Pierce found most effective when in private practice.

It aids digestion, acts as a tonic and enriches the blood—clears away pimples and annoying eruptions and tends to keep the complexion fresh and clear.

All druggists. Tablets or liquid.

THINK OF IT!

Will you please give me space in your valuable paper for the following clipping from The New Menace Aurora, Mo. The title is "Think of it."

An ex-soldier who walks on crutches, had his leg shot away in France. Was gassed on the firing line for his country. His breast was bared to the bullets and received them. He wears two medals for distinguished and valorous service for America. He fought bravely and almost died for us. Now he is back home in Alabama. A cripple for life. But he is a Democrat. He is a man of intelligence and exceptional ability. He has an education. He is qualified for public service. He goes to file his notice of candidacy for State Auditor. But when he goes up to the desk the Reactionary Twenty seven stop him and ask. Did you vote for Al Smith? Or for Hoover in 1928. He answers. Why I voted for Hoover. And they say to him, can't be a candidate in this primary then.

Your patriotic service for your country counts for nothing. Your sacrifice of limb, of health, and almost of life itself mean nothing. Your uniform with its bullet holes carries no respect here. Your ability to perform the duties of this office does not mean anything to us. Your medals of honor for heroism on the field of battle are worthless now. No man can run for any office in our primary regardless of his merit unless he voted for Al Smith in 1928.

The above clipping should be food for thought to the honest voter. It is the voter who creates our government and is responsible for either bad or good governmnent.

The time has surly come when the voter should by all means inform themselves as to the honesty and ability of every candiate that is to be elected this year, from constable to governor.

When Political parties get to where they think more of the party than they do of honesty and good for law and order, I believe the time is here when we should inquire of the old paths and turn and walk there in.

Yours Respectfuly.
A. A. Jackson.

FROM REFUGE

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give me space to say a few words in regard to our services last Sunday. Our Sunday school was exceedingly good. Our pastor, Rev. G. G. Williams, delivered a masterful sermon at 11 o'clock, giving a general outline of Palestine. Those absent missed a treat.

The singing in the afternoon was fairly good although the crowd was small. Directors were S. V. Miller, Miss Delia Bice, Miss Clara Mae Miner, O. R. Robinson, M. Lockhart. Pianists were Mrs. Annie Robinson and Miss Clara Mae Mims.—Secy.

MT. PLEASANT WINS ANOTHER

In a very lively contest on last Friday afternoon, Mt. Pleasant Jr. High School Basket Ball team won over Union Grove by the score of 15 to 10.

The game which drew a large crowd representing both teams, was played at Maddox's Warehouse in Clanton. From the first whistle to the last both teams were on their toes doing their best to score the highest. Mt. Pleasant led at the first quarter 6 to 4, and 11 to 4 at the half and 13 to 6 at the third quarter, which gave them the lead all during the game.

C. Traywick led the Mt. Pleasant boys in scoring by sinking the ball for 9 points. Four of Union's points came by fouls. Daniels and Chandler for Union led their team with 4 points each.

Mt. Pleasant plays Enterprise Jr. High next Friday at Mt. Pleasant at 3:20 p.m.

WORTHY OF GREAT PRESIDENT

This wide veranda of Mount Vernon, where the founder of the United States spent his manhood, looks out over the Potomac river, south of Washington. Restored exactly as in Washington's day, tourists flock to see it in many thousands every year.

Washington Keen Man of Business

How does it come about that George Washington, a member of an agricultural family, living in an agricultural state, and concerned primarily with the occupation and use of land, may be styled with absolute truth as the best and the most farsighted business man of his time?

It has been my fortune during the last three summers to search out the family history of Washington's ancestors, writes Albert Bushnell Hart, professor emeritus of history, Harvard university, in the Nation's Business. From William de Washington, who settled in the town of Washington, Palatinate of Durham, in 1185, we think we have a straight strain of 25 generations of Washingtons behind our George Washington that can be substantiated; and in that set of ancestors, father to son, among men of varied talents and intellectual powers, I have as yet failed to find a single scalawag. In that line you find the lawyer strain. You find judges. You find for the most part landowners, holders of considerable estates, which they administered successfully.

Line of Successful Men.

There is in the Washington line a strong strain of practical and highly successful business men. Otherwise it would be impossible to account for the manner in which Washington reached out beyond his immediate field as a landowner to greater enterprises; and how eventually he became the first practical tarnsportation man in the United States.

Washington, of course, was a landowner. That is, his prime business was to run landed estates. It was a declining business when he took it up, when by the death of his father and then of his two brothers he came into possession of very large properties, including the Mount Vernon estate and a number of adjacent plantations. Altogether he had 9,000 acres of land, pretty much in one body along the Potomac, including Mount Vernon.

That land he carried on as a business enterprise, as you would do if you were charged with such a responsibility, to make 9,000 acres of land pay if you could. He was the first Virginian to see that tobacco was played out because the land was worn out; that the land would not stand the pressure of continued tobacco crops. So he turned to the culture of wheat. He built a mill to utilize that wheat and he sent it to market. He had his own brand.

Kept Accounts Faithfully.

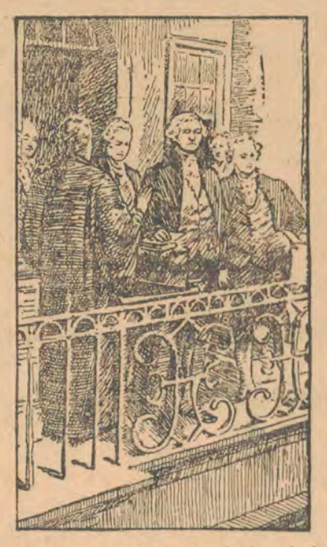
According to the customs of the time, he put up a distillery in order to make a different disposition of a part of his product. That is to say, Washington sought all the different kinds of agriculture that could be maintained on his farm. He raised blooded stock of a superior kind. The king of Spain made him a present of a very valuable jack, and he raised mules and apparently raised them to advantage.

Furthermore, Washington was a natural accountant, and the proof is in his diaries and in his account books. Almost the last thing that he put on paper was a little bit of bookkeeping. He kept his records in a clear, legible hand. He kept them according to the customs of the times. That is, he recorded whatever went on. His diaries have been published in four volumes but they tell you nothing of what Washington thought. He put down not what he thought but what he did, who his visitors were, if he went to church or stayed at home. That is, he kept a record to which he could refer to show very nearly where he was every day and what he was doing.

He was an analytic bookkeeper, and I suspect one of the first in America. Hence we find his accounts very carefully subdivided. We find an account for each plantation, a general account, how much he gained out of wheat, how much from tobacco, how many slaves he had, what the expense had been, and so on. He had that inextinguishable love of figures that affects some men.

Even Gambling Losses Listed.

Washington loved to keep books. One of his biographers has calculated his losses in gaming. He lost 75 pounds in a year, and he kept the account and added it up. But the biographer fails to notice that on the other side of the page Washington put down his winnings. His winnings were 70 pounds. That is, he was 5 pounds to the good, because, after all, he had the fun of it and the fun must have been worth at least 10 pounds.



Washington constantly increased his holdings. He was a scientific agriculturalist. There is in existence an interesting correspondence between Washington and a man named Bloxham, whom he imported from England to be the manager of his estate. We have a letter from Bloxham telling what he thought of George Washington, and almost on the same day a letter from Washington telling what he thought of Bloxham, not very complimentary on either side, but they came to understand each other and Bloxham lived and died in Washington's service.

Washington imported the best agricultural implements he could hear of. He was in correspondence with Arthur Young in England, a great reformer in such matters. He introduced seeds, he planted cuttings, he raised trees and shrubs. He was a creative farmer. At least he made a living out of the farm, and left it much more valuable than he found it.

Found Joy as Surveyor.

Again, Washington was a surveyor by profession. He began—everybody knows it—at sixteen years of age in the employ of his neighbor and lifelong friend, Lord Fairfax, to go out and make surveys. We have copies of those surveys. We have the original drawings he made, and the original plats. Only a day or two before he died he was out surveying a bit of property. He loved to handle the surveying instruments. He loved the exactness of the science.

FIRST INAUGURATION

Washington receiving the plaudits of the crowd after the inauguration as the first President of the United States.

Spirit of Washington Worthy of Emulation

Even though we may find it necessary in certain particulars to modify the advice which Washington gave his country a century and a half ago—as, doubtless, he himself would modify it were he here today facing the world as it is—there is in the spirit of Washington as a citizen and patriot nothing that we could wish to alter.

On the contrary we could ask nothing better for America than a revival of that spirit. There was a noble seiflessness and a generous breadth of vision in his attitude toward his public duties which must remain through all the years the high ideal for Americanism. He saw America as something bigger and finer than an opportunity for material success; he saw it as a spiritual adventure, a great experiment in human relations and in the development of human values. It was his appreciation of this phase of American possibility which inspired his pride and devotion.—Chicago Post.

It is customary to think of Washington only as soldier or statesman. But he was also a man of business, a builder of transportation, engineer, pioneer and promoter. He was our first millionaire. —American Magazine.

Mr. Bob Steele of Atlanta was in Clanton Wednesday. He represents the American Type Foundry.

FINDS STATE BANKS WELL SUPERVISED

Bankers Body Sees Less Politics in Banking Departments With Better Facilities in the Hands of the Responsible Officials.

A survey of state banking departments by the State Bank Division, American Bankers Association, discloses a distinct tendency the past five years to take bank supervision out of politics, to increase the discretionary powers of bank commissioners, to lengthen their terms of office, to supply them with adequate forces of qualified examiners and to relieve banking departments of duties foreign to banking, says a recent statement issued by the association.

"We have consistently urged that the office of bank commissioner be as free from partisan politics as the judiciary itself and that it be divorced from all other functions of state government," the statement says. "Further, that his term of office be made more secure and lasting, with sufficient salary and power granted to attract and retain the services of men of outstanding executive ability, courage, resourcefulness and successful banking experience.

"Five years ago the first survey of state banking departments by the division demonstrated the need for improvements. On the basis of data now in hand it is evident that, through the revision of statutes in many states, rapid steps are being taken in the right direction. One by one the states are coming to recognize the primary importance of strong, competent banking departments. The demand for increasing the effectiveness of banking departments is beginning to be met."

How Bank Commissioners Are Chosen

The office of bank commissioner is now operated as an independent department of state government in thirty-four states, the bankers find. In two states the bank commissioner is elected at general elections; in one he is appointed from eligible lists of the civil service and in another he is selected by the banks. In one state the bankers' association elects a list of five names from which the governor appoints one as superintendent of banks; in another he is appointed by the State Corporation Commission and in another by the State Banking Board.

"Terms of office of bank commissioners have been lengthened in several states during the last five years," the report says. "In 28 states the term is four years, in one, five years, and in three it is six years and in some the term is indefinite. A short term is condemned on the grounds that the commissioner has insufficient time to become thoroughly conversant with his field work. A longer term permits his rendering useful service through capitalizing his experience. Five years ago the average length of service was less than three years, while now it has risen to five years.

Higher Standards Required

"Signs of an awakening to the necessity of making successful banking experience a qualification for bank commissioner are evident. While eleven states report no banking experience necessary, the majority require experience of this sort, ranging from two to five years. Twelve states now have banking boards, with powers ranging from acting in an advisory capacity to full power over all state banks to issue and reject charters.

"A healthy sign is the number of reports which disclose that the commissioners have full power to appoint bank examiners or that these appointments are made from civil service lists. This power is now granted to the commissioner by twenty-seven states. Three require that selection be from civil service lists. Complaints are still made in a few states of political pressure in the appointment of examiners, but the contrary seems to be true in a growing number of states. The most capable commissioner cannot successfully perform his duties unless he is able to command the services of efficient, honest examiners. The safety of depositors is dependent on their work, and their appointment, fitness and compensation are highly important. The number of examiners has increased 25 per cent in the last five years."

STATE CAPITOL News

The drive against illiteracy in Alabama received an impetus with the appointment of a State Advisory Committee on illiteracy to cooperate with the National Committee, of which Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, is Chairman. The personnel of the Alabama Committee, as announced in a communication from Secretary Wilbur, is as follows: Mrs. Donald Comer. Mrs. J. L. Murdock, Mrs. W. J. Yielding, Mrs. C. C. Adams, Dr. C. B. Glenn, Mrs. Watt T. Brown, Birmingham; Mrs. Bibb Graves, Mrs. Frank Grove, Mrs. E. A. O'Neal, Montgomery; Mrs. A. Y. Malone, Dothan; George M. Grant, Troy; Mrs. L. H. Bashinsky, Troy; Dr. Bradford Knapp, Auburn; Mrs. I. F. Spaulding, Mobile; John D. Rather, Tuscumbia; William D. Jelks, Eufaula; Dr. O. C. Carmichael, Montevallo; Mrs. J. H. Burt, Opelika; Dr. Lee Bidgood, University; and E. W. McCloud, Decatur.

The Alabama Committee which met at the State Department of Education, February 11 completed the first steps toward organization of the state for raising Alabama's rank in literacy when the Federal census is taken in April. By the 1920 census report Alabama was 45th in rank. Only Louisiana. South Carolina and Mississippi have preserved the state from being 48th in illittracy for ten years. The Federal census which begins April 1 will determine the rank of Alabama as to illiteracy for the next ten years.

The State Advisory proposed to set up in each county an organization for the purpose of creating in each county such a strong interest in the promotion of illiteracy in that county that every citizen will become prepared to answer "yes" to the census taker when asked "can you read and write?" A telegram was sent to each of the Superintendents of Education of the sixty-seven counties appointing him chairman of a county advisory committee on illiteracy and requesting that he appoint a committee to be completed by February 15. The State Committee set March 3 as the date when instruction should begin all over the state, if schools or private instruction had not already been provided for all seeking to become literate.

Louisiana, South Carolina and Georgia have already active campaigns in operation to prepare for the census. Since 1920 Alabama has advanced rapidly toward literacy. About 90,000 adults have enrolled in the opportunity schools since 1915 and the illiteracy of children has become considerably reduced since 1920, 43 per cent reduction of white children's illiteracy and 36.1 per cent of negro children's illiteracy. The 1920 census showed that in the previous ten years Alabama had made the third largest reduction in illiteracy in the nation, but with her neighbors speeding up to outrank her, Alabama must of necessity acquire a greater momentum in her progress.

Henry J. Law, Associate Member of the State Highway Commission, died after a brief illness Saturday, January 8th. Prior to his appointment on the highway body, Mr. Law was a prominent business man of Andalusia. He had served as circuit clerk of Covington County, and as chairman of the board of revenue of that County. He was appointed on the Highway Commission by Governor Graves in 1927 for a two-year term, and reappointed for a four-year term in 1929.

Gevernor Graves appointed Gaston Scott of Montgomery former Private Secretary to the Governor, and later Assistant to the State Tax Commission in charge of license inspection work, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Mr. Law. Oscar Crenshaw was promoted to the position of Chief State License Inspector to succeed Mr. Scott.

The summer encampment of artillery units of the Alabama National Guard will be held at Camp Beauregard, Louisiana, July 5-15, according to information at Camp McClellan of infantry, special units, cavalry and engineers have been tentatively fixed for August 17-31. The time of the McClellan encampment is subject to federal approval, and also to approval by the states of Louisiana, Mississippi and Florida, which also participates in the encampment; it is expected that this approval will be given.

CHESTNUT GREEK

We met at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, our chairman not being present Mr. I. D. Huett was elected to serve instead for the afternoon. After one song directed by Mr. Huett a prayer was offered by Mr. H. J. Taylor.

The directors were as follows: Messers. Lum, Mose and J. R. Robinson, Mr. Gilland, Amye Boswell, and S. M. Yates.

The afternoon was spent in singing praises to our great creator the giver of ever good and perfect gift. We had a number of visitors present which we appreciated very much. We welcome you all back again next 3rd Sunday afternoon. We will have our1930 song books so come on good people and let's sing praises together for in heaven all christian people will sing with the Angel Band.

Service was closed with prayer by Mr. Joe Thomas.

Mrs. I. D. Hughes, Sec'y Protem.

Almost 1,000 cigarettes for each man, woman, and child in the United States were taken from bond in the year 1929. Internal Revenue Bureau figures show that the 119,649,104 taken from bond last year were 13,122,339,453 more than during the year 1928. In contrast, the amount of snuff taken out of bond dropped 619,000 pounds, total production amounting to 40,036,914 pounds.

Lesson for February 23

THE TWELVE SENT FORTH

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 9:35-11:1.

GOLDEN TEXT—The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few. Pray ye therefore, the Lord of the harvest that He send forth laborers into His harvest.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus' Helpers at Work.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus' Helpers at Work.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Helping to Win the World for Christ.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Recruiting Christian workers.

I. The Plenteous Harvest (9:35-38).

1. Christ's compassion (v. 36).

As He went on His rounds preaching the gospel of the kingdom, He saw the multitude as sheep having no shepherd.

2. A plenteous harvest and the few laborers (v. 37).

He saw the whole needy world as a ripened field of grain ready to be harvested, with but few who were willing to labor in the harvest field.

3. Pray ye the Lord of the harvest that He will send forth laborers into His harvest (v. 38).

II. The Twelve Sent Forth (ch. 10).

The sending forth of the twelve shows the methods adopted by Jesus Christ in the propagation of the kingdom. It should be clearly borne in mind that this chapter does not outline the policy of the missionary endeavor in this age. In order to show the dispensational aspects of the lesson, the following divisions of the chapter are suggested:

1. Instructions bearing immediately upon the Apostles' work to the death of Christ (vv. 1-15).

In strictness of interpretation these teachings cannot be applied to any later period.

(1) The ministers chosen (vv. 1-4). These twelve humble men were chosen and commissioned to carry on the work of the propagation of the kingdom. These twelve stood in a peculiar relation to Israel. (2) The sphere of their mission (vv. 5, 6). They were only to go to Jews. They had no message for Gentiles, or even Samaritans. After Pentecost this sphere was widened (Luke 24:46-49; Acts 1:8). No such restriction obtains with reference to ministers today. The middle wall of partition was broken down by the death of Christ. (3) Their message (v. 7). By "the kingdom of heaven is at hand" is meant the promised kingdom of Israel was at hand; that Jesus Christ, the promised king, was present and ready to set up His kingdom. After the church is translated, the same message will be taken up for a brief time by the believing remnant (See Acts 15:13-18; Rom. 11 and Rev. 7). (4) The supernatural authentication of their mission (v. 8). They were clothed with power to work miracles. These wonderful works were really done by the twelve. (5) Their maintenance (vv. 9, 10). They were to make no provision for their support, but to depend wholly upon the Lord who sent them. Since they had received the message and power gratuitously, they were to give it out in the same way. (6) Responsibilities of those to whom the message was delivered (vv. 11-15). If the people would not receive them or hear their message, they were to turn from them and pronounce judgment upon them.

2. Instructions concerning testimony from Pentecost onward (vv. 16-23).

After Pentecost, testimony for Christ would be fraught with great danger. Both Jews and Gentiles would assail the messengers with the most bitter persecutions. They were scourged in the synagogues before heathen magistrates. Instead of bringing peace to the homes, they brought divisions of the fiercest kind among families. In their defense they were to rely upon the Holy Spirit to aid them. These conditions were literally fulfilled in the period from Pentecost to the destruction of Jerusalem. Since the fall of Jerusalem, no one has ever been scourged in a synagogue. Verse 23 seems to carry the work forward to the time of the preaching of the gospel of the kingdom in the tribulation time. The Lord's coming then is so speedy, that their testimony is cut short.

3. The teaching applicable in all ages (vv. 24-42).

The disciple has the position of oneness with the master. He is courageously to declare the whole counsel of God, though most violently opposed. Though the testimony result in the most bitter opposition, the messenger should not be surprised or discouraged, for so completely is the Lord identified with His disciples that He accepts treatment of them as treatment of Himself.

The Man Who Prays

The man who prays is putting something into the hands of God that was not there before, and God can do for that man something when he prays that he cannot do unless he prays.—William Douglas Mackenzie.

The Power of the Blood

The power of the Blood avails for the blackest and deepest sins, and no man is beyond the reach of God's mercy till the gates of hell have closed upon him.—Echoes.

CHILTON IS PENALIZED FOR NOT PROVIDING REVENUE

Chilton has again been penalized for not prociding the maximum amount of revenue for the schools of the county. In the distribution of the Bonus Fund recently made all but 11 counties received the $4,000 appropriated to each county which had voted the constitutional four mill tax. Eleven counties received only $3,000 and Chilton is one of these.

From a study of the figures below it can be easily seen that all but Chilton County can afford to lose the amount of revenue which the one mill county school tax would furnish and the other penalty of $1,000.

We are publishing the names of the counties not having the four mill tax together with the enumeration and state appropriations from General Funds. They are:

County	White Enumerations	Col.	State Appropriation
Chilton	7,177	1,360	$ 37,233
Lowndes	991	10,152	51,386
Barbour	4,874	7,549	58,030
Green	865	5,101	25,580
Henry	4,539		36,996
Macon	1,577	7,829	41,186
Madison	14,387	5,956	84,240
Montgomery	12,262		132,027
Russell	2,639	8,351	48,442
Sumpter	1,889	10,191	53,990
Wilcox	2,167	8,927	49,131

Again looking at it from another angle these same counties have the following number of white children with appropriations shown:

County	White Enumeration		State Appropriation
Chilton	7,177		$137,223
Lowndes	991		51,386
Barbour	4,874		58,030
Green	865		25,580
Henry	4,539	4,334	36,996
Macon	1,577		41,186
Madison	14,387		84,240
Montgomery	12,262	19,239	132,027
Russell	2,639		48,442
Sumpter	1,889		53,990
Wilcox	2,167		49,131

The State Equalization Fund was provided in order that just such inequalities as are shown above might be corrected. Of course the state in making such appropriations was compelled to set a standard for local effort before each county could be assured of an equal term. These are startling facts but yet they can be verified by referring to the annual report of the State Board of Education for 1928. The state is anxious to correct such inequalities and when the people of Chilton County have come to do what they can for themselves locally then an appropriation necessary to provide a minimum term of seven months elementary school and a minimum term of nine months for the high schools will be made.

From an article published in the papers a few weeks ago attention was called to the fact that half of the county tax funds would be set aside to be used for other purposes over and above a minimum of a seven months term. This would enable the county board of education to greatly enlarge its program and we feel that is proper and right that the facts should be given to the people of the county; hence this article.

If you are NOT yourself

Are you being denied the happiness that is due you in life?

IT is easy to abuse our golden life-given body, but Nature has a way of signaling danger. If heeded, graver troubles may be avoided. That tired, exhausted feeling, lack of appetite, aches and pains, flabby flesh, skin troubles—all speak of a body weakness—a lack of the normal count of red-blood-cells.

Every normal person's blood should contain about 5,000,000 red corpuscles to the cubic millimeter—those vitalizing, tiny red-cells which give blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to every part of the body. It is dangerous to let the red blood count remain below normal.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions of people. It helps Nature increase the red-blood-cells. It promotes healthy body building. It is time-tested and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

You owe it to yourself to try S.S.S. It is easily assimilated. Pleasant to take. It is on sale at all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Alred's Garden Guide
FOR FEBRUARY

February is the gardening month of the South. Time lost now can not be recovered. If our hints for January have been followed, you are now ready for active duty. We can lay down no exact rule for definite time of sowing and planting; this must be governed by the weather prevailing. But everyone should be right ready to take advantage of favorable conditions as they may come. We recommend the following varieties as suitable for planting in February:

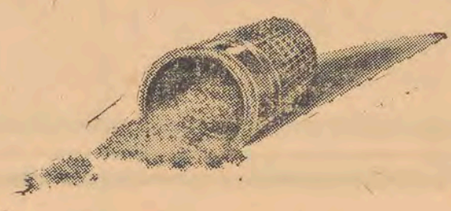
BEETS—Crosby's Egyptian, Early Eclipse, Extra Early, Detroit Blood Turnip, and Perfect Model.

BEANS—Bush or Snap Shorts, Early Red Valentine, Stringless Green Pod, Prolific Stringless, Bountiful, Best of All Wax, and Golden Wax.

CABBAGE—Improved Drum Head and Flat Dutch. These are the finest stocks of late cabbage. If your plants have not been set out, look after your cabbage planting at once.

CARROT—Early Scarlet Horn, Half Long Scarlet, Scarlet Chantenay, and Long Orange.

MUSTARD—Sow now for salad. We recommend the Mammoth Southern Curled Mustard.



LETTUCE—Sow and transplant from spring or winter beds. Select Big Boston, Simpson, Hanson, Veribest, unrivaled.

ONIONS—Sets should be set out now or they will not form a bulb.

POTATOES—Our stocks are from Maine. Plant Houiton. Early Rose, Extra Early Sunrise, Irish Cobblers, and Early Ohio. For late or general crop use State of Maine or Green Mountain.

TURNIPS—Sow as early as the winter permits. They require quick growth, otherwise they will be tough.

ONE THIMBLEFUL—
A DAY'S FEED
FOR ONE CHICK!

THINK OF IT! One tiny thimbleful . . . all the feed a chick can put in its little crop in one day. On this tiny bit it must live . . . grow . . . build bones . . . build muscles . . . start feathers. Think of the job feed has to do!

They must depend on feed for so many things! They get them all in Purina Chick Startena (mash) or Purina All-Mash Startena Chow . . . 12 different ingredients in every thimbleful. Cod-liver oil . . . dried buttermilk . . . alfalfa flour . . . granulated meat . . . these and eight others are there!

These 12 ingredients . . . think how carefully they must be mixed to make every thimbleful alike. Purina Startena and All-Mash Startena Chow are mixed over and over again . . . 960 times just to be thorough! You will find the same care taken with Baby Chick Chow (scratch) . . . to be fed with Startena until your chicks are six weeks old . . . and with Purina Growena (mash) and Purina Intermediate Hen Chow (scratch) . . . to be fed from then on until the pullets are laying at 16 weeks.

How little feed a chick eats . . . just one thimbleful a day . . . yet how important it is . . . how much depends on it . . . the chick's very life . . . its growth . . . what the pullets will do for you next fall and winter when eggs are sure to be worth good money. You can afford to feed only the best . . . Purina Poultry Chows.

ALABAMA BROILERS READY FOR THE MARKET

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 17.—The most delicious delicacy Alabama housewives can serve in February and March is the early spring broiler, a supply of which is now "ripe and ready for market," according to Director L. N. Duncan of the Extension Service, Alabama Polytechnic Iinstitute. Farmers of the State are sending the juicy birds to local and central points, where they may be bought by the public at reasonable prices, he said.

Information on how to prepare the chickens according to best methods is contained in a circular just published at Auburn. The title is "Eat Alabama Home Grown, Milk Fed Broilers," and it was prepared by Miss Helen Kennedy, extension nutritionist, and Mrs. Mamie C. Thorington, home demonstration agent in Montgomery county. Three attractive menus and directions for barbecuing, broiling, and frying are included.

In one menu they suggest that broiled chicken be served as the second course following oyster cocktail and crackers. Other dishes included are stuffed potatoes, creamed carrots, hot rolls and a salad of head lettuce and French dressing. Ice cream, coffee and cake make up the last course.

Another menu features barbecued chicken, following fruit cup, with side dishes of potatoes au gratin, baked tomatoes, string beans, corn sticks, bread and pickles. Combination salad with a pineapple sherbet dessert with cake and coffee round out the menu.

The famous old "Southern Style" fried chicked is the meat course of the third menu. The fowl is served following tomato bouillion. Cauliflower, candied sweet potatoes, celery, cranberry sauce, and rolls are to be served with the chicken.

The circulars are being distributed by county agents and from Auburn.

LANDSCAPE PLANS MADE FOR ELMORE

Wetumpa, Ala., Feb. 18.—Definite plans have been made for more detailed work in landscaping Elmore County rural homes. The goal for 1930 is to beautify at least one home in each community by planting flowers, shrubs, lawns, and making other improvements. This is reported by Miss Mary Olive Carnley, home demonstration agent, who plans to help the rural people with their beautification program.

S. F. Brewster, landscape specialist, Extension Service, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, will visit the county to help with plans for the landscaping. He does similar work in many other Alabama counties, Miss Carnley said.

BRICK BROODERS USED IN BALDWIN

Bay Minette, Ala., Feb. 18.—The home-made brick brooder is growing in popularity among farmers of Baldwin county. A large number have already been built, and the total for the season will probably reach 200, reports E. E. Hale, county agent.

"Farmers are discarding coal and oil brooders for the home made brick structure," he said, "because it is low in original cost, economical to operate and considered more efficient than ordinary brooders in maintaining uniform and ample heat."

SRUB SIRES GIVE WAY TO PURE BRED ANIMALS

Camden, Ala., Feb. 17.—Farmers of Wilcox ounty have placerd a cooperative order for a carload of pure bred bulls. They bought seven of the same kind in January. The goal to provide purebred sires for the entire county and eliminate scrubs, very few of which remain, declared W. A. Cammack, county agent.

Candy consumption in the United States is keeping even pace with the growing population, according to the latest estimates from the Department of Commerce. From 1925 to 1928 the population of the country increased 4.02 per cent while the 1,387,000,000 pounds of candy consumed in 1928 represented an increase of just 4.07 per cent over the figure for 1923.

In 1927 there were 62,742 tractors on farms of the United States. Last year there were 843,000 tractors on American farms.

Recent estimates by specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture indicate that a total of 126 million pounds of plant food is washed out of the fields of the United States every year. This is 21 times as much as plant foods used by the crops.

Back Quit Hurting

"I was in a very weak condition from a serious sickness," writes Mrs. I. Leonard, 571 Joseph St., New Orleans, La. "I was so weak, I wanted to sleep all the time. I did not have strength to do anything. My back ached nearly all the time. I was just in misery.

"My mother told me I must arouse myself from the sleepiness, and take something to help get my strength back. She had taken Cardui and had been helped, so I decided to take Cardui, too. After my first bottle, I could see that it was helping me. I took four bottles at this time. My strength came back and I gained weight. Pretty soon, I was my old self again.

"My back quit hurting, and I haven't had any more trouble since I took Cardui."

Says Sargon Brought Back His Health

JOHN C. SPENCER

"For the past year I have been in wretched health. Three bottles of Sargon put me in wonderful condition. My appetite is splendid now and my digestion is sound. I have gained ten pounds and my strength has returned in proportion.

"I woundn't be without Sargon if it cost twenty-five dollars a bottle." —John C. Spencer, 498, Sixty-Third St., West Allis, Milwaukee, Wis.

AIABAMA FARMERS APPRECIATE AID

Montgomery, Ala. Feb. 17.—That Alabama farmers are appreciative of the assistance given by the Federal Farm Board, and the Cotton Cooperative Association is demonstrated by the fact that they pooled approximately 5,000 bales of cotton with the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association Monday of this week.

Announcement to this effect was made today by Allen Northington, general manager of the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association, who said that the Alabama Association continues to advance Alabama cotton producers 15.64 cents per pound middling basis seven-eights inch staple despite the fact that cotton is bringing much below this price on the spot markets over Alabama.

Speaking in behalf of Alabama farmers Mr. Northington said all are very appreciative of the excellent service the Farm Board is rendering by making it possible for the Cotton Association to advance the 15.64 cents per pound. "This service is coming at a splendid time to assist in releaving the depressed economical conditions through which we are now passing," Mr. Northington said.

CONTROLLED FORD SERVICE

Controlled service for the benefit of Ford automobile users as it operates today is a far cry from the service provided by Henry Ford in 1908 but it is founded upon the same principle.

In his early days of automobile manufacture, Mr. Ford frequently would deliver a car personally to the new owner and see to it that arrangements were made to keep it in good running order. Usually he would find the best mechanic available and explain the construction of the car to him. When such a mechanic was not to be found the town blacksmith was pressed into service.

Obviously, as the business grew this personal service became impossible. But Mr. Ford made it his business to have appointed, in the ever-widening circle of towns, capable men who would devote their entire time to the care of Ford automobiles. This force of men worked under close factory supervision and according to certain set standards.

The controlled service, as it has now become known, was founded upon the initial business principles which actuated Mr. Ford, namely that his obligation to car purchasers did not end with the sale.

Just as the Ford Motor Company was the pioneer in making of "a strong, simple, satisfactory automobile at a low price" so it also was the pioneer in establishing complete and satisfactory service facilities. Provision for the speedy purchase of parts and repairs at a reasonable cost were the innovations of that service.

There are today more than 8,000 Ford dealers in the United States whose mechanics have been trained in special schools conducted by the Ford Motor Company and who are equipped with the latest service machinery. No matter in what section of the country the car owner may find himself, there is a Ford dealer prepared to render prompt and business-like service at fair charges, eager to relieve the owner of care of his car and help him get thousands upon thousands of miles of satisfactory, enjoyable motoring at low cost per mile.

FROM SHANGHAI, CHINA

Christmas is over and such a Christmas as we did have! I do wish you could have been with us and seen the little brownies enjoy their treat. They were talking about Christmas for weeks before the glad day and they came so early to the different Sunday School rooms on Christmas morning. They could hardly sleep of wait for the treat. How like American kiddies. At ten o'clock the big church, borrowed for the occasion, was packed full—gallery and all—with my brownies, their little slant-eyes bright with anticipation. We had them sing Christmas carols. Some of the wee ones took part with speeches and songs and then we invited a Chinese pastor to give them a Christmas talk. It was fine. When he saked them questions about Jesus they answered beautifully and when he asked about their love for Christ their wee hands went up in glad confusion.

Then I talked just a few moments, pointing out the Christmas story as painted in the great picture hung on the wall. Then I told them the presents that we had ready to give were not from me but were from good friends at home, children and grown-ups, that they had given because they loved them and wanted them to know Jesus whom they love, that they wished them to have a glad time on Jesus' birthday and that they had sent to them their best greetings and wishes for a merry Christmas. Then I asked, "All who wish to thank American friends and to send greetings hold up your hands." Both hands went up—a forest of hands. It was a jolly sight.

The church was so crowded it seemed unwise to distribute the gifts inside, so we decided to give the presents at the door as the brownies went out. For a while this went fine, but it took time and the wee people got anxious and crowded the passage until they got stuck, could neither get out nor in. A young business man and his wife gave me two cases of American apples and came to help. When he saw the "jam" he went inside and drove back the little "sheep" until the passage was cleared. But some of the wee ones looked as tho they had been drawn thro a knot-hole and tears were squeezed out. After this things went well. When almost all seemed to have gone I had lots of presents left, what was the matter? One came saying, "The children in the gallery are locked in, let them out," I shouted, and out they came glad not to be forgotten. Every present was taken.

In the afternoon we had another Sunday School in a district so far away the children could not come to the big church so we went to them. We had a jolly time there also. Here we distributed the gift-bags in the Sunday School room and the little ones, tho crowded to out-doors, opened up their presents at once. It would have done your heart good to hear their little screams of delight as they discovered the baby dolls, or pulled out caps of many colors, or handkerchiefs, or balls, or a pair of socks, or some longed-for toy. I tried to supply all with useful things like stockings, caps, handkerchiefs and towels as well as dolls, balls, toys, candy, oranges and bright red American apples. A happier lot of kiddies you seldom see and grateful too, for so their sweet little "Zip-zia Noongs" and bright faces proved. I am so grateful for the help of many good friends, for they gave me the glad joy of passing on their gifts and their message to these little kiddies and I trust God will let them meet lots of my big family in the streets of the Glory City some sweet day. Christmas is a wonderful time to me for it means not only making perhaps a thousand "yaller" kiddies happy; but gives me the privilege of receiving good letters and gifts and enjoying this real fellowship in service, which means more to me than I can express. It has been a strenuous time. I was tired its true; but its a glad tire, and I'm anticipating another Christmas already. With best wishes and kindest regards.

Yours in Christ's glad service,
Rev. H. G. C. Hallock.

VALENTINE PARTY

A Valentine party was given at the home of Miss Claudia Hughes Saturday night of last week. Games were played until late in the evening, then the guests were ushered into the dining room where sandwiches, fruit and heart-shaped cookies were served. Just before the departure of the guests a large heart with small ones on it, which concealed fortunes, were hung on the wall, each guest tried their luck with a bow and arrow. This was an object of much delight and laughter.

The guests were: Misses Gertrude Harris, Mamie Jones and sister, Irene, Lena and Gulma Traywick, Mae, Ruth and Elsie Dennis, Marie Stroud, Carmel Smith, Lillie Mae Dupree, Virgie Robinson, Ruby Vance, Fannie Lecroy, Lucile Calloway, Ora Devaughn, Buna and Annie Belle Ballew, Agnes and Bertie Lou Boswell; Messrs. Alton and Adolphus Harris, Archie and Floy Devaughn, Newt and Jim Mims, Juston Dupree, Floyd Connell, Askew and Woodrow Rockette, Ernest Jones, Earl Vinson, Horace Dennis, John Wise, Wilburn Boswell, Bonnie Miller, Luke Calloway, Brown and Deloach. Also Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Nichols, H. mith, H. J. Taylor, J. D. Hughes.

Under full production and managed for continuous growth, the forest lands of the South could provide at least one-third of the wood requirements of the entire United States, says E. L. Demmon, director of the Southern Forest Experiment Station. A total of 190,000,000 acres in the South are classed as actual or potential forest land.

CLANTON ATHLETIC CLUB TAKES ANOTHER GAME

The C. A. C. boys swamped the team representing the First Baptist Church of Birmingham last Tuesday night on the local court, 44 to 18.

The outcome was never in doubt after the first few minutes of play, as the locals took the lead to start with, and then it was just a question of how high Clanton's score would finally go. Clanton used several of the second string men during most of the game. "Doodle" Gore took scoring honors with 17 points.

Mr. Doodle Gore went to Montevallo last Sunday night.

FOR SALE—I have 2 pair match mules for sale or trade, also some young milch cows for sale or trade. I will have some more pigs later. I also have a registered Duroc boar for service, 2 miles southeast of Clanton.—W. B. Cox, R 2. 1t.

CHILDREN LIKE THIS SAFE PRESCRIPTION

Coughs and Sore Throat Relieved Almost Instantly

Stop children's coughs and sore throats before these ailments lead to dangerous ills. Thoxine, a doctor's prescription, now assures relief within 15 minutes to children as well as adults without the danger in the use of patent medicines containing harmful drugs.

Thoxine works on a different principle, goes direct to the source of trouble and relieves the irritation which causes the coughing and sore throat. Ideal for children because it is safe and does not have the usual "nasty-medicine" taste. No gargling. Just asw for Thoxine, put up ready for use in 35c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. Money bask if not relieved. Sold by Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama, as well as all other good drug stores.

SUPT LAWRENCE GONE TO ATLANTIC CITY

County Superintendent of Education, Buford Lawrence, leaves Friday of thi sweek to attend the Superintendents' Conference of the National Education Association. He will be away about ten days. The meeting of the Association is being held at Atlantic City, New Jersey.

FREE EATS AT DIXIE CAFE

The Dixie Cafe has instituted a plan whereby somebody in Clanton or the surrounding territory is given an invitation to eat with them on the Sunday following. A big box has been prepared, into which the names of everybody in the Clanton district are placed, on small pieces of paper. After shaking up all of these names in the box, one is drawn out—that is the lucky person.

Each week these invitations will appear in the papers of the County. Look for them. Mr. L. D. Easterling says: "If the lucky one is a married man, he can bring his wife to dine with him, and if he is a single man—well, he can just back his own judgement, and bring her on."

He: "Your bread is not as light as mother's, my dear."

She: "No? And neither is your roll of dough as heeavy as Dad's."—Christian Science Monitor.

OLLIE McDOWELL FOR MEMBER COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

The name of Mr. Ollie H. McDowell of Concord, Beat 4, is announced this week as a candidate for member of the County Board of Education. DIED AT MARBURY

Ernest L. Fike, age 38, died Wedesday, February 12th about 11:00 a.m., at Marbury. The body was brought to Clanton by Martin and prepared for burial and caried back to the home at Marbury. The remains were buried with W. O. W. honors Thursday afternoon; Rev. J. W. Jones officiating.

Mr. Fike is survived by his wife and four or five small children.

MRS. MAY M. HUBBARD BURIED AT LIBERTY

Mrs. May M. Hubbard, age 78, died at her home near Jones Town last Sunday night at 11 o'clock. The remains were buried at Liberty Hill Tuesday at 2 p.m. This was just 4 weeks to the hour from the time that her son, John, was buried at the same place. John was killed in Birmingham by a negro.

Mrs. Hubbard is survived by her husband, W. C. Hubbard, and five children—2 sons and 3 daughters. They are: G. Thurman and W. C. Hubbard both of Chilton County; Mrs. W. A. Jurnigan of Eufaula, Mrs. Victoria Roberts of Clanton and Miss Jennie Hubbard at home.

TYUS BOY IMPROVING

Burton Tyus, who was shot at the Cotton Mill Saturday night, Feb. 8, is reported doing nicely. He has been permitted to leave the hospital and go home, however he is not up yet.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Tyus, wish to express their thanks to Dr. Gragg and the nurses at the Central Alabama Hospital, for the splendid care given their son while he was there.

Little Mary Ethleen Dupree, the thre year old daughter of Mr. Benjamin W. Dupree of Collins Chapel, died Monday afternoon at the home. The remains were buried Tuesday afternoon at Collins Chapel. The little child was laid beside its mother who preceded it to the grave two years ago. Rev. W. P. Lowery conducted the funeral; the burial was in charge of Martin.

THORSBY SECTION

The series of special meetings at Congregational church under auspices of Miss Lucy Ayres of New York City, closed Sunday night, These meetings were not of the usual order of evagelistic services but rather in the nature of bible readings and explatations of scriptures having a bearing on the subject chosen for consideration. Miss Ayres is peculiarly fitted for this work, being a graduate of a bible school and having great faculty for making the subject better understood by those who hear what she says. She has an unbounded faith in the Fatherhood of God and his love for the children of men and his plans for their salvation through Jesus Christ.

There is nothing sensational about her or her work, which for the most part was with groups and individuals to whom she proved very helpful in solving their problems and enlightening their understanding on religious matters and dispersing clouds of doubt and fear from the minds of those who were truly seeking light on spiritual affairs. She was indeed a "Sower of the Seeds of Righteousness" and her work in Thorsby will bear fruit for many years to come. She has a winning personality which makes it easy for those who are reticent to talk of spiritual life, she soon wins confidence and makes it easy for old or young to discuss what lies deep within their souls. She will long be remembered in Thorsby as a very unusual spiritual leader.

Dr. S. C. Wood has been quite ill with flu for the past week, and is just getting out. He will not be able to make calls for several days but may be consulted at his office.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid will meet Thursday afternoon of this week at the home of Mrs. A. E. Reagan.

S. E. Norton is working up a new industry for Thorsby. He has for several years made a specialty of growing daffodils and experimenting on making shipments of them to individuals by parcel post. He has devised to make an insulated box to carry them without much charge as far as Vermont and South Dakota. Last week he shipped a box to a lady in a small town in Michigan which for some cause were five days on the way. He received a letter saying they arrived "As fresh as though just picked." He puts three dozen in a box for $1.00 postpaid. Anyone wishing to send cut flowers to their friends within 1500 miles from this place can do so while they last.

William Each, who is employed by the Western Electric Company in Montgomery, spent Sunday with his home folks in Thorsby.

Miss May Stoddard spent the week end in Birmingham and Boaz.

Mrs. A. C. Watts and Eugene Parnell from Birmingham spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Watts's sister, Mrs. S. C. Wood.

The Baptist Womans Missionary Society will hold a Washington Birthday celebration at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Jones from 7:30 to 10 Friday night, February 21st. Admission will be a "silver offering."

Next Sunday will be regular preaching day—morning and evening, at Thorsby Public School house.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard spent Monday in Clanton as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marler.

Rev. and Mrs. Each had as dinner guests last Sunday Misses Ayres McArthur and Klingelhoefer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Foss are spending a couple of days in Birmingham. Mr. Foss is on business and Mrs. Foss with her baby is visiting her sister, Mrs. Carl R. Petersen at Fairfield.

Mr. W. H. Wilson is greeting his Thorsby friends after an absence of several months, working north of Birmingham; he is looking well and prosperous.

Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers Association have finished their new warehouse and the outside of their office which adjoins the new building; the whole structure has an exterior finish of concrete stucco which gives a substantial and dignified appearance to the whole establishment.

E. F. Mead and son have the concrete work on E. N. Bentley's new buildings now under construction.

Mrs. Relius Franklin and Mrs. Frank Gray entertained with a lovely bridge party Friday afternoon at the home of the former, honoring Mrs. A. C. Dowling of Clanton, who will move Saturday to Alexander City.

High score was won by Mrs. Norman Roberts; booby went to Mrs. Alton Cox. At the conclusion of the games Mrs. Dowling was presented with a handkerchief shower. The color and suggestions of the Valentine Day were used effectively in the decorations, tallies and refreshments.

The party was composed of: Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway, Mrs. Loren W. Smith, Mrs. Marcus Polk, Jr., Mrs. A. C. Dowling, Mrs. Norman Roberts, Mrs. Flem Higgins, Miss Jones, Miss Agnes Leary, Mrs. Lee Pate, Mrs. Alton Cox, Mrs. Mack Gray, and Mrs. Relius Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Franklin and Mrs. Mack Gray spent Tuesday in Birmingham.

Miss Ruth Gerald of Birmingham spent Sunday with the home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Villadsen of Tuscaloosa were week end visitors with relatives in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Alphus Martin and family have been spending several days with Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Collins. Mrs. T. W. Robinson returned with them for a visit.

Miss Lucy Ayres, who has been holding special meetings at the Congregational church, gase very inspiring and helpful talks at chapel at Thorsby Institute Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday.

An interesting basket ball game was played Friday afternoon with Collins Chapel on the Institute campus. The score was 31 to 13 in favor of Thorsby Institute.

Next Saturday, the 22nd, at 7:30 p.m., the Annual Declamatory Contest will be held in the Thorsby Institute auditorium. Four girls and four boys will participate. Everyone is invited to attend. Admission is ten cents.

It is expected that the third and last number of the Lyceum Course will take place on March 22nd. Further announcement will be made at a later date.

Representatives from the State Health Department examined the Thorsby Institute pupils on Tuesday. These examinations are very helpful to the school.

Norene Headley was leader last Sunday night in Christian Endeavor. "Lessons from John's First Epistle" was the topic discussed. A very interesting meeting was carried out. All the young people of the community are cordially invited to attend C. E. if they do not attend some other place.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Gibbons and little Mabel left Tuesday for Miami and Key West, Florida where they expect to spend a few days vacation.

RIVER NEWS

Just a word, please, to let everyone know how this country is getting along. Everybody is farming, as they have pretty weather for it.

Next Sunday Mr. Edd Smitherman is going to preach at the Holly Church down on the River near Macedonia. We will be glad to have everyone come and be with us and help out all you can and we are sure your service will be appreciated by everyone of us.

Why not all of you come to Sunday school regularly every Sunday and be on time? When it is announced to begin at 10 o'clock, why not begin at that time?

We are sorry that Mr. Larsen White is very sick; we all hope he will soon be able to go back to work again.

Miss Era Coggins from the city of New York recently visited her aunt and uncle, Mrs. and Mr. J. M. Mahan.

Mrs. Walter Calloway and son, George, were guests of J. M. Mahan Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobbie Wells from Montgomery were visiting home folks Sunday afternoon. They were accompanied home by Mrs. J. M. Mahan, where she went to visit her daughter, Mrs. John R. Jones.

Miss Girtie Donovan, who is teaching at Flint Hill, went to Clanton Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mahan were the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCary of the Friendship community Sunday p.m.

Be sure and be at meeting Sunday, for we want to see a good many present.

I am a reader of The Banner; and thanks for the good paper.

Mr. W. S. Clark of Mountain Creek was in Clanton on business Monday of this week.

EFFECTS OF TOBACCO UPON THE BODY

Tobacco injures the heart; it disturbs the blood pressure; it poisons the nerves and hurts the eyes. It lessens the resistance to tuberculosis and other diseases. The use of tobacco sometimes produces cancer; it often leads to the use of alcohol.

Tobacco also reduces much of the power and accuracy of the mind. It impairs working efficiency. It decreases athletic power and stunts the growth of the young; it probably shortens people's lives.

You will notice that while a person keeps up the habit of smoking he loses weight, and when he gives up the habit he begins to gain. Tobacco enterefres with the efficiency of the nervous system.

Some doctors say that they have found eyesight injured by continued and excessive smoking. Therefore, tobacco injures a person spysically and mentally.—Gertie Lowery, 6th grade pupil, Mt. Pleasant School.

EAST VIEW NEWS

Rev. A. C. Nelson went to Mountain Springs Saturday to fill his regular appointment there Saturday and Sunday. While there he received an urgent call to the bedside of his mother, Mrs. E. C. Nelson of Elmore County, who had a stroke of paralysis Saturday night.

We are sorry that he have to report that Mrs. A. C. Nelson is still on the sick list.

Mrs. Susie Moore of Mt. Creek was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Nelson of East View Sunday.

Mr. Elbert Bowles and Mr. I. G. Smith made a business trip to Montgomery last Thursday.

Miss Ayres, an ordained Congregational minister, will preach at East View next Froday night, Saturday night, Sunday, and Sunday night, February 21, 22, and 23.

The pastor met Miss Ayres in Blue Ridge, N. C., last summer. The public has a cordial invitation to attend these services.

Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Rushing were visitors of Mrs. Sallie Strength last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gray visited Mrs. Carn Johnson near White City Sunday.

Mrs. Dave Driver is still improving nicely.

Mr. Clifford Driver and Mrs. W. W. Williams of Montgomery spent Sunday with their mother, Mrs. Dave Driver.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Johnson visited relatives in Elmore Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Taylor of Clanton spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Price.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lett spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gray.

Mr. Lee Ray moved to this community last week.

United We Stand---Divided We Fall

If you believe in your town and expect it to grow and make it a better place in which to live, now is the time to show your colors.

In every worthy enterprise, in every good work, in everything worth-while, the independent merchant has given and is giving a helping hand. Take away the independent from your town and you lose that which represents the true worth of your town.

If you are a Baker?
If you are a Barber?
If you are a Bottler?
If you are a Builder?
If you are a Butcher?
If you are a Carpenter?
If you are a Dentist?
If you are a Druggist?
If you are a Doctor?
If you are an Electrician?
If you are a Mechanic?

Go to the City Clerk and find out how much taxes the Chain Store pays compared with the Independent Merchant. Ask what percentage goes to the benefit of schools. Ask the Chain Store how much they pay for the building an upkeep of the public roads in Alabama.

The Chain Store makes no pretense of being a builder or a constructor. They are satisfied, like the cuckoo, allow other birds to build their nest for them and pass the buck when any civic obligation confronts them. As a stranger they come to you. As a stranger they remain in so far as their civic duty extends, and if can be taken by their baits it is because you have never given the facts actual consideration.

If the Independent Merchants must be cast aside, go out of business, close their doors and tell their employees "we have no need for you," how would it affect you:

If you are any kind of a Mercantile Employee?
If you are a Jeweler?
If you are an Insurance Agent?
If you are a Textile Worker?
If you are an owner of Real Estate?
If you are Hotel Keeper?
If you are a Restauranteur?
If you are a Preacher?
If you are a Postoffice Clerk?
If you are a Teacher?
If you are a Taxi Driver?
If you are a Gasoline Dealer?
If you are an Automobile Dealer?
If you are a Cook?
If you are a Washer Woman?

Compare what a Chain Store means as compared with the Independent Merchant to any community.

Any Independent Merchant will sell you the same quality merchandise at the same price as th Chain Store on the same terms and conditions—but it is not fair to require and to expect the Independent Merchant to do more.

Clanton and surrounding territory have always stood for justice and fairness. We are known as a people who stand together and at this time if we fail, we can no longer lay claim to this individuality.

SHERIFF COLLINS ASKS FOR FOLKS' HELP AND CONFIDENCE

Sheriff J. Dudley Collins hands to The Banner a letter without a name, telling him to watch a certain place for whiskey. Mr. Collins says that he very often gets letters of this nature and no name is signed. This is unfair to Sheriff Collins and he insists that people giving him information should not withhold their names from him. Of course such information will be treated strictly confidential, but it is necessary for the sheriff to know who sends the information.

Following we publish the letter which the Sheriff handed us and which he recently received:

"Clanton, Ala., Jan. 27, 1930.
Mr. J. D. Collins, Clanton, Ala.

I am asking that you do me the kind favor of watching the road from . . . . . to . . . Wildcat liquor is flowing in this vicinity; believed to be manufactured and wholesaled by . . . . ., who is now living in that that community at present.

I have no doubt in my mind that if you watch this road you will be successful in securing this terrible stuff, which is causing so many mothers' and wives' hearts to ache, and leading so many men and boys off in the wrong, teaching them to disobey the laws of our country; whereas otherwise they would be law abiding citizens, if the party mentioned above and wildcat liquor were wiped out of this vicinity and out of our county.

Mr. Collins, this is the first time that I have asked your help or have given you the opportunity to do your duty to me and to other law abiding citizens of this county during your term of office. Now asking that you give this matter your immediate attention, wishing you bountiful success.—One in favor of Prohibition."

Sheriff Collins says that he is going to trace up this information and try and apprehend the violator mentioned in the letter; but unless he does catch the party and a case is made against him, the chances are that the man who sent him the information will never know wether he tried to catch him or not. This is where it is unfair to the Sheriff for the party sending the information to withhold his name.

Sheriff Collins wishes to impress upon his friends turning in such information the importance of them giving their own names. Such names of course will not be divulged by the sheriff under any circumstances, but you see he should know them.

BANKERS REPORT DROP IN SAVINGS

Lure of Stock Market Partly to Blame, but Slackened Speculation Expected to Bring Return to Thrift.

The first recession in the nation' savings account in banks in the twenty years during which records in this field have been kept by the American Bankers Association was disclosed for last year in the recent annual compilation prepared by its Savings Bank Division. The shrinkage amounted to over $195,000,000, on the basis of figures for the year ending June 29, 1929, whereas a ear earlier the reported increase was over $2,300,000,000, the largest ever recorded. The number of savings depositors also decreased during the year covered by more than 500,000 accounts. The lure of the stock market and affiliated activities are cited as part of the explanation for these changes.

The association's statement says that savings deposits in banks and trust companies of continental United States on June 29, 1929, stood at $28,217,656,000. The recession in savings, it declares, indicates a fundamental change in the savings situation, irrespective of whether it is temporary or not.

How Savings Used to Grow

"In 1926 savings deposits increased $1,562,000,000, in 1927 almost $1,400,000,000 and in 1928 over $2,300,000,000," it says. "It appears now that some influences in one year have taken the gain that might reasonably have been expected in savings deposits for 1929 and lowered them from the high mark of the preceding year. This recession is not one coming as a result of drouth, famine, unemployment or conditions outside of the United States.

"A year ago it was stated: 'The year closing June 30, 1928, registered the largest gain in savings deposits in banks and trust companies of continental United States ever recorded in the history of this country.' What a difference one year makes! From a gain of more than 2¼ billions of dollars in savings deposits to a loss of almost 200 millions!

"The loss in savings deposits is reflected also in the lose of savings depositors. The year 1929 showed a total of 52,664,127 depositors, against 53,188,348 for 1928, a loss of 524,221.

"Industrial production was much higher last year than the preceding year. Factory payrolls were considerably greater. In production, employment and trade, advances were made over the preceding year. In the farm areas the improvement noted for 1928 did not recede in 1929 and the livestock industry in all its branches was prosperous.

The Causes of the Drop

"The causes of the recession are possibly multiple. There is scarcely any reason to doubt that one of the important factors draining away savings and decreasing depositors has been the lure of profits to be made in stocks. For a number of years the people have been regaled with stories of profits made in stocks in all types of companies. During the last few years there has been a specious philosophy preached that panics such as formerly occurred were no longer possible.

"If it was the lure of profits in stocks which caused the recession in savings, then a factor in future savings will be the success attendant upon this venture of savings depositors in stocks. If the experiment did not prove generally successful, then another year will doubtless witness an increase in savings deposits as well as in savings depositors."

HELPING YOUNG FOLK TO BECOME BANKERS

Through the American Institute of Banking, which is the American Bankers Association's educational section, the banking profession is educating 35,000 bank men and women in the technical and scientific departments of their work. These students are enabled by this institute, which is entirely non-commercial in its operations, to obtain a grasp of the finer points of banking without interrupting their employment or interfering with their earnings, in their bank jobs.

The courses given, including banking economics and law and bank administration in all the departments, have been worked out under the direction of senior college educators and the lectures are always given by practical men, such as lawyers in the legal courses, experts in banking operations and college professors in the economics courses. There are chapters with meeting rooms in over 200 cities and also a number of smaller study groups are fostered with correspondence aid.

It has been said that the A. I. B., as it is familiarly known throughout the banking field, is the greatest adult educational organization in the world and is supplying the banking business with the largest supply of trained workers each year that any comparable line of business is receiving. The organization holds an annual convention attended by hundreds of young bank workers as well as senior bank officers actively interested in furthering the institute's educational work, at which numerous technical subjects of practical banking application are presented and discussed. This year's convention will be held at Denver, Colorado, June 16 to 20.

AND MARY DID

What? Well, Mr. Wise Guy, if you don't know, just listen to this! "And Mary Did," a tale of triumph in three acts, will be presented in the auditorium of Billingsley Elementary School on Saturday evening, February 22nd at 7:30 o'clock. The cast of characters includes the following:

Mary Sterling, Miss Myra Keel. Lawrence Gray, who loves Mary, Mr. Buster Roebuck. Edith Smith, Mary's chum, Miss Vivian Silas. Mrs. Sterling, Mary's mother, Mrs. Myrtle Taylor. Daniel Gray, Lawrence's father, Howard Boockholdt. Willie Sterling and Bettie Sterling, little angels, Bernard Stroud and Lucile Griffin. Matilda, the maid, Miss Vesta Lett. Henry, the gardener, Archie Stroud. (Miss) O. G. Whitaker, a masculine monument to femininе freedom, Miss Mary Lou Gaines. Dressa Rand, from Boston, Miss Claudia Eiland.

The play is sponsored by the Enterprise P.-T. A. Admission 15c and 25c. Public invited.

THE EFFECT OF ALCOHOL UPON THE BODY

One should not drink alcohol because it affects the brain and injures the mind. It stunts one's growth and makes one's skin yellow. A child cannot learn as easily, be as cheerful and joyful in its play or work. It will put them behind and pull their class behind and probably keep them from making a grade.

Alcohol injures the brain and nervous system, also the ability to do mental work is decreased.

The use of alcohol causes the heart to beat more rapidly and with less power; it interferes with the circulation, causing the body to lose heat more rapidly. It reduces the power of the body to protect itself against diseases. — Ertice Riggins, 6th grade, Mt. Pleasant Jr. High.

...SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

By GRACE VIALL GRAY

THE UNEXPECTED GUEST

It's a simple thing to revive Grandma's idea of the ever-filled cookie jar in these days of self-rising flour! The modern housewife can have cookies of all descriptions ready for the unexpected guest.

Grandma's idea was just a tradition of her time, that no one should leave her house without food or drink. Grandma always expected the unexpected guest.

That was hospitality. That was neighborliness. That was courtesy of the most genuine sort. And Grandma handed down her fine old tradition to daughter and son, and to her descendants to the third and fourth generation. Grandma's idea is a sacred legacy to the modern housewife, and hospitality lives again throughout the land.

Of no small importance in this renaissance of graciousness are the modern "bakin' makin's." With self-rising flour, Grandma's heir or heiress can have on tap a variety of cookies, cookies simply made and in less than half an hour. Then, when some one drops in unexpectedly, there will be no need of sneaking out for ice cream and delicatessen cake.

Self-rising flour is a home labor-saver, ready for use, reliable, nutritive. It is a soft wheat flour to which the baking powder and salt have been added. Self-rising flour is an insurance against all baking hazards. Try filling up your cookie jar with this recipe:

Lemon Cookies.

½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
½ cup milk
1 lemon, juice and grated rind.
1 tsp. lemon extract.
2 cups self-rising flour

Directions: Cream the butter and sugar together. Add unbeaten eggs one at a time. Beat until thoroughly blended. Add flour and milk alternately. Then add the lemon juice, rind and extract. Drop by teaspoonful on a greased baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven about 20 minutes.

F. R. JONES NOW HAS ELLIS FILLING STATION

The filling station formerly owned by Mr. John T. Ellis on the highway north of the Maddox Gin, has been leased by the Wofford Oil Company, to Mr. F. R. Jones, of Tuscaloosa. Mr. Jones will operate the business as the Jones Service Station, handling the full line of Woco Pep products. He has already come to Clanton and taken charge of the business, and extends an invitation to the people to come to see him and get acquainted. He will appreciate your business.

MARVIN MERCHANT DIED

Marvin Merchant, age about 25 years, died last Thursday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Merchant, west of Jemison. He was sick about ten days with pneumonia. He was buried Friday at Pleasant Grove cemetery.

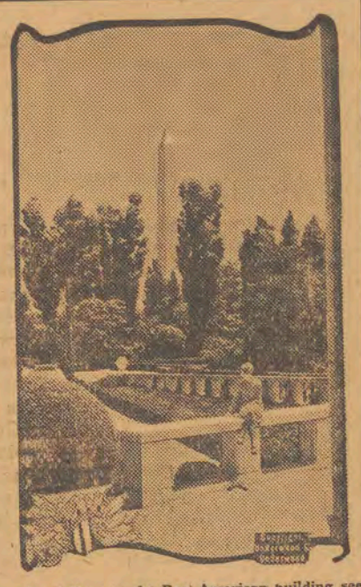
We don't know what Uncle Sam will get out of the London conference but we know just where he is going to get it if he isn't real careful.

DANGEROUS BUSINESS

Our stomach and digestive system are lined with membrane which is delicate, sensitive and easily injured. It is dangerous business, then, to use medicines containing harsh drugs, salts or minerals, when we are constipated. In addition to the possibility of injuring the linings of our digestive system, these medicines give only temporary relief and may prove habit forming. The safe way to relieve constipation is with Herbine, the cathartic that is made from herbs, and acts in the way nature intended. You can get Herbine at Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton.

AN UNPLEASANT SUBJECT

All of the functions of life are not pleasant to consider. Perhaps this is why some mothers refuse to think that such symptoms as restless sleep, loss of flesh, lack of appetite or itching nose and fingers in their children, can be caused by round or pin worms. Many mothers have proven, however, that a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, that sure and harmless worm expellant, will make these symptoms disappear. You can get White's Cream Vermifuge for 35cents per bottle from Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama.



CLANTON ATHLETIC CLUB BEAT SELMA 'CALCOTS' 39-18

The Clanton Athletic Club's basket ball team rolled on with its sensational winning streak last Thursday night, taking the Selma "Calcots" under their wing for a 39 to 18 lacing. The game was played in the local gym, at Maddox's warehouse. Clanton started the game with two regulars, Philip Foshee and Alton Connatser out of the fray. Connatser came in at the half. Jim Wade and George Johnson filled their places well, however. "Slicker" Culpepper got a chance to strut his stuff in the latter part of the game, also and showed up well.

The Selma outfit was good and fast, but they never had a chance with the locals. That smooth working offensive was too much for them by a big margin. It was just the same old story—the tip-off, perfect timing in pass work, good shooting, and another basket ball game won.

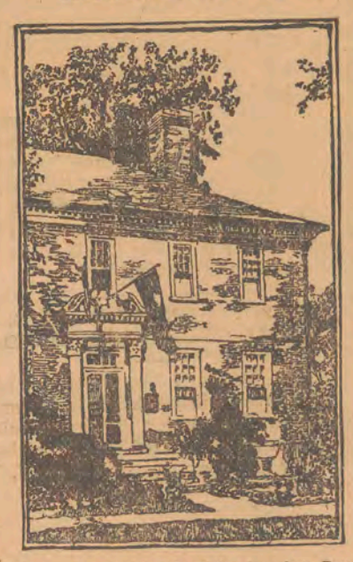
Mr. Kimmie Easterling went to Foster, near Tuscaloosa, last Saturday, returning Wednesday.

PRETTY SETTING

As visitors to the Pan-American building see the Washington monument. This stone archway and the well-planned gardens afford an attractive view of the great marble obelisk, completed in 1885 and dedicated to the memory of the nation's first President.

Washington's Fame Secure for Ever

Strangely we American people have no nationally established holiday. The anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, even, has not been gold-lettered in our calendar. But its date and that of the birth date of George Washington have, by the common action of all the states and possessions, become the elect days of our jubilation and our reverence.



This is the one hundred and ninety-eighth anniversary of the birth of our Washington, known to the world as the "Father of His Country: first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen!"

There is no other name in the human roster that receives so much of the admiration and gratitude of civilized men as that of Washington. Only the name of Jesus is more universal and honored, because it is worshiped as divine.

The resolutions of congress, when Washington died, said "ancient and modern names are diminished before him." Hamilton declared that "the voice of praise would in vain endeavor to exalt the name unrivaled in the lists of true glory," and Lord Bryce, the modern English appraiser of American history, said "his fame belongs to the history of the world!" The most eloquent Irishman, Curran, declared that "no country can claim him; no age appropriate him. The boon of Providence to the human race, his fame is eternity and his residence creation!"

What wonder, then, that today we turn our own and our children's eyes to the immortal figure of Washington!

HISTORIC HOUSE

When the final battle of the American Revolution was fought at Yorktown, George Washington occupied this house in Williamsburg, Va., as his headquarters. The house recently has been restored from the fund given by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to rebuild the colonial town of Williamsburg.

After all, 198 years is a very short time according to historical reckoning. Many a longer period has been swallowed up in oblivion with scarcely a ripple of recorded achievement, but consider, if you can, what amazing, revolutionary and multitudinous things have been consummated in our country since Washington's birth. Miracles far greater than the fabled magic of ancient peoples have begotten almost an entirely new civilization.

And yet through all this transition, the work of Washington, even to the manual labor of his hands, has weathered every test of changing times and conditions. And he stands enshrined today, as in his day, "First in the Hearts of his Countrymen."

Lock of Washington's Hair

A gold breast pin with a heavy glass front protecting a lock of sandy hair in which strands of gray are mingled, has been presented to the museum of the city of New York by the great-great-grandson of Hamilton Fish. The lock was clipped from Washington's head eight years before he became President and presented to Fish, as the inscription on the back of the pin indicates. . . . Those days great men were taken more seriously than now.

THREE BOYS HURT IN WRECK SUNDAY NIGHT

Carlisle Lewis, Clevis Duke, and a McDowell boy were hurt in an automobile wreck at the Popwell Woods south of Clanton last Sunday night. Duke was driving the car, a Ford Roadster, when the accident happened. It is said that the driver lost control of the machine in passing another car, and ran off the pavement and struck a post.

Lewis sustained a broken leg. Duke was hurt about the head and hands. McDowell is said to have sustained bruises all over his body. The boys were brought to the hospital at Clanton by Martin's ambulance. They live in the Poplar Springs community.

OVER A BILLION DEADLY GERMS IN A SINGLE DROP OF WATER

Germs are so small that there may be as many as one billion, seven hundred million of them in a drop of water. And just a few of these tiny germs, if they get into your blood through a cut in your skin, may make you so sick you will be in bed for weeks—may cause the loss of a limb through blood poisoning—may even infect you with that most dreadful and fatal disease, lockjaw.

Just because you can see no dirt in a cut does not mean that it is clean. You cannot see germs. The only safe and sane thing to do, is to thoroughly wash every cut, no matter how small, with Liquid Borozone, to kill the germs, and then dust it with Borozone Powder, to hasten the healing. Lisuid Borozone costs 30 cents, 60 cents, $1.20 and $150; Borozone Powder costs 30 cents and 60 cents and can be had at Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama.

Bro. Bryan's Weekly Message

(Written for The Union-Banner by REV. J. A. BRYAN, Pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, Alabama)

A CALL TO PRAYER AND FOR SELF DENIAL

Think, what prayer is to God to you? What is prayer to God to me? Me To the old Hebrew who believed in God and read God's word prayerfully it was the lifting up of the soul and the pouring out of the heart to God. You read in Samuel that someone thorught Hannah was intoxicated but she was speaking in her heart to God. Jesus does not stop to define prayer, but He says in this Bible "Thou, when thou prayest enter into thy room, and when thou hast shut the door pray to thy Father in scret, and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly." Then He says when you do pray say, "Our Father which art in Heaven."

Jesus' own prayer is found only once and that is in the entire 17th chapter of the Gospel according to John. Christ did not teach much about prayer, but he practiced it. I am not going to preach to you about it any more than I am supposed to. If God were to permit you to go to Galilee you would find only Tiberias left of all those cities around the Sea of Galilee with the exception of a few cities marked by two or three tents. In Tiberias there were two or three tents and a hotel. In that hotel you are carried upstairs to look out and see where Jesus practiced prayer, that mount where he went and prayed all night. If Christ needed to pray so how much more do I need to pray

Really you can see this Mount Olivet seventeen miles from Jerusalem. It was Mount Olivet to which I always look at Jesus in prayer, that everybody went home but Jesus went there to pray. I can never forget Mount Olivet with its sacred associations. Again Jesus says, "Men ought always pray and not to faint."

Then you read in the last chapter of Paul's inspired, and really his first letter ever written, letter to 1st Thessalonians the most comforting sentence: "Pray without ceasing." God said to Paul, "Paul, write and tell the Third Presbyterian Church in Birmingham to pray without ceasing, and we have it in our Bible, when Christ says anything he means it. I belong to my Lord and King, having been ramsomed from sin thru the cleansing blood of his son or to Satan and the world. But my dear friends, if we don't pray without ceasing we cannot conquer.

We read that in one of the great demonstrations in the country within the last five years that Sunday School attendance has decreased two hundred thousand. If that be the case, can we feel encouraged with an increasing church membership? Certainly I feel safe in saying that the church has increased in backsliders. Now no one need tell me that this state of affairs is natural. We cannot disregard Jesus Christ's words and commandments. Think of our forefathers who braved a new and untried, unsettled country and see them taking their Bibles under their arms and carrying their families to church.

If I should say to you, who made you? you would say, God of course. Then what is the chief end of man? The cheif end of a man is to glorify God. A man cannot worship, honor, and glorify God unless he obeys God's commandments. We go to Sabbath School and church services to honor and glorify God by learning more about His word. Christ says, "Search the Scriptures, for in them ye think ye have eternal life, but they are they which testify of Me." Yet there are only three persons out of ten in Jefferson county

There are more men who love Christ now than in any other period of the world's history. They would die before they would say one word against or raise their hands against the church. And yet only one out of every four persons in the world are professing Christians. Am I discouraged? No, I am resolved to work harder and try harder than I ever have to introduce Christ to a lost world. Someone may say "What in the world are thirteen nationalities doing in the Birmingham district? No doubt they have come here to see how we represent Christ. One man told me that he had gotten a spirit of observing God's laws since he had been in this country that he had never before had.

In Isiah's prophecy we read that the Lord looked down and saw no man. I wonder if He does not look down to-day in search for a man. Then Isiah writes "and God wondered that there was no intercessor." I wonder how many intercessors God sees to-day as He looks down upon this old sore, weary and tired world. Feeling many times as if we know not what to do next we are to think and do as God tells us in James 1:5, If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him. If we lack grace if we lack strength, if we lack courage, if we lack power, if we lack any qualification of a child of God we are to ask of God who giveth to all men liberally, and it shall be given us.

There is a call for us to pray without ceasing, and to continue steadfastly in prayer. If we would see souls saved we must heed this call. Our prayers must be coupled with work, sacrifice, and real, genuine earnestness. God knoweth our desires before we ask Him. You cannot say that you want your son and daugthers saved and then encourage them in doing the things which will destroy their spiritual life and dam their souls.

If we prayed enough we would find that men would form a bee line for every service of God's house. They could not get there fast enough If every boy, man, or woman and girl who owns a car would take it and bring others to the stated services at God's house no doubt there would be a great awakening in prayer and Christian living. The devil did not give you that car. God gave that car to you and sees and knows how you use it. The manner in which a man uses his car depends upon how much he loves Christ and lost souls. How much are we willing to deny ourselves for the salvation of lost souls?

In Isiah, Jeremiah, Esekiel, and Hosea God calls an unfaithful man a backslider. In one place Jehovah says, "Return, O backsliding Israel." O how sad it is for a man to backslide, turn his back on Christ who gave His all for him. The only way for a man to find out himself, whether he is a backslider or not, is to get on his knees in prayer to God. There he will find out his absolute helplessness and God's absolute helpfulness, his absolute inability and God's absolute ability. O God, we can but pray, "Search and try our hearts for we would be thine alone."

The minute we begin to recognize the Supernatural in our homes, the church and its various departments as we heed and obey His commands of service and worship we are on pleading terms with our heavenly Father. To become more spiritual we must experience a higher, holier life in Christ Jesus thru prayer. We hear much about consecration and dedication, but the question is How much are we willing to deny ourselves to give to Jesus Christ? Am I willing to go out and face all kinds of weather, rain, sleet, and snow to preach this Gospel of Jesus Christ? Are you willing to go out regardless of the weather and speak a good word for Jesus Christ?

If we only will let Him God can use us for His glory and to a great advantage in His Kingdom. Read the book of Judges and there you will find that God used Ehud, a left-handed man for His honor and glory. Naaman was captian of the guard of Syria, yet he was a leper. Moses could not speak fluently, yet God was with his mouth and provided an interpreter for him in the person of his brother Aron. Moses had nothing except a shepherd's rod, yet see the many wonderful miracles God wrought with Moses use of the rod with faith and trust in God on his part. Think of the Philistines which Samson slew with only the jaw bone of an ass. Also think of the Philistines which Shamgar slew with an ox goad, a stick for spurring action on the part of the oxen as the field was cultivated and also to rid the plow of excessive soil accumulation.

"Prayer is the soul's sincere desire, unuttered or expressed."

The motive of a hidden fire that burns within the breast.

It makes the darkened clouds withdraw, It climbs the ladder Jacob saw, and Satan trembles when he sees the weakest saint upon his knees."

Before I bring this humble sermon to a close I wish to sing with you that dear old song our mothers and fathers used to sing, and truly it is my song.

"Come Thou fount of every blessing, Tune my heart to sing thy grace.
Streams of mercy never ceasing calls for songs of loudest praise.
I will arise and go to Jesus, He will embrace me in His arms, In the arms of my dear Saviour O there are ten thousand charms."

THORSBY BAPTIST W. M. S. WILL CELEBRATE HOLIDAY

The W. M. S. of Thorsby Baptist church will celebrate in honor of George Washington Friday evening, February 21st, 7:30 to 10 o'clock, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Jones.

This is to be:

"A very truly yours affair
Will bring you to your senses;
For nothing but the truth is told
In spite of consequences."

P. S.—Be your true self. Cast aside your extra fixings and come dressed to represent what you are and not what you seem to be.

MEADOR LOWERY SINGING IN RADIO PROGRAM

Many friends of Mr. Meador Lowery throughout Alabama were delighted to hear him an his "Bama 'Ristocrats" sing in a radio program from W B R C station last Sunday afternoon. Of especial interest was this program to many people of Clanton, who are intimate friends and hearty well-wishers for Mr. Lowery.

Meador Lowery used to sing in Clanton with Miss Roberta Curry. From an humble beginning he has felt his way cautiously, singing at various occasions throughout Alabama. Now it seems that he has practically established himself as one of Alabama's real songsters.

Mr. Lowery is the son of Mr. T. L. Lowery, who has for the past year been manager of the Nettles Grocery Store in Clanton

INK DROPS OF C. C. H. S

The regular Tuesday and Thursday period of physical education for girls is now being conducted by members of Miss Clay's Senior I Hygiene Class. After studying physical exercise in the text books the girls are putting them into practice by volunteering to conduct them at the recess period. Those who have already successfully conducted this exercise period are as follows: Allie Pearl Kelley, Eloyse Jones, Charlsie Pyron and Sallie Mahan.

We are so thrilled at C. C. H. S. Why? The Parent-Teachers Association voted in their last meeting to buy for us some beautiful pictures suitable for our school. Mrs. John Vanderveer volunteered to donate complementary a sufficient number of frames. The framing of the pictures will be done by the boys of the manual arts department under the supervision of Mr. Horton Walker, who is in charge of this department. These new pictures will meet a long felt need for our school. The teaching of geography, history and english can be greatly improved by the picture method. This is truly visual education. History may be taught almost without the use of the text if pictures illustrating all important events are used as the basis of instruction. The work of english can be changed from the distasteful lifeless subject to a most interesting study through the use of pictures. Sketches of the lives of artists, authors, musicians, poets, statesmen, appropriately presented and accompanied by appropriate pictures may help in the larger culture which is the rightful heritage of every child. We wish the children to know and own some of the best productions of the painters' thoughts and skill. Are they going to? Yes, because of our Parent-Teachers Association in Chilton County High School.

Did you ever see a miniature dairy or stable? No. May I suggest that you consult the Junior III Occupations Class for boys or Mr. Walker for such valuable information. The class is making a thorough study of live stock and how they may be improved. Numerous pictures from cattle and stockbreeding associations all over the United States have donated pictures which have been posted on the walls of the recitation room in which this course or project is being conducted. This class has made a number of field excursions to nearby farms around Clanton. We feel in this way that a great deal of real practical knowledge is going to come from such a course as this. Moving picture slides have been procured (prepaid express from Vermont) and with the use of Curtis Carter's picture machine the school is treated to a free picture show. Mr. Walker is to be congratulated for his excellent direction in this most worthy movement. This class is a 100 per cent working squad in every way. Come to see for yourself.

WALTER MARTIN SERIOUSLY SICK WITH PNEUMONIA

Prof. Walter E. Martin has been very seriously ill with pneumonia at his home in Clanton for the past ten days. At the time this is written, it is reported that he has made some improvement and shows favorable prospects of recovery.

Watch this column for the next six weeks.

The students of Chilton County High are planning to publish "Who's Who" in this section for the next six weeks. Beginning with next week each class is to make known its most outstanding members, as the most intellectual, the most beautiful, the biggest booster, biggest bluff, etc. The seniors will start the ball to rolling by publishing their list first. Whom do you think will be their best?

We are very grateful to Mrs. Claude Jones, who donated thirty-one books of fiction to our library last week. These books add much to our library and will be a great aid to the students in the study of english. We appreciate the thoughtfulness of Mrs. Jones and regret very much to lose Mary Sue from our school. We wish for her every degree of happiness that may come her way.

We are deeply indebted to the Soils and Crops boys in Mr. Green's Senior I Class for the many improvements they are making on our campus. This class is remodeling every part of the campus. Stakes are being driven down about three feet making a one-way drive. Shrubbery is being planted on the front of the campus, and flower beds are being arranged in different places on the campus. When completed, this will add greatly to the improvement of the school campus and surroundings in general. A movement is on foot to pave a walk eight feet wide from the front of the building to the street. A splendid tennis court is being made.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

Nothing better illustrates the change that has come in tariff sentiment during the past few years than the votes registered by legislators on the various schedules of the proposed law which is now before Congress. Several statesmen, regardless of the ancient records of their parties on the tariff question, have been voting for higher tariff on commodities where their particular states were concerned, and often against higher or extisting schedules where their constituents had no direct interest in the particular rate.

The upshot of it all would seem to be that we have traveled to the point where there is no longer much support for the theoretical principle of free trade, or even tariff for revenue only. Perhaps it is only natural that our lawmakers would be more particularly interested in protecting the commodities produced in their particular section of the country, but in going even so far for protection they are inferring at least that the old days of shouting for free trade are over.

In the good old days the two major parties met in combat every four years and fought it out on the tariff. One party favored protection and the other free trade, or tariff for revenue only. Now it is indeed difficult to draw the line. Both the Republican and Democratic platforms in 1928 declared for a reasonable amount of protection, in other words, rates which would equalize the cost of production at home and abroad.

The other day Norman E. Mack, veteran member of the Democratic National Committee, on his way from New York to Florida, was interviewed at Washington and according to Mr. Gould C. Lincoln, writing in the Washington Star, Mr. Mack declared: "I believe in a fair tariff to protect American industry, but not a robber tariff." In commenting on this statement, which would have been regarded as surprising a few years ago, Mr. Lincoln says:

"The question of overthrowing the protective tariff system which has been built up in this country is being abandoned by the Democrats. The only question now is whether the Democrats or the Republicans can write the best and fairest protective tariff. Both claim they are 'A No. 1' tariff writers. Senator Copeland, another Democrat from New York, takes much the same position as Mr. Mack. He is quoted as saying: 'It would be absurd to stand for a low tariff merely because of a fetish.' Doubtless this would be rank heresy to the ears of some of the old Democrats who fought years ago for free trade or for a tariff for revenue only. The stand of the Democrats is making the tariff issue a trifle obscure for the voters to pass upon in the coming campaign. For example, Senator Copeland has announced he will vote for a duty on cement because the cement manufacturers on the Atlantic Coast are being pushed to the wall by the foreign manufacturers. Other Democrats have supported tariff increases on various items in the tariff bill during its consideration in House and Senate. Republicans will go right along with Mr. Mack in his declaration for a 'fair tariff to protect American industry' and will declaim, too, against a 'robber tariff'"

And while the Democrats are supporting certain protective tariff schedules it must be stated on the other hand that some of the Republican solons, especially certain ones from the western states, are disposed to vote against increases in many schedules. The tariff therefore seems to be becoming a nonpartisan, or rather a bi-partisan issue. This may lead many to the conclusion that the tariff is still regarded as a local issue. So it may be in the narrow sense, yet it is a fact that never before in the history of the country has the tariff been more of a national issue. Our manufacturing industries are being scattered more and more over the nation and it is still true that certain farm commodities need protection and need it badly. The country cannot be really and soundly prosperous unless all sections and all classes of industry are prosperous, and such prosperity is not assured unless all of our producers in important lines at least, are protected against the cheap production of Europe and Asia.

The tariff therefore should be viewed nationally and not locally. With 1928 campaign fought between two parties which were both pledged to protection it would be strange indeed if adequate protection were not furnished in the way of a new tariff law in the Congress which resulted from such election.

THE JACK POT

BY "JACK" HIMSELF

Golly! This war between the chain stores and independents! What are we ever to do with them? It's coming to a head, too, pretty soon. It's got 'way on up to the "cussin' " stage, and when a fight gets that far along, the climax is in sight.

Us? Well we're neutral! Innocent by-standers, you understand. Having nothing to say either for or against either of the warring parties. From our vantage point we're just looking on, along with others, and enjoying the scrap.

Without meaning any favor to either side, though, we would like to comment a little on the subject, ask a few questions, and maybe make a few suggestions.

The comment will take the form of offering "The Golden Rule" as a good one for the independent merchants to think of and follow. Never heard of it? All right, here 'tis: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Maybe you heard it different. Somebody says he heard it this way: "Do others, as they will do you (if they get a chance)." Nope, it don't read like that in our book. Have seen that version practiced, however.

Looks like we got the cart before the horse in offering The Golden Rule as comment. That's more of a suggestion. Now we want to ask a few questions.

Are South Alabama vegetables better than those raised in Chilton County? Is western corn better than that raised here? Oats from the west better than those grown here? Western meat better than home-raised? Hay from Tennessee better than that raised here?

Do local merchants buy all such commodities that local farmers have for sale? Will they offer him as much as they pay for the same goods elsewhere? Will they? Just try it once!

If local farmers can grow a surplus of certain of these products, can't the local merchants buy it, paying as good prices as they pay northern and western people for it. If not, WHY NOT? If they can, why in Sam Hill DON'T they do it?

Can local merchants conscientiously ask the farming people not to buy from mail order houses, when the same local merchant buys such things as are mentioned above, and has them shipped from other sections, when he could buy at least a part of his wants right at home? It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

One merchant says local farmers don't prepare their goods for the market. Can't the merchant tell him how he wants it fixed? If he wants butter molded in a square mold, or corn sacked in 2-bushel sacks, the locan farmer can and WILL do it up that way—IF HE CAN SELL IT by so doing.

Excuse us for switching from chain stores to mail order houses, etc., like that. But, after all, it all is "kinder" along the same line of thought, isn't it. The same man that buys from the chain store is usually the one who buys from the mail order house.

We expect somebody will accuse us of favoring chain stores and mail order houses, after reading what has gone before. Not so! We would be glad to see conditions so that we could build a wall around the County, and live and work here together, depending altogether on ourselves, and each other.

But, too, as long as local farmers see fresh vegetables shipped in from Florida and other sections, hay from Tennessee and Kentucky, meat and oats from western states, and like examples, just so long must local independent merchants expect to see those farmers buying from chain stores, or sending their money away to mail order houses. Just "tit for tat," that's all.

And, another thing, too. There are merchants, RIGHT HERE IN CLANTON, who will rant about people ordering from mail order houses, when they do the same thing, themselves. Don't believe it? All right, listen to this!

A few weeks ago a merchant outlined the local merchant's position as to the mail order business, in a beautiful manner. While he was talking, his listener glanced over the merchant's desk and spied a letter, all sealed and everything, ready to be mailed to a mail order house in Atlanta, which, no doubt, contained an order.

As said before, we in no wise favor sending our money away, but we DO believe local producers should be given like treatment as that asked of them. How about it? Isn't that only fair? Shall local farmers and producers bind themselves to buy locally, when the only article they can sell is COTTON?

Uncle George Willis dropped in to shake hands with the JACK POTTER one day last week. Uncle George reads the JACK POT, and likes it. How about you? If you like it, say so. We like a little encouragement now and then. If you don't like it, say so. We will try to do better.

The roads are getting a little better. With a bit of scraping, now, they would be fine. Now isn't that just too bad. Just as the great criticizers of the County officials got people to kind of complaining, the prettey weather had to come along and spoil it all. Now the old boys will have to hunt up something else to grouch about. That road question was such a good one, too.

As "Anglin' Jake" says, "Lets go fishin' "—Jack.

BRITISH FOOD AND AMERICAN NAVY

It is commonly said both in the United States as well as in Great Britain that a strong American navy is a danger to Britain's lines of supply. When this kind of talk is indulged in and America is pictured as either able or desiring to starve Britain, the results are so unfortunate that in the interests of good feeling it should be set down that there is not an iota of truth in such assertions.

One of Britain's great trade routes, for instance, is that which crosses the English Channel, proceeds through the eastern Atlantic, the Mediterranean and the Red Sea to the Middle and Far East. No American navy that has ever existed or is ever likely to exist can molest this route. We have no bases in the eastern Atlantic or the Mediterranean, or the Red Sea or the Middle East. The British have many. Operations against British merchant or war vessels in the Red Sea or the Mediterranean with New York as a base are inconceivable.

Or take a case which Britain would be depending for her bread on the Argentine wheat crop. Could we break up a trade route between London and Buenos Aires? The chances that we could do so are so slim as to be hardly worth mentioning. Great Britain has bases along that route, beginning with the Falkland Islands, off the tip of South America, running along to West African bases, thence to Gibraltar ad home. We have no base as near the route as are any of these. It would clearly be infinitely easier for Britain to maintain that route than it would be for us to molest it. Even admitting that we could create alarm, what then? It would be a most simple thing for this traffic to go around the Cape of Good Hope, thence up the east coast of Africa and so to England via Suez and the Mediterranean.

It seems therefore an inescapable fact of naval strategy that so far as the American navy is concerned British food and British prosperity cannot be vitally threatened. In respect to this vital concern of internationly security. geography stands in full accord with American intention and desire. It would be an excellent thing if these facts were thoroughly understood both in Great Britain and in the United States, for it is by the removal of such misconceptions that the task of the London conference can best be facilitated.—New York Herald-Tribune.

BABY'S INITIALS X. Y. Z.

An unusual baby with an unusual name—that's Xenophon Young Zimmerman, four months old son of C. L. Zimmerman, an L. & N. Employee of Etowah, Tenn., according to the L. & N. Employe's Magazine for February. The father wanted a son so that his initials would be X. Y. Z. The son arrived; the final initial Z was of course taken care of by the family name, the problem then was to provide baptismal names beginning with X and Y. And what a brain twister that was! Father, mother, friends and acquaintances pondered the onomastic puzzle with desperate determination. Many names were suggested and rejected, and it was not until P. L. Sanders, an L. & N. machinist of Etowah, came forward with "Xenophon Young" that the fond parents gasped their approval.

X. Y. Z., as he is called for brevity's sake, weighed 12 pounds at his birth. At three months he weighed 19 pounds; at four months he tipped the beam at 22 pounds and was able to stand alone.

FOREST FIRE HAZARD LOW IN ALABAMA LAST YEAR

Field Service Reduced

Well distributed rainfall during 1929, particularly during the spring months and in the fall, made the field work of the forestry employees lighter than in previous years. In localities where conditions rendered improbable any considerable damage to young timber from fires it was unnecessary to begin forest patrol until late fall. July and August were deficient in precipitation but the September rains prevented the forests from drying out to an extent that would increase the fire hazard, and, until December which was exceptionally dry, few fires occurred.

Many of the agents and patrolmen were not placed on duty until November, and the time worked by each of the fifty-six men serving during the year averaged only ninety eight and one quarter days or less than three and one-third months. Each day's work averaged nine and one-half hours.

Visiting schools consumed eight-tenths of one per cent of the time; interviewing citizens, eighteen and eight-tents per cent; posting signs and notices, two and seven-tenths per cent; planting trees, four and nine-tenths per cent; assisting landowners in forest fire suppression, about two and one-half per cent; gathering data and statistics on fires, four and eight-tenths per cent, while work on more or less permanent fire protection improvements amounted to one and one-tenth per cent; clerical work, four and three-tenths per cent; Sundays and holidays, about eleven and six-tenths per cent; miscellaneous work, sixteen and nine-tenths per cent; and travel about the district consumed about thirty-one and six-tenths per cent.

The Man On The Corner

Some Sights He Saw— and Some He Saw Not.

I have a boy and a girl. The difference between their ages is about two years. I have noticed many times when one of them gets a toy or a book or any of the little things children like, the other can not be contented until he or she gets something like it or equal to it. Considerable fussing has been precipitated between them by such occurences. It has disturbed and provoked me many times.. I have thrashed them and done different things to avert such unpleasantness.

My conclusion is that it is just one of the many funny notions pecular to children. Generally I dismiss the subject in my reflective moments with the hope that they will soon outgrow it.

But what am I to think when I see the same disposition cropping out in the relations of two prominent business competitors? It was a dead paralell to the jealousy of my boy and girl over their inconsequential playthings. And the funny part of it was that it didn't mean any more (perhaps not as much) to the business men as it did to the children. Competition. Yes, I guess that was it. They say competition is the life of trade.

Perhaps when those two business men were children they had the kind of childish disposition my children have. No doubt their dads hoped they would get over it when they grew up. Well, it didn't amount to anything anyway. I merely recorded the incident as one of the interesting little things I saw.

At a certain place where I happened to be not long ago the boy who served as janitor and handy man was a young negro preacher. He will get his ordination papers from the "press-battery" next week, he told me. I am convinced, as you will see later, that he is well equipped for his ministrial duties—some of them at least.

One outstanding evidence I saw of his good preparation for ministry among the colored folks is that he has cultivated to a high state of perfection the art of illustrating his points with a story. We were talking one morning about the unusual amount of snow in this part of the country this winter.

"They tells me," said Joe, "that the snow line is down about Calera. You know dat is a maginary line where de snow sposes to quit off when it comes down from de nawth. Sildom ever snows down below de snow line." But some times it runs over dat line." I gave him full assurance that I understood his explanation. Then he continued:

"Minds me of de story about de fox and de rooster. A dog had chased de fox all night long. Way on towards day next morning the old dog got so tired he could hardly make it any further. The fox got way over the hill ahead of the dog. The fox was tired and hungry. He came to a tree and saw up in the tree a rooster and a hen just making ready to fly down from roost.

"Good morning, brother rooster, said the fox. Good morning, brother fox, said the roster. Come on down, brother rooster, said the fox. I want to tell you about the new law that has been passed. What is it? Said the rooster. The new law, said the fox, is that fox shall eat no more roosters, and hounds shall chase no more fox. Sho nuff, dats right, brother rooster. You and sister hen come on down."

"The old rooster roused a bit, flapped his wings, and from his vantage point looked far toward the top of the hill from whence the fox had come. Great goodness, said the rooster. Brother fox, what dat big dust risin over de hill whar you come from? Another glance and the rooster shouted: "Look at dat lead hound comin down de slope."

"Great scott," said the fox, "dem dogs done run over dat law," and away he ran.

Another reason I think he will make a successful negro preacher is that he knows how to get money. But that is of secondary importance with preachers. After he had cleaned up my room one morning I found that I was short a five dollar bill. Now I don't mean to give you the impression that Joe got my money. How he impressed me by his adeptness at getting money was in the promptness with which he detected where my five-spot was.

He was sure that I must have dropped it on the floor and it got into the trash can with all those newspapers he took out of my room. And sure enough, when he came back he had the five and declared he found it in the trash can where he suspected it was.

I wish I had Joe down here to get another certain five-dollar bill for me. It was given to a negro wash woman, along with a one, to pay for a two-dollar washing. When I went back to get my mistake corrected, I was given every assurance by the washwoman, her husband and her mother, that there was no mistake—that the money was just two one-dollar bills, as I had thought when I gave them to her.

NOT INJURED

The laundress, visibly excited and distressed, arrived late at her place of employment.

Her 10-year old daughter had been struck by an automobile, she explained.

Shocked by the startling announcement the employer sympathetically expressed the hope that the child was not hurt.

"Oh, yes! Madam," replied the laundress, "she was badly hurt, but she wasn't injured."

What happened to the laundress's little girl, and its a true story, is exactly what happened to actual owners of corporate stocks and bonds in the Wall Street hurricane last fall. The sharp decline in market quotations reduced the mythical value of private fortunes but without cutting one iota the relative participation of each shareholder in the businesses in which his money was invested. Real values were not destroyed. Business is going on as usual. Wages are being paid and almost without exception, dividends are flowing uninterruptedly into the laps of shareholders. Measured by the Wall Street tape of last fall fortunes have dwindled and been hurt. Measured by the rigid steel tape of sound economic value, fortunes have not been injured.

There is no depression—there is scarcely recession in business. Such as there is, is occasioned by the calamity shouter and his wailing is drowned in the hum of expanding industry. Let every business man preserve calm demeanor and proclaim his personal faith in the soundness of America by carrying on boldly and confidently, and the weeping Jeremiahs will seek the caves of obscurity.

Business may have been hurt, but it isn't injured.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Walter E. Martin Buried Monday

Prof. Walter E. Martin died at his home in Clanton last Saturday, after an illness of more than two weeks with pneumonia. The passing of this man removes from the activities of life one of the most useful and most beloved men of Chilton County. For the past ten or twelve years he has been actively engaged in the teaching profession, during which time he has occupied some of the most important places in the public school work of the County.

Passing at the age of 37 years, the many friends of Mr. Martin feel a keen sense of disappointment that his life should be cut off just in the midst of his usefulness. But according to the Divine Plan, to which we can but surrender in humility, we are satisfied, as stated by Dr. Ezell at the funeral, that Walter Martin's work on earth has been finished well, and that he was called into that better world by the Great Almighty Power which giveth and taketh away.

Walter Martin was the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Martin, of Thorsby, who survive him. He was married thirteen years ago to Mary Pate, of Thorsby. The wife, with one little girl, Gladys, nine years of age, are left in the deepest sorrow for the ongoing of the one who was all the world to them. His brothers are Orrville, Dalton, and Dolphus Martin. His one sister is Mrs. John Dorminey.

The public career of Mr. Martin as a teacher was begun early in life. He taught at different places in Chilton County. Some years ago he came to Clanton as principal of the Clanton Grammar School, which position he held for several terms. He voluntarily gave up the principalship of the Clanton School to take the place of principal at the Baker Junior High School. Perhaps the greatest school work of his life was the inspiration which he shed upon the Baker community in leading those people to the erection of the splendid Baker Junior High School. He has been principal of that school since the new building was erected about three years ago.

We believe the most beautiful and enduring part of Walter Martin's life was his pure Christian character and virtues. Early in life he took his stand on the side of Christ, and ever sought to make himself useful in the kingdom of God. Since coming here he has been a most faithful worker in the Clanton Baptist Church, and Sunday School. At the time of his death he was Clerk of the Church, and teacher of the Young Mens Sunday School Class.

He was a member of the Thorsby Masonic Lodge, in which he was one of the leading exponents of the great principles of the Masonic Fraternity. It may be said of his Masonic connections, as truly as of his other activities, that he was an unassuming leader who ever proved worthy of the trust of his fellowmen. The burial of the body in Clanton cemetery Monday was in charge of the Masonic Lodge, which rendered very beautifully the last tribute of respect of Masons to a deceased comrade.

The funeral was held at Clanton Baptist church, conducted by Rev. S. J. Ezell. The great host of sorrowing people was a wonderful tribute to the life and character of the deceased. Those expressions of love and respect were further impressed by the extensive offerings of floral beauty.

The faculty and student body of the Baker School attended the funeral, as well as large contingents from the Chilton County High School, Clanton Grammar School, and other places in the County. Mell Martin had charge of the funeral arrangements, which were carried out according to the requests of Mr. Martin before his death.

LOOKING FOR SECONDS

Mr. J. A. Raines of Mt. Creek, who is a candidate on the Republican ticket for Tax Collector of Chilton County, was in Clanton Wednesday morning. In referring to a letter published by Mr. Rainer elsewhere in this issue of the UnionBanner, he stated that he was looking for several seconds to his motion in his letter. Turn to Bro. Raines's letter and read it.

MRS. ROY FOSHEE DEAD

Mrs. Ethel Foshee, wife of Roy Foshee, who lives a short distance south of Clanton, died at the Central Alabama hospital Wednesday about noon. She had been sick only a few days. Mrs. Foshee is the daughter of Tabb Traywick. She is survived by her husband and four children.

WILL BUILD FENCE AROUND PROVIDENCE CEMETERY

Members of Providence church in Beat 16 have requested The Union-Banner to announce that there will be a working at the church on Tuesday of next week, March 4th, for the purpose of building a wire fence around the cemetery. Everyone interested in the cemetery is requested to come and bring tools to do the work with. If it is raining Tuesday, come the following day.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

On next Sunday evening at 7:30 at the Clanton Methodist Church, the pastor, Rev. E. A. Childs, will give the last of a series of lectures on Palestine. His subject for the evening will be "River Jordan, the Dead Sea and Bethlehem."

These places are among the world's most historical spots. Centering around them is much of the evidence of the beginning of Christianity. Hear this lecture.

BIG BARGAINS IN GOOD USED CARS

Polk Brothers Motor Company Will Hold Spring Selling Sale Beginning Saturday, March 1

There are many real buying opportunities in the used car market just now, according to George Polk, sales manager for Polk Brothers motor Company, local Chevrolet dealer. In this connection he points out the fact that cars now being offered for sale were taken in trade on new care during the winter months and ample time has been had for proper reconditioning.

"The Spring season selling will soon be at its height," said Mr. Polk. It is the wise buyer who will take advantage of the opportunity to buy now while stocks are in greatest variety and selection and preces at the lowest.

The used cars we are offering now in this spring selling event we are holding beginning Saturday, March 1st, will give many thousands of miles of excellent service and offer greater actual economy than any other time of the year.

It is our intentions to sell every used car in stock during this selling campaign, said Mr. Polk, and all cars have been greatly reduced in price, some as high as $100.00.

It is also well to keep in mind the reputation of the dealer from whom a used car is selected, continued Mr. Polk. Remember that the dealer who has built a reputation for dependability, honest values, fair dealings, performance, and who has earned the good will of his clientele by years of fair dealing is the merchant from whom to buy a used car and we believe the Polk Brothers Motor Company has earned such a reputation.

Mr. Polk further states that all cars will have the price marked on windshield or price tag and that your present car will be accepted at a reasonable price as part payment on the car you select, and that prices will be the same regardless of whether it is straight sale or trade taken in.

Their terms of sale, according to Mr. Polk, will be 40 per cent down and balance small monthly peyments, or 50 per cent down and balance October first, plus small GMAC charge.

Their advertisement, giving description and prices of a few of the cars offered, will be found elsewhere in this paper.

PROF. EDGAR AT BAKER SCHOOL

Prof. Hill Edgar, brother of Dr. J. E. Edgar, has been in charge of the Baker Junior High School during the illness of Prof. Martin. In the absence of Superintendent Lawrence, we were unable to get a positive statement as to the arrangements for completing the term of the school. It is stated unofficially, however, at the Superintendent's office, that Prof. Edgar will continue with the school for the completion of this term under his present emergency contract.

OAK GROVE

Our Sunday school is doing very nice work now. We hope it will do more and better work when spring opens up.

Last Sunday was our regular day for preaching, and we had a wonderful sermon by Rev. Vest. All who missed it missed a real sermon—the best we have heard in a long time. Next fourth Sunday is our regular preaching day, and we hope more will come out and help us.

We will stop this time; hoping to see more out at Sunday school next Sunday.

A report from Jemison says that the singing at the Jemison Baptist church last Sunday afternoon was very good.

CIRCLE NO 6 DOES CHARITY WORK

Circle No. 6 of the Clanton Baptist Church are real workers.

Wednesday afternoon the Circle, after hearing of two new babies who needed the necessary clothing that all babies have to have, invited the Child Welfare superintendent, Mrs. Stapp, to meet with them at the home of Mrs. A. C. Smith where they spent the afternoon sewing and making these garments which were turned over to the child welfare department.

Hot coffee, sandwhiches and cake were served after an afternoon of enjoyment and real service was afforded to the following:

Mrs. J. A. Hester, Mrs. D. Y. Johnston, Mrs. S. J. Ezell, Mrs. J. T. Rockett, Mrs. A. L. Taylor, Mrs. Flem Higgins, Mrs. F. G. Taylor, Mrs. Bama Cox, Mrs. C. E. Stapp, Mrs. P. T. Hinkle, Mrs. J. M. Curlee, Mrs. J. T. Ellis, Mrs. A. C. Smith.

Mrs. W. H. Sewell could not attend the meeting but finished up several articles at her home afterwards.

NO REPLY FROM "A FARMER"

In last week's Union-Banner we asked the party writing the article in our issue of February 13th, headed "The Independent Merchant" and signed "A Farmer," to write us telling us his name. The name of the writer was not given, and the article was published through an oversight on the part of the printers.

Inasmuch as the writer still refuses to reveal his name, The Union-Banner exonerates itself from any responsibility for what was said in the letter. So far as we are concerned, the statements made in the latter are totally discounted; and we condemn the action of the party who sent the letter in for publication and refused to give his name.

It is against the policy of this paper to publish articles without knowing the names of the authors; but this one slipped through without us catching it.

SINGING AT CONCORD NEXT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The Union-Banner has been requested to announce that there will be singing at Concord next Sunday afternoon, which is the first Sunday. Help has been promised from Walnut Creek, Friendship, Providence, Refuge and other near-by communities. The public has a cordial invitation.

HILLS NINETEENTH ANNIVERSARY SALE

The Hill Grocery Company this week announces their Nineteenth Anniversary Sale, which starts Friday afternoon, February 28th, and will continue until Saturday night, March 8th.

In announcing this sale, Mr. J. W. McEarthern, manager of the Hill Store, says:

"This is the most attractive price event that has been put on by Hill Grocery Company in the entire history of their business. I want everybody to see the prices we are offering, and I am willing for the public to be the judge as to the merit of our offerings.

"I want to say further that every article offered in this special sale is genuine, and of the highest standard quality. Regardless of the price, Hill always sees that the quality is there.

"We are getting in a full car load of flour, which is to go in this Nineteenth Anniversary Sale. We mean to sell this car load of flour during this sale. I believe we will do it. This is the time of year when farmers should buy their supply of flour for the summer season. You will see that the prices we are making are so low that you will want to get your supply now. We thank you. Come to see us."

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Beginning next Sunday night the hours of worship will be changed as follows:

B. Y. P. U. meet at 6:30. Evening preaching service at 7:30.

The pastor will speak at 11 a. m. next Sunday on "Lessons From the Death of Walter Martin." At 7:30 the pastor will continue the services duscussing familiar Proverbs. The subject will be "Every Tub must stand on it's own Bottom."

Everybody has a cordial invitation to all services at the Church. Don't forget that your attendance at Sunday School at 9:45 will be helpful and appreciated.

PREACHING AT LOCK 12

There will be preaching service at Lock 12 next Sunday at two o'clock, p. m., by Rev. Ernest A. Childs, pastor of Clanton Methodist Church. Everyone in the community is especially invited to attend this service.

GRADY SAMMONS KILLED BY ELECTRICITY FEBRUARY 14

Grady Sammons was en employee of the Dixie Construction Company, holding a position with this company five years, being located in both Alabama and South Carolina. At the time of his death he had been in South Carolina four years. He got hurt February 14th at 7:30 a.m., and died the same day at 2:30 p.m. He was killed with electricity.

Grady was a kind loving boy, 25 years of age; he gained the friendship of everyone he knew, and was so kind and thoughtful of his mother and father or anyone else in time of need. Mr. Cunningham and Mr. Kennedy, two of the boys he worked with, accompanied his body back to his home. It arrived February 15th at 5 p.m., and the remains were laid to rest at Pleasant Hill cemetery February 16th, Martin in charge. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Wiley Davis.

It greatly grieved us to hear of the passing on of the dear boy. He was so wonderful in all his loving ways and thoughts that his good works commenced here will continue to grow and be a living monument to his virtues and beauty.

He is survived by a father and mother. Wash and Lula Sammons; five brothers, Jodie, Cecil, Luther, Luncy and Celton; two sisters, Lurla and Hursey and a grandmother, Mrs. Nancy Sammons.

May the one who comforts and sustains all be ever with them thru this vale of tears. Grady, we are sure, still watches over you and loves you as tenderly; so do not grieve but bravely go on as he would have you do until the happy day when you shall meet again.—Vergie Cost.

Regular services were held at this church last Sunday, the pastor, Rev. Calentine, preaching at 11 a.m., and at 7:30 p.m. The Crusaders held their usual meeting at 6 o'clock.

Rev. Calentine's subject in the morning was "The tree that was Cast in." The evening message was "The man who ran away from God."

Next Sunday's program is as follows: 10 a.m., Sunday school; 11., Communion service; 6:30, Crusaders and 7:30 p.m., Evangelistic message, Pastor Calentine, subject, "The Ark."

Everybody is invited to all services.—J. Mat Johnson.

INTERESTING WEDDING

A wedding of interest to many in this community occured at Tuscaloosa on Sunday, February 16, when Miss Mabel Yeager and Mr. Kimmie Easterling were united in the holy bonds of wedlock. Both of these young people are deaf-mutes.

Mr. Easterling is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Louis Easterling, of Clanton, Route 1, and is well known in this community. Miss Yeager was equally as popular in her own home town of Foster, near Tuscaloosa. The groom is 27 years old, and the bride is 23.

This wedding is the result of a romance begun when both were students at the Alabama School for the Deaf, at Talladega. The wedding ceremony was held in the First Methodist Church of Tuscaloosa, the pastor of that church officiating. A large crowd of people of Tuscaloosa witnessed the ceremony.

The young couple expect to make their home with Mr. Easterling's parents.

We join with their many other friends in wishing for them a long and happy life together.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marcus and Mr. and Mrs. Odise Miller spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Marcus at Kennedy, Ala. Mr. and Mrs. Marcus returned home with them Sunday night and will spend a few days in Clanton.

USE OF ELECTRIC ENERGY IN HOMES INCREASES IN 1929

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 24.—Electric labor-saving and comfort-giving appliances in Alabama homes were used more in 1929, under the stimulus of lower domestic rates, than in any previous year, with few if any increases in service bills over former schedules, Alabama Power Company announced here today.

The comsumption of electricty during the year climbed 75 kilowatt hours per residential customer following the establishment of a reduced schedule of domestic rates by Alabama Public Service Commission on January 1, 1929.

In the twelve-month period the new rates have been in effect, the value of electric appliances purchased by the homemakers of Alabama broke all records. Major appliances, constituting the bulk of electric refrigerators and electric water heaters of the new low-wattage type. It is estimated that there are 12,000 homes in Alabama cooking electrically.

The still wider application of electricty to household tasks in Alabama is anticipated, as the new rates are so designed that they decrease with the increased use of energy.

POWER OFFICIAL IS ELECTED DIRECTOR OF PARENT COMPANY

New York, N. Y., Feb. 24.—Eugene A. Yates, Vice-President and General Manager of Alabama Power Company, Birmingham, has been elected vice-president and a director of commonwealth and southern corporation, Thomas W. Martin, President, announced here today. T. A. Kenney, of New York, was also elected a director and vice-president of the company.

Mr. Yates will continue to make his home in Birmingham and will have in the future important additional duties in connection with the various properties in the Southern States in which the commonwealth and southern corporation is interested.

GOOD SINGING AT FRIENDSHIP LAST SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Quite a little crowd of singers gathered at Friendship last Sunday afternoon and had two hours of very good singing. Both the Showalter and Stamps books were used, and everybody seemed to greatly enjoy the various selections used by the directors. Those leading were: Jasper Robinson, Johnnie Miner, C. H. Robinson, Steve Baker, Melvin Mims, Marion Easterling, R. M. Robinson and T. E. Wyatt. Jesse Baker was there but could not direct on account of the fact that he had broken his specks. There were visitors from several of the neighboring communities, the help from all of whom was greatly appreciated.

According to present arrangements, there will not be singing again at Friendship until the fourth Sunday in April. It is hoped that the singers will take note of this date and try to arrange now to come to Friendship on that date and help sing. Visit other places between now and then and plan to come to Friendship on the afternoon of the Fourth Sunday in April.

SHERIFF CARRIES NEGRO TO MT. VERNON, ALA.

Sheriff Collins and Deputy Culp went to Mt. Vernon, Ala., near Mobile, last Sunday, and carried a negro woman by the name of Powell from Jemison, and placed her in the negro asylum there.

The officers came back by way of Atmore, the state farm, and got Kiah Carter, white man who was sent there from Shelby county and was wanted in Chilton county charged for assault and battery and carrying a pistol. Carter was brought back here and lodged in jail.

On last Thursday, February 20th officers went to Spigener and got Ed Hatcher, serving a sentence from Bibb County, who was wanted here on a charge of manufacturing liquor in this county. Hatcher is now in jail in Clanton.

On Tesday of this week, Burl Price who lives north of Jemison, was arrested and placed in jail, on a charge of larceny. Pierce later made bond and was released.

MARTIN WOCO PEP STATION WILL CONTINUE OPERATION

Mrs. W. E. Martin announces this week that she has made arrangements to continue to operate the business of the Martin Woco Pep Station in Clanton.

During the past year Mr. Martin has built up a good business at this place, and Mrs. Martin expresses the hope that the friends and patrons of the business will continue with it in the future.

Reynolds and Hart In Washington DC

Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds and Mayor Eric Hart are in Washington this week in the interest of the location of the veterans hospital in Chilton County. They left here last Satusday night in order to arrive in Washington for the hearing before the Veterans Bureau Tuesday.

It was announced from Washington last week that the Veterans Bureau would hold a public hearing on Tuesday of this week in order to determine upon the general location of the hospital in some section of the State of Alabama.

Judge Reynolds and Mayor Hart will represent Chilton County in the hearing. They will endeavor to get an arrangement whereby the committee in charge of the location of the hospital will come to Chilton County to look over the different prospective sites.

When that time comes, if it develops so far, it is understood that Clanton, Maplesville, Verbena, and perhaps other communities in the county will have locations which they want to show to the committee.

WHITE DIES SUDDENLY AFTER HUNTING OUTING

Selma, Alabama, February 20.—News was received early Saturday night of the sudden death of Pleas White, 63, well known railroad engineer, who died at 6 o'clock near the outskirts of Tuscaloosa as he was returning to his home in that city after a hunting trip.

Mr. White was driving his own car when his head fell over on the shoulder of his companion. He expired without speaking. The body was returned to Selma for interment, Sunday, February 2. Mr. White was married on November 2, 1929, to Mrs. Herman Daw of this city. The couple were the guests of friends in Selma for Christmas. Mr. White had once been connected with the Southern Railroad out of Selma, and left here some 25 years ago for Tuscaloosa, when he became passenger engineer on the M. and O. run between that city and Montgomery. Besides his widow he leaves two brothers, Nat White, Southern Railroad passenger engineer on the Mobile run who reached the city at 10 o'clock Saturday night, and Ed White of New York City. Mrs. G. I. Griffin of this city is a niece, and nephews are B. P. White and D. L. White.

Mrs. Daw, before she married was Bessie Watson, daughter of Sam Watson and Fannie Watson. She has father and mother and 9 brothers and 3 sisters to sympathize with her, she has had so much trouble.

Miss Essie Johnson is a patient in the hospital.

Mr. George Bell was operated on last Saturday.

C. A. C. BOYS TAKE TWO FROM MARION INSTITUTE

The Clanton Athletic Club basket ball team defeated Marion Institute in two starts on Monday and Tuesday nights. The scores were, Monday night, 33 to 32, and Tuesday night, 26 to 23. The Marion club brought a cracking good team to Clanton, and these games were exceptionally good, as the scores show.

The whole Clanton team played heads-up basket ball to defeat Coach William's well trained squad. The second game was marred somewhat by a mishap that occurred in the last few minutes of play, when Marion's team was inclined to play a bit rough, and Gore, of Clanton, received serious injuries to his eyes.

The locals were to play U. S. Rubber Co., in Calera last night, at the opening of Calera's new gymnasium.

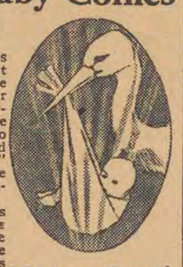
STATE CAPITOL News

Dr. J. J. Durrett, prominent Federal official and a native Alabamian, has been selected by the State Board of Health for the position of State Health Officer to succeed Dr. Douglas L. Cannon, who resigned owing to ill health. The action of the State Board is subject to approval by the Alabama Medical Association, which holds its annual meeting in Montgomery April 16-18. Dr. Durrett is Chief of Drug Control of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and is a former county health officer of Tuscaloosa County. It is expected that he will assume his new duties in April, relieving Dr. Stuart Graves, Dean of Medicine at the University of Alabama, who has been acting as State Health Officer pending the selection of a successor to Dr. Cannon.

A modern cold storage plant will be erected at the state prison farm near Atmore, according to recent announcement by the State Board of Administration. The type of plant and equipment selected would cost ordinarily around $18,000.00, it is stated, but the actual cost to the state will be only about $12,000.00. Lumber for the plant will be cut and milled on state land by convict labor, which accounts for the saving. Perhaps the most important use of the plant will be for cooling strawberries prior to shipment, which will not only preserve the berries, but make possible heavier loading of cars by cutting down ice requirements. Strawberries are being grown on an extensive scale on the prison farm near Atmore. The plant will also be used for chilling vegetables prior to shipment, and for the storage of large quantities of potatoes. The storage plant will be ready for operation April 1st, and it is estimated will pay for itself within three years through saving effected by eliminating waste.

Alabama has become the leading state in the Union in the production and shipment of package bees and queen bees, according to report brought back from the recent annual meeting of the Honey Producers League and the Association of Apiary Inspectors of America, held in Milwaukee. Thomas Atchison, apiary inspector of the Alabama Department of Agriculture, stated on return from the meeting that the Alabama laws and methods of regulation were brought up before the Convention and received general commendation. No bees can be shipped from Alabama unless accompanied by a certificate signed by the department that they are free from disease.

J. M. Cutts, of Snowdoun, Montgomery County, was elected a member of the Board of Directors of the National Honey Producers Association.



Commissioner I. T. Quinn, of the Department of Game and Fisheries, calls attention to the close of the season on bobwhite quail on February 20th. This bird cannot be legally hunted again until November 20.

The Department is not in position this year to purchase additional brood stock, both because of exorbitant prices charged by brokers and because of inadequate revenues, and the public is urgently requested to cooperate in the protection of this greatest of all game birds.

The State of Alabama and its various counties and municipalities will spend for public improvements and buildings during 1930 an estimated sum of $79,813,000, according to figures furnished by the Executive Department to R. P. Lamont, U. S. Secretary of Commerce. Of the above amount, $10,000,000 will be spent by the State for roads and bridges, and $4,000,000 by the State for buildings of higher institutions of learning; $59,813,000 by the counties and municipalities for public improvements and buildings, and $6,000,000 by counties and municipalities for school buildings. These figures do not include expenditures for expansion of industries and public utilities doing business in the State.

The muscles, tissues and nerves must "give" easily as the abdomen enlarges or much pain and suffering may result. More important still, is to have the tissues and muscles as "elastic" as possible when the great moment of childbirth arrives.

Countless thousands of expectant mothers for over 60 years have been relieved by the use of "Mother's Friend" — that time-tested, scientifically-prepared skin lubricant and pain-reliever which originated in the prescription of an eminent obstetrician.

Mother's Friend lessens pain

You owe yourself the comfort "Mother's Friend" gives during the waiting months. It is so soothing and relaxing! It is not a drug to be taken. It is used externally only—gently rubbed into the skin. Clean and pleasant to the touch. Brings relief promptly. Very valuable in keeping the breasts in good condition. Also puts you in fine shape for the approaching ordeal.

Free Book "Mother's Friend" is on sale at all drug stores. $1.25 per bottle. Try a massage with it tonight and notice the ease and comfort it gives. A booklet on "Things to Know Before Baby Comes" will be mailed in plain envelope, free, on request. Address Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. 15, Atlanta, Ga.

(Blow Graveyard)

There will be a working at this place next Saturday, March 1st, for the purpose of cleaning off the cemetery. Every body who is interested come and bring tools to work with.—Mrs. O. L. Martin.

Alred's Garden Guide
FOR FEBRUARY

February is the gardening month of the South. Time lost now can not be recovered. If our hints for January have been followed, you are now ready for active duty. We can lay down no exact rule for definite time of sowing and planting; this must be governed by the weather prevailing. But everyone should be right ready to take advantage of favorable conditions as they may come. We recommend the following varieties as suitable for planting in February:

BEETS—Crosby's Egyptian, Early Eclipse, Extra Early, Detroit Blood Turnip, and Perfect Model.

BEANS—Bush or Snap Shorts, Early Red Valentine, Stringless Green Pod, Prolific Stringless, Bountiful, Best of All Wax, and Golden Wax.

CABBAGE—Improved Drum Head and Flat Dutch. These are the finest stocks of late cabbage. If your plants have not been set out, look after your cabbage planting at once.

CARROT—Early Scarlet Horn, Half Long Scarlet, Scarlet Chantenay, and Long Orange.

MUSTARD—Sow now for salad. We recommend the Mammoth Southern Curled Mustard.

LETTUCE—Sow and transplant from spring or winter beds. Select Big Boston, Simpson, Hanson, Veribest, unrivaled.

ONIONS—Sets should be set out now or they will not form a bulb.

POTATOES—Our stocks are from Maine. Plant Houlton. Early Rose, Extra Early Sunrise, Irish Cobblers, and Early Ohio. For late or general crop use State of Maine or Green Mountain.

TURNIPS—Sow as early as the winter permits. They require quick growth, otherwise they will be tough.

Lesson for March 2

JESUS TEACHING ABOUT HIMSELF

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 11:2-12:50.

GOLDEN TEXT—Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus the Friend of All.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus the Great Helper.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Who Jesus Was.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Our Lord's Testimony Concerning Himself.

I. How the Kingdom Was Received (ch. 11).

In showing the attitude of heart of the people, four classes of hearers are described.

1. The perplexed hearers, like John the Baptist (vv. 2-11).

John believed that Jesus was the Christ (v. 2), but was somewhat perplexed as to the manner of the establishment of the kingdom. The Baptist had in his preaching mainly emphasized the line of prophecy which made the King to be a mighty conqueror (Matt. 3:10-12). He said that the ax is laid unto the root of the tree and that there was to be a separation of the chaff from the wheat and a burning of the chaff. John saw Christ as the one who would remove the sins of the people by the shedding of His blood (John 1:29), but he failed to see the interval between the time of His suffering and the time of His triumph.

2. Violent hearers (vv. 12-19).

These were willing to receive the kingdom according to their own way, but were unwilling to conform to its laws. They seized it with violent hands. They would not repent when called upon to do so by John, nor rejoice to do so when called upon by Christ (vv. 17-19).

3. The stout-hearted unbelievers (vv. 20-24).

In Chorazin, Bethsaida and Capernaum, Christ had done most of His mighty works, but the people deliberately set their hearts against Him and His message. Tyre and Sidon were filled with immoral profligates and idolators, but they will be more tolerably dealt with in the Day of Judgment than will those who willfully reject Jesus Christ.

4. Hearers who are babes in spirit (vv. 25-30).

There were some among the people who heard Jesus with childlike faith. They believed that Jesus was the Messiah and opened their hearts to receive Him.

II. The Antagonism to Jesus (ch. 12).

In chapter eleven we saw the shameful indifference of the Jews to their King. In this chapter we see the positive and bitter antagonism manifesting itself against Him. The immediate occasion of their wicked determination was Christ's relation to the Sabbath.

1. The Son of Man is Lord of the Sabbath (vv. 1-8).

The hungry disciples were plucking corn on the Sabbath. With this the Pharisees found fault. To their cavils Christ replied, and showed that God's purpose in instituting the Sabbath was to serve man's highest interests and to contribute to his happiness.

(1) He is greater than their greatest King, David (vv. 3, 4). (2) He is greater than their sacrifice and priesthood (v. 5). (3.) He is greater than the temple (v. 6). The temple, with its gorgeous rites and ceremonies, was but typical of Himself. (4) He is greater than the Sabbath (v. 9), for He is the very Lord of the Sabbath.

2. Healing the withered hand (vv. 9-14).

In order that they might accuse Him, they asked, "Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath days?" Jesus' reply was both a question and a declaration.

3. The unpardonable sin (vv. 22-32).

The occasion of their blasphemy against the Holy Ghost was the casting out of the demon. In this act, Christ displayed His power to cast out demons. The effect of this miracle was twofold: (1) Upon the multitude. They were amazed, and cried out, "Is not this the son of David?" (2) Upon the Pharisees. When they heard what the people were saying, their anger and satanic malice were aroused. They said He was casting out demons by the prince of the demons. With unanswerable logic, He met their accusations and demanded decision. He charged home upon them their awful guilt. They had attributed the work of the Holy Spirit to the devil. This Christ calls the blasphemy against the Holy Ghost, for which there is no pardon.

The Last Step Wins

It is the last step that wins, and there is no place in the pilgrim's progress where so many dangers lurk as the region that lies hard by the portals of the celestial city. It is when heaven's heights are full in view that hell's gate is most persistent and full of deadly peril.—A. B. Simpson.

FORD WHEELS MAKE RUN WITH HALF SPOKES CUT

A Ford wire wheel, almost destroyed by fire and further mutilated by cutting of half its spokes, recently triumphed in a drastic two-hour test run of fifty-four miles, half of which was over rough country.

The welded wheel was about all that remained intact of a Ford car and garage after a fifty-gallon gasoline drum exploded. The terrific heat ruined the temper of the wheel and warped the rim. Lance Walsh, who conducted the test, further mutilated and weakened it by filing through half of its spokes.

What was left of it was fitted to the rear driving side of a new Ford and in that condition driven from Durgan to Maritzburg, South Africa, a distance of fifty-four miles, in two hours and five minutes. Half of that journey was over rough country.

The damaged wheel had ta withstand not only the ordinary road shocks but also driving and braking strains on hills. On the completion of the run Mr. Walsh, a noted tester of automobiles, pronounced the damaged wheel no worse off than before the run.

CANE CREEK

Health of this community is very good at present.

Most of the people are getting ready for another crop.

Rev. M. Lickhart delivered a fine sermon Sunday at 11 o'clock. We were all glad to have him with us for he has once lived in our community.

Our Sunday School is improving but still there is lots of people who haven't been coming through the winter that could come from now on as the weather will be better and the roads too, and they will have no excuse. Sunday School is a fine thing to attend and we all ought to go and study the Bible more, for we never will learn too much about it.

The singing was good Sunday afternoon, but the crowd was small. The directors were: Mr. W. L. Sanders, E. C. Traywick, Rev. M. Lockhart, O. R. Robinson, Floyd Little, Miss Delene Lambert, Lillie Mae Weldon, and Annie Clackler. Organists were: Miss Cuba Littleton and Lillie Mae Weldon.

We had visitors from several different churches. We were glad to have them and invite them back again any time they can come.

The people from Refuge has offered to come and help us if we will only go over there and help them on the 3rd Sunday afternoon in each month. Several have promised to go over there and help them and they are going to sing once each month there on the third Sunday afternoon, and our singing is on the fourth Sunday afternoon in each month. We want to make our singings better.

We missed the singers from Mineral Springs Sunday. We want them to come back to the next singing we have, for they are lots of help, and we are glad to have them.

Next Saturday and Sunday is regular preaching days here. Come and hear Rev. A. E. Trice for he will have something good for us.

MINERAL SPRINGS

Health of our community is very good, except Grandpa Peters, he is at his son's, Florence Peters, very sick.

Our Sunday School is doing fine.

Well as next Sunday is our regular singing evening we want to invite all singers to come and be with us and all have a good singing and a good time. Also, next Saturday night, March 1, Rev. Wiley Davis will preach at 7 o'clock and Sunday at 11 o'clock.

We want everybody that is interested in the Robinson cemetery to meet Saturday morning for the purpose of cleaning of same.—M. Gore.

The Union-Banner has received a letter from Mr. L. L. Brigance, saying that he has left Ohio, and now has a position with the Tennessee Electric Power Company, at Hohenwald, Tennessee.

What Price LAZY APPETITE

"Dear, are you not glad you followed my suggestion when I urged you to try S.S.S. for your lost appetite?"

HAVE you an indifference or loathing for food, or do you really enjoy mealtime?

Fads and fancies come and go. We must be reasonable. You can't afford to wreck your body by "killing" an appetite given you by Nature to nourish your body.

You must really enjoy your meals and assimilate them to restore the waste of the body. Don't expect a strong, sturdy body and a keen mind to carry on if you do not enjoy your food. It just can't be done. Friends, happiness and business success may depend on a keen appetite.

Many thousands have turned to S.S.S. when the appetite signaled danger. It is a time-tested remedy . . . purely vegetable. Easy to assimilate. Pleasant to take. It will do much to restore the natural appetite. It will not act instantly, but, be assured, when taken according to directions, it will usually bring back your desire to eat and enjoy your food. This you well know is the basic step for health. Simply reason it out for yourself and you will agree that it is the practical way.

And remember, S.S.S. will help you get your blood-cells back up to normal. Then that sluggish, let-down feeling and skin troubles will disappear. You should sleep soundly. Firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

S.S.S. gives to Nature what it needs in making you feel like yourself again. At all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

their LIVES are in YOUR HANDS!

DOWNY LITTLE THINGS . . . not long out of their shells . . . how much they must depend on you for the things they need to live and get big. They need a feed filled with nourishment. A feed which will build bones quickly . . . building muscles strong . . . change fuzz to feathers in a hurry . . . all this they demand . . . and yet their little crops can handle only one tiny thimbleful of feed a day! What a job for feed!

Consider Purina Chick Startena (mash) for this job! In every thimbleful are twelve ingredients! Cod-liver oil . . . dried buttermilk . . . alfalfa flour . . . granulated meat . . . these and eight others are there . . . each one with a real job to do. Purina Startena is mixed over and over again . . . 960 times just to be thorough! And you will find the same care taken with Baby Chick Chow (scratch) . . . to be fed with Startena.

Your chicks . . . what they do for themselves . . . what they do for you . . . is entirely in your hands. They eat so little . . . yet it counts so much . . . that you can afford to do only one thing . . . feed Purina Chick Startena!

MINERAL SPRINGS DEFEATS COLLINS CHAPEL IN SPELLING

Last Thursday night at the singing at Collins Chapel, Mineral Springs got a surprise. Mr. Appleton announced that Collins Chapel would spell against us at their school house Saturday night. Although Mineral Springs was not very well prepared for the spelling, they went and defeated the Chapel pupils 3 to 0. C. A. Rutherford, Winfield Rutherford and Miss Louise Dobbs were up when Miss Paul Benson, the last on Collins Chapel side, sat down. Although Miss Benson did some good spelling, she wasn't good enough to set Mineral Springs down.

It was a lively contest, and everyone on both sides enjoyed it.

We will have a spelling match at Mineral Springs some time in the near future, and we want everyone who can to come and be with us. The exact date will be announced in due time.

Mrs. L. I. Perkins and grand daughter, Sylvia Jean, have returned to their home in Cincinnati, Ohio, after spending one month with the former's sister, Mrs. L. A. Tracy of Collins Chapel.

LIBERTY HILL - CEDAR GROVE SINGING SOCIETY

The Liberty Hill and Cedar Grove singers met last Sunday afternoon at Cedar Grove. Messrs. Kermit Lowery, Houston Melton, D. T. Melton and Bro. J. W. Lowery were directors for the afternoon. Several quartets were rendered by members of the society.

Bro. Nation made an interesting talk and offered prayer. We were expecting the Robinson quartet with us but were disappointed. However we hope they visit us in the very near future. We invite them and all other singers any time they can come.

Our society meets at Liberty Hill the second Sunday afternoons and at this place every fourth Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Vernie Smith visited his sister in Autauga county last Sunday.

Messrs. Ernest and Dewey Melton visited their mother and father last Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Duke and Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus Littlejohn ate dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Lesley Thornton last Sunday.

Mrs. Alav Smith was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mims last week end.

Mrs. J. W. Thornton spent a few hours with Mrs. T. J. Smith last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. John Tippett and Mr. and Mrs George Tippett and family visited Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Smith also last Sunday afternoon.

McDOWELL WRITES OF RACE FOR COUNTY BOARD OF ED.

To the Voters of Chilton County:

In making my announcement for member of the county board of education, I did it at the request of my many friends and for the interest I have in the education of our boys and girls.

I fully realize the responsibility that is resting upon us as parents and leaders of education in our county. Chilton County will never rise above the culture of our boys and girls. The welfare of our nation is measured by the education of the rising generation.

If the voters of Chilton County see fit to give me the office I am asking for, I will do all in my power to give the boys and girls an equal chance and a dollar's worth of education for every dollar invested for that purpose.

We have offices that pay more, but none more important than those on which depend the cause of education. Yours for more schools and better schools.—Ollie H. McDowell, Clanton, Route 1.

IN MEMORY OF LITTLE MARY ETHLEENE DUPREE

On February 17th, the death angel visited the home of Mrs. Bettie Collins and carried away her little grand daughter, Mary Ethleene, Dupree, who was three years old. She bore her suffering very bravely, as at last God called her away from us.

She was one of the most pleasant little children around everyone. She loved everyone she had ever seen, and everyone loved her that knew her; but all we can do is to live as God would have us live to meet her. She is now at rest in the hands of God, and some day we will meet her on the happy golden shore.

She was laid to rest at Collins Chapel Cemetery, Rev. Lowery conducting the funeral with Martin in charge of the body. She leaves a host of friends and relatives to miss her.

Ink Drops from C. C. H. S.

Basket ball season has come and gone, and the boys of the Chilton County High School are beginning to make preparations for another sport. Baseball is now on the minds of quite a few of them. In the meantime, quite a few are going out for spring foot ball practice, especially some of the younger ones who are trying out their metal on the new six-year ruling. It is now a law made by the Alabama High School Athletic Association that a pupil in the 7th grade may try out for foot ball. That means that he will have six years in which to play foot ball or any type of organized high school athletics. We have several prospects who will furnish valuable material for baseball this spring. Among them are Benson Simms, Paul Cox, Rufus Brown, Harvey Melton, and William Robinson. There are quite a few others who will come out.

C. C. H. S. boys and girls regret the loss of Prof. Walter Martin.

It is with deep regret that the boys and girls of our high school feel in the loss of Mr. Martin. Almost every boy and girl in the school has once been a pupil under his instruction. All feel that he has been a great help to them in many ways.

Basket Ball Tournament at Selma

The Chilton County High School has just completed a very successful season in basket ball. Though they did not win all the games, they all proved to be worth seeing. The season was close by the tournament at Selma on the 23rd and 24th of this month. The team felt rather confident that they would win some laurels, but much to their chagrin, they lost two of three games they played. Orville won over them first. Friday night they defeated Union town who had beaten Orville that morning. This encouraged our boys, but Greensboro proved a hard foe and the game was lost by one point to Greensboro. Although no honors were taken, it felt that the trip was worth while. The number of students who went showed the fine spirit of the student body and that they were back of their team in every way.

Program in Physical Education

The Junior I, II and III classes of C. C. H. S. are putting on a special program in physical education. This program is to secure one thousand points before April 1st. To secure these points, the pupil must improve on different exercises. And at the same time each one receives a certain number of points according to the difficulty of the exercise.

The aim of this program is to be able to qualify in the 1,000 points in order to participate in the Play Day Exercises to be held at Alabama College on April 14th and 15th. This club was organized under the excellent direction of Miss Edna Cofield, who is our physical education teacher. The club met Friday, February 21, and the following officers were elected: President, Margaret Jones; vice president, Dorothy Sessions; secretary, Evelyn Maddox; group captains, Mary Robinson, Margaret Jones, Imogene Simms, and Clyde Simms. We are expecting this club to have a large delegation at the Play Day Exercises.

WHO'S WHO IN SENIOR III CLASS

Most intellectual, Nelson Parrish; Prettiest girl, Janice Danforth; Most handsome boy, Benson Simms; Most popular girl, Melna Dial; Most popular boy, William Arthur Willis; Best athlete, Rufus Brown; Most courteous, U. L. Foshee; Biggest booster, Elizabeth Johnson; Best all-round William Robinson; Most original, Stanley Nivens; Most attractive Samuel Martin; Wittiest, Courtland Rutherford; Most dependable, Zebbie Gray.

Look for "Who's Who" in the other classes for the next five weeks.

How to Raise Poultry

By Dr. L. D. LeGear, V.S., St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. LeGear is a graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College, 1892. Thirty-six years of veterinary practice on diseases of live stock and poultry. Eminent authority on poultry and stock raising. Nationally known poultry breeder. Noted author and lecturer.

We find experts of unquestionable reputation who assert with great positiveness that Bacillary White Diarrhoea (B. W. D.) is the greatest menace to poultrydom since the landing of the ark and that the blood test is the one sure means of achieving a victory. Another group of just as impressive reputation assert with equal assurance that the B. W. D. menace has been vastly overrated and the kindest thing they can say about the blood test is that it is just an experiment with only limited value, if any. The one group maintains that it is a germ disease while the other is quite sure that it is caused by improper brooding, too early feeding or the feeding of improper materials, etc.

The majority of our best authorities favor the veiw that B. W. D. is a highly infectious disease which is transmited from hen to chick through the egg. These writers are also of the opinion that the blood test known as the Agglutination Test is the only sure means of detecting the disease in mature fowls. My own study of the disease extending over a number of years convinces me that the true B. W. D. is a genuine contagious bacterial disease transmited from hen to chick through the egg, and is quickly spread from affected chicks to others in the brood.

This fact should be fully realized by poultry raisers everywhere, for B. W. D. is one of the worst diseases affecting baby chicks. Losses up to 50 per cent are not uncommon and not infrequently 80 to 90 per sent of a hatch will be wiped out. Of those that survive, many will retain the germs in the ovary or egg sack where they will find their way into the eggs causing infection of future generations, if these birds are used for breeders. The most critical period is during the first 48 hours.

All cases of bowel troubles in baby chicks are not B. W. D. by any means. Simple Diarrhea is not contagious, and is often the most common kind seen. It is usually caused by faulty feeding, improper brooding, dampness, etc.

Affected chicks are dull, dispirited and dejected looking. In the most serious cases a white pasty substance closes up the vent. As a result the chick becomes pot bellied and utters a pitiful "peep, peep" indicative of great pain. Death usually follows in a few hours. Those only mildly affected may develop rapidly, show no outward signs of the disease and reach maturity with the germs concealed in their ovaries. Such fowls are called carriers or reactors.

Since carriers show no external evidence of their condition, the importance of finding some way to detect these disease spreaders has long been recognized. Several tests are now available, but the most reliable one is that known as the Agglutination Test. There are many biological laboratories in the country capable of making such tests. Once it has been determined which hens are the carriers of the disease, they should be separated from the flock and used no more for breeders.

Steps can be taken to limit the spread of the disease. Baby chicks should be divided into small flocks of 100 or 200 or less. By this means they can be watched closely. If any are noticed with bowel troubles, they should be removed at once and either kept to themselves a few days for developments, or killed and burned. Droppings should be cleaned out often. Feeding and watering equipment should be kept scrupulously clean at all times. Floors should be cleaned often and disinfected with a 3 per cent dip and disinfectant solution. Dry, clean litter should then be placed on the floor.

By covering the brooder room floor with half-inch mesh wire raised a few inches from the floor, will do a lot to prevent the spread of this disease. Chick Tablets should be disolved in all drinking water for the first three weeks. Fresh buttermilk or clabbermilk should be fed daily in clean protected vessels. Only feed of the best quality should be fed.

It is especially important that incubators and brooders be throughly scrubbed and disinfected before being set for fresh hatches. A very important factor in the control of this trouble is to keep houses, runs and all equipment in 100 per cent clean and sanitary condition at all times by cleaning often and using freely a good dip and disinfectant. The germs of B. W. D. may remain alive for months and unless such precautions are observed may cause an outbreak of the disease.

SOMETHING NEW IN COTTON PLANTING!

Announces Disylay of Avery "Hill-Drop" Planters—a Startling Improvement

Cotton farmers this past season have been trying out a new development in cotton planting which promises substantial savings in labor and seed. Chopping cotton has always been an expensive operation. Now it can be eliminated from 50 to 100 per cent, according to farmers who have used the new method. Savings in seed also run from 50 to 75 per cent, a very worthwhile saving, with improved cotton seed costing as much as $3 a bushel. Even if crop seed is used for replanting, less is needed and greater profits made at the mill. These savings alone would justify "Hill-Drop" planting. But farmers also report getting better stands and yields, in most cases. No matter what cotton brings, the "Hill-Drop" farmer is due for greater profits on his crop, because he cuts his cost of production.

The "Hill-Drop" feature as perfected by Avery of Louisville is now incorporated in seven of their planters. This feature enables the farmer to plant as many seeds as desired in hills only, spaced as far apart as conditions require. The planting mechanism is a clever device which operates automatically for single or double row planting. Seed is seldom scattered between hills, hence most chopping is eliminated. When you consider that one man can chop only an acre of cotton a day, on an average, it is evident that labor costs are considerably reduced. That's over three months' work eliminated on a plantation of 80 to 100 acres!

If the lowest estimate of savings in seed is taken—50 per cent—that will amount to 50 bushels for 100 acres. Avery of Louisville has letters and telegrams from cotton farmers stating that savings in seed and chopping have run much higher. All of the farmers using the new Avery "Hill-Drop" Planters this past season are enthusiastic—seldom has a new development been received with such universal approval as this "Hill-Drop" feature. It has proved itself in the field, so there can be no question but that cotton farmers can now make bigger cotton profits even without bigger cotton crops. We are watching this development with great interest and will doubtless have further information to report after the present season.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

ANNUAL OUTLOOK REPORT EXCERPTS

State and Federal Statisticans Give Notes from Department Report.

The annual outlook report of the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., completed in co-operation with agricultural colleges and extension services and Federal Farm Board, has been carefully examined by F. W. Gist, State and Federal Statistican, with reference to its application to Alabama farm conditions.

The following excerpts therefrom are offered as being peculiarly of interest to Alabama farmers:

"The domestic market may improve later in the year, but it is unlikely that the demand for farm products in the summer and fall of 1930 will be as good as during last summer and fall," according to the report. "The demand for some farm products already has been affected by the decline in industrial activiey since last June. Butter, cotton and wool have been noticeably affected and apples, potatoes and grains have failed thus far to make the usual seasonal price advances."

"The outlook for farm mortgage financing and for marketing credit is more favorable than a year ago. On the other hand the outlook for production credit appears less satisfactory in most of the South."

"The acreage and production of cotton in the last five years, excepting 1927, have been at comparatively high levels. It seems certain that any increase at present would be unwise."

"Hog prices in 1930 are expected to average at least as high as in 1929, and possibly higher. A reduction in slaughter supplies is indicated, but this probably will be partially offset by a decrease in foreign and domestic demand for hog products."

"Beef cattle raisers who contemplate expanding production are faced with a general tendency to increase the number of cattle and with a downward trend in prices over the next decade."

"The underlying dairy situation is not as bad as would appear from present butter prices, but unless dairy herds are closely culled and more heifers sent to slaughter, there will be a further increase in the size of dairy herds in 1931 and 1932."

"The present outlook for poultry and eggs does not justify any increase in production of chickens over 1929, either for eggs or meat, unless producers are willing to face the prospect of reductions in price levels."

"The number of peach trees of bearing age is still so great as to make possible heavy production and unfavorable marketing situations during the next few years."

"The pecan outlook is for a material increase in production of improved varieties during the next decade with some reduction in prices."

"Cantaloupe prices probably will be lower this year in the early producing sections, and a moderate decrease in acreage in the intermediate and late sections is recommended in order to raise prices to the level of a few years ago. Watermelon growers should plant a somewhat smaller acreage."

"Prospects for strawberry growers now seem to be better than in any year since 1926; smaller acreages are in prospect, and there is likelihood of reduced yields in some districts."

"The present prospect is for favorable cabbage markets until August, in view of relatively light holdings of old cabbage and reduced acreage in southern areas. Further increase in late cabbage acreage does not seem warranted."

"A reduction in peanut acreage of from ten to fifteen per cent is recommended."

IMPROVED PASTURES FOR ALABAMA FARMS

Auburn, Feb. 25.—Improved pastures are increasing in number in Alabama. They are also improving in quality, as found by J.C. Lowery, extension agronomist of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, in a study of annual reports of county demonstration agents.

Explicit evidence of this increase is the fact that 473 demonstrations of better pastures were started last year under the direction of the county agents and 420 of them were completed. These 420 demonstrations included 19,537 acres.

Along with these demonstrations which were started in 1929 many other old demonstrations were continued, thereby carrying out the idea of a permanent pasture.

Continuing the work of former years, Mr. Lowery anticipates an expansion in 1930. Already the farmers are buying seeds of pasture plants and preparing to plant them during the early spring. Land is now being prepared and the seed will be planted late in February or early in March .

As viewed by F. W. Burns, extension livestock specialist, increase in pastures is a result of the increase in the livestock industry. Successful livestock farmers know that feed is their biggest factor of cost and that the cheapest way to provide feed is by a pasture. Consequently, an increase in number and improvement in quality of pastures will result in more economical production.

Fortunately there are many good pasture plants adapted to Alabama conditions. Both legumes and grasses do well. They are sowed in combination to provide pasture for a maximum period of each year.

County demonstration agents throughout the State are now arranging to start their 1930 demonstrations with pastures.

PASTURE SUGGESTIONS BY C. E. STAPP

It is time to seed your pasture land. There is much good pasture land in the county being allowed to grow up in briars and bushes. Land intended for pasture should be cleaned off as for other crops.

A mixture of about 10 pounds of carpet grass, 5 pounds of Dallas grass and 10 pounds of Lespedeza makes a good combination for the branch bottom pasture lands of this county.

ALABAMA FARMERS TALKING ORGANIZATOIN

Montgomery, Feb. 24.—As never before Alabama farmers are menifesting interest in organization and co-operation, announces Edward A. O'Neal, president of Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, who said that approximately 500 farmers have made personal visits to an thousands of letters have been received by Farm Bureau Cotton Association within the past two weeks asking for information as to how to pool cotton and draw the 15.64 cents per pound middling basis which the association is advancing.

Allen, Northington, general manager of the cotton association, announced yesterday afternoon that farmers are pooling from 1000 to 5000 bales of cotton each day, depending largely upon weather condition. Over 110,000 bales of cotton have been received. This is a record delivery for the association as the biggest delivery in one year up to this year was a little over 106,000 bales.

BLACK WALNUT IN DEMAND

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 24.—Black walnut timber is being sought in Alabama by lumber dealers and representatives of furniture factories, says the State Commission of Forestry. Buyers are searching for individual trees or for tracts of timber containing this valuable species and are buying standing trees, or logs delivered at the railroad. A considerable quantity of black walnut logs has recently been shipped from Mobile to various European countiries where it is in demand for many purposes.

Black walnut is an American species and its wood has been distinctive in the development of the finest Colonial and modern American furniture. Limbs, knots and sound deformities enhance the value of the trees, since crooked or curly grain is used for highly figured furniture and cabinet work. In many cases even the stumps are dug up and used. The best gunstocks of the armies of the world are made of black walnut. The kernels of the nuts are used for cooking and confectionery and oil is extracted from them.

Black walnut grows rapidly in all parts of Alabama and can be easily and inexpensively raised. It should be protected from injury and fire and permitted to reach large size before being cut.

GROW LONGER STAPLE COTTON EXPERTS SAY

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 24.—Alabama farmers should plant only good land to cotton in 1930 and should plant the best seed of the best varieties which will produce a staple of at least 7-8 to 1 inch staple.

This is one of the recommendations of a statewide committee on a safe farming program and cotton acreage adjustment for 1930, which is composed of Bradford Knapp, president of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, chairman; Edward A. N'Neal, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, Montgomery; Allen Northington, general manager of the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association, Montgomery; S. P. Storrs, commissioner of agriculture, Montgomery; R. N. McCloud, president of the Alabama Bankers Association, Huntsville; J. S. Wittmier, chairman of the committee on agriculture and marketing, Alabama Bankers Association, Oneonta; M. A. Vincentelli, secretary-treasurer, Alabama Bankers Association, Montgomery; J. B. Hobdy, director of Vocational Education, Montgomery; L. N. Duncan, director of extension, Auburn; M. J. Finchess, director of the experiment station, Auburn; W. C. Lassiter, editor of the Progressive Farmer, Birmingham.

Commenting upon the improvement that should take place in the quality of cotton Dr. Knapp makes the following stricking statement in an article prepared for the Progressive Farmer.

"It is well known to many people that the quality of cotton in the South has gone down materially, especially in length of staple. Due to the advent of the boll weevil and the necessity of growing early maturing varieties the South for 20 years has put the emphasis upon the weight of lint per acre and has thought too little about the quality of that lint, until today we are apparently face to face with a crisis when the quality of Indian and other foreign grown cotton is on the increase and the quality of American cotton on the decrease. Unthinkingly, we have made competition from abroad more possible than ever.

"Supremacy in cotton growing in the South can be maintained only by a continued intelligent, scientific breeding of varieties that produce a quality of cotton superior to foreign grown cottons. I am confident that we have enough brains in America to produce cotton of one inch or better staple which will yield enough lint cotton per acre to make a profitable return for the farmer's work and thus restore the supremacy of America's cotton, if it is to have any supremacy.

"We need a rededication of our effort to the production of high class cotton in the South. Single varieties for communities, careful handling of seed, energetic cooperation with experiment stations and cooperative marketing of the product on a quality basis are matter of immense importance to Southern farmers."

President O'Neal said that the Farm Bureau is squarely behind a program for better quality cotton and last year made a start in furnishing cotton growers of the State with seed that will grow better staple and return more money to each acre of cotton produced in Alabama when it distributed approximately 10,000 bushels of improved cotton seed. These seed included Cook's 1627 and Cook's 307-6.

He said that the Farm Bureau continues to promote this work and is this year distributing improved seed. These seeds are DPL4-8, Cook's 307-6 and Cook's 1627. All of these varieties have been carefully selected and all the seed last year produced cotton of 7-8 inch and better length.

The value of milk in the United States in a year is equal to the entire national gold reserve, which is four times greater than that of any other country in the world.

LEADERS ADVISE FARMERS GROW MORE FEEDS

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 24—As far as possible every family on Alabama farms ought to produce its own hay and corn for feeding their livestock. The average on corn and hay in Alabama should be increased for this purpose. Pastures are important for our livestock. It took half of the cotton crop last year to pay for the feed brought into the State to feed livestock and to supply food for the family, which could have been produced on the farm.

This is a recommendation of the state-wide committee on Safe Farming Program for 1930, and Bankers, county agents, Chamber of Commerce officials, vocational teachers, and farmers are being urged to assist in carring this recommendation to every Alabama farmer.

Carl Williams, cotton representative of the Federal Farm Board, recommends "that no banker finance for production credit, nor merchant credit, nor landlord permit, nor farmer dare to plant any cotton on any land until he has assured a food crop for his family and a feed crop for his stock."

The Alabama Farm Bureau Federation is urging each of its members to follow this recommendation, says Edward A. O'Neal, president. To emphasize the importance of this program Mr. O'Neal said that Alabama is producing about one-third of the hay needed by the state. "Each year several million dollars are spent out of the state for hay that can be easily grown at home. It is estimated that the saving to Alabama by growing the hay needed will approximately pay the state's annual commercial fertilizer bill," he said when quoting J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist, Auburn.

After explaining that the Experiment station has found that each dairy cow needs two tons of legume hay, each mule two tons of hay, each beef cow two tons of grass hay, and each sheep one-fourth ton of legume hay, Prof. O'Neal said that it is recommended to farm bureau members that one acre be allowed for producing hay for each horse, mule, cow, or ten sheep fed on the farm. He said that experiments have shown that it is easily possible to make two tons or more of hay per acre on the average soils of Alabama when both summer and winter crop is grown.

When baking vegetables in a baking dish, add enough water to cover the bottom of the container and keep the cover on so the steam will not interfere with the browning of other foods which may be cooking at the same time.

Maybe They'll Learn

"A field becomes exhausted by constant tillage" is just a high-sounding way of saying your land will wear out if you work it to death without fertilizer.

Sounds like it might have been said by some earnest scientist at a meeting of the So-and-so County Agricultural Society last week, doesn't it?

Know who did say it? A Roman poet named Ovid, and he wrote it down in Latin.

Know when he wrote it? Two thousand years, twenty centuries ago—long before anybody had discovered that it wasn't the field that became exhausted, but the plant food in the field.

Two thousand years ago—and some folks haven't heard it yet!

Grow What They Want

"Successful cotton production today depends not so much upon blindly producing a large supply as upon adjusting the supply to suit the preferences of the spinners of different yarns and the consumers of cotton goods of every kind. Such adjustments can be made only when the local markets reward the grower for the production of superior and penalize him for the production of inferior cotton."—B. YOUNGBLOOD.

FOR FINER COTTON, V-C

The southeast cannot compete on an equal basis in cotton production with the southwest except by growing higher-grade long-staple cotton, said Dr. H. G. NO SUBSTITUTE!

A certain good farmer has been buying a carload of V-C every year for a long time and making money with it. Not long ago he was having an argument with his dealer about terms.

"All right," said the dealer finally. "If you feel that way about it, I'll just turn you over to the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Corporation and let them sell you direct."

"Not much you won't!" the customer shot back at him. "Do me like that, would you? I'll be everlastingly shriveled if I'll let you do anything of the kind—I won't stand for it, darned if I will! Now you listen to me—I want V-C, and I won't take anything else but V-C, and you needn't try to put anything else off on me!"

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

When the fight to get the United States into the League of Nations was up, a decade ago, those opposed to our joining declared that it would not be long until the League would seek to have some say in such questions as tariffs, immigration and other matters in which the view held in the United States is directly divergent to that held in Europe. Friends of our joining the League made light of these charges, called the men who were making them alarmists, and declared that men of straw were being raised to frighten the people against the League.

In view of all this it is interesting therefore to note that the United Staes a few days ago received an inviation from the League to participate with a delegation in the conference to be opened at Geneva for the purpose of discussing a tariff truce. The United States government sent a note to the League declining to participate in the conference although stating that the United States is "sympathetic toward movements for improving world-wide economic relations. The United States, as is customary, will have an observer at Geneva in an unofficial capacity, to see what is going on, but will take no part in the conference.

Of course there are many reasons why the United States does not want to participate officially in such a conference. The one which occurs most readily is that the tariff making power in the United States rests solely with Congress and no other governmental authority can say just what is to be done or not done about our tariff or the principles to be used in its application. It is also true, of course, that even at this time the Congress of the United Staes is engaged in an effort to revise the tariff, with the ultimate result, it is hoped, of giving protection to certain industries including agriculture which are in sore need of help of this kind.

But it is to be remembered also that tariffs in the United States and Europe are regarded in a far different light. In our own country it has come pretty generally to the theory that we should give industries which need it, enough protection to equalize the cost of production at home and abroad. This is to assure good wages and steady employment to our workmen, a high standard of living and prosperity in general. In Europe tariffs are generally not levied to equalize production costs or to raise the standard of living. They are usually put into effect as retalitory measures, and are used to put something over on the fellow or to get even with him for something he has already put over. The changing of the map of Europe, following the World War, gave rise to many new national boundaries and to a great many tariff barriers, most of which were of a retaliatory nature. It cannot be questioned that these barriers have interfered with the economic recovery of Europe but that they are not to be better illustrated by what would result if our own forty-eight states should erect economic barriers, one against the other, for political reasons.

Now the fact that Europe and America have different theories for dealing with the tariff is enough proof of the theory that we do not want to have the League regulating our tariffs, even were such a thing possible under our Constitution. The League invited us into the tariff conference and we respectfully declined. Our refusal to come across has hardly created a ripple on the surface of international affairs. But suppose Uncle Sam were a full fledged member of the League and should refuse to get into a diplomatic tariff poker game. He would at once be denounced as a shirker not only by the European statesmen but by our own international clackers in America. Every year brings some fresh proof to sustain the notion that we are much better off outside of any European entanglements and minding our own business so far as European affairs are concerned.

E. G. CALDWELL SHOT ACCIDENTLY SUNDAY

Mr. E. G. Caldwell, prominent merchant, of Pletcher, was brought to the Central Alabama Hospital last Sunday, suffering with gunshot wounds in the legs.

It is stated that Hr. Caldwell set a shot gun trap in his store Saturday night hoping to catch some parties who have been breaking into his store. He had it fixed so that the gun would go off when the door was opened.

The burglars did not come Saturday night, and when Mr. Caldwell opened his door Sunday morning he received the load of shot which he had prepared for the thieves. The charge intered his right leg just back of the knee, tearing the flesh away and going into his left leg. It was only flesh wounds, but very serious.

British experts would like for the United States to have more and smaller warships. Doubtless they would be willing to grant us a hundred thousand tons of raw boats on one-half ton each.

A scientific magazine states that it may be possible some time to repeal the law of gravity and we know of some statesmen who would have the nerve to try it right now.

It is said that shop terms used by the London telephone girls are entirely different from those used in America. For instance, when the London central says, "You are thru" it means that the connection has been completed, and not that your conversation is finished. But the terms used by the average London subscriber when he gets the wrong number are brobably similar to those employed in this country.

THE JACK POT

BY "JACK" HIMSELF

We tried a little experiment last week with the JACK-POT, just to see if very many people were reading the "col-yum." Yep! They do! That old POT got response, and how!

This week we're gonna follow K. W. Henderson's policy. We're gonna present the merchant's side of this little controversy upon which the POT dwelt at length last week. In this way, we will wash "Little Willie" and all the other "Little Willies" nicely, tie on his prettiest Windsor, dry his tears, kiss away his pains, and send him on his way rejoicing again. Here goes!

Let's deal fair with our merchants. If local producers have a surplus to place on the market, be it butter, meat, potatoes, beans, or what have you, do like the "drummer" does when he comes to town.

He doesn't load up a truck with all he's got of a certain article. No. He takes a sample, calls on his prospects, and sells from the sample, making delivery later. The merchant buys what he needs, has it packed in the size and quantity he can best use it in, etc.

Try that. Bring a FAIR sample, show your local merchant what you have for sale, get the best price you can—that SHOULD be what "outside" goods of like quality bring, and if our local merchants will not buy the local surplus THEN, you can know for a certainty where to place the blame for our bad marketing conditions. If he wants to be on the square with his buying public, he will JUMP at the chance of buying locally.

And, again, if our local merchants really desire to play fair in this little value and trade exchange, he will offer you the best market price, if the goods offered for sale really come up to the standard demanded by his buyers. He can't sell it if it isn't what his trade demands, and if he can't sell it he don't need it. So, now, let's sum it all up in a nutshell.

First, as said before, bring the sample; find your buyer from among them all; enquire just how he wants your goods put up, (he might want it packed in a different way from some other buyer); go back and put it up that way if you haven't already done so; then bring in the goods, deliver them, and collect for them.

This "BE FAIR" question works both ways, too. Don't kick because the buyer may want changes made in the packing. Remember, when you go to buy something at one of the stores, you don't buy what you don't want and can't use. Instead, you go to another store, where it IS sold like you want it.

The JACK-POT believes that in the above has been set out a sound and stable answer to the problem which seems to be the local producer's main worry—a market. If you have a surplus to sell, your local merchant will tell you how he wants it, and then, will offer a fair market price, in this way helping the local producer, then he has a right—EVERY RIGHT— to expect you to buy your needs here at home.

And, the JACK-POT believes, too, that when such time shall come when local merchants and producers follow such a rule as far as possible—buying from each other—we will realize the solution to the "bad times" problem. Of course, local merchants can't fill all their needs locally, but local producers, we believe, can fill a big part of his demands.

Let's try it this year! What say! Let everybody else watch everybody else on this "Buy At Home" business. If everybody is treated fair, square, and clean, we will experience the healthiest state of trade affairs you ever heard of. Here's hoping.

Whew! Maybe the storm has blown over, now. It's unnatural, you know, to feel things getting so dog-gone hot right here in February. It ain't that time of the year, yet. Cool off. If things stay as hot as they are till the good old "90-in-the-shade" days come along, something will be swelling up and busting besides the sidewalks.

Now that we have that red-hot trade question off hand, we want to present another one to readers of the POT—this railroad and bus business. Did you ever take your seat out somewhere on the highway and watch the busses and motor transports file past? No? Well, listen to this.

On a recent trip from Calera to Clanton, the POTTER met no less than 28 freight transport trucks—big ones, too—hauling freight between Birmingham and Montgomery. That besides the regular passenger busses that run on their regular schedules.

We don't want to get really "strung out" on this question this week; it's too good for next week. And, too, by then, we can get some actual figures to back up the comment we have to offer. But, folks, this is getting to be a very, very serious affair.

While you are waiting for next week's POT to come to you in The Union-Banner, just look about you, while you are on the Montgomery-Birmingham paved highway, and notice to what enormous proportion this highway transportation has grown. If you will do this you will be better able to understand the astounding figures that will be given out.

Well, somebody said "All work and no play makes Jack ....," you know the rest, so we want to joke a little, and then for another good snooze.

Day by day, in every way, this warm weather is getting fishier and fishier. A few buds peepin' out; can't dig a post-hole without bringing up worms; more and more things bringing up this fishin' business every day.

Besides all this, every once in a while, some guy comes along with a nice string, which don't do our "fish itch" a bit of good—just when can we get away to go? Aw, heck! It's no use to try to dodge the urge.

We're goin' fishin'! Right now, too!—"Jack".

J. A. McLEAN DIED AT HOSPITAL HERE

Mr. J. A. McLean, of Albertville, Alabama, died at the Central Alabama Hospital at Clanton early last Friday morning, following injuries received in an automobile accident near Maplesville Thursday night. He was struck by a car driven by C. L. Kanipe, of Maplesville.

Mr. McLean had gotten off a train at Maplesville, and was walking down the road on his way to the home of his brother at Adams. In some way he was accidentally hit by a car.

Martin's ambulance was called and brought the injured man to the hospital here. He died early Friday morning. The body was taken in charge by Martin and prepared for burial. Shipment was made to China Grove in Pike County, the boyhood home of Mr. McLean.

J. E. Robinson, Joe Johnson and Miss Kate Aldridge visited Miss Daisy Ray at Thorsby Sunday.

Mr. Anton Thorson of Thorsby has sold his place and will remove his family soon.

Robert E. Sessions is now principal of the Jemison Institute.

Organization of the Chilton County Cotton Association was effected at the court house here February 1. Officers elected were: W. H. Conway, president; F. A. Gulledge, vice president; J. N. Dennis, secretary; and W. T. Callen, treasurer.

Mr. Bob Farley has removed to South Alabama.

Mr. Joe Hester, who has been at Verbena as depot agent for the past several years, is now in Clanton.

John VanDerveer of Montgomery was here Sunday.

Married this week: Sterling Sexton and Miss Susie Adams, Archer Cleckler and Miss Rosa Moates, S. A. Collins and Miss Minnie Gore.

W. H. Sartor in his adv. says: "I have reduced prices to assist my farmer friends to raise more hogs and hominy, and cotton as a surplus; cash counts at this store. My motto is: Live and Let Live."

Mr. Z. J. Jones of West Chilton has removed to Rendolph and is now clerking for A. P. Howison.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE

Under and by virture of the power of sale contained in that certain mortgage executed on the 1st day March, 1919, by J. W. Adams, a widower, in favor of H. E. Gipson, trustee, which said mortgage is recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, in Mortgage Book No. 171, at page 366, the undersigned, H. E. Gipson, trustee, mortgagee, will on the 7th day of March, 1930, in front of the post office door, in the village of Pletcher, Chilton County, Alabama, during the legal hours of sale proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash, the following described real estate, situated in Chilton County and state of Alabama, to-wit:

The southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 21; and the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter less that part thereof lying north of old Dixie Public Road, and also less that part lying north and east of M. & O. Rail Road of section 21, and all that part of the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter lying south and west of M. & O. Rail Road of section 21 all in township 20, range 13, containing 90 acres, more or less.

Default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured by said mortgage; said sale will be made for the purpose of paying the indebtedness secured by said mortgage, and the expenses provided therein, including a reasonable attorney's fee.

This the 4th day of February, 1930.

The Man On The Corner

Some Sights He Saw— and Some He Saw Not.

I am enjoying an improvement in health, thank you. Have gained two pounds in weight the last month. If Boss Miller's dairy can keep up the necessary supply of sweet milk, I think I can get back to normal again in a year or so.

My friend, Mr. W. H. Sartor, gave me a very cheerful suggeestion the other day. He said for me to go along for a while and if I couldn't get my stomach to behave itself, I could have it taken out and get a sheep's stomach put in place of it. He said he heard of a man in a northern city who is wearing a sheep's stomach, and the doctors keep him around as an exhibition of their surgical skill. I guess a scheme like that would be better than no stomach at all. It is a good thing they have at hand a specimen to prove it by; else I would never consent to take the chance.

My compliments this week go to Uncle Billy Mullins and his sweet young bride of the golden years. Their fiftieth anniversary was celebrated at their home in Clanton Tuesday. It is a wonderful thought that the home life of these two people has reached from the days of the spinning wheel and home-made jeans britches to these modern days of the radio with all of the other trimmings.

Speaking of wedding anniversaries, I ran across another interesting spark from the long ago. Wiley Littlejohn told me Monday that the biggest hail storm of history visited this section forty years ago that day. When I asked him how it happened that he remembered it so precisely he said: "Well, that was the day when I came to Clanton to get my marriage licenses. I got caught in the hail on my way back home, and I am sure I shall never forget it. Wedding days do make impressions that are everlasting."

I stood on a corner one day this week looking at the place where Clanton's frog pond used to be. It is a mighty heap of difference now. James Sign Shop, the new Standard Service Station, Clanton Motors, Robinson's Machine Shop, now occupy the space that used to be inhabitated only by a vast army of squeaking frogs in a nasty stagnant pond.

The good weather of the past few weeks has enable the farmers to get a good start in their spring plowing. On a trip out into the rural districts last week I was surprised to notice so much has been done. Indications are that there will be more farming in progress this year than last. Better watch out about the cotton, boys. Too much of that stuff is a bad thing. Remember, you can't eat it; and too much of it is bad for selling.

S. P. Shaw of Jemison was here Tuesday getting things lined up for the strawberry season at Jemison. Everything looking good up there, he says. Dief is also stirring around on the marketing end of the strawberry line. He will sell berries this year for both Clanton and Jemison. Past experience has proven him to be jam up on the marketing business. I notice many of the berry patches are all plowed out with straw ready to put on and the blooms beginning to show up.

Buford Lawrence is in Atlantic City this week attending the National Educational Association. Some of the boys coming out with warnings against the one mill school tax. And the chain store racket getting hotter and hotter. Well, it is just one thing after the other; but in particular it is Clarence Saunders after Old Man Henderson. Or maybe I should say Old Man Henderson after Saunders.

I hope Judge Reynolds and Buck Hart bring back the Veterans Hospital with them

WASHINGTON HAD OPINION ON REAL ESTATE

Perhaps it is not generally konwn that George Washington summed up in a letter his ideas about the possibilities of the United States from a real estate standpoint. It is a fact, however, that the first president in a missive written to Sir John Sinclair in 1796 told this distinguished Scotch nobleman just what he thought of the various parts of our country at that time as a place of residence. At the time Sir John contemplated coming to the United States to live and he wrote George Washington for information concerning the best part of the country to locate in. In an interesteing article dealing with Washington's reply, Mr. P. L. Franklin says in the current issue of the National Republic:

"Washington's reply is characteristic in its perfect frankness, courtesy and practicality. In order to be sure that the information reached its destination, he wrote the letter in triplicate, and it is well he did, as the first two copies were lost in transit. Being himself an experienced farmer, it is natural that he should have stressed character of soil and crops, land prices and nearness to markets. He did not confine himself to these considerations, however, but told everything that seemed pertinent to the question, the undesirable as well as the favorable qualities of each section. Thus he warned against the severity of New England winters, while recommending it socially as most likely to be congenial to English newcomers. He warned against the unhealthiness of swampy sections in the South and expressed grave concern as to the outcome of Pennsylvania's 'open door' immigration policy.

"For all his obvious effort to be impartial, Washington was human enough to favor his own beloved Virginia and the Chesapeake country. In his enthusiasm for that neighborhood, he made a prophesy cencerning the capital city which has not been fulfilled. He believed that Washington, D. C., would become the most important city of the New World, basing his prediction on its central location midway between North and South, and its accessibility to navigable water. Washington could not foresee that the locomotive and the truck, to say nothing of the aeroplane, would minimize the importance of transportation by boat and make it possible for great industrial cities to grow up in the center of the continent. Baltimore, only forty miles distant from Washington, and enjoying the same advantages of location which George Washington claimed for the city which bore his name, has, by proxy, fulfilled some of his predictions in becoming the most important city south of New York.

"He did, however, correctly foresee two other future events, namely, the growth of the anti-slavery movement and the peopling of the Middle West. His survey was limited to the thirteen original states existing at the time the letter was written.

An extremely interesting item, mentioned only incidentally by Washington, was that in 1796, land values had already risen in American because of public confidence in the government."

WEST CHILTON

Everything moving on quietly.

Hurrah for the "Jack Pot." He has given a sane solution to the chain store question. His suggestions are wise and the only permanent adequate remedy.

Rev. Dyer of Randolph filled his regular appointment at Union Spring Sunday.

Rev. A. G. Spinks, formerly of Moulton, Ala., conducted the funeral of Marvin Merchant at Pleasant Grove last week.

Misses Mary Lee Atchison and Vashti Martin visited Miss Dovie Smith Sunday.

Mr. Joe Waldrop has been sick, but is now up again.

Mr. T. J. Hubbard is visiting his haughter at Hamburg, Ala.

We learn that L. M. McCary, while out driving recently, lost control of his car and the car turned over and rolled into a creek. But Mr. McCary escaped unhurt.

Lloyd Smith is on the sick list at this writing.

Mr. L. G. Posey is now in charge of the Mahan and Johnson farm just across the line in Beat 2 for this year.

We have recently learned that Jim Pate died at the county farm near Lomax and was buried at Lomax. Jim was a familiar figure in West Chilton, known far and near. He was around 70 years of age; he had his peculiar ways, but Jim was kind hearted and very industrious. He performed much hard work in life as long as he was able. He was full of life and energy; was never married. He now rests in peace.

So we are to have another election on April 8th on the question of more tax. That may be final and it may not be. We thought the other tax elections were final. That great financier, Mr. Mellon, claims that more than 60 per cent of the American peoples' tax goes for war, directly or indirectly. What do we want with war any way? How much we need the Coming Administration of the Golden Rule!

Mrs. Rosalie Poole and daughters, Mary Merle and Mattie Louise, who have been spending several weeks in Clanton with relatives, left for their home in Memphis, Tenn., Wednesday evening.

TUG WILLIS' NEIGHBORS ENDORSE HIM FOR SHERIFF

We, the undersigned friends and close neighbors of J. M. (Tug) Willis, do hereby acknowledge that we endorse him in his undertaking, and that we would be willing, and that we would feel safe, as citizens of Chilton County for the Sheriff's office to fall in his hands. We believe, knowing him as we do, that he has got the mother wit to carry his undertakings out in a straight and safeguarding manner, without any pets, regardless of whom he may be, or how big he looks, or how small he looks:

FAIRVIEW NOTES

The many friends of Mr. J. D. Culp will regret to learn that he is on the sick list this week, but we hope he will be able to be out again soon.

Mr. Roscoe Durbin motored down from Birmingham Sunday and spent the day with his mother, Mrs. Ola Edwards.

Miss Ruth Cox spent last week at Speigner with her aunt, Mrs. J. M. Roper.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Keen and children of the Shiloh community, and Mrs. Jim Bice spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Billingsley Sunday.

Miss Esther Ray spent the week end with Miss Jewell Foshee.

Misses Ora and Lena Devaughn were the guests of Miss Elneor Mae Wright Friday afternoon.

Misses Virgie Henley and Edna Durbin motored to town Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Olen Bice, Mr. and Mrs. Hannon Owen, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Wagoner, and Mr. Houston Traywick spent a few enjoyable hours with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Billingsley Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Traywick spent the afternoon with their mother, Mrs. Ola Edwards, Sunday.

The senior class of Isabella gave a party Saturday night at Fairview schoolhouse, and all reported a fine time.

Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Popwell entertained quite a crowd at a singing on Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mims, Miss Ella Henley and Mrs. Blonie spent the afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Owen Sunday.

Quite a number from this community attended the singing at Pleasant Grove Sunday afternoon. Those enjoying this were: Misses Elneor Wright, Virgie Henley, Ora and Lena Devaughn, Mildred and Edna Durbin, Ruby and Louise Cox, Ine McKee; Messrs. Jerome Henley, Tommie Wright, J. D. Williams, H. L., Claudie and Elbert Mims, Melvin Devaughn and Clyde Wright.

CAR JUMPED OVER THE MOON

Two trips to the moon have just been completed by two Detroit police cars—figuratively.

Both are Lincolns and still performing perfectly. The one has registered 265,000 and the other 250,000 miles, distances that would take them far beyond the moon, 238,840 miles away.

Last July the Detroit police traded in two Lincolns that had gone similar jaunts, both between 200,000 and 300,000 miles each. The city cars roll up mileages rapidly, the police cars being on the streets 24 hours a day and average more than 4,000 miles a month each.

S.S.S. To Award Prizes For Radio Comments

Cash prizes totaling one hundred dollars are being offered by the S. S. S. Company, of Atlanta, one of the south's oldest proprietary medicine manufacturies and sponsor of one of the most brilliant weekly radio concerts broadcast enywhere in the nation, for comments and criticisms looking toward the improvement of its broadcasts.

Since last October the S. S. S. programs have been heard each Monday night over WSB, radiophone broadcasting station of The Atlanta Journal. Comments by the thousands—some of them critical, most of them commendatory—have been received each week from S. S. S. lesteners in every section of the nation. These comments have been carefully collected, studiously classified and always considered in the preparation of the S. S. S. programs. As a result, these weekly concerts have achieved unparalleled popularity among radio fans and have been generally accepted as models of broabcasting perfection.

Offers Cash Prizes

With the recent increase in WSB's broadcasting power and a resultant extension in the scope of its service, the S. S. S. Company has arranged for a ciange in the hour of its programs from 8:30 to 9:00 o'clock Monday nights. This chance will make the S. S. S. concerts available to a much larger number of listeners throughout the nation, and it is primarily for the purpose of encouraging comments and critisms from these new listeners that the sponsors are launching their nation-wide contest for program suggestions.

A first prize of $50, a second prize of $25 and five additional prizes of five dollars each will be awarded, the winners to be announced during the S. S. S. broadcast on the evening of May 12 and by letter the following day to the successful contestants. Rules for the contest are being furnished radio fans in special circulars, obtainable on request from the offices of the S. S. S. Company in Atlanta.

Bro. Bryan's Weekly Message

(Written for The Union-Banner by REV. J. A. BRYAN, Pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, Alabama)

GOD DELIVERING HIS CHILDREN FROM SIN INTO THE PATHS OF SELF-DENIAL AND SERVICE

In God's Word we are taught the absolute helplessness of man and the helpfulness of God, the absolute inability of man in his own strength, and the ability of God. This theme seems to be the outstanding Spiritual lesson of the Book of Judges, illustrating a sentence we find in Zechariah: "It is not my power nor by might, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord," and also another sentence we find in 1st Corinthians 1:27: "God hath chosen the weak things of this world to confound the things which are mighty."

God proved his people in the time of the Judges. Remember that this book covers a period of three hundred and five years, a period of seven apostasies and seven returns to the Lord. To-day we begin with the third apostasy or turning away from God. We read that the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the Lord after the death of Ehud. Ehud was evidently a God fearing man. We don't find any black marks against him.

But these people reaped what they sowed. The Lord sold them into the hand of Jabin the King of Canaan, who resigned in Hazor; and the Captain whose host was Sisera, which dwelt among the Gentiles. These people were in great trouble and distress, and indeed sorry for their sins. This lead them to cry unto the Lord. They had broken the bonds between them and God but when they began to face distressing times they called loudly upon the name of the Lord, their only helper.

Sisera was a wonderful military leader with nine hundred chariots of iron. For a period of twenty years the record is that he mightily oppressed the children of Israel. Deborah, a prophetess, the wife of Lapidoth. She dwelt under the palm tree of Deborah, between Ramah andBethel in mount Ephraim. We find that she was the brains in God's hand for the first great battle during these apostasies. She called Barak to be the leader of the host of the children of Naphtali, and Zebulun according to the commandant of the Lord God of Israel.

Barak said, "If thou wilt go with me, then I will go." Then Deborah answered "I will surely go with thee, nevertheles the honour shall not be thine for the Lord shall sell Sisera into the hand of a woman." So they together went forth and gained a great victory over these people, the enemies of God. We should remember that they gained that victory because they depended upon God for it.

In Deborah's command to Barak she said, "Up; for this is the day in which the Lord hath delivered Sisera into thine hand. Is not the Lord gone out before thee?" The Lord discomfitted Sisera, and all his chariots and all his host with the edge of the sword before Barak. Sisera being so outdone he could do noting except alight from his chariot in and ran away on foot to the house or Jaal, the wife of Heber the Kenite because reigned between Janin the king of Hazor and Heber the Kenite. All the host of Sisera fell upon the edge of the sword, and there was not a man left among them. Great victories can be gained with Christ as the captain of the host of the Lord In other words we can truthfully say that the battles of the Christian are gained by the help of the Lord and not by outward means. We read that in these battles God subdued the people.

The fourth apostasy was when the children of Israel did evil again in the sight of the Lord, and the Lord reproved them by delivering them into the hand of the Midianites. Because of their oppression of Midian the children of Israel made dens, and caves, and strong holds in the mountains. They went to work and made good crops, but the Midianites and Amalakites and the children of the east came up against them and destroyed thier increase leaving neither sheep nor ox, nor all, no food to sustain and nourish their physical bodies. Israel was greatly impoverished, because they had encountered these people who were as grasshoppers for multitudes, and they cried unto the Lord again.

This time God raised up Jerubbabel or Gideon to deliver them out of the hand of the Midianites, the hand of those who oppressed them. We read that the Lord sent a prophet among them who reminded them of God's goodness in bringing them out of Egypt the house of bondage, saying, "I am still the Lord your God, fear not the Midianites and Amorites and the gods which they worship, yet ye have not obeyed my voice. I delivered you out of the land of all that oppressed you, and drove them out before you, and gave you their land. I assured you that I was your God, and to hear no other gods, but ye have not obeyed my voice."

Now the angel of the Lord that appeared to Gideon must have been the same one that appeared before Joshua and directed him in his military strategy that captured Jerico, the stronghold city to the possession of the land because he seemed to know all about militarism and battle. This angel appeared to Gideon at Ophrah where he was thereshing wheat by the winepress to hide it from the Midianites. Gideon no doubt was greatly discouraged, thinking of old, old stories which had been tald them how the Lord brought thier fathers out of Egyptian bondage whom thy shall retain in thine army, I will tell thee; and those which thou shall not keep I shall tell also."

Gideon lead his army down to the water, and there the Lord said unto him, "Every one that lappeth of the water with his tongue, as a dog lappeth, him shalt thou set by himself, likewise every one that boweth down on his knees to drink. The number that lappeth putting thier hansd to their mouths, were three hundred men. All the rest bowed down upon thier knees to drink the water. Then the Lord told Gideon that by the three hundred men he would save Israel, and deliver the Midianites into his hand. This God did as He always gives that which He promises when the condition is met upon which the promise is made.

The victories of these deliverers of Israel over the enemy is a type of our victory over the devil our enemy. In the first place these deliverers were called of God. Certainly they had great faith in God and obeped God's commands. At one time God used a ox goad in a good man's hand, and at another time He used the jaw bone of an ass to subdue the power of the enemy. In some cases He used afith. The God who gave strength to Samson, directed Gideon with a small army against a great opposing force and gave him the victory, stopping up the mouth of the lion to save Daniel's life can also give us a victory over a sin cursed world.

L. H. BEAN WRITES

Please allow me space in your paper to say just a few words in regard to the taxes of Chilton Conty. I have just noticed another special tax election called by the County Board to be held in April 1930. I have just been wondering where this tax business will stop. Voters it seems to me we are paying too much taxes already for what we are getting out of it. We do not need any more money to run our schools on. We just need more brains, and we are in bad shape to get that at present. This tax question is getting to be burdensome on the tax payers. I believe they will get their eyes opened this fall when they will have ten-cent cotton and forty-cent meat.

Mr. Voter, just meet your tax collector in front of the court house door next June and see the homes and farms sell under the tax hammer at our present tax rate. I think it high time for the people to put their foot on any tax increase in Chilton County. We have to judge the future by the past and that being the case you can plainly see the more money you give to your school bunch the worse your schools are.

Bro. Lawrence had a very interesting piece in the papers last week concerning the old people and the opportunity schools and how fast these old people could learn. That is all true. These older people go to school to get something out of it and they get down to hard work to learn. They are not running all over the county playing ball and keeping their minds torn up.

Bro. Lawrence, in his letters to the county papers last week, says they are going to put on a campaign to educate all the old people by April the first. If he is successful with this then we can see our way clear along this line so we will just shut down all of our schools and have nothing but the opportunity schools and wait until our children get old enough to educate them. It will be much cheaper and better on the parents, as our young people know too much now of things none of us should know.

Now, Mr. Voter, sit down and figure up your taxes and other expenses and see just what you can stand, and if you are able to stand more taxes and keep old Lizzie running, go to it.—L. H. Bean, Jemison, Alabama.

HOW about your next CORN CROP?

THERE is a way to make it the best crop you ever grew. No magic. No mystery. Simply fertilize it with Chilean Nitrate of Soda. That is the way corn champions produce those winning crops.

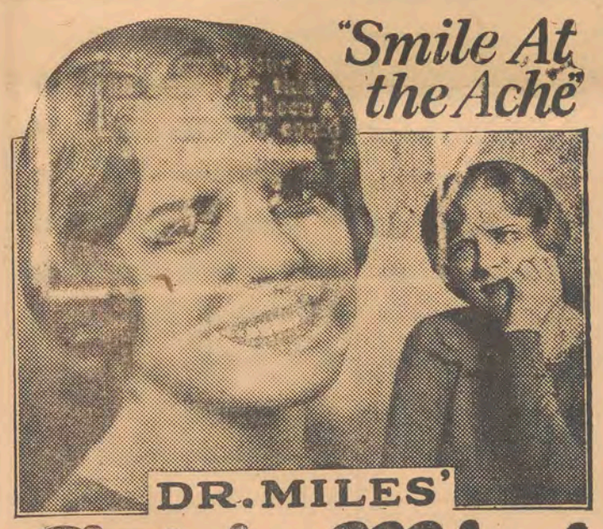
Alabama Farmer Says:

"Two hundred pounds of Chilean Nitrate of Soda per acre will double my corn yield. And the same is true with oats. I could not afford to grow corn, cotton, or oats without Chilean Nitrate."

S. W. Ozburn, Atwood, Ala.

Mr. Ozburn began using Chilean Nitrate in 1920 and has been using it ever since.

Chilean Nitrate is not synthetic. It is natural—the world's only natural nitrate fertilizer. As a side dressing on corn it increases the yield . . . often doubles it. Larger ears. More ears to the stalk. Prevents "firing" too.



Free Book about Corn

Our new book "How to Fertilize Corn in the South" tells exactly what to do to make a better crop. Book is free. Ask for Book No. 5 or tear out this ad and mail it with your name and address written on the margin.

EARLY HATCHED CHICKS PAY THE MOST

A hen in the laying house is worth a dozen in the barnyard in September and October, when egg prices start to soar. Farmers seeking to obtian the utmost profit from their poultry flocks should make an effort to have their pullets ready to lay by the middle of December, thereby getting the full advantage of fall and winter egg prices, market experts point out.

Early-hatched chicks offer the simplest solution to the problem. Chicks hatched before May 1 should be ready to start laying during September, of the stock is good, and proper care is given the growing pullets.

Many farmers seeking to effect economies in the first cost of chicks, often put off purchasing until late in the season. This is merely a case of false economy, since late-hatched chicks are late in coming into production, and are not laying during the period when eggs are at their highest. The early-hatched chick returns many times the net profit of the late-hatched chick, in the normal course of events.

In response to this tendency to obtain chicks early in the year, hatcheries usually are ready to deliver by March 1, and some even earlier. Chicks hatched at this period of the year are husky and strong, and capable of quick growth, provided proper treatment is given them. Leading hatcheries of the country, who operate under the slogan, "Hatchery Chicks For Greater Profits." to provide good quality chicks, are advising customers to obtain early chicks in order to reap the advantage of the high egg market.

Pullets ready for the laying house in early September more than pay for their original cost in the first few weeks. Figures compiled by agricultural experimental stations indicate that the profits from early hatched chicks are from three to five times as great as from late-hatched chicks, under normal circumstances.

MRS. B. CAPPS

I'd have to go to bed for days at a time, and finally had to go to bed and stay there. I had a poor appetite, my liver was slow-acting and I was forever taking laxatives for constipation. No medicines helped me until I started Sargon, and it brought back my strength and energy so that I walk for blocks to work and finish the day feeling fine. I enjoy my food now, digest it perfectly, my nerves are serengthened, I sleep good and am like a different person. CUT ACREAGE; FERTILIZE TO MAKE PROFIT

Dr. R. J. H. DeLoach, formerly Director of the Georgia State Experiment Station and now Director of Agricultural Research for the Armour Fertilizer Works, has given out a most interesting and instructive interview dealing with the relation between high analysis fertilizers and the early maturity or harvesting of the crop. This interview from such an acknowledged agricultural leader is of special interest at this time, in view of the fact that the farmers of the Southeast are now busily engaged in the preparation of their fields for planting and the purchase of fertilizers for use on them. It is a known fact that small acreage and more intensive cultivation and fertilization bring about bigger yields and larger profits. Dr. DeLoach's interview on this subject is as follows:

"Earliness may mean harvesting at an earlier date or it may mean only the shortening of the time between planting time and harvest time. When it applies to an earlier harvest, it is also related to the time of planting. If a crop is planted earlier, and is also properly fertilized, we are sure to have an early harvest. If the idea is to plant a little later and still harvest at the same time as suggested above, we would have to make use of the most readily available fertilizers to enable the later planting to overtake the earlier planting.

"The main idea in quickly soluble high grade fertilizers is to shorten the time between planting and harvesting, and then let the climate, and the nature of the crop determine the time of planting. A long drawn out crop will always be more at the mercy of its natural enemies than one that is in a hurry to get through the season. If two or three, or four weeks can be saved in the time between planting and harvesting, we have enabled the plant to escape some of the danger to which it is subjected by the longer growing period.

"Insects, fungus diseases, wet and dry spells, and other unseen factors help to make the long drawn out crop unsafe and undesirable. It must be evident, therefore, that the tendency in modern fertilizer application should be directed towards a more completely controlled set of conditions in the growth period.

"At the Ohio Experiment Station, the time between the planting and silking date of corn was shortened about 21 days by using the quickly available fertilizers. This in turn brought the grain to proportionately early maturity. This enabled the crop to escape frost, and also made it much safer from the other enemies of corn. At the New Hampshire Experiment Station, Kraybill found that he could shorten very much the time between planting and blossoming of the tomato plant, but could not shorten the time between blossoming and opening. This indicates in both the Ohio and New Hampshire Stations that the quickly soluble fertilizers did their work mostly in the early life of the plants. It was the young plants that could be made to grow faster and produce blossoms earlier by a quickly soluble fertilizer. This is the basis on which the higher grade fertilizers may be used, in addition to the fact that they do help to increase the yield and improve the quality as well as to hasten maturity. Pound for pound of plant food they will prove less costly on a plant food basis, and this is the basis on which every farmer ought to buy his fertilizers."

J. A. RAINES WRITES ABOUT COUNTY POLITICS

Please permit me to say a few things in your paper.

I think it should be the aim of every political party to maintain the highest moral standards, and since the moral standard of no party can rise higher than that of its officers which it may elect, and since according to the present ruling of the Executive Committee, all persons participating in the August primary are obligated to support the nominee in the November election, I think we are in danger of barring from the primary many honest men and women. This condition should not exist. Did you not know that putting up bars before an election which would obligate a person to vote contrary to his conscientious convictions of right is just as unwise as putting up bars after an election, as did the State Democratic Committee in 1928, to punish voters for having voted their conscientious convictions?

It appears to me that it is asking too much of a voter when he is asked to unconditionally support all nominees of his party, in case he participates in the primary, unless the moral qualifications of all such nominees be specified. At present, I know of no rules, regulating any primary, in which such regulations or specifications are found.

Since I believe that the Republican party should stand for high ideals and good morals, I move that the Executive Committee of the Republican party add to the resolutions adopted in December the following: "Resolved futher that the foregoing resolutions shall not be so construed as to obligate any participant in the primary to vote in the general election in November, for any person known to be immoral or corrupt."

With this reslution supplied, I see no reason why every voter cannot enter the primary and help select the nominees. Of course I mean every Republican voter.

Hoping that the committee will see fit to adopt this reslution, I remain, yours very truly.—J.A. Raines.

THREE IMPORTANT FACTORS ENTER INTO THE COST OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE

1. How much it costs to make the car

2. How much extra you pay the dealer

3. How much it costs for operation and up-keep

THE PURCHASE of an automobile involves a considerable amount of money and it should be carefully considered from all angles before a final decision is made.

The value of the car to you depends on the value built into it at the factory, how much extra you pay the dealer for distribution, selling, financing and accessories and what it will cost to operate and maintain the car after purchase. Each of these factors, as it relates to the Ford car, is frankly explained below.

Economy in production

THE FORD CAR is made economically because of the efficiency of Ford production methods. The money saved through this efficiency is put back into the car in improved quality of material and in greater care and accuracy in manufacturing. The constant effort is to eliminate waste and find ways to make each part better and better without increasing cost—frequently at lowered cost.

Because of Ford economies in large production and because the Ford organization operates on a low-profit margin, the price you pay for the car is much less than it would be under any other conditions. Yet it brings you many unusual features of construction and performance.

At least $75 extra value is represented alone by the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the Rustless Steel, the four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, and the five steel-spoke wheels. The unusually large number of ball and roller bearings and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings are additional features that reflect the high quality built into every part of the car. Throughout, it is a value far above the price you pay.

Low dealer charges

THE SAME PRINCIPLES of efficiency and economy that characterize the manufacture of the Ford car are applied also to distribution. Obviously it would do the public little good to save in production if these savings were sacrificed later in excessive costs of selling, financing and accessories.

The Ford dealer, therefore, operates on the same low-profit margin as the Ford Motor Company, his discount or commission being the lowest of any automobile dealer. He does a good business because he makes a small profit on many sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales.

Low charges for time payments through the Universal Credit Company

The lower cost of selling, combined with the low charges for financing and accessories, means a direct saving of at least $50 to $75 to every purchaser of a Ford, in addition to the savings made possible by economies in manufacturing. The money you pay for a Ford goes into value in the car. It is not wasted in high dealer charges.

Low up-keep costs

IT IS IMPORTANT to remember that the cost of your automobile is not the first cost only, but the total cost after months and years of service. Here again there is a decided saving when you buy a Ford.

The cost of operation and up-keep is lower because of simplicity of design, the high quality of material, and the reduction of friction and wear through unusual accuracy in manufacturing and assembling. The reliability and longer life of the car contribute to its low depreciation per year of use.

The intelligent, painstaking service rendered by Ford dealers is under close factory supervision and is a factor in the low up-keep cost of the Ford. All labor is billed at a flat rate and replacement parts are always available at low prices through Ford dealers in every section of the United States.

In two, three or five years, depending on how much you drive, the saving in operating and maintaining a new Ford will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost of the car.

NEED FOR MORE HAY EMPHASIZED

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 24.—In the production of hay Alabama farmers fall short by 934,000 tons in supplying the needs of the state. Each year several millions of dollars are sent for hay grown in other states that could be grown in Alabama. In fact, it is estimated that the saving to Alabama farmers by growing the hay needed will approximately pay the state's annual fertilizer bill.

These estimates are based on estimates by F. W. Gist, state and federal statistician of Montgomery, who estimates that the production of hay in Alabama is about one-third of the reasonable needs. In 1929 467,000 tons were produced.

Recommendations as to amounts of hay needed by farm animals are made by F. W. Burns, extension animal husbandryman of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn. For one year, dairy cows, he said, need two tons of league hay, mules two tons of grass or legume hay, beef cows two tons of grass hay, and sheep one-fourth ton of legume hay.

Experiments conducted by the agronomy department at Auburn show that it is easily possible to produce two tons or more of hay per acre on the average Alabama soils when both summer and winter crop are grown and fertilized property. Based on this it is recommended that one acre be allowed for producing hay for each horse, mule, cow or ten sheep fed on the farm.

Experiments reported by D. G. Sturkie, assistant agronomist of the Auburn Experiment Station, indicate the advisability of applying fertilizer each year for hay production. These experiments also show that it it profitable to fertilize hay. Superphosphate and limestone or basic slag are recommended for the legume hays and a nitrogen fertilizer for grass hays.

Soybeans and sudan grass are two good summer hay crops, he added.

TWO SPEAKERS OF FAME ON COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 24.—Two speakers of international fame who will appear on the commencement program at Birmingham-Southern College May 25 and 27 are John H. Finley, well known editor and educator, of New York, and Dr. J. S. Rattenbury, outstanding lecturer of Southport, England, according to announcement of President Guy E. Snavely.

Mr. Finley has been a principal editorial writer for The New York Times since 1921. He has also been very active in educational realms, having been president of Knox College 1892-99; professor at Princeton University 1900-03, and president of University of the State of New York 1913-21. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappi and a well known author. He received his A. B. and M. A. degrees from Knox College and did graduate work at Johns Hopkins University.

While in the states as a fraternal delegate to the quadrennial Methodist General Conference in Dallas, Texas, Dr. Rattenbury, one of the most outstanding clergyment of England, will deliver the commencement sermon May 25.

Mr. Dave Norris of Mt. Creek was a business visitor to Clanton Monday.

MAPLESVILLE, ALA.

There will be a carnival at Maplesville school auditorium Friday night, February 28th, under auspices of P.-T. A. Everybody come.

The School of Instruction of the Order of Eastern Star will meet here March 12th, Maplesville chapter, hostess. Worthy Grand Matron Mrs. Cora McAvory of Auburn, Grand Associate Conductress; Mrs. Effie Moore of Birmingham will be in charge of the work; Maplesville chapter exemplifying the opening; Clanton the initiation, and Thorsby the closing.

The Masons are giving an oyster supper on February 26th, benefit of Lodge and Eastern Star.

The revival conducted by Rev. Luther Horn, evangelist, at the Baptist church lasted for two weeks; was greatly enjoyed by this entire community as far down as Stanton, Plantersville, Jones, Isabella, Cox, Randolph, Lawley, and other places.

Those on the sick list are: Mrs. W. E. Northrup, and J. E. Wallace. We hope for them a speedy recovery.

PASSION PLAY TO BE PUT ON AT MONTGOMERY

The Union-Banner has received the following from the Montgomery Chamber of Commerce:

"Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 20, 1930. Editor Union-Banner:

Montgomery has been able to secure four performances of the Frieburg Passion Play, to be presented Friday night, Saturday matinee and night, and Sunday afternoon, March 7, 8, and 9, and we feel that this is a matter of great interest to the people throughout this entire section of the State.

The Passion Play will be presented at only two points in Alabama—at Montgomery and Birmingham—and this great exhibition will, no doubt prove of interest to thousands of people who have always desired to have an opportunity to see this great production.

Not a single individual in Montgomery will make one dollar profit out of this presentation, but a portion of the proceeds will go to the maintenance of the Tuberculosis Hospital.

The Company is headed by four of the famous Fassnacht family, whose ancestors have appeared in this divine spectacle at Frieburg, generation after generation since the year 1760. Georg Fassnacht, Jr., appears as "The Christus"; Georg Fassnacht, Sr., plays the part of "Judas"; Augusta Fassnacht appears as "Mary", the mother of "Jesus"; and Minna Fassnacht as "Mary Magdalene." The balance of the large cast have been especially selected for their respective roles, and the colossal scenic production is the most elaborate and complete of any religious spectacle entour today. The play is pretented in English.

We are bringing this matter to your attention because we believe that the people will be generally interested in such a wonderful production, and as the railroads and bus lines are giving special rates for this occasion, we feel sure that you will be glad to carry this notice for the benefit of the people in your community.—Yours very truly, John P. Figs, Asst. Sec'y."

SUNDAY SCHOOL ORGANIZED AT FLOYD

Editor Union-Banner:

Just a few words to let people know that we are still on the map and still in hopes.

We have organized a Sunday school at this place, under the able management of T. A. Prickett as superintendent. We were able to enroll 54 Sunday, and we hope there will be still more in the future. We will meet every Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

The second Saturday night and Sunday are our regular preaching days, and we invite everyone to come out to our services. The preacher will tell you something that will do you good if you will only heed. We hope to have the co-operation of all adjoining communities in the work. —Phillip Headley, Secretary.

A BIRTHDAY

On Saturday, February 22nd, a birthday was celebrated at the home of R. N. Connell. It was Mr. Connell's 47th birthday, and his son, Jodie's 22nd birthday. The 22nd was also just one week after the birthday of Mr. Connell's son-in-law, A. N. Mims, and just one week before the birthdays of Mrs. Connell and her little grand son. All five birthdays were celebrated together, by cooking a nice eight-pound hen and other good things to eat. Both the children and all their families were present and enjoyed the day happily together. We wish for dad and the rest many more happy birthdays.

We noticed a part of the school boys out of school Friday to go on the annual rabbit hunt; but bet that those who went to school had the best time out in the edge of the woods near the schoolhouse with the teachers, Mr. Kennedy and Miss Miner. It seemed that they were mighty happy.—Nora Mims.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the people of this community and other communities for their kindness shown us during the illness and death of our son and brother. We also want to thank them for the beautiful floral offerings. We especially want to thank the Dixie Construction Company employees for their offering.—G. W. Sammons and Family.

MT. PLEASANT TRIMS ENTERPRISE

On last Friday afternoon the Mt. Pleasant basket ball boys coasted to an easy victory over Enterprise Jr. High, 17 to 2.

The game was expected to be close and interesting, but proved the opposite, for the Mt. Pleasant lads were looping the ball into the net at random, while the Enterprise players were never able to break through the tight defense and reach the goal. Their few shots were from long range and proved futile.

Hodgens, the husky forward for the winners won high scores, ringing up 5 field goals for 10 points.

Littlejohn, center for the Mt. Pleasant succeeded in getting the large majority tip-offs.

With Smith back at his favorite position as standing guard, the winning team worked well in defense play. Don't miss the Tournament next Saturday at Maddox warehouse.

BRO. BRYAN GETS LETTER FROM A BANNER READER

The Union-Banner has received from Bro. Bryan of Birmingham a letter written to him from a Chilton County man who reads Bro. Bryan's letters in this paper. We publish below the letter in full:

Clanton, Ala., Feb. 20, 1930.

Dear Bro. Bryan:

I have just read your sermon in The Union-Banner, and I am so glad to read it. It gives me a new vision on the great need of prayer, and I feel more like praying since I read your sermon. And that good old song "Come thou Fount of every Blessing; Tune my heart to sing thy Praise."

Prayer is what tunes my heart to sing and shout the praise of God. I was called to see a man in 1917 and he asked me to read the bible, sing and pray with him. I read the 13th chapter of St. John and sang "Come thou Fount of every Blessing," and "I will arise and go to Jesus." He tried to sing with me. While the man was dying he sang, "I will arise and go to Jesus; he will embrace me in his arms. And with the last word of that song in a whisper ,he passed away. Praise God.

Yours in Christ.—H. F. McCary, Clanton Route 5.

In a note Bro. Bryan says: I get many letters of this kind. — J. A. Bryan.

G. O. P. PLANNING TO ENTER RACES IN DIXIE STATES

Hoover Democrats Will Be Invited To Come Into Republican Party

Atlanta, Ga., March 1.—Despite their Virginia experience last fall, Republicans in several southern states are making plans for vigorous state campaigns this year and have issued cordial invitations for Democrats who have voted the Republican presidental ticket in 1928 to join them.

Texas Republicans, through their state executive committee, passed a resolution inviting Democrats who supported Hoover to become permanent members of their party. The Democratic committee had voted to bar as candidates such Democrats but welcomed them back as voters. Texas was one of the southern states that went for Hoover.

Primary in Florida

For the first time since reconstruction days the Republicans will hold a state primary in Florida. The state election law provides that any party polling 30 per cent of the votes for governor in a general election must select nominees next time in a primary. William J. Howey, the Republican gubernational candidate, polled more than 40 per cent of the votes. Although the state went for the Republican presidental ticket, the Democrats elected their entire state ticket.

Chairman E. E. Calloway, in calling the Florida Republican state committee to meet at Lakeland March 8, said that prohibition would be an issue. He said that prohibition "as now written and interpreted was worse than a failure."

Alabama Has Privilege

Alabama Republicans also have the privilege, for the first time, for holding a state primary. Any party which polls 25 per cent of the vote in the last election has this right. Alabama was carried by the Democratic presidental ticket by only 7,000 majority. No date has been set by the Republican organizaion for a primary and no indication has been forthcoming that the party will depart from its customary convention method of nominations.

Action of the Democratic committee in Alabama in barring as candidates Democrats who supported Hoover or who openly opposed the Democratic ticket left United States Senator J. Thomas Heflin outside the Democratic primary this year. Heflin has declared his intention of running for re-election, despite this ruling. Two gubernatorial candidates, Hugh Locke and Will L. Lee, were also barred by the same ruling.

Coalition Beaten

To attract Democrats who helped carry the state for Hoover, Virginia Republicans formed a coalition with the anti-Smith organization in 1929. Anti-Smith Democrats in convention nominated candidates for governor and attorney-general. These were also named by the Republicans in state convention and they nominated one of their own members for lieutenant governor. The anti-Smith state committee then endorsed the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor.

The Democrats won the Virginia election last November by 70,000 majority, one of the largest on record. The general assembly contains only nine Republicans.

Recently, however, anti-Smith leaders participated in the renomination by the Republicans of Congressman Menaleus Lankford, in the second Virginia district. A former Democrat was temporary chairman.

The usual two-party tickets are expected in Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina. Democrats are expected to be unopposed in Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina.—by W. F. Caldwell, Associated Press Staff Writer, in the Mobile Sunday Register.

BOYD'S BARN TRIED TO BURN

Last Thursday just before noon a barn belonging to Mr. H. C. Boyd, located just back of the Baptist Church, tried to burn up, but made a very poor job of it. The Clanton fire department was too fast for the fire. After about three squirts from the fire hose, the fun was all over.

The blaze was on the roof. Nothing burned but about a square of shingles. The top was old and frazzled. A spark from a burning trash pile lit on top of the barn and started the blaze.

Hart and Reynolds Back from Capital

Mayor Eric Hart and Probate Judge Reynolds returned from Washington, D. C., Last Wednesday, where they went to present the advantages of Chilton County as a location for the proposed million dollar veterans hospital which is to be built somewhere in Alabama. In the interest of this county they went before a committee of the United States Veterans Bureau at a public hearing. Many towns and communities in Alabama, which are bidding for the location of the hospital, had representatives at this hearing.

In commenting upon the matter, Mayor Hart says: "We came away from Washington with the feeling that Chilton County has a good chance to get the location of the hospital. The Committee of the Veterans Bureau will in a few days decide upon the area in which the hospital will be located. We saw reasons that made us hopeful that Chilton County would be included in this area.

"If Chilton County is within the area selected by the hospital board, then we shall have the privilege of showing to the committee any sites in the county that are available for the use of the hospital."

SHAW WITHDRAWS FROM RACE

I hereby withdraw my announcement as candidate in the Republican primary to be held August 12, 1930, as Commissioner of District No. 1 of Chilton County, Ala.—W. G. Shaw.

You are invited to attend the convention of old time fiddlers at Verbena Friday night of this week. A good time is assured in advance.

HOME COMING AT WALNUT CREEK CHURCH

As announced a few weeks ago, the home coming or reunion meeting will be held next Sunday, March 9th.

Services will begin about 9:30. The forenoon will be given over to visiting ministers until about eleven o'clock, at which time Bro. F. A. Gibson will be expected to preach.

The afternoon will be an old-time prayer and praise service held in the old time way. Every body is invited to come and spend the day and help make it a day long to be remembered.

Vermont, Stanton Win Tournament

Vermont Boys and Stanton Girls Take Highest Scores In Basketball

Nine teams from over the county from as many junior high schools, participated in the Basket Ball Tournament which was held last Saturday at the Maddox Warehouse court in Clanton. The games were all clean and hard-fought. There were no walk-aways, but every team was made to earn what they got. The boy's teams participating were from Union Grove, Mt. Pleasant, Stanton, Vermont, Enterprise and Concord. The girl's teams were from Collins Chapel, Vermont and Stanton.

Although the weather was rainy and bad, there was a big crowd of spectators, both during the preliminaries in the day time and during the finals at nigth. Alton Connatser was referee during all the play-off games, and it is reported that he did excellent work. It seemed that everybody from all communities were well pleased with his decisions. The finals were refereed by Barnett.

The first preliminary for boys was Mt. Pleasant vs. Union Grove, the score being 15 to 12 in favor of Mt. Pleasant. Next Enterprise won in its play-off with Stanton. Vermont won over Concord by a close score, and Enterprise eliminated Mt. Pleasant 10 to 8. The final game between boys' teams was played between Enterprise and Vermont, the latter winning 9 to 4. This was played Saturday night.

The first girls' preliminary was played by Collins Chapel and Vermont, in which Collins Chapel won by a score of 31 to 6. Stanton played Vermont and won over them 18 to 2. The girls' final was played Saturday night between Collins Chapel and Stanton, in which Stanton attained 13 points and Collins Chapel 8.

It is stated that a trophy of a basket ball will be given to each of the schools winning.

This tournament was under the supervision of the principals of the Junior High schools of the County.

Two Chilton Boys Enter Fraternities

Auburn, Ala., March 3.—Of the 230 freshmen being added to the rolls of Greek letter fraternities at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute during the spring initiation season, two are from Chilton County. Their names are Reese Mullins and B. L. Vance, both of Clanton. Mullins has been initiated into Sigma Nu and Vance has been initiated into Tau Omega Chi.—Walter L. Randolph.

FARM PROGRAM GETS DISCUSSION

Important Meeting Held At Stapp's Office Monday Morning

On monday of this week a splendid meeting of some sixty men of Chilton County representing the banks, supply merchants, Farm Bureau, fertilizer dealers, cotton buyers and farmers in general met at the call of H. G. Boyd, president af Peoples Savings Bank, for the purpose of discussing a safe farming program for this year.

Mr. L. N. Duncan, Director of Extension work in Alabama, was the principal speaker. Mr. Duncan discussed the Agricultural Marketing Act and the workings of the Federal Farm Board. He also stressed the importance of farmers of Chilton County adhering strictly to a safe farming program this year.

Mr. S. P. Storrs, Commissioner of Agriculture was present and made a splendid short talk relative to the cooperative spririt of his department of Agriculture to help in every way to improve agricultural conditions in Alabama. Mr. Storrs stated that recent study of his department shows that the farmers of Alabama have a market in the industrial centers of Alabama for 50 million dollars worth of feed and food stuff that they did not produce last year. In other words, the industrial centers are having to buy more than fifty million dollars' worth of feed from farmers in other states.

After considerable discussion Mr. Stapp recommended that all forces in the county adopt at least the following projects for their safe farming program for this year:

1. Build up and maintain the fertility of farm soils through the use of legumes, livestock, rotation of crops, and terracing where needed.
2. As far as possible, make the farm produce the family food supply by making a home garden, and having "the cow, the sow and the hen" produce milk, meat and eggs, sufficient for home needs every day in the year.
3. Plan for and plant such crops as will insure feed for the livestock.
4. Work out your farming system so as to utilize your time to the very best advantage every week in the year.
5. Study and put into practice the recommendations of your Experiment Station relative to variety of seeds, proper use of fertilizer, etc.

WILLIE JONES WINS

Gets $80 Prize And Free Trip to Attend Convention

Also Highest Honor of Sales in State.

When it comes to pushing the sales of Cola Cola, Willie Jones, who has charge of this territory, is the pushingest salesman in Alabama. This is attested by the fact that the Coca Cola Company has recently awarded a prize of $80.00 to Mr. Jones, together with a free trip to the Coca Cola convention this week in Atlanta. Of course, greater than either of these prizes is the honor of heading the list among the salesmen of Alabama.

The next highest man in the hotly contested race of making the greatest gain for the past three months was Mr. Ezell of Tuscaloosa, who was seven points below the Clanton representative.

We are indeed glad of the record made by Mr. Jones in this contest. In his visit to Atlanta, he will show the big folks over there that Clanton is really an important spot in Alabama.

In the good old days all the statesmen had to have to get by with was a pocketful of nickel cigars. Now he has to have a voice that sounds good over the radio.

Another Poultry Car Is Coming

County Agent Stapp announces another co-operative poultry car over the L. & N. next week, the schedule of which is as follows:

Verbena—Afternoon of the 12th;
Clanton—All day, Thursday, 13th;
Jemison—All day, Friday, 14th;

The following prices will be paid at the car door:

Hens, 21 1-2 cents per pound; Stags, 18c; Roosters, 11c; and Turkeys, 23c.

CLANTON LOSES VALUABLE MAN

James C. Jones, One Of Our Leading Merchants, Died Saturday

After a brief illness of only three days, Mr. James C. Jones, prominent merchant and business man of Clanton, died about six o'clock last Saturday evening. On Thursday afternoon of last week, Mr. Jones suffered a stroke of paralysis, from which he never recovered. His condition grew worse and worse until the end came late Saturday evening.

James C. Jones was the son of the late William W. Jones and Eliza Mullins Jones. He was born and reared in the Jumbo community. At the time of his death he was in his 57th year. He was married in the year 1900 to Miss Sophia Mullins, daughter of the late Oliver Mullins, of Jumbo. Mrs. Jones survives her husband. They had no children.

For the past twenty years, James C. Jones has been an important factor in the business and civic life of Clanton. He has been engaged in the mercantile business here. As stated by Dr Chalker, in the funeral Monday, the history of Clanton and Chilton County for the past quarter of a century could not be written without the name of J. C. Jones. Likewise, the history of the life of J. C. Jones could not be written without relating a large part of the history of Clanton and Chilton County.

The funeral was held Monday at eleven o'clock, at the Clanton Methodist Church. The rites were conducted by Dr. I. W. Chalker, a former pastor of the Methodist church here, and a close bosom friend of Mr. Jones. Martin had charge of the burial in Clanton cemetery.

Active pall bearers were J. Lee Smith, Cohen E. Stapp, G. C. Armstrong, C. Fenn Jones, H. Glenn Boyd, T. H. Neighbors, C. B. Cox, and Harry Gordon. Honorary pall bearers were of the official board of the Clanton Methodist Church. Mr. Jones had been for many years a member of the Methodist Church, of which he was one of the most loyal and devoted officials.

He is survived by three brothers, Bird G. Jones, of Jumbo; Oscar W. Jones, of Clanton, and Claud Jones, of Amarilla, Texas; three sisters, Mrs. W. Z. Hodges and Mrs. Irene Rasberry, of Clanton; Mrs. W. E. Mauk, of Birmingham.

RESPECTS TO BEAN

Resolution Adopted By Board Of Education For Deceased Member

At the meeting of the Chilton County Board of Education last Friday, Mr. J. N. Dennis moved that the following resolution be adopted by the Board. It was seconded by Mr. Webb, said motion being carried by a unanimous vote:

"Be it resolved by the Chilton County Board of Education in session assembled that:

Whereas Mr. R. H. Bean has faithfully served the County as a member of the Board of Education for the past four year and that during this time he was punctual and faithful to attend the meetings of the Board and manifested a keen interest in the schools of the County; and

Whereas in the death of Mr. Bean the County has also suffered loss as well as the family, that we extend to the family our regrets and sympathy and pledge them our support in every way possible.

Bessemer Lodge No. 458, A. F. and A. M., was in charge of the services at the grave.

EDUCATIONAL RALLY DAY

Vermont (Sardis) School community, with the neighboring schools, will hold a "Rally day exercise" at Vermont Jr. High School on Friday, March 7, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m.

All patrons and friends of school work, are urged to lay aside all duties on this day and be at this meeting.

Business of great importance will be considered at this time. Visiting speakers will be with us. Come one and all.—M. W. Mims, Principle.

TRAYWICK BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY

Reedie Traywick was tried before Justice of the Peace, H. M. Simpson, at the court house last Friday, February 28th, charged with assault and attempt to murder. Traywick was bound over to the grand jury.

Traywick is alleged to have shot Burton Tyus at the Cotton Mill one Saturday night not many weeks ago.

Walter Gillespie In Race For Sheriff

Has Been An Outstanding Officer of the Law For the Past Fifteen Years

Walter H. Gillespie made his formal announcement as a candidate for Sheriff of Chilton County on Monday of this week. His name appears along with the other candidates in the announcement column of the Union-Banner this week. Mr. Gillespie will be one of the number from which the Republicans of Chilton County will have to select their nominee for County Sheriff on the 12th of August in the Republican primary.

In making his announcement, Mr. Gillespie did not give out any formal statement for publication. His only comment upon the matter was: "I am getting into the race for Sheriff of Chilton County in the Republican primary of August 12. I have been an officer of the law in one capacity or another for the last fifteen years. The people of Chilton County know me, and know my record. I expect to make the race for Sheriff on my record of the past. I will appreciate the support of every voter. Within a few weeks I will make a public statement to the voters of the County dealing futher with my candidacy for the office of Sheriff."

Mr. Gillespie is the third candidate to announce in the Republican primary campaign. The others already in the race are Deputy Sheriff George Murrah, and J. M. (Tug) Willis. May the first is the date for announcements to close. For all we know, there may be others in the race before that time.

As a prohibition enforcement officer, and as a man and a citizen, Mr. Gillespie is well known to the people of Chilton County. He has been before the public here for the past fifteen years. He has served as deputy sheriff of the county, since which time he has seen several years in the federal service as prohibition enforcement officer. There is not a man anywhere who has had a better chance to fit himself by training and experience for the work of Sheriff than has Walter Gillespie.

HILL GROCERY CO. IS CELEBRATING 19TH BIRTHDAY

Occasion Observed By The Biggest Selling Event In History Of Business

Nineteen years ago this Spring, James B. Hill and Nelson P. Hill opened business in Birmingham with the purchase of six grocery stores. This week two hundred and forty-five stores in Alabama opened and operated by these two men from the same office of the company in Birmingham, are celebrating the nineteenth anniversary of the foundation of the business with the largest sale of foodstuffs ever held in the state.

Mr. J. W. McEathern, manager of the Hill store in Clanton, announces that his state-wide observation of the anniversary has required weeks of preparation on the part of the entire organization. Every effort is being made to give Hill patrons the greatest values they have ever found.

The Hill store here is among the finest in the entire system and Mr. McEathern takes great pride in this and the fact that they are actually a part of this community, purchasing, as far as possible, their daily needs, vegetables, poultry, eggs, and other supplies from this section. It is the policy of the Hill Grocery Company to give preference to local products at all times. During 1929 over one million dollars was spent by the Hill Company for Alabama vegetables, eggs, milk, poultry, fruits and fresh meats. This is to say nothing of the vast quantities of canned goods and other products packed in the state. The Hill company operates only in Alabama and is an Alabama owned, controlled and operated institution. It employs over eight hundred Alabama people.

Its headquarters in Birmingham are located in its own building, which occupies one-half of a city block. It is 400 feet long by 140 feet wide, two stories in height, with a basement under one section. It houses the general warehouse, offices, shipping department and refrigeration rooms. All food stuffs handled by the stores, which is not purchased locally, are received by this distribution depot. One hundred and thirty-five people are employed in this vast building, which is one of the most modern of its kind in the country and one of the largest in the South. Besides owning this building, James B. and Nelson P. Hill own thirty of the properties on which Hill stores are located. They have the utmost faith in Alabama and its future and all of their interests are in this state.

In speaking of the coming celebration, Mr. McEathern Said: "We are anticiapting record business during this event. It is one of the largest things we have ever undertaken and we know that our plans are right. It is a pleasure to be connected with Hill's. Every employee is proud of the firm for which he works. Besides being the largest food distributing company in the state, it gives us great satisfaction to work for a firm which stresses to such a degree the importance of service to its patrons. Every Hill customer must be entirely pleased. Every article sold in a Hill store is guaranteed and the purchaser will be given his money back if he is not completely satisfied."

Every employee of the Hill organization who has been working for the company for one year or more has his life insured in favor of his family at no cost to himself. The expense of carring this insurance is borne by the Hill Grocery Company under a group insurance policy issued by one of Alabama's home life insurance companies. Besides this life protection, each employee is a member of a mutual benefit association which pays his salary if he becomes sick or disabled.

Every year since the Hill company has been in business improvements and expansions have been made. In the past five years the growth has been very rapid. The business is increasing steadily. The most modren methods and equipment are employed. Hill customers expect more from Hill stores than from others and it is the intent of every individual connected with the company to see that this expectation is fulfilled.

President James B. Hill extends an invitation to every Hill customer and friend visiting Birmingham to visit the Company's new warehouse and offices.

The importance of correct posture is one of the points being stressed in the state-wide health contest now in progress among 4-H club girls.

OUR BEST FRIEND, MR. W. E. MARTIN, IS GONE

Walter Eugene Martin was born May 16th, 1893 and died February 22, 1930. Sixteen years ago he began to teach school. Three years later he was married to Miss Mary Pate. They lived happily together for thirteen years. At 6:00 p.m., on February 22nd he finished his work here on earth and went drifting home to heaven.

He taught school at Baker for 3 years, and each and everyone of his pupils loved him; and we are proud that it was so.

He leaves to mourn his loss a mother and father, three brothers, one sister, wife and one daughter, little Gladys. We are sure everybody will miss him at Sunday School. He went to Sunday school seven years without missing a Sunday.

The Baker Junior High School pupils said: "We want to say one more thing about Mr. Martin and tell the truth. We say that there is no one living that can fill his place; no one can love us like Mr. Martin did."

We realize his sympathy for his wife and daughter, for we miss him so much ourselves. He is gone, but we will not forget him; for the happiest hours we have ever spent was during the last three years while we were going to school to Mr. Martin. We are keeping in mind the last thing that Mr. Martin said to us on Friday afternoon, the last day that he taught school.—Gracie Culp and Birtie Edwards.

Insects are among the oldest of all animals that have living representatives on the earth today, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Their fossil remains have been found in rocks which may have been laid down as long ago as 300,000,000 years.

Are You expecting a Baby?

THOUSANDS of expectant mothers are now cheerful and happy. Their waiting months have been made comfortable and they will be better prepared when the great moment of childbirth arrives. Alabama Theatre To Show Vagabond King

Birmingham has been selected as one of the twenty-one important cities of the United States, and the "Alabama" one of the leading theatres which will be first to run "The Vagabond King," the first perfect all-talking, singing, natural color, musical romance of the audible screen.

A premiere showing of this great attraction will be given at the Alabama theatre, Friday, March 7th. The theatre will close its regular attraction that afternoon at 5 p. m., and the house will reopen for the premiere of "The Vagabond King" at 7:30, the prformance starting promptly at 8:30.

Dennis King, who sky-rocketed to fame in the well remembered New York production of "The Vagabond King," again creates the fascinating role of the dauntless Francios Villion in Paramount's enchanting adaptation of this gay musical romance. Photographed throughout in natural color, "The Vagabond King" emerges as captivating entertainment in which lilting melodies of a distinguished and lasting pattern, romance adventure and breath-taking splendor are blended into harmonious entertainment.

The possessor of a remarkable singing voice, Dennis King is sure to win much favor when audiences hear him sing the stirring "Song of the Vagabonds" and other friml numbers. Tall, handsome, athletic, King gives every promise of being one of the most popular broadway favorites to come to the screen.

Playing opposite King is the fair-haired, lovely Jeanette MacDonald, also a broadway favorite, who recently made her debut, and an auspicious one it was too, with Maurice Chevalier in that gay musical play, "The Love Parade." In "The Vagabond King," Miss MacDonald is thoroughly at home in a role that suits her talents to perfection. Miss MacDonald also sings several songs in charming fashion.

Others who do good work include Lillian Roth, cast in the tragic role of Huguette, O. P. Heggie, last seen with Jeanne Eagels in "The Letter," and Warner Oland, who recently created the role of "Fu Manchu."

In addition to the "Song of the Vagabonds," the other songs featured in this picture include that delightful romantic ballad, "Only a Rose," "Some Day," "Love Me Tonight," and "Huguette Waltz."

Prices for the premiere showing the evening of March 7th, all seats $1.00. The regular run of this great attraction starts Monday, March 10. Admission price for the regular run will be 50c from 11:00 a. m., to 1:00 p. m., 75c from 1:00 p. m. to 6:00 p. m., and $1.00 from 6:00 p. m. to 11:00 p. m.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that a special election shall be held in Chilton County, Alabama, on the 8th day of April, 1930, for the purpose of determining whether or not a special tax shall be levied and collected annually, at the rate of 10c on each one hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said county for the present tax year and continuing for a period of ten years from September 30, 1030, and said levy is proposed to be made for public school purposes in said county.

This the 10th day of February, 1930.

MRS. BIRDIE CLECKLER

Mrs. Birdie Cleckler, age about 25 years, wife of Robert Cleckler, died Saturday night, February 22nd at the Central Alabama Hospital in Clanton. Mrs. Cleckler had been ill for several days.

She leaves a heart-broken husband and four children; a mother, Mrs. Mary Cleckler, and several brothers and sisters. All was done that loving hands could do, but none could stay the hands of death. The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away, to that home where no farewell tears will be shed. It was such a shock to us all, but she was ready to go and we all know that she lived a Christian life before her dear husband and babies. She was loved by all her neighbors and friends. We all loved her but God loved her best; she loved her husband and babies and would do anything she could for them.

She set a good example for others to live by. We feel that we can truly say that everyone who knew her loved her. She let her light shine.

We know that it was hard for husband and children to look on poor mother cold in death, but when God calls we must go; so let us look to Him who is able to soothe our sorrows and heart-aches. May God, who is too wise to make any mistakes, too great to be unkind, grant us the spirit of reconciliation and submission and enable us to say "Thy will be done." Let us honor our blessed Saviour to the best of our ability, knowing our time is short and we will go to the grave. It is God's will that we must die to make us fit for that home on high. And when His purpose is all complete, then we shall meet God, there to dwell with Jesus forever.

Her body was put away at the New Church, services were conducted by Rev. Aaron Parker of Lomax, Martin in charge. Respectfully, Maude H. Mahan.

FORESTS DAMAGED

Montgomery, Ala., March 3.—Twenty-two thousand dollars in property values was recently destroyed through the act of an incendiary in Shelby County, according to the investigations of the State Commission of Forestry. The wilful burning of valuable forest property continues to be one of the most serious hindrances to the development of Alabama's prosperity, says the Commissioner.

The great disparity between the punishements that can be meted out for equal degrees of criminality is said to be one of the chief reasons for the continuance of the destruction of property. For instance, if an incendiary sets fire to a dwelling house worth five hundred dollars, even though there be no person in it at the time, he may by law be given the death penalty. However, if he sets fire to and destroys a forest, another form of real property, worth twenty-five thousand dollars he may escape with a ten dollar fine.

A strong sentiment is developing within the state to urge upon the Legislature the inclusion of willful burning of any form of reality under the offense of arson, or else, with reference to forests and woodlands, the designation of an offense of incendiarism to be classed as a felony. Crimes of this character are quite difficult to prove, but when proved the penalty should be severe. Landowners, according to the Commission of Forestry, are urging that this situation be presented at the next Legislative session.

It is reported that the lawmakers in the Mexican congress always keep their guns handy. We have progressed beyond that in our legislative bodies, where the favorite weapon is now gas bombs.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County: Probate Court.

In pursuance of the directions and terms of a Commission dated the 22nd day of February, 1930, issued to the undersigned by the Hon. L. H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate of said County, I will proceed to sell to the highest bidder, for cash, at public auction, on the 15th day of March, 1930, between the hours of 11 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m., at Court Houre door of Chilton County the following described property:

The Southwest Quarter of the Northwest Quarter of Section 4, Township 23, Range 13, Chilton County, Alabama.

Which said property is to be sold under the order of said Probate Court, for the purpose of division and partition between the several joint owners thereof, viz:

Namely the heirs of A. J. Lowery, deceased.

This, February 22, 1930.

Alred's Garden Guide
FOR FEBRUARY

If you overlooked planting anything in your garden in February, attend to it this month. Examine your seed beds closely, and if anything has failed to come up, you should re-seed at once. All the most delicate seeds can be sown this month, as the atmosphere will be mild and pleasant and they will germinate freely.

BEANS—Plant all varieties of bush and pole beans this month. The best variety of Snap Pole Beans for the South is Kentuckey Wonder, Crease Back, and Nancy Davis.

LIMA or BUTTER BEANS—Plant these toward the end of March. We recommend the Ideal Pole Lima, and Fordhook Bush Lima.

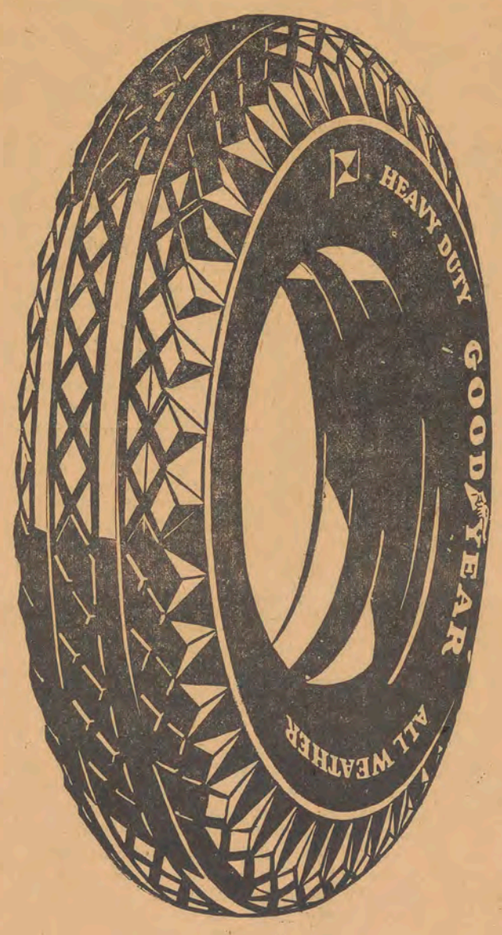
BEETS—Sow this month. Select the dark-blooded varieties, such as Detroit Blood Turnip.

CABBAGE—The late varieties can be sown yet. Your early sowings should be large enough to plant out this month. Select the largest and strongest plants.

CORN—Plant for first crop Adams Early and Perkins Early. Follow with Golden Bantam and Country Gentleman. For green roasting ears Snowflake and Golden Dent are favorites in the South.

CUCUMBER—Make a general planting. Select Perfection Early White Spine, and Long Green. If you wish only one sort, select the former, and make a small planting each month until August.

MELONS—Perfection Rocky Ford, Emerald Gem and Fordhook. The latter is a fine yellow flesh variety. For watermelon select the Tom Watson, Kleckley Sweet, Halbert's Honey and Florida Favorite.



PEAS—If sown now, they should be planted deep. A crop thus planted will produce more abundantly and longer. Select the wrinkled varieties.

$4.68 RETURNED FOR $1 SPENT FOR FERTILIZER IN ALABAMA

For every dollar spent for fertilizer in Alabama, growers receive in return more than four and a half dollars in increased value of the crops grown

This statement is based on estimates of nearly 2,500 Alabama farmers who were personally interviewed regarding their experiences, opinions, practices and results from the use of commercial plant food. Their answers developed the fact that more than half of the total crop of cotton grown in Alabama in 1927, for instance, was produced by fertilizer.

This means for cotton alone in Alabama an increase in value of $5.21 for each dollar spent for fertilizer, with similar large returns for money spent for fertilization of other crops grown in the state averaging $4.68 for all crops.

The added yield for cotton—50.8 per cent of the total yield—resulting from the use of commercial plant food has a money value of $58,094,000, of which $46,943,000 is returned over and above the cost of fertilizer, only $11,151,000 having been spent that year for this crop-producing commodity.

These facts, along with other valuable information regarding fertilizers and fertilizer practices in Alabama and thirty-two other states, based on a recent survey conducted under the supervision of The National Fertilizer Association, were brought out in a paper presented by H. R. Smalley, director of Soil Improvement Work of the Association, before the annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy in Chicago.

Consumer Survey

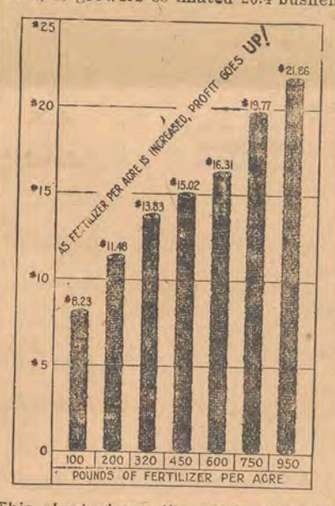
Farmers all over the country—more than 48,000 in thirty-five states—were personally visited by representatives of fertilizer companies doing business in the states. This "Consumer Survey," as it is called, was made to obtain facts regarding fertilizer practices on American farms. Of the total number interviewed 2,396 were Alabama farmers.

The information developed was utilized in connection with data made available by the United States Department of Agriculture and shows the results indicated. For cotton, more than half of the total crop in Alabama produced by 348,460 tons of fertilizer, with the estimated increase in the value of the cotton crop of nearly 500 per cent for every dollar spent for commercial plant food.

For the corn crop in Alabama, 15 per cent of the total crop was produced by fertilizer, the added value produced in this manner being $5,476,000. Total tonnage of fertilizer used on corn in Alabama in 1927 was 86,990 tons, bought by farmers at an estimated total cost of $2,610,000, and resulting in an increase in the value of the crop of $2.10 for every dollar spent for fertilizer.

The increase in value of the Irish potato crop in Alabama for each dollar spent for fertilizer is estimated at $3.92. The percentage of the total potato crop produced by plant food is given at 65.2, an unusually heavy return, worth $2,165,000 from the 15,770 tons of fertilizer used on potatoes at a cost of $552,000 to the Alabama potato growers.

Farmers estimated that 60.2 per cent of the sweet potato crop of Alabama was produced by fertilizer. This increase being worth $3,588,000, from 11,000 tons of fertilizer costing $385,000. This gives the enormous return of $9.32 for each dollar spent for fertilizer for sweet potatoes



For other crops Alabama farmers estimated the added value at $494,000, an increase of $2.30 in the average value of the crops for each dollar spent for fertilizer For other crops than cotton, corn, Irish, and sweet potatoes, 6,700 tons of fertilizer were used, costing $215,000.

Taking all crops considered, it was found that the percentage of the total crop produced by fertilizer in Alabama was 40.8, with an added value of $69,817,000 from the use of 468,920 tons costing $14,913,000 and returning $4.68 for each dollar spent for fertilizer.

Farmers' Own Estimates Used

The foregoing figures and conclusions are based on Alabama farmers' own estimates of the increase in yield obtained by the use of fertilizer the percentages of acreages fertilized, the value of crops as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture, the approximate quantities of fertilizer used on certain crops, an estimate of the average price paid by farmers for fertilizer on cotton as shown by figures of the United States Department of Agriculture, and an estimate made by The National Fertilizer Association on the average price paid for fertilizer used on other crops.

The farmers' estimates of increased yields obtained by the use of fertilizer are the most comprehensive estimates of this kind ever obtained, and it therefore seems worthwhile to employ them to determine approximately the returns that the farmers obtain from the use of fertilizer. The 1,946 cotton farmers interviewed in Alabama estimated their average yield of cotton without fertilizer at 112 pounds of lint per acre and with fertilizer at 274. For corn, the 1,013 Alabama farmers questioned estimated the yield without fertilizer at 11.8 bushels per acre, with fertilizer 22.6. For Irish potatoes, 27 growers estimated 20.4 bushels as the yield without fertilizer, and 81.7 with fertilizer; sweet potatoes, 12 farmers' estimates were, without fertilizer 51 bushels, with fertilizer 142.

This chart shows the profit obtained from the use of increasing quantities of fertilizer on 14,534 cotton farms located in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Texas.

And it is from these estimates, made by the farmers of Alabama themselves, that the conclusion is reached that the returns from the use of fertilizer in that state reach into the millions of dollars.

Where Are America's Most Lovely Mothers and Attractive Children?

FANNIE HURST
Noted short story writer

CHARLES AYLETT
President, P. A. of A.

MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
Noted author

THREE judges, eminently qualified for the task, constitute a jury to select the 222 loveliest mothers and the 222 most attractive children in the United States and Canada.

They will award $20,000 to those mothers and children for their photographs, to be made up into an exhibit and displayed in the chief towns and cities of two countries, and to be known as The Hall of Honor of America's Lovely Mothers and Attractive Children. The awards range from $1500 to $25 each and will be paid by The Photographers' Association of America.

The judges are Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart of Pittsburgh, who by her wholesome and gripping fiction has written her way into the hearts of the American public; Miss Fannie Hurst of New York, who contributes a daily short story to many newspapers and is said to be the highest paid fiction writer in America, and Charles Aylett, of Toronto, noted portrait photographer and lecturer and president of the Photographers' Association of America.

Having studied character in their professional work for the purpose of portraying it, the judges will be able to identify the distinct American types of motherhood and children which photographers in their wide experience have noted. Climate, home life, environment and education may have had an important part in forming these types.

The judges will select the loveliest of these types in mothers and the most attractive in children.

Until Saturday, May 10th, midnight, the day before Mothers' Day, mothers and children will mail their photographs to the headquarters in Cleveland, where they will be judged.

WHO'S WHO IN SENIOR II CLASS

The Senior II Class got their heads together last week and agreed that the following are the most outstanding students in their class:

Most intellectual, Ernestine Childs.
Prettiest Girl, Mary Goodwin Jones.
The most handsome boy, Jack Burks.
Best athlete, Harvey Melton.
Most courteous, John Ponder Lawrence.
Biggest booster, Joe Earl Gowan.
Most original, Ernestine Childs.
Most attractive, Bernice Williams.
Wittiest boy, Paul Cox.
Most popular boy, Edwin Wagner.
Most popular girl, Gladys Melton.
Look for "Who's Who" in Senior I Class next week.

Miss Jesse Garrison Visitor

Our school was greatly honored last week by a visit from the State Department of Education in the person of Miss Jesse Garrison. She is in charge of physical education and is a young lady of most charming personality. She held the audience spell bound during her talk. She not only told the school of the new physical education program for every pupil in school instead of the old system that has given training to the few and selected few, but when the time arrived on our regular program for the physical education class she went down to the football park with the class and in person worked with them. All physical training now is to be objective instead of merely carrying out commands made by the one in charge. For example, she would say, "every body pick apples." All pick strawberries." "Touch the fence." "Touch the concrete." These are thought process, at the same time the pupil receives the proper physical training to suit him at his particular stage of development. Miss Garrison left these three words with the school: That the three incentives in life are to make ourselves attractive, interesting, and efficient.

Dr. W. C. Blasingame Visitor

C. C. H. S. was honored last week by a visit from the University of Alabama by Dr. Blasingame. His talk was most impressive. He showed among other things, that the most growing institution in Alabama is not the University of Alabama or some other college in the state, but its Kilby Prison, and that the sad part of it is they are young men under twenty-one years of age, in some cases. Their trouble being, they haven't justified themselves honestly among people. They are looking for thrills. Dr. Blassingame has encouraged our Senior Class to enter the debating club new being sponsored by the University. Our school will first compete against Verbena, Thorsby, Isabella, and Jemison, and if we win out, we will then speak against the other winners at the University, and if we win there we will be presented with a year's scholarship at the University of Alabama. Whether we win or not, our school will be given a silver loving cup for our participation in the contest. The Senior Class has entered this contest most heartily.

"Betty Lou" Coming March 21

We have another splendid play, entitled " Bettie Lou" which will be presented in the High School auditortium, March 21. This play is not one of Wayne P. Sewell's productions, but is reputed to be just as good. It has been staged in some of our larger towns, and high schools with splendid success. Mrs. Rhea Cobb, of Demopolis, Alabama, is in charge. This play promises in every way to come up to "Dixie Minstrels" if not surpass it. You will hear more about this play in next week's issue of "Ink Drops."

Improvement of School Grounds Progressing

Our school grounds and campus continues to look better as new improvements are made. Earl Wilson, with his team of mules and plow has flat-broken most of it, which will be sodded in Bermuda and other yard grass. All of this work has been done by the boys of Mr. Walker's and Mr. Green's classes which have grown out of problems arising in their classes to put into practice some of the things suggested in the text. These consisting of nine weeks to each project.

Burglars Raid Local Wholesale House

Large Quantity Of Cigarettes Taken From Lee Smith Grocery

Some time during Tuesday night burglars entered the wholesale grocery house of J. Lee Smith in Clanton, and carried away about $1,200 to $1,500 worth of cigarettes. They entered the place by way of a back window, using a device to cut the steel bars of the window.

So far as we had learned Wednesday morning, there was no clue as to who the parties were, or where they went with their haul.

Charley Wyatt Will Operate New Ferry

Mr. Charley Wyatt of Titus was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday. Mr. Wyatt lived in Clanton for quite a long while, and he has many warm friends here who are glad to see him upon his occasional visits.

Charley brings us news that the new road from Coopers to Rockford is about ready for the surfacing crew. The grading will be completed this month, he thinks.

Some time in April Charley expects to have his new ferry in operation, providing passage across the river on the new highway. He will call it Wyatt's Ferry, and will provide safe and prompt service at all times.

Young Mens Class Clanton Baptist S. S.

The Young Mens Class of the Baptist Sunday School, Clanton, are making a drive for large class for Sunday, March 16. All members of the class are urged to come to Sunday School on that date and bring some one with you. Remember, we were planning for a large class on the first Sunday in March, but owing to the death of Mr. Martin, our teacher, we have postponed it to the third Sunday, March 16. Lets everybody remember the rate and try to be there.

Also, on next Sunday, March 9, we want to attend to the matter of selecting us a teacher. Let's get all the boys together in Sunday School on the above dates.

Mr. C. Fenn Jones has been sick a few days this week, but is able to be at his place of busines again now.

JUDGE DICKINSON HERE WEDNESDAY

Judge John A. Dickinson, of Prattville, candidate for the State Senate of Alabama from this district, was in Clanton a short while Wednesday, enroute to Birmingham. The district which Judge Dickinson seeks to represent is composed of Chilton County, Shelby, and Autauga Counties. Judge Dickinson is a Democrat. At present he is judge of a county court in Autauga. He represented Autauga County in the Legislature of 1923.

MRS. WINGARD DEAD

A telephone message to Dr. S. J. Ezell Wednesday morning from D. A. Wingard, stated that Mrs. Wingard, mother of D. A. and W. W. Wingard , died in Birmingham Tuesday night. She had been seriously ill for several days.

The body was brought to Columbiana and buried Wednesday afternoon.

Williams Child In Hospital Saturday

A little three-year old girl of Mr. Lum Williams of Mulberry community suffered a very dangerous accident last Saturday when she was cut on the neck with an axe.

Her brother, about 12 years old, wan engaged in clearing a patch near the Williams home. He was cutting down some saplings with a double-bit axe. The little child wandered away from the house and went to where the boy was at work. She walked up so close that a back stroke of the axe hit her on the neck, and inflicted a very dangerous wound.

The child was brought to Central Alabama Hospital here, and given medical attention. She was able to go home this week.

Rev. I. W. Chalker of Montgomery arrived in Clanton last Saturday evening, just a short while after the death of his close friend, Mr. J. C. Jones. Rev. Chalker remained here until Monday, and preached the funeral of Mr. Jones.

CHILTON COUNTY ABSTRACT CO.
M. D. FOSHEE, Manager

A good business man will not buy a farm or any property without first looking it over to see what it is worth.

However, some will buy or loan money on land without an abstract.

Isn't it equally as foolish to buy a farm without looking it over as to buy it and not know whether the titles are good or not? Without an abstract you do not know where you are getting the land you look at or not.

Before investing in land in any way have an abstract made and be safe.

A Proclamation By The Governor

Calling Attention Of Young Men To The Citizens Military Training Camps

Whereas, I am infromed that the Government of the United States will, as has been the custom for the past eight years, conduct in the year 1930 from June 13 to July 12, inclusive, a series of Citizens Military Training Camps, and,

Whereas, these camps will be conducted at Fort McClellan, near Anniston, Alabama, at Fort Barrancas, Flordia, at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia and at Fort Bragg, N. C. on the above named dates, all of which camps will be open for young men from the various sections of the state of Alabama, and,

Whereas, the mission of these camps is to bring together for a months training, under healthful surroundings, young men from all walks of life and on a common basis of equality, and by supervised athletics, military drill and instruction in citizenship, to develope them physically and morally, to promote a wholesome respect for discipline, to teach the value of team work, fit them for leadership in peace or war and impress upon them their obligations and responsibilities as citizens, and,

Whereas, it is my pleasure as the Governor of Alabama, to bring to the attention of the people of our state all activities looking toward the development of highest type of citizenship within our borders,

Now Therefore, I, Bibb Graves, Governor of Alabama, do hereby recommend that the young men of our state take advantage of those opportunities, and I invite said young men and parents of these young men to render every possible aid and encouragement in making the Citizens' Military Training Camps to be held as above set forth an unqualified success in 1930, excelling all previous camps heretofore held.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on the 1st day of March, A. D. 1930.—Bibb Graves, Governor.

Grade, Staple, Character

Demand for manufactured cotton controls the price of raw cotton, and the price is measured by the cotton's suitability to this demand —in other words, its quality.

Quality is defined by official standards of grade and length of staple.

Grade considers color or brightness, presence of dirt or other foreign matter, and "ginning preparation," or physical condition of the lint.

Length considers only the measure of the fiber.

Thirty-seven grades and over 34 lengths are officially recognized.

In addition to these, cotton quality depends on other factors like strength of the fiber, cross-section area, body, shape, flexibility, conformation, and relative uniformity. These other factors are called "character," but well-defined standards have not yet been fixed to cover them.

Fewer Wild Farms

If the Reclamation Bureau at Washington has its way, no more engineering work will be done on new or old reclamation projects until their soils have been studied and their fitness for farming has been determined. There used to be strong disagreement over reclaiming more wild land. The Department of Agriculture has maintained that a lot of it wasn't fit for farming and its reclamation would only add to the "marginal" land that agriculture is now burdened with. It seems like others are coming around to this view.

—V-C—

"No line will surpass V-C. As dealer and consumer, I recommend, sell, and use V-C."—F. A. SMITH, Dealer, McRae, Ga.

BIG BUSINESS

"An idea of the present status of large-scale cooperative marketing in the United States can be gained from the fact that more than 150 farmers' marketing associations each transact an annual business exceeding $1,000,000. Five or six have an annual business approximating $50,000,000 each. Two have passed the $50,000,000 mark. Yet only about one-third of our farmers are members. As a group, our large cooperative associations do a conspicuously efficient job."—W. M. Jardine, former Secretary of Agriculture.

FARMING HAS CHANGED in one generation more than it had in a hundred years before. The man who thinks he can keep on farming the old way is due for some mighty hard knocks.

Eight States Fight Erosion

Eight southwestern states have joined hands in a regional plan to prevent further soil erosion. Their representatives met at College Station, Tex., to detail the work ahead. H. H. Bennett, soil erosion specialist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is reported by newspapers to have told the conference about entire counties in which the agricultural lands have been practically denuded by soil erosion.

Single Variety, Pure Seed

"In California, where highly organized fruit industries have been developed, cotton growers are aware that a standardized product is necessary and have recognized the need for community organization to maintain pure seed. An organization of one-variety cotton growers has maintained itself in the Coachella Valley of California since 1920, and many other communities in the irrigated valleys are now planting only one variety of cotton."—O. F. Cook, Yearbook of Agriculture.

—V-C—

Cotton seed should be planted as soon as the ground is warm enough to insure prompt germination. Nothing is gained by planting in cold, wet soil.

Makes Pound for Pound

"The North Carolina Experiment Station found that a pound of seed cotton was produced for every pound of fertilizer used up to 1,000 pounds per acre. Similar results have been obtained at experiment stations in other states. An agronomist at one station says that the results indicate high quantities are practicable. The danger lies in using too little rather than too much fertilizer."—Ward H. Sachs.

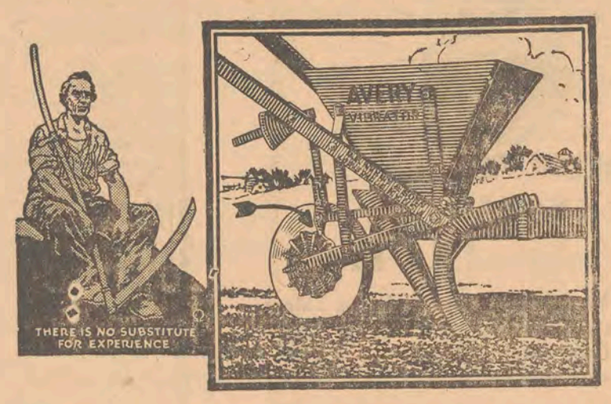
—V-C—

Although cotton cultivation is progressing in the basin of the Niger River, in Africa, says the New York Times, the present tendency is to concentrate on large plantations along the Senegal River. This territory is nearer the coast and "would lessen the cost of cotton seed and fertilizers that must now be transported many miles inland."



—V-C—

"The first two bales of cotton ginned in Jefferson County this year were made with V-C. My confidence in V-C has steadily increased during the 20 years I have used these goods. When I use V-C, I know I will have a successful crop."—R. L. BETHEA, Louisville, Ga.

AVERY VIBRATOR Fertilizer Distributor

An AVERY PLUS FEATURE

The "Tap-Tap-Tap" Principle

Solves Fertilizer Distribution

To go beyond what seems good enough, to be discontented with anything imperfect, is the Avery ideal—established by the founder of this business. That is why a chronic or long-accepted weakness is never found in any Avery implement. Instead you will invariably find an Avery Plus Feature. For instance:

In the Avery Vibrator Fertilizer Distributor an entirely new system had to be created to meet the Avery standards of good work. And good work in this case means a uniform flow of fertilizer—heavy or light as desired—whether the hopper is full, half full or nearly empty. Old systems did not do this. The Avery Vibrator, created by Avery experts, does. It works on a "tap-tap-tap" principle, as you tap a knife or salt spoon to distribute the salt. There is no knocking or jolting—no coffee grinder action. Every move is simple, logical, certain. You get fertilizer where you want it—no more —no less. It does a real job, like it ought to—saves time—saves fertilizer—saves money. This is an Avery Plus Feature—a contribution by Avery to better farming service.

Avery Plus Features Save Time and Money

BOYS WIN RADIOS WITH HIGH YIELD

Aubun, Ala., March 3.—Four 4-H cotton club members of Alabama distinguished themselves in growing cotton in 1929 to the extent of winning radio receiving sets. They all made prize-winning yields, using a home mixture of fertilizer, including nitrate of soda.

Kirk made 2,686 pounds of seed cotton, or two bales, on his acre. The value of his crop was $202.07. His total cost was $62.83 which left him a net profit of $139.24 on his acre. The cost per pound was 2.4 cents.

On his acre Otis King made 1,802 pounds of seed cotton, valued at $140.55. His cost was $47.15, leaving a profit of $93.40. Cost per pound was 2.6 cents.

Miss Logan made on her acre 1, 850 pounds of seed cotton which cost her $45.58. The value was $143.38 and her production cost per pound was two and one-half cents.

An outstanding fact about these four club members is that each held production under three cents per pound. This cost included rent on land, fertilizer, seed, preparation of land, cultivation, picking, and ginning. Three of the four used poison for boll weevil control. The four made the highest yields in their respective districts among those who used Chilean nitrate of soda which was required to win one of these radio receiving sets.

REFUGE

Health of this community is good at present. Our Sunday School is doing splendid. Although we can look around us and see room for many more. Sometimes when we are trying to find excuses, there are many waiting to keep us from attending services that we should attend. The thing for us to do is not to hunt excuses, but get up Sunday morning with the intention of going to Sunday School.

Bro. M. J. Parrish has promised to be with us Sunday and I am sure if you will accept it he will plant the seed that will be good for your souls. So we are expecting a large crowd to attend services Sunday. The Bible good, and full of love if you will obey its commandments it will guide you above.

FARM HAND WANTED—Man who is well able to work and understands working on a farm. None but experienced need apply. Will hire by the month for this crop season. See Mrs. Ed. Bruce, North Clanton. 3-6-1t-pd.

ANALYZE THE ALLOWANCE ON YOUR USED CAR

If a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must make up the difference by extra charges on the new car or re-sell it to some one else at too high a price

PERMANENT value is always better than a temporary bargain in the purchase of an automobile. It pays to look ahead and consider reliability and ultimate up-keep costs, as well as comfort, safety, speed, and beauty of line and color.

Since most automobiles are bought for replacement, the value set on your used car is a factor in almost every purchase. Frequently it is given an importance beyond its true worth.

Used cars have a definite market value and you are justly entitled to an allowance based on that value. It is not fair that you receive less. It is not to your best interests to receive more.

IF a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must either re-sell it to some one else at too high a price or make up the difference on the new car. This he cannot do unless he is allowed an excessive profit on the car or on financing, extra equipment and other charges. In either case, you pay the bill, for no way has yet been found to give something for nothing. The money must come from somewhere.

You may not get the largest used-car allowance from the Ford dealer, but that very fact should give you confidence that you are receiving full value in the new car. Ford charges are not marked up or increased to cover a high trade-in allowance on your old car.

Because there is no waste, extravagance or undue profit in manufacturing, distribution or selling, every dollar you pay for a Ford brings a full dollar in return. In lower first cost, in reliability and long life, in the low cost of operation, service and replacement parts, the Ford will save you much more than the seeming difference in trade allowance.

FURTHERMORE, at least $75 extra value is given to you in the new Ford in the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the Rustless Steel, the five steel-spoke wheels, and the four Houdaille hydraulic double-acting shock absorbers. The unusually large number of ball and roller bearings, and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings, are other features that show the extra quality built into the Ford car.

MARY ETHELEEN DUPREE

She was nothing but a little angel on earth; God wanted her and he called her to live with him on high.

We miss her, yes we miss her; her place can never be filled. But with joy and gladness in our hearts, we will meet her some day.

We loved little Mary Etheleen, yes we loved her; but Jesus loved her more. And he has called her to the yonder shining shore.

The golden gates were open and the gentle voice said, come, and with the farewells unspoken, she was calmly entered home.

Comfort those who weep and mourn; let the joy of their hearts return by trusting in thee. That is the only way we will meet the precious one who has gone before.

Written by one who loved her.—Gladys M. Tracy.

ADULTS CONTRACT CHILDREN'S DISEASE

Adults can, and do, contract many children's diseases. And, usually, they suffer from them much more than children do. For instance, many adults contract worms, an ailment usually associated with children. Sometimes they suffer intensely and take expensive medical treatments, without realizing that worms are the cause of their troubles. Yet, the symptoms are the same as in children, loss of appetite and weight, grinding the teeth and restless sleep, itching of the nose and anus, and abdominal pains. And, the same medicine that surely and harmlessly expels round and pin worms from children will do the same for adults —White's Cream Vermifuge, which you can get at Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama.

ALABAMA COLLEGE EXTENSION CLASS HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

The Chilton County teachers who take the College Course from Alabama College, Montevallo, had a busy day Saturday, February 22nd. The forenoon was taken up with the usual college class work which the teachers do every two weeks. Dr. Steelman, of the Sociology Department of the college is the able instructor of this class.

A demonstration lesson in teaching reading was given by Mrs. Clara Boockholdt of the Thomas Jr. High school in the afternoon. Mrs. Boockholdt brought six of her first grade pupils for the lesson. The lesson was taught to demonstrate to the teachers how a lesson should be taught to the pupils instead of assigned for the pupils to get the best way they can. The teachers enjoyed a profitable discussion to get among themselves as to the means by which such method can be used in other subjects in school. This work was under the direction of Miss Madge Scarborough, Elementary Supervisor of schools.

Another interesting feature of the meeting was a talk by Mr. J. Mell Martin in which he appealed to the teachers in the interest of the generation of boys and girls under their instruction. Mr. Martin had in mind the one mill tax which is to be voted on April 8th. He insisted that the teachers give citizens the facts in the matter if they did not understand. If this is done, Mr. Martin said, in a wholehearted spirit; that is, if the people know exactly how much their taxes will be after the tax is voted, there will not be over forty votes in the County against it. Every teacher appreciated the fact that such men are enough interested in our work of education the future citizens of Chilton County that they will take time from their own work to show others the importance in this task of giving every child a chance.

PLEASANT GROVE NEWS

UNINTENTIONAL SUICIDE

Many people are slowly poisoning themselves just as surely as if they drank iodine every morning for breakfast. They are daily absorbing the toxins, or poisons, created by accumulated waste matter in their constipated digestive systems. Sooner or later digestive disease will conquer their weakened bodies.

If you have dizzy spells, headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, insomnia, no appetite, bilious attacks or pains in the back and limbs, you are probably suffering from self poisoning caused by constipation. The surest and pleasantest relief for this condition is Herbine, the vegetable cathartic which acts in the natural way. Get a bottle today from Uprhurch Drug Company, Clanton, Alabama.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

There have been suggestions from London during the past few weeks to the effect that the way to "save the situation" so far as he navel conference is concerned, is to draw up some sort of a Mediterranean pact in which France would be guaranteed protection in case of trouble in the Mediterranean or in adjoining waters. It has been intimated, too, that such a pact would not be effective without the signature of the United States.

It is hardly necessary to say that the Suggestions mentioned have not been greeted with any great outburst of enthusiasm in the United States. Nothing can better illustrate the steady growth of feeling in the United States against foreign entanglements, than the coolness with which these suggestions have been received, especially by the Senators who have given public expressions to the subject. There can be little doubt that the majority feeling in the Senate represents the overwhelming opinion of the people of the United States.

For example, Senator Swanson, of Virginia, ranking Democratic member of the Foreign Relations Committee in the Senate, is quoted by the Washington Post as saying:

"I do not favor the United States, entering into any security pact in connection with the Mediteeranean Sea. It would be contrary to the fundamental principle of the Monroe Doctrine for us to inject ourselves specially into the affairs of the nations bordering on the Mediterranean Sea.

We do not permit these nations to inject themselves into the affairs of North and South America and I see no reason for us to inject ourselves into a guarantee of territoral pesessions and commercial affairs in the Mediterranean.

"The Excuse given for the four-power pact under the Washington treaty in the Western Pacific was that we had possessions in the Philippine Islands and consequently were interested in guaranteeing security there. No such reason exists in the Mediterranean.

"If the proposed pact is effective and the nations bordering on the Mediterranean trust to it for security it might result in embroiling us in wars in which we have no interest and have no justification to meddle in.

"If it is a harmless pact and the United States never intends to exercise any force under it, then it is a deception to the nations and the United States should never indulge in a policy of that character.

"If it is entered into it means either something or nothing. If it means something then it involves us in untold difficulties. If it means nothing we should not be a party to a treaty which is based on deception."

Expressions by Republican Senators are in line with the views of Senator Swanson. This was to be expected of course, as the Republican members of the Senate led the fight against the entanglements of the League of Nations back in President Wilson's adminstration. But the fact that a member of the minority, of Senator Swanson's standing should take the position as outlined by the quotation of the Washington newspaper is f considerable significance.

Now, if the Mediterranean pact might involve Uncle Sam in European troubles it follows of course that membership in the League of Nations or similar institution would be all the more dangerous from the American standpoint. During the League fight it was often said that our joining the League would be like spinning a promissory note in blank. Signing a Mediterranean pact mighe be signing a promissory note too, dangerous, even if not as dangerous as joinning an organization which might involve us all over the world.

Of course the only plan for the United States to follow is to keep away from promissory notes of the kind entirely. To do this we have only to go along cooperating where we can but retaining to ourselves that independence of action which has been our international salvation on more than one occasion.

FARM LABOR

The slowing down in industrial activity during the last two months of the year 1929 had one effect which has escaped general attention and that is its bearing on the farm labor market. According to a recent statement from the United States Department of Agriculture the supply of farm labor on January first was fifteen per cent greater than the demand, with a consequent lowering of farm wages in all parts of the country. Continuing the report says:

"Farm wages increased during the first ten months of last year, but from October, 1929 to January 1 this year, the curtailment in industrial activity resulted in a sharp increase in the supply of farm labor and a greater than average seasonal decline in farm wages."

This is interesting in view of the fact that we have been told for some time past that one of the chief obstacles to farm prosperity has been the scarcity of farm labor with the consequent high wages it was necessary to pay for farm help. This was accounted for by our constantly increasing industrial prosperity which, it was stated, was attracting labor from the farm to the city, where a greater wage scale was to be had.

It is extremely doubtful, however, whether increasing the supply of farm labor through an industrial slump in the cities would be of any benefit to the farmers. Indeed quite the reverse is apt to be true for the reason that it is the people in our cities and towns who furnish for the farmer his greatest market. If these people in the urban districts are unemplayed at part time they cannot consume as many of the farmers' products as would be the case were they steadily employed and prosperous. That is one of the reasons why the farmer, whether he realizes it or not, is vitally interested in an adequate protective tariff on industrial as well as farm products.

However, it is not to be expected that there will be any further increase in the supply of farm labor due to industrial depression in the cities. The present indications are that the winter slump is nearing its end and that the tide of prosperity will soon be rising again.

Thomas Edison advises the American people to pay less attention to the politicians and more to the engineers. This is a little difficult to do because the politicians make the most noise.

Some statesmen are advocating a new political party to solve our troubles. But it is doubtful whether a half dozen new political parties would be able to do this.

John Gilbert, the handsome hero of the films, wash knocked down the other day in Hollywood by a mere author. Of course, this was not according to the pictures.

OUR LATIN-AMERICAN TRADE

According to figures recently made public by the Department of Commerce at Washington, our Latin-American trade has increased nearly six hundred per cent sice the year 1900. Last year our trade with the neighbors to the south of us constituted 21 per cent of our total foreign trade. The increase of this trade in thirty years has been steady and healthy and has not been the result of any mushroom growth.

This news is entirely encouraging to the American producer. We, by all means, ought to cultivate closer relations with Latin-America. For one reason we form parts of the same great geographical division and have common political interests. And again, the countries of Latin-America have commodities to sell us which do not come into competition, except in a few instances, with out home industries. The same thing, of course, cannot be said of our trade with Europe.

The fact that our Latin-American trade is steadiiy increasing is very encouraging from still another reason. Since the world war, our principal trade rivals in Europe have been seeking to win back the Latin-American field to themselves by encouraging anti-American propanganda in Latin-America. They have misrepresented our purposes and aims toward the southern America countries. And they have skilfully nourished the idea that we are imperialistic, that we have illegitimate designs on Latin-America. And worst of all, these European propagandists hase been aided by certain internationalists in our own country who have availed themselves of every opportunity to play the European game in Central and South America. The imperialist charge is of course childish. If we possessed imperialist designs against Latin-America we would have been annexing Latin-American territory long before this. But nothing of this kind has happened. It is to be hoped that we will continue to cultivate closer relations with the nations to the south of us. There is no American international policy sounder than this.

According to the Times, the New York weather broke seven records in 1929. Well, the New York stock market did worse than that.

The more one sees of ex-Governor Al Smith in those newsreel and rotogravure section pictures from Miami, the more one concludes that the tailor who makes his golf clothes is a Republican.—New York Sun.

THE JACK POT

BY "JACK" HIMSELF

Hello, again, folks. We promised to give you an ear full of the railroad and motor bus business this week, but will just be forced to carry it over again. We couldn't get all the information together to tell you, in cold facts and figures, just what's what. We will try to have it ready by next week, though.

That's one of those thin places in the ice we told you about some time ago. It's ticklish business, this walking the straight and narrow without stepping on somebody's toes. Have to step easy, so that if we DO tread on somebody's pet bunion there won't be such a squawk coming. We don't like squawks or squawkers.

That's one reason for postponing the railroad-bus article. Another reason is that we are overanxious to tell you just how popular this old POT is getting to be. Every once in a while somebody comes through with a bouquet for the POT and POTTER.

One time it'll be from over on the west side, then from down in the southern part of the County. Let 'em come—brick-bats or bouquets. We like to know just how readers of The Union-Banner like the POT. We try to make it interesting, a bit funny, and, if possible, try to put in a little something really worth while.

We have ONE red-hot POT fan—we know! He is a man of DEEDS, as well as WORDS, too. Does he like the POT? You can bet your last pewter plate he does. He lets it be known, too, in a way most convincing.

You've heard the slogan "Say It With Flowers." Well, this good POT fan follows this theory, only he don't "Say It With Flowers." Nope. He says it with good old time sweet potatoes. Yes, sir! That's what we call appreciation.

Just heard a good one. Did you ever hear anyone say what it takes to make a man? To quote some people, they're mostly bunk, breath and beef. But just read the clipping below, taken from a paper published in London, England.

"A recent analysis made by the National Health Insurance Company shows the average man has the following in his body: Fat for seven bars of soap, iron for one medium-sized nail, sugar to fill one shaker (now who'd a-thought a mere man had sugar in him?), lime to whitewash a chicken coop, phosphate to make 2,200 matches (full o' fire ain't he?), magnesium for a dose of salts, potash enough to explode a toy cannon, and sulphur enough to rid one medium-sized dog of fleas."

Well, Sir, we never would have thought it. We knew a man would try to get sweet sometimes, but never would have accused him of carrying sugar about as a part of him. And maybe that potash, and phosphorus, and sulphur all mixed up together is what makes him explode every now and then. Wondered a little what made 'em like that. Now th secret's out.

Pretty soon we will have something else to wind this POT up with besides telling you how good the fishing is getting to be. It may be true that fishing is a sport to be enjoyed in it's season, but there are those who would miss a fishing trip to go to a good baseball game.

And it's about that time, too. All the big time clubs are getting their ivory, bats, and whatnot together again to go after the flags, buntings, cold cash, or whatever it is they go after—mostly the cash. Some may play for the fun of it, but not the leagers.

Pretty soon, now, most any morning you can come out on the street and find a bunch of the old boys rigging up a load of 'em to go to Birmingham or Montgomery to "see the game today." Just like fishing, it gets in the blood along about this time of the year—they can't help it—that's the way of a man.

But, after all, we must do something to pass away the dull summer days, and watching a baseball game is one of the best ways we can think of. Wouldn't be a bit surprised to be bitten by the same bug most any old time. You know, too, baseball fever can't be doctored out—it's gotta be "looked" out.

A few of the local boys answer the call of the spring training camps, too, you know. Broadus Connatser will report to New Orleans this year, and as usual, Jack Hayes will report to Manager Walter Johnson of the Washington Senators, at Biloxi, Miss. The Senator management see in Jack many good years of infield work, and are keeping a tight string on him.

Funny thing about that. When Washington bought Gillis from Birmingham, Jack Hayes and "Red" Barnes (another Alabamian well known to local fans) were sent along with him in the trade, as a kind of "to boot" proposition. Gillis has long since fallen back to minor leagues, while Jack and "Red" are still kicking the dust of the big-time parks from their spikes. Verily, "the first shall be last, and the last first."

The Washington management seem to think that they got their money's worth, even if Gillis didn't make the grade, and slid back to the bushes. We're pulling for the local boys, first last and all the time.

Somebody told us that "if March comes in like a lion, he"ll leave like a lamb." In that case the red-birds will be well in tune by the time the bill collectors begin to roam around again. Gee, but this weather certainly is a mis-fit for the POTTER'S clothes.

Bill collectors! That WOULD have to be mentioned right when we got ready to close the POT. But now, we won't close with such harsh words ringin' in your ears. Along about the first, when the collectors get thick, just remember that the first of the month is the BEST time of all to go fishing, or hunting, or—oh, well, anything to keep out of danger. You can guess what we mean!

Who is that coming? Yep! He's one of 'em. Well, we'll just drift along, and see you later.—"Jack".

Chemists say food can be made from sawdust. Why, to be certain. With a little mustard or something on it, it would beat parsnips.—Macon (Ga.) Telegraph.

The scientist who is seeking a temperature of 453 degrees below zero might try spending a night on a sleeping porch.—Indianapolis News.

An average husband is one who can make a dresser drawer look like a house that was in the path of a tornado when he is looking through it for something that was in plain sight when he pulled it open.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

AMERICA'S MERCHANT MARINE GROWS

The latest statistics show that the world's ship-building has attained a greater volume in the past year than eevr before in history of the world. In 1929 fifty-four American ship yards delivered 554 merchant vessels of a gross fonnage of 284,226, an increase of 22.3 per cent over the ship-building of 1928. During the coming years still more ships will be built. The Jones-White law, of which Congressman Wallace H. White of this state was a co-author, will stimulate ship-building to a greater degree than ever before. Mammoth steamships for service on mail routes on the Atlantic and Pacific oceans will be completed in 1930 and many of them will be equal to any ships that are being built in other nations.

Not only are we now beginning to build more ships but the ships which are flying the American flag are commencing to carry a large part of our commerce. This means the expansion of our foreign trade and better markets for American goods abroad. We are making rapid strides in recovering the ocean carrying trade which this country once enjoyed but which it lost to other maritime powers because of the unfavorable legislation which Congress enacted and the discouragements that confronted American ship owners when they sought to get some of the business.—Portland Press Herald.

The Man On The Corner

Some Sights He Saw— and Some He Saw Not.

It is a common thing to hear someone speak of Blue Monday. I will say that the last two have really been blue ones for Clanton. Monday of this week we laid away the body of Jim Jones, who for many years has been one of the outstanding business men of Clanton. On the Monday before we buried Walter Martin, one of the most prominent of our young business and professional men. What a tremendous gap has been left in the affairs of this town and county by the death of these two men. But, thanks to Almighty God who has taken their sols from us, their good works shall live and continue to bear fruit with us still.

Concerning the life of Jim Jones I think the statement of Rev. Chalker upon the occasion of his funeral is a most fitting tribute to the great place he occupied: "The history of Clanton and Chilton County could not be written without the name of J. C. Jones." In business his relationships reached out to thousands of people in this community. Many farmers looked to him for means with which to run their business. He was the source of bread and shoes and clothing to many of the poor children of this county. But withal, he was not alone a business man in a cold business way. He was kind, considerate, cheerful, always jolly, and shedding a ray of sunshine wherever he was found.

I received a kindly word from my friends in Coosa County one day this week. Thank you folks. Some of these days I hope to have time to take a week off and spend it all in a visit with you. I always find great inspiration among the people of Coosa County. The beautiful rugged hills across the river have always held a charm for me. And it seems that I can see the same rugged beauty built into the lives of the people who have been reared there. I often go to the river. I never fail to look over the silent hills on the eastern shore and rehearse my friendships that live beyond.

Might as well have some fun as we go along. When I want fun I always go to my friend, "Sweet William" Sartor. This week he was having trouble with a rat in his store. The rat died, and the smell was most awful. From the size of the smell, Mr. Sartor guessed that the rat must be as big as a mule. When he found it, it was only a mouse. Well, of course the rat was only a small matter, even if it did smell big. It only served as a means of getting Mr. Sartor to relate a really funny story of many years ago.

You will, of course, remember Abe Kanter, the big Jew who used to run a store in Clanton. Abe was a good sport. Everybody liked him. He could always enjoy a joke, even if it was on Abe. And there was a plenty of fellows who were always ready to play the joke on Abe.

One time a bunch of fellows induced Abe to go possum hunting with them. I think it must have been Harve Chandler, Bud Alred, Tom Littlejohn, Caldwell McMorries and Heath Jones. When they had gotten far into the woods and into the night, the dogs treed something. Of course it was the unanimous verdict that Abe should climb the tree and punch the varmint out. After sufficient assistance from the others, Abe reached the first limb of the tree and went on up. By and by he came within close range of the little animal. By a peculiar physical demonstration, the varmint let loose a terrible smell, and Abe shouted at the top of his voice: "P-o-o-l cat! P-o-o-l cat! My Gawd! Forty men smell him at one time."

Mayor Eric Hart and Judge Reynolds, returning from a trip to Washington last week, bring encouraging reports concerning the chances of Chilton County to get the location of the Veterans Hospital. They represented this county before the committee of the Veterans Bureau, in which hearing many different communities of the State made their claims for the location of the hospital.

Broadus Connatser left Monday night for New Orleans where he joins the New Orleans baseball club for spring training. It looks like he has a good chance of playing with the New Orleans team this season. When the baseball season is completed Mr. Connatser will return to Clanton again and take up his work with his Uncle, Mr. W. W. Fox, in the hardware and furniture business.

THE D. A. R. CREED

A New York social worker recently charged that the Daughters of the American Revolution was blocking the path of world peace by supporting large armament plans and programs.

Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president of this patriotic organization, in a recent statement asserts that the Daughters of the American Revolution stand for no policy not based upon the very words of Washington and his revolutionary compatriots. Mrs. Hobart said: "In other words the body is opposed to pacifism, socialism and any form of internationalism which would sacrifice just national rights of interest, threaten the national safety or subvert the federal Constitution. Because of this stand, the Daughters of the American Revolution have been the target for one or all of these anti-nationalistic policies."

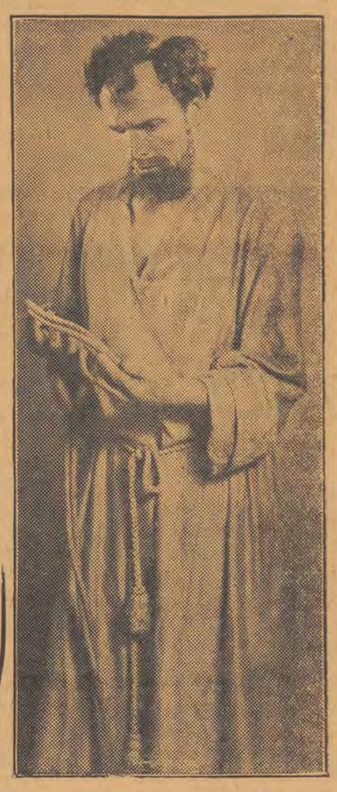
Cincinnati takes pride that one of its citizens is the official head of this great American order, and that her competency well has been authenticated. In this reply to the New York critic, Mrs. Hobart enunciates fundamentals of Americanism. The order she represents has absolutely no sympathy with the emotional dreams of those Americans—mostly professional apostles of reform—who prefer the advancement of world citizenry to that of American citizenry. This order stands, unreservedly, against pacifism, and for adequate national defense. It fixes its attention on American principles to the exclusion of internationalism. It stands like a rock for America first. It is not the foe, but the friend of true pacifism. It is one of the staunchest bulwarks of the republic.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

INDUSTRY COOPERATES WITH GOVERNOR

Private electric power interests in New York State have signified their willingness to cooperate with Governor Roosevelt to secure devclopment of water power resources of the St. Lawrence River by the state if necssary. Floyd L. Carlisle, Chairman of the Executive Board of the Niagara Hudson Power Company, said that this would place the state in the forefront of cheap power producers.

This action of the power industry will focus attention on what is really the main issue, namely, the advisibility of the state entering the field of commercial activity in competition with its private citizens.

The tax question will be an important phase of the project. Private industry would pay enormous taxes on such a power investment. Public property will pay nothing unless the general policy of tax exemption for state-owned enterprises is changed.



World Famous Play, "Passion Play" to be Prsented in Montg'y and in Birmingham

An announcement of extraordinary interest to Alabamians is that the world famous Freiburg Passion Play, direct from Freiburg, Germany, where it has been given at regular intervals since the year 1264, is to appear in Montgomery and Birmingham. The Passion Play will be in Montgomery on March 7th, 8th, and 9th, and in Birmingham on March 10th, 11th, 12th, and 13th.

The Freiburg Players are similar to the Oberammagau Players, with the exception that they devote their entire lives to the promotion of the Passion Play and have vowed to carry their impressive drama to the world, whereas the Oberammagau Players only give their play once every ten years and never outside the village of Oberammaugau. The Freiburg Passion Play antedate the Oberammagau Play by 400 years.

The Freiburg inherit their roles and are trained for their parts from childhood. Since 1760 the parts of the "Christus" and "Judas" have been portrayed by membres of the famous Fassnacht family, and in the company that is now making a world tour there are four members of this family. Georg Fassnacht, Jr., the "Christus", is the fifth generation to play the part. Georg Fassnacht, Sr., is now completing his 29th year in the role of "Judas." Augustas Fassnacht, mother of Georg Fassnacht, Jr., is "Mary, the mother of Jesus," and Detty Fassnacht is "Mary Magdalene."

The purpose of the passion play is to visualize the real meaning of Jesus Christ to the world. It tells the story of the Saviour from his entrance into Jerusalem through the ascension. The scenes of the Temple, street scenes of Jerusalem; Herod's Court; the palace of Pilate; the Lord's Supper; the march to Calvary; the cruxifixion; the entombment and ascension are appropriately staged and reverently acted.

Georg Fassnacht as "Judas" in the Great Freiburg production of The Passion Play, a role he has made famous throughot the world.

The Freiburg Player came to America last year, following the urgent request of many of the 60,000 Americans that attended their last performances in Freiburg. They have played in 22 American cities to over 3,000,000 people, and have met with the enthusiastic endorsement of the press, clergy and laymen.

Special railroad and bus rates are available to Montgomery and Birmingham throughout the state for this unusual occasion.

MAPLESVILLE

Don't fail to see the Follies of 1930, staged at Maplesville auditorium, March 11, 1930, under direction of Mrs. Cobb, of Montgomery. She gives a splendid evening of entertainment, something worth while. Come. Doors open at 7:00 p. m.

MT. PISGAH SCHOOLHOUSE BURNED MONDAY

The schoolhouse at Mt. Pisgah, south of Clanton was destroyed by fire about noon Monday. The teachers, Miss Wood and Miss Littlejohn, together with the students, succeeded in getting about all of the equipment out of the building after it was found to be on fire. As there was no fire-fighting apparatus available, the building was a complete loss.

The Mt. Pisgah Church building, near the schoolhouse, was in great danger of catching on fire.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Harton of Montgomery were visitors with friends in Clanton last week-end.

Lesson for March 9

THE PARABLE OF THE SOWER

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 13:1-23.
GOLDEN TEXT—Who hath ears to hear, let him hear.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Hearers and Doers.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Hearers and Doers.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Giving Heed to Jesus' Teaching.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Take Heed How Ye Hear.

In this thirteenth chapter of Matthew the "mysteries" of the kingdom are unfolded. By "mystery" in the Scriptures is meant truth undiscoverable by human reason, made known by revelation. The seven parables of this chapter set forth in a most graphic manner the admixture of moral and spiritual affairs in the world between Christ's ascension and return to the earth.

I. The Sower (v. 3).

The sower is not named in this parable. In the parable of the wheat and tares, the sower is the Son of Man (v. 37). It is evident that the sower in this case is the Lord Jesus Christ. Through the centuries He has been sowing the seed of divine truth by means of prophets, apostles and ministers.

II. The Kind of Soil (vv. 4-8; 19-23).

The soil is the human heart (v. 19). The seed sown is the Word of God (v. 19). The difference of results lies in the condition of the soil, which in turn is the state of the human heart. Notwithstanding the faithfulness of the sower and the purity of the seed, the results of preaching God's Word depend upon the condition of the human heart. This parable reveals four kinds of soil or hearers.

1. The wayside, or hard hearted hearer (v. 4, cf. v. 19).

The wayside means the track beaten down by the hoofs of animals and the feet of men. Because the soil was unbroken and uncultivated the seed could not get beneath the surface, therefore was devoured by the fowls. The great truth taught is that the heart unbroken and hard is not favorable soil for the gospel.

2. The stony places, or superficial hearers (vv. 5, 6, cf. vv. 20, 21).

This means stones with a thin layer of soil upon them. Under such conditions the seed springs up quickly but likewise scorches quickly. Hearts superficially impressed receive God's Word with joy, but when persecution and trials come they are not able to endure.

3. The thorny ground, or pre-occupied hearers (v. 7, cf. v. 22).

In this case the ground is good, mellow enough and of sufficient depth, but has thorns in it. Such really hear the Word of God, but the cares of this world and the deceitfulness of riches and the lusts of other things, entering in choke the Word and it becomes unfruitful (Mark 4:19).

Many are the "thorny ground" hearers of this age. The good seed cannot mature because (1) of worldliness. Men and women are completely absorbed in the things of business and are burdened with care. (2) The deceitfulness of riches. Anxious care in business brings riches to many. The effect of riches is to blunt the spiritual perception of men. (3) Lusts of other things entering in. This means the pleasures of life. All these things choke the Word of God. Many of the enjoyments of the world may be innocent in themselves, but they attract so much attention and consume so much energy and time that one has no time for Bible reading, meditation and prayer.

4. The good ground, or fruitful hearers (v. 8, cf. v. 23).

"But other fell into good ground and brought forth fruit." This ground differed from all the rest. It was mellow, deep and moist, therefore it was capable of bringing forth fruit, a hundred, some sixty and some thirty fold. In the measure that the heart is kept free from worldliness, riches and pleasures, the good seed matures.

III. The Purpose of Teaching in Parables (vv. 10-17).

There is much misapprehension concerning teaching in parables. The parabolic method of teaching makes clear the truth to those that love it, but conceals it from those who have a distaste for it. Jesus did not teach by parables till the rulers had set their hearts against Him. When in the light of His miracles and wonderful works they turned against him and attributed His works to the devil, He denounced them in the most scathing terms and began to teach in parables, in fulfillment of the prophecy of Isaiah (Matt. 13:14, 15; cf. Isa. 6:9, 10).

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. Norton, Manager)

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Laurell spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jake Buchi in Birmingham and attended "Home Coming" at the church the Laurells attended while in Birmingham.

Mrs. Olaf Schieve seems much improved after several weeks illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Funker and daughter, Mary Frances, of Birmingham, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Townsend Sunday.

The Gulledge School (colored), Joseph Sistrunk, principal, of Thorsby, will hold their closing exercises at 7 p.m., Tuesday, March 11th. A part of the program will consist of a concert. An invitation is extended to white friends of the school to be present on this occasion. An admission of 15c each or 25c per couple, will be required. Several Thorsby people assumed the expense of a trip to Birmingham and admission to a big hall, last Monday night to hear a noted negro tenor sing, much of which they could not understand, but here is an opportunity for a small sum to hear of some negro melodies that are always interesting to white folks. "Let's go!"

Rev. Ernest Childs, pastor of Clanton M. E. Church, and Rev. J. E. Each, pastor of Thorsby Congregational church, will exchange pulpits for morning service next Sunday, March 9th.

The Congregational Ladies Aid have purchased and installed a fine new range for the parsonage. They gratefully acknowledge some substantial contributions from friends for this purpose.

D. J. Edwards, section foreman on L. & N., who moved to Birmingham former home near Lomax and to his former hame near Lomax and to his old job on the railroad. A daughter of Mr. Edwards is a student in Thorsby Institute, and during the stay of his family in Birmingham, made daily trips to and from her home when the school was in session.—one hundred miles a day to attend school.—Some interest!

W. H. Wilson is engaged in wiring the new Baptist church for electric lights.

Mr. Charles A. Peterson has been confined to his home for several days with a severe cold.

Mrs. Roy Raybon and two children of Birmingham are visiting relatives in Thorsby.

Mr. Charles Davis Dies

Mr. Charley Davis, age 72, died Monday at the home of his son, A. J. Davis, near Collins Chapel. For the past fifty years he was a prominent farmer and a member of Mineral Springs Baptist church. He leaves three sons—Jim and Ed, and two daughters, Mrs. Belle Aycock and Mrs. Berty Stagnir. The remains were buried at Collins Chapel Tuesday, Rev. Appleton officiating.

The women of the Baptist church have Missionary studies and a day of prayer, at the home of Mrs. J. W. Jones, Wednesdays.

Baptist Sunday school officers and teachers held a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Raybon Tuesday night.

Regular Baptist church services will be held at Thorsby Public school building Sunday, March 9th, at the usual hour—morning and evening.

Mr. S. E. Norton is spending a couple of days in Birmingham this week.

Rev. W. Knighton Bloom of Washington, D. C., general superintendent of Congregational Extension work in the Southeast, and Miss Marguerite Davison, Congregational field worker for the same territory, were in Thorsby for a brief visit and interview Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Marcus and Mrs. P. G. Marcus were visitors of Mrs. Leonard Hayes and her daughter, Mrs. H. W. Marcus.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Villadsen of Tuscaloosa came to Thorsby Monday on a visit. Mrs. Villadsen with her baby will remain a week visiting kinsfolk here.

Faith—What it is and What it Does," was the topic for Christian Endeavor Sunday evening. Jane Kelley and Mary Frank Smith were the leaders. This, the first Sunday of the month, was consecration meeting. Every member responded with a scripture verse to his name called.

Mrs. P. D. Killingsworth and daughters, Marie, Gladys and Dan Prim, of Birmingham, were visitors lately of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Prim.

W. H. Raybon and wife recently visited Camp Hugh. They were accompanied by Mrs. Rowe.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Cox spent Sunday in Prattville.

Miss Louise Crocker of Bessemer is visiting at the home of Mrs. E. R. Piper this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Dyrhovd and children of Montgomery visited the Bakkes Saturday.

The Congregational Ladies Aid will meet this week, Thursday, at the home of Mrs. C. M. Williams.

Mrs. C. M. Williams spent Monday and Tuesday of this week at Lay Dam visiting her daughter, Mrs. Mae Thomason.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mead spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mastin.

A Suggestion For Rural Churches

INCREASE OR DECREASE THE ACREAGE, WHICH?

Ought the farmers to increase or decrease the acreage for this year?

The fact is that they ought to do both. The total acreage of cotton planted should be less to guarantee better prices. Then more acreage should be planted to corn, hay, peas, potatoes, etc.

But listen! Here is the place where the acreage should be greatly increased. Many farmers who love their church and the cause of Christ throughout the world should plant and carefully work an acre, and give the proceeds, half to his local church work and send half to the Baptist Headquarters, 127 S. Court Street, Montgomery, for the missionary and benevolent work of the denomination.

Another good way to work it is for the local church to rent, say, five acres of ground and the members turn out and work it on certain days, giving their labor and having fine Christian fellowship in the service. In like manner when the crop is made they will gather and sell it, and the church will use half of it for local expenses and send the other half to the Board for preaching the Gospel in regions beyond. The church could not expect a blessing if it were selfish and kept the whole amount to spend on itself and give nothing to help others.

Do, arrange this, brethren, in your first conference and plant some acreage for the Lord. It will bring a new day for your church in all its work.

Yours for the country church.

L. E. Barton,
Secretary - Treasurer Executive Board Alabama Baptist Convention.

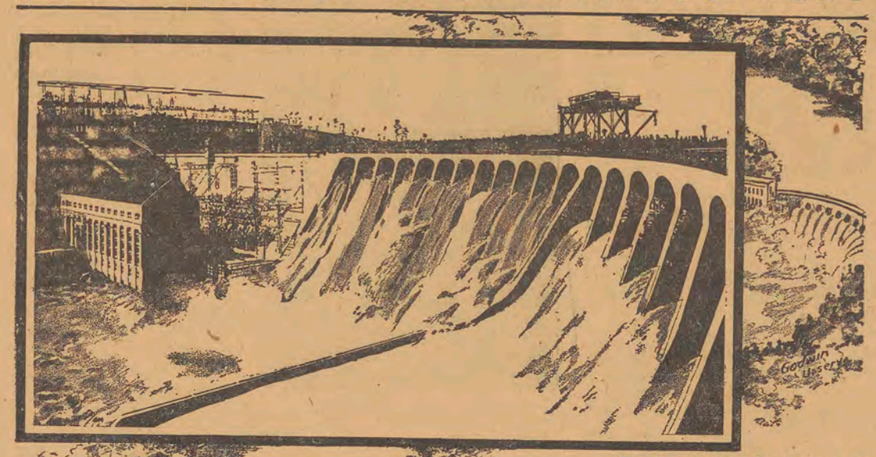
A. A. JACKSON—LOMAX

Editor Union-Banner:

Just a few lines of congratulations to Mr. J. A. Raines, who had a letter in last week's Union-Banner. I endorse every word of it; and second his move that the Executive Committee add to their resolution the provisions that Mr. Raines suggested in his letter of last week.

I believe that Mr. Raines's motive in writing the letter was purely an honest motive. Mr. Voter, investigate Mr. Raines's letter closely and I believe you will give him a fair consideration when you cast your ballot. He is the only candidate in the field so far who proposes a change in the resolution, that would protect a corrupt candidate and exclude the honest voter from the primary.



Just a few words in regard to the one-mill school tax that the voters must settle with their ballots on the 8th of April, 1930. Mr. Candidates, how do you stand on the one-mill tax question? Why not tell the voters how you stand on the question of more taxes, which is now a burden to the poor old taxpaying farmers of Chilton County? Mr. Voter, what are you going to do, just go and vote for more taxes because the officials and politicians of Chilton County tell you to do so? Are you going to keep silent because you are afraid that some little insignificant writer might tell you that your bell-weather days are over, and that you stink to the nostrils of intelligent people, and show you all manner of disrespect because you do not agree with them on such issues? Such writers are merely poodles for officials who might want to carry their wishes regardless of honesty or reason.

Candidates, if you have any statesmanship in you, show it by your expressions on the public issues. Voters, you can't be a poodle for politicians and a real sitizen at the same time.

Let us show our citizenship by selecting men for office who are not afraid to express themselves on all public issues. Let us remember well what Mr. Raines told us in his letter of last week, namely: "The moral standard of no party can rise higher than that of its officers which it may elect."

Yours for pure Republican principles.—A. A. Jackson.

How to Raise Poultry

By Dr. L. D. LeGear; V.S., St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. LeGear is a graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College, 1892. Thirty-six years of veterinary practice on diseases of live stock and poultry. Eminent authority on poultry and stock raising. Nationally known poultry breeder. Noted author and lecturer.

HOW TO START A TURKEY FLOCK

Judging from the letters received from readers of these articles the subject of turkey raising is uppermost in the minds of thousands of people. Therefore in answer to numerous requests I am going to devote two or three more articles to that subject.

Turkey raising is profitable. It is not nearly so difficult as most people imagine. True, the number of turkeys produced on farms in the United States has had a steady decline for the last forty years. Like the recent slump of the stock market, it would appear the bottom has been reached and I am hopeful that turkey raising will about face and regain its lost prestige.

Two things tend to discourage the raising of turkeys. One is the dread of the disease known as blackhead. The other is the mistaken idea that turkeys must have a wide range of ground to roam on. I shall discuss both of these subjects in subsequent articles, and attempt to show how blackhead can be avoided and to correct the idea that turkeys cannot be raised in confinement. But first let us consider some of the essential things in starting a turkey flock.

In selecting a breed consideration should be given to size and weight for after all turkeys are raised for meat production. The Bronze variety seems to be the most popular because of its size. It is sometimes called the Mamoth Bronze. Other popular breeds are the White Holland, Bourbon Red and Narragansett. There are two other varieties called the Black and Slate, but they are not given much consideration in the United States because they are smaller than the others.

There are three ways to start a turkey flock. One is by buying hatching eggs. Another is to purchase baby poults, and the third is the purchase of adult breeding stock. Under favorable conditions you can have turkeys for market the first year.

If you start with breeding stock, take every precaution possible to see that your adult turks are free from disease. Examine them carefully for size and build. Breeding stock should have large frames, broad backs, and big, full breasts. See that the legs are sturdy and set well apart.

It hardly seems necessary to point out the advantage of purebred stock. The initial cost may be a little higher, but it costs no more to raise a purebred than a mongrel, and the sale both of birds for breeding and eggs for hatching will more than make up the difference.

A good time to get in the turkey business is now, especially if you follow the plan of starting with breeding stock. Large numbers of turkeys are raised for Christmas markets. You can make some very fine selections from choice flocks that are being prepared for the Christmas trade. One of the fatal mistakes made by many turkey raisers is that the best birds are taken to market and the smaller stock kept for breeding purposes.

Do not try to splurge in the beginning. Start in a small way and develop gradually.

Again I say turkey raising is a profitable business. It should be one of the leading activities along with chickens and live stock. The turkey is a native product. It is as American as the eagle or the buffalo. New wealth will be added to the agricultural coffers of the United States once the turkey takes its rightful place in the poultry world.

"The Farmers friend from the Cradle to the Grave"

Bro. Bryan's Weekly Message

Written for The Union-Banner by REV. J. A. BRYAN, Pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, Alabama)

ONE BY ONE WE ARE GATHERED INTO CHRIST'S KINGDOM

There isn't any method of building up Christ's kingdom than the method recorded in the New Testament. I wish to speak to you this evening on the question of getting another man to Christ. This should certainly be a soul-stirring and a soul-thrilling subject to every Christian because it was Christ's mission from heaven to earth to seek and save lost souls and He tells us many times in many different ways that He has given us the mission of seeking for and helping to bring lost souls to Him. He even goes so far as to say to us, "Go, ye therefore out into the highways and hedges and compel them to come into my kingdom.

While I speak to you on the question of getting souls to Christ we are to remember that the New Testament teaches that a man can't start to Christ in His own strenth. That is, the Holy Spirit must first touch and move His heart toward Christ. That is the reason there was such an awakening on the day of Pentecost when three thousands souls were added to the church. The spirit of God came upon them and they were pricked and reproved of sin deep down in their hearts and saved. The record is that they were all filled with the Holy Spirit.

No doubt those filled with the Holy Spirit began to testify of Christ to others and they in like manner were filled with the Holy Spirit. Because remember that Christ had said, "ye shall be witnesses unto me after that the Holy Spirit is come upon you." When the Holy Spirit came upon them they not only became witness-bearers but also workers for Jesus Christ. Now the reason we find it hard to work for Christ is because we have not the Holy Spirit in our own lives.

Notice the life of Christ and you will become convinced that we can't improve on His method neither can we move a soul to Him other than His method. Even tho we may try methods of scholarful men we will fail. The first person led to Christ in the New Testament was John, the son of Zebedee, led to Christ by John the Baptist. Then John led Andrew to Christ. Then Andrew first findeth his own brother Simon after he had embraced Christ and brought Him to Christ saying, "We have found the Massiah, which is, being interpreted, the Christ." Andrew and Peter no doubt being of Bethsaida, the same city of Philip led Him to Christ. Then no doubt Philip led his friend Nathaniel to Christ, saying, "We have found him, of whom Moses in the law, and the prophets, did write, Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph."

We certainly must find Christ, get acquainted with Christ, be on friendly terms with Christ and have a personal relationship with Christ before we can bring another person to Him. This is the "one by one" method that spiritually-minded interpreters are begging and praying for us as Christians to take heed to and therefore do. This was Christ's method. See him at Capernaum. The boat rides up on the eastern shore of the Sea of Galilee. He steps from that Galilean sail-boat, and the first person he sees is Matthew, then known by the name Levi, collecting poll, gathering taxes. Christ speaks to him and gives him a call to follow him in such words as these: "Matthew follow me."

Matthew arose and followed Christ in obedience to his call. As to the number of souls he led to Christ we have no record, but we have a record that he wished his old friends and pals to be with and know about Christ who was so precious to his soul in that he made a great feast and invited them with Christ as the chief guest. That is, when the Holy Spirit moved on his heart and he embraced Christ into his heart and life, he was so proud and happy and cheerful and joyful he wished others to know about it and to be happy with this peace which is past understanding.

See the house of Simon the Pharisee, a self-righteous, bigoted jew. He invitd Christ to his house to dine with him in pomp and glory of the world. We see Christ in a gentlemanly manner accepting the invitation. While resting in that magnificient home while the feast is being prepared a poor woman with a torn dress and shawl and comes to him, after once making a futile effort, and falls at his feet, and says, "Let me wash your feet with my tears and wipe them with the hairs of my head." Jesus looks upon her in the tenderest compassion and says, "Woman, thy faith hath made thee whole, thy sins which are many are forgiven thee." This was the case of one woman being saved from hell. She was plucked from off the burning furnace of hell, and placed happily and rejoicing on the straight and narrow way to heaven.

Right here near Capernaum or in Capernaum four men bring one man to Christ. When Jesus saw their faith he said to the sick of the palsy, "Thy sins which are many are forgiven thee. Arise up and take thy quilt and walk." Again we see Christ at the well in Samaria known as Jacob's well. He is tired, weary, worn. A woman comes to the well from Sychar. He is thinking about her soul and draws a conversation from her by saying, "Woman, give me to drink." She said, "How is it that thou being a Jew asketh me, a Samaritan, for a drink, since the Jews have no dealings with the Samaritans?"

Notice Jesus' tactful way in leading to the salvation of the poor woman's soul. He says, "If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, give me to drink, thou wouldest have asked him, and he would have given thee living water." Then she said, "Sir, thou hast nothing to draw with, and the well is deep: from whence then hast thou that living water?" But Jesus went farther, leading her soul unto the water of eternal life by saying," Whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give thee, shall never thirst, for it shall be a well in him springing up into everlasting life." Then the woman said, "Sir, give me this water, that I thirst not, neither come hither to draw."

You go along that old historic road to Jericho and see one man saved in a great crowd. Zacheus wished to see Jesus and climbed up a scamore tree as he passed that way because he was low of stature and would not be able to see him because of the crowd which would follow. But Jesus looked up in that tree and talked to Zacheus, calling him by one name. He talked to Zacheus about his soul's salvation, saying, "Come down, Zacheus, for today I must abide at thy house." Truly Christ did abide at Zacheus' house that day in that Zacheus hastened down and went home accepting Jesus as his saviour from a heart full of sin and worldiness. The inspired record is that Zacheus came down and received Christ joyfully. He was a lost man up the tree, but a saved man when he came down.

When Christ was hanging on that old rough cross of Calvary there were two thieves crucified with him, one on either side of him nailed to their cross. There we see that Christ left his testimony for personal work for personal souls on Golgotha, on Calvary. One thief cried out to Jesus, "Lord remember me when thou comest into thy Kingdom." Jesus answered him by saying, "This day thou shalt be with me in the spirit world, in paradise." He saved him from a thief's eternity into heaven. He saved from time in sin, into a blessed eternity.

Did you ever speak to a person about his or her soul's salvation? Did you ever ask a person to give his or her life to Christ? This must be God's way because in the New Testament peopel who became Christians were led to Chrust one by one.

"Throw out the life line across the dark wave,
There is a brother whom some one should save."

Think of the hundrds of people that never have been spoken to about their soul's salvation.

In Psalm 142:4 we read the sentence: "No one cares for my soul." Jesus cares, and he teaches us to care and we must do so if we would up his kingdom. It appears that we have tried everything but the Bible be his faithful servant in building method of building up the kingdom of God. We have tried great meetings in evangelism. Knowing that the Bible method is that of bringing men and women one by one to Christ, we must try to do likewise. Many men and women have promised God at the beginning of the new year that they would speak to one person every day about their soul's salvation. Maybe some of the rest of us ought to do the same thing.

"There are lonely hearts we are to cheer while the days go by,
There are weary souls that are perishing while the days go by."

Read Daniel 12:3, "They that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever."

A GLORIFIED CLEAR SKIN

A clear, smooth, lovely skin enhances personal attractiveness! Men admire it. Women praise and secretly envy. More happiness and friends may depend upon it.

The way to the skin is through the blood. Rich, red, healthy blood nourishes the body and aids in protecting it against infection and disease.

When you take S.S.S. to get rid of these outside blemishes you are building up the system to ward off graver diseases.

S.S.S.

© S.S.S. Co.

If you are one of the embarrassed—and men are not exceptions—with skin blemishes that linger, and sometimes leave scars, you will want to possess body power to clear up your skin.

S.S.S. will help Nature give you this power. Internal healthfulness will then reflect in your skin a natural loveliness—a skin glorified.

Millions of people have taken advantage of the wonderful medicinal properties in S.S.S. It gives to Nature what it needs to build you up so that your system may throw off the cause.

When your system is filled with rich, red blood, the body's power of resistance to infection and disease is raised. Your appetite should improve. Firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should sleep soundly. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

Take S.S.S. daily at mealtime. It promotes healthy body building. Seek energy, vitality and a clear skin through the great blood tonic which is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test for over 100 years.

All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Guy H. Upchurch Died Last Friday

Guy H. Upchurch, age 49, died last Friday night at the home of his brother, Dr. E. E. Upchurch in Clanton. He had been here for about ten days. The funeral was held at the Upchurch home Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. S. J. Ezell. Burial was in the Clanton cemetery, in charge of Mell Martin.

Mr. Upchurch is survived by his wife and one child. There are two brothers living, Dr. E. E. Upchurch, of Clanton, and J. W. Upchurch, at the old family home in Pickens County.

Guy Upchurch was a druggist. About five years ago he was here for a short while with his brother in the drug store. Later he has lived in Mobile, Macon, and Atlanta, where he was connected with the Liggett Drug Stores. Several months ago his health broke down. He came here about two weeks ago, and remained at the home of his brother until he died last Friday night.

Commissioners Court was in session Monday for the transaction of the regular county road business which comes before the court the first Monday in each month.

PLEASANT GROVE — JEMISON

Rev. Browder filled his regular appointment the fourth Sunday. The ordinance of The Lord's Supper was observed at the 11 o'clock hour. Rev. Browder made a short talk on "Who should partake of the Lord's Supper" preceding the ordinance.

His theme for the evening service was: "Why people leave Jesus." At the evening service special music was rendered, Mr. Evel Dawson playing the violin and Carl Dawson the guitar, Misses Nora Franklin and Gwyndolyn presiding at the organ. There will be another special musical program next fourth Sunday night.

Mr. Shep Champion of near Calera spent the week end, February 22nd, with the Misses Champion.

Mrs. Davie Dawson, who has been staying with her daughter, Mrs. Monroe Franklin, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Marcus of Milledgeville, Ga., visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wright, last week, returning to Georgia Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Miller and baby of Jemison spent the week end in the home of Mr. Carl Miller.

Mrs. Hermie Hodgens and children of near Freeman's Schoolhouse, spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. J. M. Miskelley, who continues on the sick list.

Miss Nora Franklin had as her guest Saturday night, Misses Lorene and Lucile Cleckler of Pates Chapel.

Miss Madge Scarborough, the Supervisor, visited school here last Thursday, giving the children a reading test.

Family living expenses for 195 families in Tompkins County, N. Y., averaged $772 each in 1928.

In Memory Of Mrs. Ethel Foshee

On February 26th, 1930, our home was saddened when the death angel visited and claimed our loving wife and mother and sister, Mrs. Ethel Foshee. She was born in this State on March 28th, 1898; was married to Roy L. Foshee on October 8, 1916. To this union four children were born, all of them still living—Catherine, Mary Will, Maurice and Juanita.

We cannot thank our friends and neighbors enough for their kindness during the illness of our dear wife, mother and sister. She obeyed the Gospel early in life and devoted the remainder of her life to Him Who died for her.

All was done for her that loving hands could do, but all in vain. But we understand that she is not dead in reality but has just passed over to that sweet land to await our coming, where there will be no parting nor sad farewells. We shall miss her—her husband, brother and sisters and little children will miss her; but we find consolation in this thought.

She leaves a husband, four children, five sisters and one brother, mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Tabb Traywick, Mrs. Henry Patterson, Mrs. Fulton Knight, Louise, Irene and Lena Traywick, and Roy L. Traywick.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. S. J. Ezell at Poplar Springs Thursday afternoon at 2:30, Mr. Mell Martin in charge. The grave was banked with exquisite flowers tenderly placed by loving hands. It was all we could do, and yet it seemed so little, to testify in loving remembrance to the place she held in our hearts.

She peacefully sleeps now in the silent city of the dead, awaiting the resurrection morning when all loved ones and friends shall again be united to part no more.—Her sister, Mrs. Irene Traywick, and niece, Ruby Patterson.

Frank Wells Suffering Bad Burns

Mr. Frank Wells of Jemison was brought to Central Alabama Hospital in Clanton Tuesday morning, suffering fron severe burns on the body. It was stated that when Mr. Wells got up early Tuesday morning he was standing by a heater when his clothes caught on fire. Before the blaze could be put out he was burned severely. Mrs. Wells, who came to the rescue, was also burned on the hands, but not very badly. Mr. Wells will remain in the hospital a few days for treatment.

The six essentials for rearing sturdy children are: proper food, sunshine—either real or artificial,—exercise and rest, proper clothes, protection from infection, and a wholesome mental outlook on life.

Bay State Cow Breaks National Record

New Champion Is Owned By Noted Carnation Grower

Ida Clifton's Ethel, a purebred Jersey cow owned by W. D. Howard, of Milford, Massachusetts, started the New Year well by completing the highest Jersey records for milk and butterfat production ever made in America in the senior three-year-old class. One of these records had stood unchanged for fifteen years, the other for five years.

With her milk yield of 18,151 lbs., the equivalent of 8,433 quarts of milk in a year, she surpassed the record of Lass 66th of Hood Farm, a Massachusetts cow whose record was completed in 1915, and with her butterfat yield of 1,030.79 pounds, the equivalent of 1,288.8 pounds of butter, she took championship honors from St. Mawes Lad's Pride, an Oregon Jersey cow whose record was finished in 1925.

Eight different supervisors from the state agricultural colleges of Massachusetts and Connecticut checked the production of Ida Clifton's Ethel during the year of test. In the last month of her record year, which was the thirteenth month of the location, she produced 99.26 pounds of butterfat, or more than the total for any month of the test. Her yield of 51 pounds of milk, or 23 quarts, on the last day of the year of test was just one pound less than her yield on the first day.

W. D. Howard, owner of Ida Clifton's Ethel purchased her from A. E. Sherburn at an auction sale of purebred Jerseys held at North Pomfret, Vermont, in the summer of 1927. Mr. Howard's Jersey herd has been established less than five years and numbers about fifteen head. Several other cows in the herd are now making outstanding records.

For thirty-four years Mr. Howard has been a grower of choice carnations. He has won the sweepstakes prize of the American Carnation Society a number of times and in addition he has been unusually successful at the International Flower Show held annually in New York City. His greenhouses and his Jersey herd are located near Milford, Massachusetts.

Foursquare Folks Will Go To Walnut

Pastor Calentine of the local Foursquare Church announces that there will be no morning services at this church next Sunday, March 9. Instead, the entire Church and Sunday school body is expected to attend the old time reunion service to be held at Walnut Creek Church next Sunday. Practically all of the members of the church got their first taste of Christianity and church work at Walnut Creek, and as this is to be a reunion of all such, the members will meet with them.

However, the usual Crusader meeting will be held at 6:30 p. m., with an illustrated evangelistic message by Pastor Calentine at 7:30. His subject at this service will be "What's in the Box?" Everybody invited.

Adult School for Negro Illiterates

E. W. Burt, principal of the Clanton City School (colored), sends in an item saying that the adult school for negroes is in progress at the Clanton City School. The school opened February 24th, with an enrollment of 23, he says.

The adult negroes of Clanton ought to take advantage of this opportunity. There is more illiteracy among adult negroes than any other class of our population. Every person, white or black, should learn to read and write before the federal census is taken in April. By so doing, Alabama's percentage of illiteracy could be greatly reduced.

Limit Athletics In Public Schools

The following resolution was passed by the Chilton County Board of Education at their meeting held last Friday, February 28th:

"Mr. Webb moved that the Chilton County Board of Education ask the schools of the county not to spend more than one-half day per week in inter-scholastic games and that these games be had on Friday afternoon of each week and that any teacher who violates this regulation will be penalized the amount of his salary for the day on which such games might be played and that the Superintendent be authorized to give notice to the principals immediately of such action."

Mr. Dennis seconded the motion. Motion was carried by a unanimous vote.

Dr. L. E. Barton Will Broadcast

Dr L. E. Barton, Secretary-Treasurer of Executive Board of the Alabama Baptist Convention, will broadcast Sunday night, March 16th, between 9 and 10 o'clock over KWKH 850 kilocycles, Shreveport, Louisiana. The message will be of particular interest to Alabama though all the states will find something of a general nature to help all religious work. This is a beautiful courtesy of Dr. Dodd and his great Shreveport church. Tune in and get this message, Sunday night, March 16th.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many real and devoted friends for the kind and sympathetic interest during the recent sickness and death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Ethel Foshee. We are especially grateful to Dr. Gragg and the nurses of the hospital. Also for the many beautiful flowers.—Roy L. Foshee and children.

Charles Williams Killed Accidently

Charles A. Williams, age 29, son of Bob Williams, of Sardis community, was killed accidently at Walterboror, South Carolina, Monday morning about 7:45 o'clock. He was killed when a pole fell with him.

The body arrived in Clanton Tuesday morning and was carried by Martin to the home of his father. He was buried Wednesday at Shiloh cemetery.

Mrs. Laura Edwards Died In Hospital

Mrs. Laura A. Edwards, wife of Lee Edwards, died at Hill's infirmary in Montgomery about two A. M. Tuesday morning. She had undergone a surgical operation.

Mell Martin's ambulance went to Montgomery and brought the body to Clanton where it was prepared for burial. The funeral was conducted Tuesday afternoon at Highland, by Rev. J. S. Hand and Rev. A. E. Trice.

The Edwards family lived at the Enoch Cox farm near Thorsby. Surivving the deceased are her husband and several children.

VERMONT J. H. S. BOYS WIN COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP

A fast and interesting game of basket ball was played at Maddox Warehouse Saturday night in the final game of the season between the strong teams of Vermont and Enterprise. Both teams showed high mark of sportsmanship, and played a clean but hard game.

Enterprise was first to score, but before the game had progressed far the Vermont boys had formed such a strong defense that the Enterprise team never found a chance to score another field goal after the first quarter.

Both teams played hard but the Vermont lads could not be defeated, with Houston as center, who was able to get the "tip-off" in most of the jumps. Ratliff and Short, guards for Vermont, played fast and with their splendid pass work to Ratliff and Sansom, forwards for the Vermont team, they were able to take the lead.

The fast Vermont team allowed their opponent to score only once in the second quarter, a foul.

In the last half the Vermont lads held the Enterprise team so tightly that they were not able to score but one foul, while the Vermont team was rapidly gaining. When the final whistle blew the Enterprise team had been defeated 9 to 4.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this opportunity to thank the host of friends for their untiring efforts and hearty sympathy in the recent sickness and death of our son and brother, Walter E. Martin. We appreciate, too, the beautiful floral offerings.—Mr. and Mrs. Tom Martin and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilvie McKee of Selma were visitors with friends in Clanton last Sunday.

Charley Gulledge of Verbena was in Clanton Tuesday hunting for some stray mules.

A negro minstrel will be put on at Mt. Pisgah Saturday night, March 15. Everybody invited to come and have a good time.

Monroe Parrish of Providence, in Beat 16, reports that the fencing of the Providence cemetery was done according to program Tuesday.

Old Marbury Home Destroyed By Fire

Fire, supposed to have started around a defective stove flue destroyed the old Dave Marbury home at Marbury, Monday. The loss of several thousand dollars on the building is partly covered by insurance.

The home was being used by the teachers of the Marbury High School and several of them lost much clothing and other personal property. Students at Marbury were given a holiday Monday to permit the teachers to find lodging in private homes.

Fiddlers Convention At Verbena

Reports are coming in from fiddlers who will be present at the ninth annual fiddlers convention to be held in Verbena High School auditorium, Friday night, March 7, beginning at eight o'clock p. m. Widespread interest is being shown throughout this section by many who have never been to a fiddlers convention. As most of the folks have at times past attended one or more of these affairs, and will be in attendance at this one, you are urged to come early, after seven o'clock, at which hour the doors will be opened, and you may secure a close up seat. Although the auditorium is the largest in this section of the country, present indications are that it will be filled on this occasion.

Despite the so-called hard times, which are only times like any others, with some of the cents missing, the business men of this section have responded readily to appeals of the gift committee by donating a number of valuable prizes for the fiddlers on this occasion. The prizes range all the way from a shave and a haircut to a splendid cash prize of $10.00.

The manner of awarding the prizes will be determined by the fiddlers before the performance begins. They will also be accorded the privilege of electing judges for the contest.

The prices of admission will be the same as heretofore, 35c for adults and 25c for children. Fiddlers or other performers are admitted free, of course, and are guests of the P.-T. A. for the evening. Provision will be made for their comfort and enjoyment of the occasion.

A complete list of those merchants and other business firms that made donations to the gift committee will be published next week along with the name of the prize, and the winner of it. The P.-T. A. very sincerely thanks these firms for their co-operation in putting on the convention. They appreciate the number of dollars of expense they were spared by a number of other firms joining in with them by using advertising space on the posters put out. Patronize them.

And above everything, come to the fiddlers convention and hog calling contest at Verbena on March 7. Forget that hard times are here; we are having a big party that night, and " a good time will be had by all."

FIDDLERS CONVENTION

Don't miss the fiddlers convention at Jemison High School Saturday night, March 8 at 7:30.

All fiddlers are invited to come and participate. Prizes will be offered. Admission 15 and 25 cents.

Scrub farmers are a greater handicap to a commonwealth than scrub livestock.

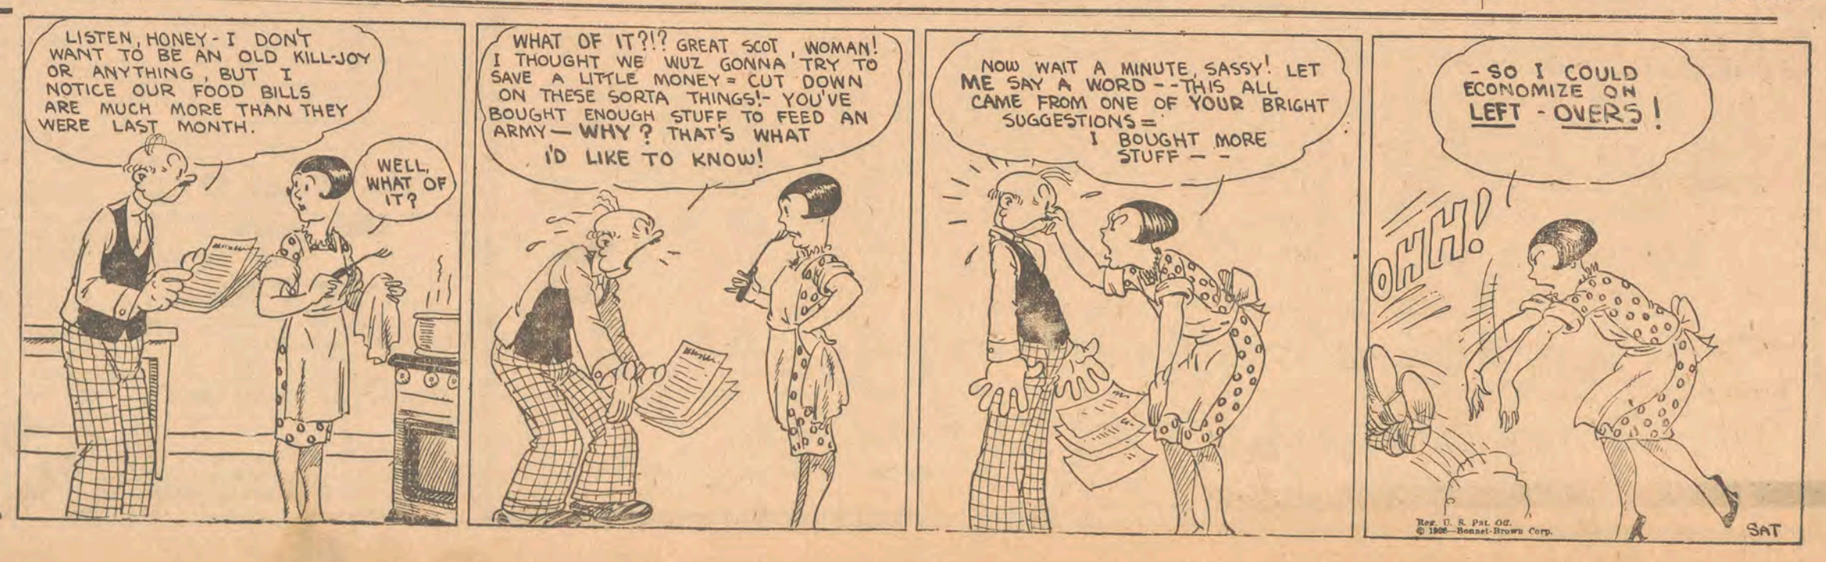
A farmer who makes no plans is sometimes like a blindfolded seaman "walking the plank."

Plant diseases rob the American people of about $1,500,000,000 annually. Bulletins, which may be had free from Auburn or the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, will help farmers prevent and control diseases.

COTTON SEED FOR SALE—Summerlin's Improved Half and Half; will produce 500 pounds of lint from 1125 pounds of seed cotton. Price $1.50 per bushel. Call at my store in Clanton.—W. Z. Hodges.

SODA AND FERTILIZERS

My aim is to sell fertilizers that fit your requirements as completely as possible.



A fertilizer properly proportioned and intelligently used is the best means of producing crops at a profit.

Come in and let me figure with you on your fertilizer needs.

I have fifty tons of pulverised Chilean Nitrate of Soda en route and other fertilizers on hand now.

Don't forget to use soda on oats early for best results.

ALABAMA GIRLS VIE FOR HEALTH HONORS

Auburn, Ala., March 3.—Physical examination of the 12,000 4-H club girls participating in the state-wide health contest will be finished by the end of March, it was announced by Miss Bess Fleming, state girls club leader. Girls in the 42 counties having home demonstration agents are taking the examinations and beginning a club health record.

The youngsters have expressed great enthusiasm in the contest and are making a strong effort to assure better health and stronger bodies, said Miss Flemming.

State and county health units are cooperating with the home demonstration agents in making examinations and encourageing the girls to follow better health practices.

Correct posture is one of 16 points included in the goal being empasized. Foods for health, especially the use of green vegetables, is another.

Other points in the goal, on which the girls will keep records, include brushing of the teeth, regular baths, proper sleep in fresh air, drinking of one quart of milk daily, and the wearing of clean, neat clothes.

Local club winners and county winners will be announced before the State Club Short Course at Anburn in May, Miss Fleming said. Only girls who keep the club record books for three months will be eligible to enter the county contests. Winners in county contsts will compete at Auburn for state honors. The winner of the state contest will be eligible to compete in the national contest.

POULTRYMEN CAN POOL EGGS AND GET CASH ADVANCE

Montgomery, Ala., March 3.—Plans have been completed for Alabama poultrymen to place their eggs in cold storage cooperatively, receive an advance of 20 cents a dozen and hold the eggs for better prices, announces Edward A. O'Neal, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation.

This is made possible through the cooperation of the Farm Bureau, the Alabama Extension Service, county farm bureaus, and a cold storage concern in Birmingham. Extension specialists are in charge and the Farm Bureau finances the project. District agents, county agents and others cooperate.

The objects of the project as stated by President O'Neal are:

To enable poultrymen to realize a greater net return than would be secured were the eggs dumped on the local market at low prices.

To remove a quantity of eggs from local markets during the season of high egg production and low prices.

To further convince egg dealers and the consuming public of the fact that Alabama eggs will come out of cold storage in as good condition as eggs produced in any other state of the country, and to encourage people of this state to use Alabama stored eggs.

"The shippers will be advanced 20 cents per dozen when the eggs are received in storage," Mr O'Neal said. "This advance check will be issued by the Alabama Farm Bureau every two weeks to the county farm bureaus which will handle the payments to the producers. The Alabama Farm Bureau assumes all responsibilitiy for the sale of all eggs placed in storage under this project and obligates itself to consummate sales in a manner most advantageous to shippers.

Poultrymen interested in this project should ask for details at their county farm bureau office.

PLANT VEGETABLES AFTER MARCH FROST

Auburn, Ala., March 3.—The garden planting season in Alabama will be in full swing after the last killing frost in March. Many vegetables were planted in February, but after the last killing frost tender vegetables such as bean, crowder peas cucumbers, egg plant, squash, peppers, and sugar corn can be planted with safety, it is stated by Julian Brown, extension horticulturist at Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

"In fact", said Mr. Brown, "it is ordinarily safe to plant at least a week or ten days before the average date of the last killing frost, since it takes a few days for the vegetables to come up, and early garden products are the most highly prized.

"During March, he continued, all plants should be transplanted from the hotbed or coldframe to the open field.

There are now 700 four-H club boys and girls in four of the eight principal Hawaiian Islands. These members are of many races —Hawaiian, Japanese, Chinese, Samoan, Filipino, Portuguese, various mixtures, and Haoles, or whites. All speak English and are true Americans, with American customs and ideals.

FARMERS POOLED 120,000 BALES OF COTTON IN 1929

Montgomery, Ala., March 3.—Where Alabama place their cotton in the annual pool of the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association and are advanced 15.64 cents per pound middling basis there will be no margin call on the member in case of decline in the market and if the cotton should eventually sell for less than 15.64 cents there will be no loss to the member, says Allen Northington, general manager who declares, "If we should sell the cotton for more than 15.64 cents plus the handling charges and expenses the member will get the benefit of same."

Throught the assistance of the Federal Farm Board the association continues to advance 15.64 cents per pound middling basis 7-8 inch staple to producers who pool their cotton.

The association has to date received 120,000 bales of cotton which is a record delivery to the association during its history, exceeding the largest yearly delivery by nearly 15,000 bales. Judging from the number of bales it is receiving each day, it is reasonable to believe that we will receive 130,000 to 150,000 bales before the pooling season closes.

As never before farmers are seeing the importance of building a strong marketing organization to take care of their needs during depressed economical conditions, writes Mr. Northington. "Present economical conditions are bad, and if it was not for the fact that Alabama farmers have during the past 8 years built up the farmer-owned and farmer-controled organization which recently received the endorsement and support of the Federal Farm Board it would have been impossible for farmers to be receiving the service which they are now receiving from their cotton association. It can readily be seen that if these farmers, stick-together as they have, have built up an organization that can render maximum service during such a depressed time that it is very important for more farmers to join the organization and be ready to aid themselves during future depressed conditions. This building strong farmer-owned and farmer-controlled marketing associations, therefore, let me urge that each member make a desperate effort to get your neighbors to join with us in building an organization to serve in the betterment of agriculture.

"If you have cotton on your hand, or know of any of your producers friends who still possess cotton and wish to pool it, please ask for details at your county farm bureau office, or take the matter up with us direct."

TOP DRESS OATS FOR HIGH YIELD

Auburn, Ala., March 6. Top dressing of oats with either nitrate of soda or nitrate of lime in early March is a timely recommendation now being made to Alabama farmers by the experiment station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. It is based on experiments and results obtained in the past by practical farmers.

Work of the experiment station here shows that for each 100 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre applied as a top dressing around the first week of March the increase will be approximately 15 bushels per acre up to 300 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre.

Similar results were obtained by the South Carolina experiment station.

STATE GUARDS POTATOES AGAINST BLACK ROT

All growers of sweet potato slips for sale find it necessary to observe a routine of regulations regarding safe production, according to a statement issued by B. P. Livingston, in charge of inspection service for the State Department of Agriculture and Industries. To comply with the State Laws and to insure safety from infectious diseases, the following precautions should be observed by all growers:

Bed only certified seed which has passed the field inspection and storage inspection of the Department of Agriculture. A list of the growers of certified seed potatoes is in the hands of every county agent in Alabama.

Carefully cull out all potatoes showing rotten specks. These might be black rot and destroy much of your crop.

Disinfect your seed in a solution of corrosive sublimate or bicloride of mercury—one ounce to 8 gallons of water. Soak for 8 to 10 minutes in a wooden box or tub. Prolonged soaking might injure the seed; too short a time will be of little value. Remove and dry thoroughly. If any rotten specks show up, sort again very carefully. Disinfection is merely a prevention. It is not a remedy for diseases.

Beds need plenty of sunshine and a good supply of water near by. Do noe use the same bed as used last year, unless the State Inspector approves the location as being froee from infection. Black rot is a dangerous disease; it spreads readily and kills profits. It is best not to use soil where it receives seepage from barns or other drainage.

The inspection service of the Department of Agriculture is open to all growers at all times, and the advice of the inspector often proves invaluable.

There are three necessary examinations by field inspectors of the Department of Agriculture before potato slips can be certified for sale:

The first inspection is in the field for stem rot.

The second inspection is in storage.

The third inspection is in the bed in the spring as a final check for blacq rot, which shows up on the slips, as "Black Shank."

FARM DEMONSTRATIONS

The following report gives the results of fifty-two five-acre cotton demonstrations and forty-one five-acre corn demonstrations conducted in Alabama in 1929.

The Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau furnished the farmer with the required nitrate of soda for both the corn and cotton demonstrations.

Cotton Demonstrations

The five-acre cotton demonstrations were fertilized with 600 pounds of superphosphate, 75 pounds of nitrate of soda, and 75 pounds of potash at planting time with a side dressing of 225 pounds of soda applied at first cultivation after chopping and before squares began forming. This is three times the Auburn minimum method of fertilizing cotton, which was worked out by the Alabama Experiment Station. With each five-acre cotton demonstration a check plot receiving 600 pounds of supeerphosphate and 75 pounds muriate of potash per acre at planting time was required.

Results of Cotton Demonstrations

The reports of fifty-two demonstrators show that they made an average of 1005.4 pounds of seed cotton per acre on the five acres receiving 600 pounds superphosphate, 75 pounds nitrate of soda and 75 pounds muriate of potash at planting time and a side dressing of 225 pounds nitrate of soda at first cultivation after chopping and before squares began forming. This is considered an excellent average on 260 acres with varying soil conditions and an extremely wet spring followed in many sections by a severe drought at fruiting time which did the cotton unusual damage. Many of the demonstrations were planted very late, one as late as June 6.

The check plots which received the same amounts of superphosphate and muriate of potash us the five-acre demonstrations but no nitrate of soda either planting time or as a side dressing, averaged 517.2 pounds of seed cotton per acre.

Thus, the gain from applying the nitrate of soda was 488.3 pounds of seed cotton per acre. Figuring seed cotton at 6 cents per pound, the nitrate of soda gave a net profit, after paying for the soda, of $21.80 per acre.

Corn Demonstrations

The five-acre corn demnstrations received a side dressing of 200 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre, when the corn was 35 to 40 days old.

With each five-acre demonstration two check plots were planned, one check received 200 pounds of superphosphate and 25 pounds muriate of potash at planting time but no nitrate of soda at any stage. The other check plot received no fertilizer at all.

Results of Corn Demonstrations

The average of forty-one five-acre corn demonstrations receiving 200 pounds njtrate of soda when the corn was 35 to 40 days old was, 33.91 bushels per acre.

The check plot receiving 200 pounds of superphosphate and 25 pounds of muriate of potash at planting time made an average of 18 bushels of corn per acre. The plot receiving no fertilizer averaged 17.06 bushels of corn per acre.

Thus, the acre receiving 200 pounds of nitrate of soda made 15.91 bushels per acre more than the plots receiving 200 pounds superphosphate and 25 pounds muriate of potash at plantinf time. This is a return of 7.95 bushels of corn per hundred pounds of nitrate of soda.

The area receiving nitrate of soda made 16.85 bushels per acre more than the areas which received no fertilizer or 8.42 bushels per hundred pounds of nitrate of soda.

She increase due to an application of 200 pounds of superphosphate and 25 pounds muriate of potash per acre on these demonstrations increased the yield of corn an avrage of only .94 of a bushel.

The results of these demonstrations on both cotton and corn are in line with the results of the Alabama Experiment Station's fertilizer findings with these crops. They simply reimpress everyone of the real value of the experimental results with fertilizer as conducted by the Experiment Station.

An analysis by the National Electric Light Association shows that 19,430,000, or 67 per cent of the 28,808,000 homes in the United Stated are wired and receive service daily.

The inventor of a new variety of fruit or plant would receive the same protection by a patent as the inventor of a machine, trough an amendment to the patent statutes inroduced by Senator Townsend of Deleware, himself an orchardist.
